Nation's Voters Pick
A President at Polls From 8 to 8 Today

Today's the Day
 Presidential candidates wound up the most expensive campaign in American political history with a final radio barrage last night, as voters from Maine to California awaited the opening of polls today.

Campaign leaders for both parties proclaimed that their candidates would win sweeping victories in today's election. Estimates made yesterday indicated that over 45 million voters will do the deciding.

Polling places will start closing at 3 p. m., eastern standard time, and will continue shutting at half-hour and hour intervals until the last booths in Oregon and Washington lock up at 8 o'clock, Pacific standard time.

Unofficial tabulations will be broadcast through intricate radio hookups from coast to coast. Observers believe that the voting trend will be known by early afternoon.

Toughies Tortures
 Taxi fare in Japan yesterday contributed to a growing list of international complications.

A British sailor, arrested for allegedly refusing to pay a taxi fare, charged Japanese police with torturing him to obtain a "confession." The police, he said, pushed a fountain pen under his fingernails and forced ink into the wounds to make him sign.

Idle Ships
 Shipping paralysis tightened on the Pacific coast and spread to other American ports as seamen and longshoremen in Atlantic and Gulf ports walked out in sympathy for western maritime workers and the maritime commission postponed (Please turn to page two)

Latent Faculty Advisory Group Is Reorganized

Council Duties Restated: Body Restored Under Boyer in 1935 Had Been Inactive 3 Years

Reorganization of the advisory council of the faculty of the University of Oregon has been completed, it was announced yesterday by Dr. C. Valentine Boyer, University president, and duties of this important division were restated, following approval of the faculty at its last session.

The advisory council was formed in 1915, when Dr. Prince L. Campbell was president. It functioned continuously and took an active part in faculty affairs until 1932, when for a time during the reorganization of the state system of higher education no regular meetings of this group were held. For the past year, however, Dr. Boyer has called the group together regularly once each month and has conferred with them on other occasions.

Study Made
 The decision to continue the council and to outline its duties definitely followed a request that a study be made of the advisability of establishing in the faculty a committee on committees, a budget committee and a committee on tenure and promotion. Such a system has been adopted at several other universities. However, it was decided to continue work of

Wins Scholarship

Violin soloist for the University of Oregon symphony orchestra, Ruthalbert Wolfenden, above, holds the Mu Phi Epsilon scholarship for musical achievement.

Miss Wolfenden Wins Scholarship

Ruthalbert Wolfenden, junior violinist in the University school of music is winner of the Mu Phi Epsilon music scholarship for 1936-37. She is violin soloist and principal violinist in the University symphony orchestra and Eugene Chamber music society and will play in the opening concert of the orchestra on November 23.

Miss Wolfenden is a member-elect of Mu Phi Epsilon, women's national music honorary, which elects members at the end of the sophomore year on qualifications of scholarship and musical ability and activity.

Awarding an annual music scholarship is part of Mu Phi Epsilon's policy of promoting musical activities in the community. The scholarship winner is chosen each spring at competitive tryouts before a committee of disinterested judges. Natural talent, scholarship, promise of active musical career, and ability to progress are the chief merits upon which the winner is chosen.

Mu Phi Epsilon is sponsoring the opening University symphony orchestra concert to be given November 23 for the scholarship fund. John J. Lansbury, dean of the school of music, will play a piano concerto and a group of solos as features of the concert. This is his first appearance in public in almost five years.

Prognosticating Professor Picks Pigskin Victors

Versatile Mr. Waido Schumacher—political science is his vocational field, but his avocation—that is another, the football field.

"Prognosticating prof" Schumacher picked 16 of the 24 games in this week's "Morning News" football forecasts to win second prize of five dollars.

Perhaps Mr. Schumacher will be able to explain his prognosticating prowess to his classes in terms of political science background; unusual enrollment increase in political science classes will be given "the skeptical eye."

Dads Will Be Guests at Soph Dance Nov. 14

Committee Makes Plans For Special Features, Awards; Two Cups Up For Houses

As a special feature of the tenth annual Dads' day, visiting fathers this year will be honored guests of the sophomores at their annual informal dance in McArthur court November 14, Barney Hall, student chairman, announced Monday.

Headed by Earl M. Pallett, general chairman of the faculty committee and Hall, committee members discussed awards and special features of the annual weekend to be held on the campus November 13 and 14 at their meeting Monday afternoon.

Clifford Constance, awards chairman, will secure from Dean Virgil Earl's office the list giving the membership of the various living organizations competing for the prizes available to the houses for the greatest attendance of Dads.

Trophies Awarded
 The A. W. Norblad trophy, awarded annually to the living organization winning first place for the highest proportion of dads in attendance last year, went to Phi Mu sorority.

The Paul T. Shaw trophy awarded the living organization for the second largest number of dads on the campus was won in 1935 by Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Phi Mu and Alpha Gamma Delta tied last year for the O. L. Laurgaard trophy given the house having the largest number of freshmen dads down for the event.

"Legal guardians will be considered dads for the purposes of this competition," Constance said in his statement. "The prizes will be awarded annually and will rotate from year to year until won three times by the same living organizations. They then become the permanent property of such organizations."

Awards are to be made at the banquet Saturday evening, November 14, to be held in John Straub memorial building, Constance announces.

Speakers to Contact
 Through the efforts of Gladys Battleson, secretary of the committee, speakers will contact all houses in the near future endeavoring to further the interest in the week-end. According to reports from several different houses, responses from the dads have been encouraging.

UO Selects Five Candidates for Rhodes Awards

Brooke, Colvig, Vosper, Hornstein, Thielman Represent University In State Competition

The University's five candidates for the state Rhodes scholarships finals were named yesterday by the University Committee on Extramural Scholarships.

The five students who will go to Portland to enter the state competition are as follows:

James W. Brooke, Portland, medical school student.

Fred Colvig, Medford, senior in journalism.

Marcus Hornstein, Portland, senior in psychology.

Leland Thielman, Portland, graduate in Romance languages.

Robert Vosper, Portland, senior in Romance languages.

The five selections were made from a list of 18 applicants, each of whom was interviewed individually. The committee making the selections was composed of Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate division; Dr. B. C. Beall, professor of Romance languages; Dr. R. R. Huestis, professor of zoology; Dr. A. R. Moore, professor of general physiology; and S. Stephenson Smith, professor of English.

These five students will go to Portland where they will compete with contestants from other colleges and universities in the state. Two men will be selected from this group to try for the district selections. Four men will receive the final award from the district to attend Oxford university in England.

Stanford Plans New 'Night Spot'

Latest reports have it that Stanford is to have its own "night spot." The Stanford golf course clubhouse will be used as the "nitery" experiment. A radio will be installed, a soda fountain operated, and there will be informal entertainment and dancing until 11 or 12 o'clock.

If the proposed scheme is successful a $25,000 hall may be built to accommodate the dance.

The night life of the campus was further affected by a ruling permitting women entertainers to appear with outside orchestras. One of the reservations was that there be a "bouncer" tooust them the minute they begin any "questionable" performance.

$59,300 Bid Gets Heating Contract

Improvements to plant to include installation of new 536 HP boiler

Making a basic bid of $59,300, Nelson Brothers, one of three bidders for work on the heating plant improvement, was awarded the contract yesterday by the building committee of the state board of higher education composed of F. C. Callister, chairman, Mrs. B. W. Sackett, and R. W. Ruhl.

Construction will begin within ten days after signing of the contract which is now being prepared by Charles D. Byrne, secretary to Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor of the state system of higher education. The contract will be drawn up by the end of the week.

The work includes the installation of a new boiler of 536 horsepower, modifications to improve the efficiency of the present heating system, and an induced draft to clear up the smoke pall which settles over the campus from the present heating plant burners.

W. V. Norris, in charge of all campus construction, said the basic bid will not be the total cost of construction, which will amount to approximately $65,000. Of this amount, $29,250 will be paid by the federal government through the PWA.

Six months is estimated as the time required to complete the plant improvements.

Other bids made for the contract were by Hastorf Inc., and C. C. Moore and Company.

Entrance Limit For Sigma Delta Psi November 7

Thursday, November 7, is set as the deadline for all fraternity house managers to enter their men in the annual Sigma Delta Psi track and field competition. A house must have three men entered in order to compete. Each house receives 30 points for entering a team.

It is also imperative that cross country managers have their men worked, as all runners have to be checked by Russ Cutler before they will be allowed to compete.

The house must have three men finish within the 20-minute limit or the team will be disqualified. Runners should register on the chart on Hayward field when they work out.

The Sigma Delta Psi events are 100-yard dash, 120-yard low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, shot put, javelin, mile run, baseball throw, football punt, and 20-foot rope climb.

New Extension Course Teaches Winter Botany

As an outgrowth of the desire expressed by Oregonians for help in understanding and appreciating trees and shrubs in winter as well as in summer, a correspondence survey course is being offered under the WPA adult education program of the general extension division of the Oregon state system of higher education.

According to H. E. Tobie, supervisor of the WPA adult education, this is not in competition with any existing agency. Courses are prepared and sent out to those whose educational needs are not being met at the present time.

The course is open to all adults without charge except for materials.

Drawings, descriptions, and specimens of native trees and shrubs are to be sent in by observers from widely scattered localities, which will be checked by instructors and returned to the investigator. Instructor for the course is Mrs. Marian Field.

Clifford Gruning Dies at Sacred Heart Hospital

Clifford Arvine Gruning, freshman in journalism, died Monday evening at the Sacred Heart hospital of complications arising from an appendicitis operation October 20.

Gruning, a 16-year-old student from Blue River, Oregon, was taken to the University hospital October 20 and transferred to the Sacred Heart that same evening for an emergency operation.

The body was taken to the Stretcher-Simon chapel at 1152 Olive. Funeral services will be announced tomorrow.

Sophs Select Cropp's Band

Winthrop Hotel Orchestra Popular in Washington University Campus

Chosen from the smaller Pacific coast orchestras, George Cropp's band from the Winthrop hotel in Tacoma was singled yesterday to play for the annual sophomore informal, Saturday night, November 14.

Cropp's band achieved popularity at the University of Washington where it has been featured at many campus affairs. Late last year and during the spring, Cropp's orchestra occupied the stand at the Olympic hotel in Seattle.

George Cropp for many years was musical arranger for Orville Knapp and his orchestra.

The informal committee is still culling over a variety of dance setting ideas in an effort to formulate a new dance motif for the annual affair. The decision of the group is expected today.

Election of Faculty Advisory Council to Be Held Tomorrow

Election of the faculty advisory council for the coming year will be held at the regular November meeting of the faculty, Wednesday at 4 p. m. in the faculty room in Friendly hall.

The election is being held in accordance with the action taken at the special meeting Tuesday, October 27.

Theta Sig Open Meeting Nov. 5

All women enrolled in the journalism school are invited by Theta Sigma Phi to attend an open meeting of the women's national fraternity to be held in Alumni hall Thursday night at 7:30. Mrs. Eric W. Allen, who returned this fall from a six months' stay in Europe, will be the featured speaker.

Dorothy Dill, in charge of the meeting, said last night that an effort would be made to invite each woman personally, but the invitor not they can be reached.

Preceding the meeting, initiation of nine pledges will be held in Geringer. A banquet will be held at the Anchorage at 5 o'clock, and initiation will be held immediately afterwards.

In charge of the initiation are Mildred Blackburne, Phyllis Adams, and Henryetta Mummey. Also present will be Mrs. George Turnbull, Mrs. Arne G. Rae, Mrs. Charles Hulten, and other alumnae of Theta Sigma Phi.

Student Hans Reimer was sentenced to prison to get his masters degree!

After serving a three months term he declared it an invaluable experience.

Reimer, the 23-year-old son of the president of the State Teacher's college at Clarion, Pa., in order to get material for his thesis, "Inmate Participation in the Administration of Penal Institutions," made secret arrangement at Wichita last summer to be sentenced on a "bad check charge." Neither the judge who sentenced him nor the prison officials knew that Reimer "framed" himself to get the inside story on prison life.

Local Hunt Club Starts Fall Rides Thursday Evening

The Eugene Hunt club will meet Thursday at the riding pavilion of the Lane county fairgrounds. Horses will be available at the riding academy for $1 apiece.

Kathleen Horton, instructor in horseback riding, will be in charge of the first ride.

At the first meeting last Sunday, the club decided to hold evening rides each Thursday night during the fall term. Cross country rides will be held the second Sunday of each month.

In connection with the ride Thursday, the hunt club will hold a business meeting, at which officers will be elected. Members of the faculty and student body are invited.

Infirmary Patients Hear Portland Game on Radio

Students confined in the infirmary who were unable to go to Portland to the game had the privilege of listening to it by means of radio.

All those who were physically able were wheeled in their beds to make one large ward, and with the nurses and assistants, followed the game play by play.
