

Dean Schwering Tells Of European Travels

After a vacation that covered most of Europe the past summer, Mrs. Hazel Schwering, dean of women, returned last week with tales of many countries that she visited on a conducted tour.

Starting in London, Dean Schwering witnessed the birthday celebration of King Edward, and was close enough to Buckingham castle to see most of the royal enter. She said that as this was Edward's first public appearance since the death of his father, there was a huge crowd, and that the reverence toward the king was especially noticeable to her.

Going then through Holland and Belgium to Germany, the group sailed down the Rhine, and stopped at Weisbaden where the ex-Kaiser had his summer residence. The castle is now a supper club, and Dean Schwering attended a concert in the room which used to be the Kaiser's private theatre.

In Florence Mrs. Schwering visited Nella Roster, who attended the University in 1932 on an AWS foreign scholarship. Also while in Florence, Mrs. Schwering saw many soldiers returning from Abyssinia, and one time she had to wait two hours for the files to pass before she could cross the street to get to her hotel.

There were many women working in the fields in Italy, Mrs. Schwering said, but the men were returning home from war. Her itinerary from Florence took her on the Sorrento Amalfi drive to Naples.

In Venice the group was taken on an expedition through the canals of the city, with a gondola and singing gondolier. A hurried trip was then taken through Vienna and Budapest, and then Mrs. Schwering went to Berlin for some of the Olympic games.

Mrs. Schwering was delighted with Heidelberg, and spent several days visiting the castles and student haunts. While there she witnessed the 550 anniversary of the founding of the university.

While on the train to Berlin, Mrs. Schwering met a Grecian student going to the Olympics. When he learned she was from the United States, he asked if G-man meant gun man or government man.

The most enjoyable thing of the trip was visiting the art galleries and getting an acquaintance with the originals of the masters, she said.

NYA Jobs Given Students Having Three Point GPA

$40,000 to Be Paid Out In 1936-37 300-320 Students Will Get $45 During Term

NYA appointments this year will go only to students whose grade point average is in the neighborhood of 3.00, with the exception that freshmen will be required to have only a standing of approximately 2.50, according to Karl W. Onthank, state director of NYA and dean of personnel administration at Oregon. The change was necessary because of the large number of students with excellent scholastic records who are in need of assistance.

Employment opportunities for Oregon students are better now than they have been in many years, Dean Onthank declared. Not only are local people cooperating to a larger extent with the employment office in providing work for students, but a large burden will be lifted from the employment secretary's shoulders by the NYA assistance offered by the federal government.

$40,000 Available

Approximately $40,000 will be distributed to University of Oregon students this year through the National Youth Administration. Since about $13,000 of this is paid out each term to an average of 300 to 320 students, it means that each receives about $45 per term.

Employment which will not only provide the money necessary at the moment but will allow the student to learn something which will help him in later years, is the aim of the NYA, Mr. Onthank said. Thus, Oregon students employed by the NYA, who feel that there is a job on the campus more in their particular fields than the one to which they have been assigned, are urged to talk the matter over with Dean Onthank.

Notices of appointment to NYA jobs are almost all in the mail and all will have been sent out within a day or two. Students who failed to receive appointments are urged to bring their grades and apply next term, since some students will drop out at that time.

Co-op Living Groups Announce Full House

Every unit in Oregon's cooperative living program announced full house yesterday, as applicants continued to apply for admission. The girls' cooperative units, with 40 members, found it necessary to turn away many women. The student housing committee, with nearly fifty members, has also been turning down prospective co-operators.

The Students' Cooperative Living association has the same answer. Its quota of 27 has been reached, and several applicants were unable to secure entrance.

Registration Slated

end of the court. On the way, the programs must be stamped by representatives from the ASUO, business office, and housing committee. These will be seated at tables in the middle of the floor.

At the cashier's cage all fees will be paid and the red books turned in. Tuition for undergraduate students from the state of Oregon is $26.50, while out of state students pay $40 extra per term.

Arrangements can be made with the representative from the business office paying tuition and fees in installments. Under this plan $10 is paid at registration, another $10 by October 12, and the final $6.50 by November 9. If students prefer they can borrow enough from the University to pay all their fees at once, and then make payments on their notes only.

Non-Resident Fee Due Oct. 12
The non-resident fee can be paid at the time of registration but the final date for payment is October 12.

Students taking six term hours or less are listed as part-time students and pay $2 per term hour instead of the regular tuition. Auditors pay a special fee of $1 and receive no credit for the classes.

Students registering late go to the regular offices of the departments instead of McArthur court. Programs will be stamped there and class cards collected. Representatives from the ASUO, business office, housing committee, and the cashier will be found in Johnson hall.

Registration for graduate students starts Monday, September 28.

Interfraternity

ed at the interfraternity council meeting Sunday.

Monday Deadline
Although 5 o'clock Monday was set as a deadline for getting official date cards, they can still be obtained through the dean of men's office.

No rushee with a prep decile of 1 may pledge a house. Transfer students from other colleges may pledge a fraternity, but may not be initiated until they have a GPA of 1.75. Any rushee not pledging by the Saturday of the week following rush week must wait one month.

Edward Reames, president of the interfraternity council, said that there are several changes to be made in the present system. A report is being drawn up now by Tom Tongue with suggestions and recommendations for an improved system next year.

One of the more important changes will probably be to require the rushees to fill in their weekly schedule on their date cards to do away with conflicting fraternity dates.

Another bothersome point to be cleared up is regarding appointments of fraternities with the rushees. A great deal of confusion has arisen this week on this point. Most of these problems are expected to be cleared up at the first regular council meeting.

On the whole the system has worked fairly well this week and the fraternities have been doing their best to cooperate, according to Reames.
