

DALE LILLEBO, E.
Oregon State

NELLO GIOVINI, G.
Oregon

JIM MILLER, T.
Oregon State

ED FARRAR, C.
Oregon

JOHN WATTS, RG.
Oregon State

JIM NICHOLSON, H.
Oregon

FRANK RAMSEY, G.
Oregon State

DON KENNEDY, Q.
Oregon

'Smear the Staters!'
It's Big Game Day
Today at Corvallis

Oregon Emerald

Piano Playing Dean
Will Open Symphony
Season on Monday

VOLUME XXXVIII

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1936

NUMBER 33

OREGON UNDERDOG AT FINALE

Plotting Oregon's Downfall

Toying with the pigskin above, is backfield coach Hal Moe, who apparently is telling his two speedsters, Joe Gray and Little Johnny Alexander, some dark secrets on how to cross that Oregon goal line before the final gun sounds Saturday afternoon. Gray and Alexander are recognized by coast experts as two of the trickiest and fastest backs in conference circles.

Girls Escort Men Tonight To AWS Dance

'It's Woman Who Pays' When Coeds Prepare To Drag Bashful Males To McArthur Court

It's a free lunch tonight, boys. For at 9 o'clock in McArthur court Oregon coeds will pay and pay to purchase entry for themselves and their escorts to the AWS harvest dance.

At this first AWS girl-date affair, Gus Meyer's orchestra will offer the music in the midst of decorations which have transformed the Igloo into a horn of plenty. Fred Beardsley, former vocalist with Dan Flood's orchestra, will sing.

Round-up Friday Eve

Bashful coeds, after building up courage during the week, steeled themselves for the great ordeal and stormed telephones Friday night in a last-minute roundup of elusive males. According to reports from many houses, fraternity men spent a quiet "at home" in hope of a call from prospective purchasers.

Chairman Isabelle Miller, directing the dance for Phi Theta Upsilon, issued a final appeal for coeds to "get their man."

Houses Plan Dinners

The special Oregon rally train from Corvallis will return to Eugene in ample time to allow couples to attend the dance. Members of several sororities will entertain their escorts at house dinners.

For other girls, caramelized apples, cider, and doughnuts will be dispensed from booths around the dance floor to provide food for hungry males.

MEETING AT WESLEY CLUB

Naomi Tobie, Pearl Paddock, Brittain Ash, and Martha Cumler will discuss "What We Think About God" at Wesley club at 6:15 Sunday. Each speaker will have five minutes in which to present his personal idea of God.

OSC Top Man

LON STINER
Oregon State

Last Chance to Tackle All-America

Today Captain Del Bjork will lead a Lemon and Gold team on the field for the last time. Winding up a brilliant three-year grid career, the blond tackle will also be making his final bid for the Valhalla of football players, all-America honors, in the game against Oregon State.

New Libe Opening Delayed Till Spring Term; Contract, Labor Snags Hold Up Work

Dogged by delay, the new library will probably not be open until spring term, it was learned Friday from M. H. Douglass, librarian.

Contract difficulties, lack of materials, labor shortage, and strike conditions have all contributed to put the opening of the $365,000 structure already nearly four months behind schedule. Further delays, Douglass fears, will make it unfeasible to occupy the building until spring term.

At the present time, lighting fixtures, some plumbing, and much of the finishing work remains undone. It is considered advisable, Douglass said, to allow plenty of time for completion rather than to rush work and have it poorly done.

Contract Conflict

Removal of part of the present metal stacks to the new building is stipulated in the contract, which cannot be accepted until this change has been made. The conflict and resulting delay comes, however, in the lack of a place to store the books now in these stacks while the transfer is being made, Douglass explained.

Progress is being made in the placing of art works. A wood carving nearly six feet in length is in place in the graduate reading room. Decorated, wrought-iron gates, complimenting the Italian black and white effect of the marble walls, guard the inner gateways of the main entrance. Stairs and hand rails are also of marble.

Stacks May Expand

Roominess in the stacks leaves plenty of space for future expansion. According to W. C. Warren, reserve librarian, the building will not be stocked to capacity for ten years.

The rooms, finished with noiseless travertine, are as quiet as monasteries.

Their Last Game

Captain Del Bjork, tackle. Bob Braddock, halfback. Edd Farrar, center. John Engstrom, end. Pat Fury, tackle.

Duck Mentor

FRANK CALLISON
Oregon

OSC, Duck Teams Keyed to Fighting Pitch for Big Game

Captain Del Bjork, Playing Last Game, Leads Linemen in Attempt to Stop Thrusts of State's Joe Gray

By PAT FRIZZELLE
Emerald Sports Editor

It's the 40th Big Game.

No conference championship will be at stake, no Rose Bowl glory will be the reward, but when football teams of Oregon and Oregon State tear into each other on Corvallis' Bell field this afternoon all the fire and bitterness of a battle for the title of a dozen leagues will be unleashed.

It starts at 2 o'clock and by that time Bell field will be running over with humanity. The Webfoots and Beavers are at the bottom of the coast conference, but a capacity throng is assured for what to the state of Oregon is THE game.

On paper, Oregon is an underdog today. But when these rivals of almost half a century fling gridiron forces into traditional warfare, there isn't any dope or any form. They're bettin on Oregon State in the wise circles, but in wiser company the wags are keeping shekels safe in their pockets.

Line Is Best

Today's game will find an Oregon line comparable with the best on the coast meeting an Oregon State offense which crushed Washington State and outplayed Stanford. Captain Del Bjork of the Webfoots and Jumping Joe Gray of the Beavers are the men to watch.

Del Bjork will be playing for the last time in Oregon green, and this will be his final shot at all-American recognition. Joe Gray is a junior, but his passing arm is on a par with the best.

Stop the Ghost

Oregon must stop Gray today, and Oregon State must break through or over the Webfoot line which Bjork leads. All week Prince Gary Callison, Oregon head coach, has primed his team on defense against a Beaver passing attack which doomed Washington State and gave Stanford the fight of half a dozen seasons. The miracle right arm of Gray heaves the leather, and the glue-like fingers of Joe Wendlick, Don Coons, and Tommy Swanson nab it. That's what the Beavers do if allowed half a chance. Oregon's task is to bar them from that chance.

The Ducks, not the desperate Ducks but the determined Ducks, will hurl the ball high, wide, and far also. A spectacular battle of overhead barrages is assured.

(Please turn to page four)

TODAL'S LINEUPS

Oregon	Oregon State
Yerby	LE..... Coons
Bjork (C)	LT..... Miller
Amato	LG..... Ramsey
Farrar	C..... (C) Deming
Giovanini	RG..... Strack
Foskett	RT..... Watts
Nilsen	RE..... Wendlick
Kennedy	Q..... Duncan
Nicholson	LH..... Gray
Lasselle	RH..... Swanson
Braddock	F..... Kolberg

Green Team Beats Gold, 31-19, in Volleyball

The first Green team beat the first Gold team in the first honorary women's volleyball game, 31-19, last night in Gerlinger hall.

The Green winners—Seely, Hunt, Moshberger, Thurmond, Lawyer, Rising, Bates, Thatcher, G. Smith, and Rich.

The Gold losers—Watzek, Brant-hover, Bogue, Palmer, Scott, Nakajima, Watson, Edmunds, Dean, and Boward.

Miss Warrine Eastburn refereed the game.

The Passing Show

Eden Emits Minimum Wages Better Days Ahead Bears Rally

By DARREL ELLIS

Who's a Pirate?

Declaring that British warships will fire on Spanish rebel gunboats as "pirates" if they interfere with English merchant vessels, Foreign Minister Anthony Eden last night delivered Britain's reply to Spanish insurgent threats to destroy Barcelona if arms shipments to the Madrid government continue.

Eden's position on the "pirate" stand was secure because England has recognized neither side in the Spanish conflict as a belligerent, and any molestation of her commerce must be regarded in that light, according to international law, informed sources said.

Courts Can't Agree

An Ohio minimum wage law, almost identical with the New York (Please turn to page four)

Bates Is Speaker For Profs' Meet

Author, Former Member Of Faculty, to Address Association Tonight

Dr. Ernest Sutherland Bates, one-time head of the department of rhetoric and American literature in the University will be guest speaker tonight when members of the American Association of University professors meet in the Oriental room of the Osburn hotel for a 6 o'clock dinner. Dr. Bates will use as his topic, "The Teacher and Civic Freedom."

Dr. Bates comes to Eugene from Portland where he has been conducting forums for the United States Bureau of Education. Since leaving the Oregon faculty, he has been literary editor of the "Dictionary of American Biography" and for the last ten years has been one of the best known reviewers in New York. He has been a staff reviewer of the Saturday Review of Literature and on Books, weekly review published by the New York Herald-Tribune.

Four of his latest books have (Please turn to page two)

Britain Censor Bans Picture for Simpson Crack

"Oh, that Mrs. Simpson!"

Because of this single line spoken by Spencer Tracy in the recently-released Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature, "Labeled Lady," the entire production has been banned by the British censor, according to the California Daily Bruin.

In spite of the pleas of the producer that it was purely coincidence, His Majesty's government insists the line was included deliberately, and has banned the film in totality, not even allowing a substitute line to be "dubbed in" in place of it.

Coeds on Kiss Strike

Coeds on the University of Utah campus have gone on a "kissing-strike!" In recent laboratory experiments students found under the microscope that bacteria in kiss agar culture multiplied by the thousands and the funny, wiggly things looked dangerous.

Traffic Jam

Two Stanford boys in a 1931 (Please turn to page two)