Yells Demonstrated For Frosh Jubilee

Cushing, Terry and Vaughn Will Aid Chapman With Rally Program

Featuring a new, more democratic organization, the rally committee, appointed Wednesday by Student Body President Fred Hammond, functioned for the first time last night at the frosh jubilee in music auditorium. Led by Don Chapman, yell king, the 16 members of the committee demonstrated correct and incorrect ways of yelling.

Chapman, who has planned an increased number of rallies, pep parades, theater celebrations, and other pre-game enthusiasm raising functions, will be assisted by Leonard Terry, Bob Vaughn, and Paul Cushing.

The following were appointed to the men's committee: Karl Wester, Vic Rosenfeld, Noel Benson, Shorty Freeman, Bill Cooper, Harry Campbell, Earl Repp, Bill Pierceman, Jay Bailey, Joe Frizzell, Lesley Forden, William Gieseke, Jack Enders, Henry Minger, Robert Olbeckson, and Don Thomas.

In order to facilitate the organization of the group the chairman will be elected by the members

Call Issued by Smith For More Freshmen, Sophomore Managers

More freshman and sophomore football managers are needed, according to Fred Smith, senior grid manager. Any freshman or sophomore interested is eligible. Candidates should report immediately to Smith at McArthur court.

themselves. In the past he has been appointed by the student body president. The members of the committee have also been given the right to vote out inactive or inefficient members.

The girls' rally group will be selected early next week by Fred Hammond and Martha McCall, president of the AWS.

Due to the lack of time for organization, only the yell kings will officiate at the University of Portland game tonight. Members of the committee will promote enthusiasm by mingling among the spectators.

Choir Tryouts to Be Held

Students interested in singing in the Methodist church choir should get in touch with Glenn Griffith in the YMCA hut or come to the choir practice at the church on 12th and Willamette Friday evening, when tryouts will be held.

Portland Team Plans Heavy Aerial Attack For Tonight's Tussle

Webfoots Rely on Power Pilot Crew; Ducks Are Eager for Battle

Wide open football is the menu promised fans who flock to Hayward field tonight for the Pacific coast's first major intercollegiate football game.

Gene Murphy drills the aerial game so thoroughly into his University of Portland Pilots that they toss the ball like a Southwest conference team. With a dry field in prospect, George Albin, Dan Crowley, and the rest of the Pilot pass-heavers will have ample opportunity to demonstrate their prowess.

The Pilots came within an inch of scoring a touchdown on Oregon via the air route last season, when the Webfoots nosed out, 6 to 0, and in 1933, when Oregon won, 13 to 7, they made use of forward passes to score.

Ducks Three Deep

All of which promises a spectacular and probably close game tonight. Prink Callison has an Oregon team stronger than last season, with men three deep at most of the positions, but the Pilots have an almost entirely veteran lineup and can be counted upon to put up their usual fight.

The famed "cruncher" and "double cruncher" plays that brought myriad triumphs to earlier Oregon teams will be on display tonight. The backfield putting them in motion will be minus the services of Bud Goodin, relied upon as the driving power. Taking Goodin's place is 203-pound Jean Lacau, sophomore. Other starting backs

Soph Backs Listed

But other backfield stars, many of them brand-new sophomores, will parade before eager eyes of followers. Jimmy Nicholson, the Salem speedboy, is certain to see a share of action, and then there is burly Dave Gammon, in fine shape after a serious illness last spring; Arleigh Bentley, new star from Glendale, California; Tom Blockman, passing expert; Fred Buroker, blond blocker, and Ernie Robertson, Eugene's own sophomore.

Sophomores will dot the line here and there, as well as the backfield. Starting at right end will be Hank Nilsen and at left guard will be Nello Giovannini. Both are second-year men. Other forward wall starters will probably be John Engstrom at left end, Captain Del Bjork, left tackle; Ed Farrar or Vern Moore, center; Tony Amato, right guard, and Ken Skinner, right tackle.

Many New Linemen

New linemen likely to see service are John Yerby, Bob Hinman, and Bud Robertson, ends; Bill Foskett, Pat Fury, and Cliff Morris, tackles; Johnny Pastega, guard, and Denny Braid, center. Bill Estes, letterman, in '34, is a guard. On the temporarily injured list are two tentative regulars—Joe Houston, left guard, and Lief Jacobsen, right end. Both are lettermen.

Veterans are thick in Portland's starting lineup and among the Pilot reserves. Adrian Schooler, two-year letterman center, has been shifted to end and will start at the right wing. O'Hagen, a newcomer, is listed as the other starting Pilot end.

Dunstan Scales 213

First string tackles are Elwyn (Moose) Dunstan, veteran 213-pounder, and Larry Koch, lighter but a two-year letterman. At guards tonight will be Tom Carey, two-striper, and L. Schooler, brother of the end. At center will be Gene Loomis, letterman, and behind him are Jack Johannesen and Karl McEad, both veterans.

Three of the starting backs—Danny McCarthy, Dan Crowley, and John L. Sullivan—are lettermen. Lacy Zenger, fullback, is the only inexperienced man. Veterans among backfield reserves include Ray Vengelen, George Albin, Dutch Dungan, Paul McGinnis, and Verne Schooler.

Women's Athletics To Begin Next Week

Hockey Practices Slated For 4 o'Clock, Volleyball At 5; Officers Named

Women's sports will get into full swing next week when practice begins in intramural hockey and volleyball. Sue Moshberger will be in charge of hockey practices at 4 o'clock, and Jane Bogue of volleyball at 5 o'clock.

The main project for the year, according to Frances Watzek, president of WAA, will be the Eastern Sessional conference of the Athletic Federation of College Women, which will be held on the campus around the first of April. Representatives of about 35 colleges will attend.

Other officers of WAA, who are in charge of the program for the year, are Gretchen Smith, vice-president; Molly Cunningham, secretary; Betty Riesch, treasurer, Elizabeth DeBusk, sergeant; and Marian Smith, custodian.

53 Frosh Greet Warren's First Call for Practice

Register as Backfield Men; Opening Game Only One Week Away

Candidates for the University of Oregon freshman football team turned out for the first regular workout of the season yesterday afternoon, and Coach John Warren gave them plenty to do.

Warren sent the yearling hopefuls through all the regular first-day motions. They ducked, played wheelbarrow, and performed half a dozen other grueling exercises. Fifty-three men turned out for the drill, and more are expected today. Of the 53, only 24 listed themselves as linemen. The other 29 registered as backs.

First Game Near

Intensive drill will feature Frosh workouts in the coming week, for the first game for the Ducklings is little more than a week away. They journey to Astoria for a fray with Oregon Normal school of Monmouth on October 3. Four more games, including two with the Oregon State Rooks, are on the slate. The Washington Babes and Southern Oregon Normal school will be played, and a sixth contest may be arranged later. The following freshmen turned out: Ends—Larry Lance, Glendale, California; Victor Reginato, Klamath Falls; Elroy Jensen, Eugene; Stan Kunzman, Medford; Howard Jones, Portland.

Tackles—James Irwin, Albany; Russ Inskip, Portland; Alonzo Knotts, Pilot Rock; Joe McPhee, Miles City, Montana.

Guards—Earl Swanson, Portland; Gus Lauris, Price, Utah; Bob Marquis, Vale; Mike Patapoff, Albany; Bill Dunn, Cheney, Washington; Ira Helgren, Jamestown, New York; Clayton Helgren, Jamestown, New York; Norman Rankin, Portland.

Centers—Emery Hobbs, Salem; Ken Bowser, Eugene; Bernard Esser, Condon; John Grimes, Harrisburg; James Nifong, Eugene; Lloyd Beggs, Hood River; Erling Jacobsen, Portland.

Backs—Bill Rach, Seattle; Steve Anderson, Raymond, Washington; John Robertson, Lafayette; George Jessee, Rainier; Bob Laurensen, Klamath Falls; Dennis Donovan, Portland; Ronald Alpaugh, Portland; Keith Petting, Portland; Roy

Ping Pong Players Vie as Beginners, Amateurs at YMCA

The YMCA hut is to again be the scene of bouncing ping pong balls as a new tournament gets underway. This year there will be two classes, beginners and amateurs.

The tournament is to begin right away and when winners in each division have been found. The last year's champions were Theobald Klonoff and Irwin Elde.

Webfoots Open

Student body members will file through the gates tonight by presenting their ASUO books. Others will pay $5.50 for general admission and $1.10 for reserved seats.

Intramural Sports Listed for Fall Term

Touch Football Scheduled To Take Place of Water Sports, Volleyball

Despite the lack of gymnasium floor, an intramural athletic program will be carried on this fall, according to Paul R. Washkey, physical education director.

Until completion of the new gymnasium adjoining McArthur court, there can be no indoor sports. Basketball and volleyball will be on the winter term slate. No swimming or water polo will be held this fall.

Taking the place of the usual autumn sports will be either touch football or speedball, probably the former. Cross country is certain to be on the donut schedule this term. All-campus tournaments will be held in tennis and ping-pong and also possibly in golf during the term.
