

Madalena Giustina Studying in New York

When Madalena Giustina, well-known University violinist, went to New York this past June to attend her sorority's national convention, she did not leave her violin for two months were not to slip by without practice. Once in New York she arranged for an audition with Louis Persinger, and is now studying with the "discoverer" of Yehudi Menuhin, erstwhile child prodigy of the violin.

Persinger, who was on the summer school faculty of the Julliard Foundation, urged Madalena to stay in New York where she could devote her entire time to music, so she remained there instead of returning to the University for her senior year.

After six weeks at Julliard, Persinger returned to his private instructions, and Madalena continued her studies with him instead of taking a new teacher and remaining at the Julliard school. Her plans are now for a year's study with Persinger, and after that, depending on results of the future year, her plans are indefinite.

While in the University, Madalena was outstanding in music circles, was a member of the Phi Beta trio, and last year was concertmistress of the 60-piece University symphony orchestra, with which she was soloist several times.

Before becoming a student of Rex Underwood, University music school violin professor, Madalena attended Eugene schools and was a pupil of Buford Roach. In 1931 she took first place in the violin contest of the State Federation of Music Teachers at Pacific university.

Madalena was a member of the class of 1937, and was affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority. Her address is 76 Irving Place, Grammercy Park, New York City.

University Graduates To Take CPA Exams

Lester Goldschmidt and Lee Valentin, graduates of the University, have filed applications to take a part of the CPA examinations.

They have already passed the auditing and law parts of the examination and wish to take the accounting part over.

At present, Goldschmidt is employed in Rubenstein's furniture store and Valentin is bookkeeper in the Eugene hotel.

Phi Betas Will Hear Dean Schwering Speak

Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering will be a guest speaker at a meeting to be held by Phi Beta, national women's fraternity of drama and music, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Schwering will give an informal resume of her impressions of the museums and art galleries of Europe. Among those she visited were the National gallery in London, the Louvre in Paris, and others in Florence and Rome.

TO THE ALUMS:

I, personally, wish to welcome all of the alumni back home, to Eugene and your University. The campus is changing every day and, in a few months, the University will have completed three new buildings, which shows we are progressing every day. The University is proud of you and she wants you to be proud of her.

A few major changes have taken place in the athletic department, but the biggest and most important of all is the co-operation and enthusiasm we have developed in the athletic department.

Oregon is a small school in the Pacific Coast conference and we realize it is hard to win consistently, even when everything is in our favor. Our coaching staff is happy this year and are enjoying their work and are doing all they can to win for you.

I want you to know the Oregon football team belongs to you, as you alumni make up the University. We appreciate your support and we all are very happy you have come back home. "Anse" Cornell

Aspiring Authors Complete Plans For Writers' Club

Completing organization plans yesterday a writers' club for aspiring authors and poets was formed on the campus in connection with the Westminster House activities.

Holding as its aim "mutual aid through constructive criticism" the group is to meet every Tuesday evening in Westminster House for the appraising of creative work done by its members.

Gertrude Carter, president, will be assisted by Orville Williams, vice-president; Gilbert Ross, secretary and Doris Darnielle, treasurer. The first formal meeting is being held tonight and all students interested in the club are invited to attend, according to the president.

Oregon Educators Have Compiled Own Texts in Fifteen Fields

Endowed with 22 instructors and professors who have written or helped to write textbooks, the University of Oregon can be proud of the high caliber of its faculty. Mrs. Elizabeth E. Claypool declared today.

The schools of journalism, education, physical education, physics, history, business administration, English, business law, French, German, sociology, chemistry, accounting and philosophy all are represented by University authors.

"These authors have achieved a marked degree of success and some of the books have received a widespread publication," Mrs. Claypool, co-op librarian, declared proudly.

"By writing our own texts," Kenneth L. Shumaker, supervisor of English bureau, explained, "we are able to more completely adapt the text to the teaching technique employed in our respective fields and to more accurately fit the material of the text to the needs of our students."

One of Mr. Shumaker's contributions to the school of English, "Mastery of Language," is a mimeographed text used in English K. It is revised every year, according to Mr. Shumaker.

Sociology Department Has New Assistants

Three new graduate assistants in the sociology department are: M. Reid Hanger, graduate of OSC in '24; Wilbert Moore, graduate of Linfield college in '35; and Mildred Baker, graduated from Linfield in '36.

Hanger attended the University in '22 and '23. He is working for his master's degree in economics. For the last five years he was manager of the chamber of commerce in Hood River.

Rally Committee Meeting at Side Tuesday at 4:00

Final decisions on homecoming activities will be made at 4 o'clock this afternoon when the rally committee, both men and women, meet at the College Side.

Don Thomas, rally committee chairman, urges that all members attend this meeting, which is very important.

Senior Students Of Law to Hold Smoker Tonight

Senior law school students will get their chance to pan law professors and law professors can pan each other tonight at the annual law school smoker to be held at the Cafe Del Rey at 8 o'clock.

The smoker is one of the features of the law school year. Each of the three classes will give skits with the seniors devoting some time to telling the professors what they think of them. The professors, likewise, will sling a few verbal barbs at each other.

Law school students are entitled to free admission to the affair and free cigars, cigarettes, cider and doughnuts.

Professor R. C. Clark Finds New History Facts

Details which will change future history books of Oregon were uncovered by Robert C. Clark, history professor, at the archives of the Hudson Bay company, London, England, last summer. Daily experiences of exploring parties and expeditions such as the ones down the Snake river and along the southern coast are included in these records.

Writers of history have not yet referred to this collection, which was opened to students two years ago, and which is now classified and catalogued for their benefit. The records consist of documents, letters, and account books written from the various officers in the employ of the Hudson Bay company. Some of the correspondents include John McLoughlin of Oregon, George Simpson of Canada, the governor in the London office, and the commanders of various expeditions.

The account books tell of how many and what kind of furs were exchanged for food supplies from England. The employees' wages were also listed in these books. Mr. Clark went to London in 1925 on similar work and has written a book on the "History of Oregon," which is used in grammar grades, and "History of the Willamette Valley." From this latest research work he plans to write another book on the history of Oregon.

"Great cordiality and kindness were shown to me throughout my research at the Hudson Bay company, and as much help was offered as was needed," said Clark. Clark left for the old world in March. Before reaching London he visited Lisbon, Gibraltar, Al-

Lucky for You

— It's a Light Smoke!

FOR BIG MOMENTS
— A Light Smoke!

Wedding bells — exciting times, with lots of smoking. Consider your throat and reach for a light smoke . . . reach for a Lucky!

When Thrilling Events Lead To Constant Smoking!

When you're excited... nervous... happy and thrilled, you smoke many cigarettes without thinking about it. Make your choice a light smoke. Smoke Luckies—for Luckies are a light smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco. They are made of the center leaves of the finest tobaccos that money can buy. And they are the only cigarette in which you'll find the all-important throat protection of the "Toasting" process. Yes, the only cigarette. Lucky Strike... the fine-tasting cigarette... the cigarette that "lives happily ever-after" with your throat.

★ ★ "SWEEPSTAKES" FLASH! ★ ★ 17 Winners in Alaska and Honolulu!

Eleven men and women in far off Honolulu and six way up north in Alaska know their popular music so well that they have been able to name the top ranking songs in Your Lucky Strike "Sweepstakes" 1-2-3 — just like that. Congratulations... and good luck to the many other far-away "Sweepstakes" fans.

Have you entered yet? Have you won your delicious Lucky Strike? There's music on the air. Tune in "Your Hit Parade"—Wednesday and Saturday evenings. Listen, judge and compare the tunes—then try Your Lucky Strike "Sweepstakes."

And if you're not already smoking Luckies, buy a pack today and try them. Maybe you've been missing something.
