

Council Makes Slight Changes In Rush Rules

Hours for Dates Revisited; Pledges to Be Signed In Dean Earl's Office For Rest of Term

Fraternity rushing rules, effective for the remainder of the term, were announced last night by Ed Reams, president of the interfraternity council.

The council, meeting at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house immediately after dinner, decided that rushing rules with the three following exceptions would remain the same as during freshman week. Each rushee must have an official date card before he can be rushed or pledged.

Hours will be from 12 to 5 p.m. and from 5 to 11 p.m. Rushees may have two dates a day but may not have both dates with the same fraternity.

Pledges Signed at Office
To pledge a student, a fraternity member must accompany the rushee to the dean of men's office where the rushee must sign a pledge card with the fraternity member and the secretary of the dean of men as witnesses.

As dissatisfaction was shown over the prep decile system, a committee was appointed by the council to study the advisability of using the psychology test instead of the prep decile system as a means of determining the eligibility of freshmen pledges.

The intramural board of directors upheld the referees in regard to the SAE-Phi Psi game. A protest filed by the SAEs charged the Phi Psis with intentionally throwing the ball away on the last play of their game, in order to keep the ball in the same position and thereby win the game. A penalty of 15 yards and the loss of a down is invoked for this offense. The penalty accorded the Phi Psis put them back in their own territory and gave the SAEs the game.

A second committee was appointed to study the value of having a delegate from the campus attend the National Interfraternity conference in New York City, November 27 and 28. Virgil D. Earl, dean of men, and Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel, attended the meeting and strongly advised the council to send a delegate.

Relinquishing the original plan for cooperating with the Oregon Alumni association in maintaining a full-time alumni secretary, the council appointed a committee to study the possibility of hiring their own secretary to work for the fraternities independent of the alumni office.

PE Majors to Vie in Volleyball Tournament

Physical education club volleyball tournament will start Monday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock in Gerlinger gym. Jane Thomas announced today. Freshmen will play juniors and sophomores vs. seniors.

Amphibian Party Honors Pledges

The sixteen girls pledged to Amphibian, women's swimming honorary, were entertained Thursday evening at 7:15 in Gerlinger pool with water sports and games.

The program included a medley relay race consisting of crawl, breast and back strokes, novelty water stunts, and an obstacle relay race. The meeting ended with a water baseball game and refreshments.

Women's Rifle Classes Will Begin on Tuesday

Women's rifle classes will start firing on the range Tuesday, Sergeant Blythe, instructor, announced Thursday.

Ammunition may be purchased from ROTC headquarters at 25 cents a box of 50 shells. This will amount to about 12 or 13 cents a week and will be the only charge for rifle classes.

All girls who did not attend Thursday's class must find out which class they have been placed in not later than Tuesday. Classes have been scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday from 2 to 4 o'clock and from 7:30 until 9:30 in the evening.

Gym shorts, riding breeches or jodhpurs must be worn to classes.

Want a Mum for the Portland Tilt? AWS Says Buy at Holden's

Mums will be on sale at Holden's Florist shop in Portland at Broadway and Morrison streets, Gladys Battleson, chairman of the committee, said last night. All students who have not already purchased their mums are asked to do so at this shop.

Westminster House to Sponsor Spook Party

Westminster house is sponsoring a Halloween party tonight for students. The place of the party has not yet been announced, but all those attending are to meet at the house, 1414 Kincaid, promptly at 8.

In charge of arrangements are Edna Carlsen, Mrs. J. D. Bryant, Harold Draper, Mhuire Brown, Laura Bryant, Katherine Hosford, and Louise Sandstrom.

Gamma Phi Beta's Tea Honors Frosh Women

At the first meeting of Philomela's charm school held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock officers were elected. They are Katharine Collins, president; and Patsy Taylor, secretary.

A booklet on campus customs and courtesies was read and discussed. Demonstrations of make-up and style are planned.

Maybe I'm Wrong

out of the Rose Bowl last year with that 7 to 6 thing, and a fouler game I've yet to see, but they don't consider themselves even for the 27 to 0 number Bones Hamilton fixed them with in 1934. So listen closely for the rousing strains of "Hail California" when the work's all done down south. UCLA 16, Stanford 6.

Oregon State should take their 17,000 berries and trounce Montana about 19 to 0. And right here I'd like to let you in on a little secret. Northwestern will stun the sporting world by knocking off the mighty Minnesota tomorrow. The oracle has again spoken. Bring around your chicken feed. Never mind. Figure out this percentage: and remember what I told you about St. Mary's and Marquette, but maybe I'm wrong.

Michigan State over Boston College.
Villanova over Bucknell.
Purdue over Carnegie Tech.
Cornell over Columbia.
Nebraska over Missouri.
NYU over Lafayette (the worms were digging in Earnest—Nevers).
Ohio State over Notre Dame (drat those allegedly fighting Irish).

Navy over Pennsylvania.
Rice over George Washington.
Santa Clara over Auburn (for victory and dear ol' SCU).
Holy Cross over Temple (something amiss about crosses and temples is all I say).

Texas over Southern Methodist (we got love).
Texas Aggies over Arkansas.
Texas Christian over Baylor (Baylor y'self, she's yours).
Tulane over Louisiana Tech (shame, shame).
Army over Colgate.
LSU over Vanderbilt.
Duke over Washington and Lee (and Grant and Pershing, too).
Yale over Dartmouth.
Wisconsin over Chicago.
Pittsburgh over Fordham.
Tennessee over Georgia.
Alabama over Kentucky.
Michigan over Illinois.

Varsity Sketches

think the Trojans of Southern California were the best. Most of the fellows here think Washington State, whom we played last Saturday, were better, but I disagree. Those two teams that Howard Jones kept running in on us were just about equal and the backs put their heads down and really ploughed into the line. The Cougar backs, on the other hand, were running into the line and then trying to hurdle over for an extra three yards. They sure exposed themselves to injury that way.

Look what happened to Fletcher. When asked whether a small back was better than a 200-pounder, Engstrom pointed toward his stomach and said, "It isn't the size that counts so much; it is how much you have down here. Men like Warburton, Davie Davis, and that kid for Washington State, Bayne, have what it takes. They are afraid of nobody and the big guys soon find it out."

Oregon Primed

Lasselle, Nicholson or Braddock will be choices for starting halfbacks. Bentley or Jean Lacau will start at full.

Huskies Good

The Husky backfield rates as one of the best ever, with such men as Elmer Logg, By Haines, Jim Cain, and Ed Nowogroski, in the lineup. The Husky line is big, powerful and has been an important factor in clearing the way for the nimble footed backs. John Wiatrack, Steve Slivinski, Starkevitch, Chuck Bond, Vic Markov, Dick Johnson and Frank Peters hold the edge for starting honors.

The probable starting lineup:
Washington Oregon
Johnson LE Engstrom
Peters LT Bjork
Slivinski LG Giovanini
Wiatrack C Farrar
Starkevitch RG Amato
Bond RT Skinner
Markov RE Nilsen
Logg Q Kennedy
Haines LH Lasselle
Cain RH Braddock
Nowogroski F Bentley

The Firing Line

have had a long trip, but I believe they'll shade the Broncs anyway. About 13 to 7.

Oregon State-Montana — For two successive seasons the Grizzlies have held favored Beaver teams to ties. Tomorrow I believe Lonnie Stiner's lads will be improved enough and mad enough to win. 14 to 6.

St. Mary's-Marquette — The Gaels studied too hard last week and couldn't cope with Fordham. Tomorrow they'll try to cope with Ray Buid and his unbeaten team mates. I'm picking Marquette.

Well, that seems to be about all the important struggles involving Pacific coast teams. Let's glance toward the east, south, and midwest.

Fordham-Pittsburgh — Pitt will spoil the Rams' spotless record in a four-star thriller.

Minnesota-Northwestern — Minnesota, but not by 33 to 0.

Ohio State-Notre Dame—Ohio State.

Pennsylvania-Navy — A toss-up but I say Penn.

Holy Cross-Temple—Holy Cross will keep its slate clean.

Columbia-Cornell — Columbia by a nose.

Michigan-Illinois — Illinois in a close one.

Detroit-Duquesne — Duquesne will snap back after the West Virginia Wesleyan upset and win.

Boston College-Michigan State—Michigan State.

Texas-Southern Methodist — Southern Methodist.

Centenary-Mississippi — Ole Miss.

Vanderbilt-Louisiana State—Very close. Vanderbilt.

Alabama-Kentucky—Alabama.

Tennessee-Georgia — Tennessee.

Texas Christian-Baylor — TCU in a donnybrook.

Here's more:
Carnegie Tech-Purdue—Carnegie.

Colorado College-Colorado—Colorado.

Denver-Utah State—Utah State will remain undefeated and untied.

Florida-Maryland — Even Stephen. I'll take Maryland.

Indiana-Iowa—Indiana.

North Carolina-North Carolina State — North Carolina.

Rice-George Washington—Rice.

Arkansas-Texas A. and M. — Texas Aggies.

Army-Colgate—The Army.

Duke-Washington and Lee—Duke.

Wisconsin-Chicago — Wisconsin.

Yale-Dartmouth—Yale in a bitter Ivy League fray.

North Dakota-North Dakota State—North Dakota will freeze out ahead.

Mississippi State-Sewanee—Mississippi State in a walk.

Utah-Grigham Young—Utah.
