

Faculty Dancers May Entertain At Revels Dec. 12

Dean Schwering Grants 12:15 Permission, Faculty and Students To Receive Gifts

A rumor that the hitherto unpublicized professor's dancing chorus will make its first 1936 campus appearance at the Christmas Revels is being sent over the campus grapevine. The rumor also says that Mrs. Fayol Knox, interpretive dancing instructor, is directing the chorus. The rumor is neither confirmed nor denied by Christmas Revels chairmen, Delores Lawes and Harry Hodes.

The Christmas Revels, which will be held Saturday, December 12, is a traditional all-campus informal no-date affair and Dean Hazel P. Schwering has granted 12:15 permission for that night.

If present plans are completed, the stage of Gerlinger hall will be transformed into a huge fireplace down the chimney of which Santa Claus may come. Instead of placing the orchestra on the stage as has been done previously, this year the stage is being decorated for the vaudeville acts.

The entire hall will be decorated in the traditional Christmas fashion with fir boughs, holly, mistletoe and Christmas trees.

During the intermission Santa Claus will give appropriate gifts to prominent faculty and student body members. Neither the identity of Santa Claus nor the receivers of the gifts will be revealed until the night of the Revels.

The dance program will be varied with short vaudeville acts, two of which will be surprise numbers. Probably the identity of the originators of the acts or the actors will never be known.

The Tri Delt trio, Glenn Griffith's carolers, and Hal Young will supply the musical vaudeville numbers. George Hopkins, professor of piano, will appear as a magician, and Lance Hart, assistant professor of drawing and art, will give a take-off on W. C. Fields.

The balcony will be opened to spectators who will pay the regular charge of 25 cents.

sophomore conceded the best chance of displacing one of the regulars for a starting berth: Wayne Scott, long shot artist and reserve on last year's team; Urgel Wintermute, tallest man on the squad and another sophomore; Bill Harcombe, letterman of two years back, Gale Smith, Ford Mullen, and George Jackson, sophomore prospects, and Bob Becker, transfer from Pasadena Junior college.

On Saturday night the Webfoots will tackle Multnomah club of Portland in what is expected to be another tough encounter.

Torson on Team

Mush Torson, Corvallis high coach and another ex-Oregon State luminary, will play with Wagner's. Completing the roster are the Sandoz twins, Ali and Fred, both of whom starred on last year's rook team, and Elmo Crockett, member of the state championship Corvallis high team.

Music School Displays Ancient Manuscripts

Two fascinating music manuscripts, laboriously hand-penned on parchment more than 300 years ago, have been placed on view in the Carnegie room of the music school at the University of Oregon. They are owned by Louis P. Artau, assistant professor of music, and date from 1650.

The manuscripts, now faded and stained with the wear of three centuries, are originals from the Monastery of Montserrat, and are of the Gregorian series. They are of great historical interest because of the way in which they differ from modern music manuscripts. Their type of notation marks a transition between the Neume system of the earlier centuries and the modern method. They are written in medieval script, which makes translation difficult.

Householders to Meet To Report Vacancies For Rooms Next Term

All householders who rent rooms to students are asked to attend a meeting in Villard hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock, announces Mrs. Alice B. MacDuff, assistant dean of women. The purpose of the meeting will be to give the householders a chance to report the number of rooms they will have vacant next term.

Dean Hazel Schwering will meet with the group.

Phi Betes to Hear Hollis Address

Orlando J. Hollis, professor of law, will deliver the feature address when the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa meets to initiate this year's Senior Six Saturday evening at a banquet in the Osburn hotel. Professor Hollis will speak on "Styles in Scholarship."

"Dr. Dan E. Clark, president of the local chapter, will act as toastmaster at the banquet and will deliver the address of welcome to the initiates. Martha McCall will respond.

This year's Senior Six are Dorothy H. Dill, Martha McCall, Robert G. Vosper, Elaine Comish, Marcus Morris Horenstein, and Alfred S. Tyson.

The banquet will celebrate the 160th anniversary of the national organization. The local chapter has been in existence 14 years.

The Phi Bete trio, with Theresa Kelly, piano, Vivian Malone, violin, and Madge Conway, celloist, will furnish music for the banquet.

Art School Active As Bazaar Nears

Preparations for the Christmas bazaar, to be held Friday, December 11, added a gay air of Christmas bustle yesterday to every department in the art school. The elves in Santa's workshop could be no busier than the art students, who are working furiously to make the sale a success.

The sale itself, which will be held from 2 to 5:30 and from 7 to 9 in the evening, promises to be suggestive of Yuletide festivities. Entertainment will be furnished by a brass quartet, dressed in medieval costume; this quartet has been organized by Earl Scott, director of the Eugene hotel orchestra and major in painting. Santa himself should feel at home in the midst of the gay music, the bright colors of the decorations and the artists' smocks, and the attractive display of artistic Christmas gifts.

There will be several tables of articles for sale, some for individual artists with an abundance of handiwork, and others for groups with less work to sell. Prices are set on the articles by the owners, then approved by the committee in charge, and lastly tagged with the owner's name and the price according to a system worked out by the finance committee. Ten per cent of all returns from the sale will go to the Allied Arts League.

These manuscripts are taken from old volumes of music which can be found only in the shops of collectors and in cathedrals and monasteries. They are part of a collection which Mr. Artau is starting. There is a possibility that he will gain possession of a manuscript written in 1326 which contains the old Neume notation.

Mr. Artau also hopes to start a collection of old musical instruments. Next term he will loan to the University a rare old keyboard instrument which he plans to bring from the east.

Animal Movies Shown at Alpha Kappa Delta Meet

Lester F. Beck, associate professor of psychology, pointed out the significance of experimentation in animal behavior, centering upon experiments with chimpanzees, in his speech at the Alpha Kappa Delta meeting Wednesday night.

Motion pictures showing the results of these experiments at Yale illustrated his speech. Questions, which followed the motion picture, related to the existence of culture in chimpanzees and the relation of culture to their language inability.

Hunter Goes to Chicago For Educators Meeting

Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter left Portland recently to attend a meeting of educational policies commission in Chicago December 4-8. He will return to Eugene by Friday, December 11.

The educational policies commission is composed of 20 commissioners appointed by the National Education association.

Recital Features Pianist, Violinist

Classical Presentations Are Played by Musicians on Thursday Evening

Four students of the University of Oregon school of music played in recital in the music auditorium last night. The students were Dorothy Louise Johnson, violinist, Lucia Davis, Lois Ann Whipple, and Robert Garretson, pianists.

Dorothy Louise Johnson is a violin student of Rex Underwood, professor of music, and the pianists are students of George Hopkins, professor of piano.

The first selections were offered by Miss Davis, who played the first movement of Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 13, Chopin's "Nocturn in F Sharp Major," and as her last selection, "Golliwogg's 'Take Walk'" by Debussy, a composition well-suited to her light fingers and sure touch.

Grieg's "Sonata" was played in duet by Miss Johnson and Mr. Garretson. They played the three movements of the selection.

Miss Whipple offered three piano selections, Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in C Minor," Godowsky's "Watteau Paysage," and Grainger's "Shepherd's Hey," with a lively sparkle.

As the concluding phase of the program, Miss Johnson again appeared and was accompanied by Mr. Garretson in four selections—"Nigun" by Bloch, "Preludium and Allegro" by Pugnani - Kreisler, "Nocturne in E Flat" by Chopin-Sarasate, and Sarasate's famous "Zigeunerweisen."

Art School Grads To Hold Meeting, Dinner Tonight

The alumni association of the art school, of which Lowell Anderson is president, will hold its first meeting of the season tonight at the home of Dean Ellis F. Lawrence.

The main topic of discussion will be plans for the new studio kiln building, for which the subscription list is almost complete.

Special guests of the alumni will be Victoria Avakian and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. B. Wilcox, who will be honored at a dinner given before the meeting.

20 New Students Answer NYA Call

Appointment Notices Out Soon; 2.75, 2.25 Grade Points Required

Twenty students responded to Earl M. Pallett's announcement Wednesday that students who did not receive financial aid fall term but need it the coming term should turn in NYA applications promptly. Only a few students have expressed themselves as not needing help again.

Reappointment notices will be mailed to students before Christmas while those to new students will come out between December 26 and 30, Mrs. Ruth E. McNeely, secretary to Mr. Pallett, chairman of the NYA committee, announced Thursday.

The University is allotted the same amount winter term as it was during fall term, $4350. It is expected that after all applications are considered appointments will be approximately the same in number. At present there are 341 undergraduate students and 20 graduate students working.

All students considering applying should notice the requirements as far as grades are concerned. An "old" student must make 2.75 and a "new" student, 2.25.

110 Students Registered In WPA Mail Courses

One hundred and ten people are enrolled in the adult education through the WPA correspondence division in the University.

Thirty-one lessons have been sent to CCC advisers and ten to teachers, besides 220 sent to pupils. Fifty-six enrollment cards were filed during October and November. Every day law lessons, which are sent to 21 pupils, 6 CCC advisers, and one teacher, rank as the course most in demand. The Oregon tree and shrub course is second with 19 pupils, and 5 CCC advisers. Every day English and child training courses are also in demand.

ALONG FASHION ROW

Well gals, now is your chance to get that long waited for revenge again us men folks, not that we deserve it. Why don't you get into the Christmas spirit and look around at some of the stores mentioned below and see if you can't find him something that he won't wear. You know, any ol' rag.

MCMORRAN and WASHBURNES have some of the finest imported English mufflers of cashmere wool that are the dressiest thing that I have seen for $5.00. If you don't like them, look at their traveling kits, of genuine leather, with zipper and twelve fittings. They come in brown and black for as little as $6.50. Then there are beautiful hand knit wool socks in Argile plaids that have the distinction of being English at $1.65. If you want something still different they have some beautiful neckwear, that even I would wear, of very exclusive patterns and colorings for $1.50 and $2.50.

ERIC MERRILL'S said give HIM a dressing robe of Scotch plaid or an ultra cocktail jacket. They come in many patterns and colors and are an ideal gift for $6.95 and up. To go with this why don't you get HIM either Horner or Varsity pajamas in plaids that speak for themselves and they would cost only $1.95 more. To make the sleeping outfit complete they have slippers in all shades to match the robes for as little as $2.50.

PAUL D. GREENE'S: If anybody feels especially like giving, they might run down town and get me a half-dozen of those simply swell Botany plaid ties at $1.00 per each. Well, if you don't want 'em tie 'em I'll settle for Phoenix hose, in patterns that only an artist could create. They're dirt cheap at 35c to a $1. What, with winter coming on, I could always use a darn good sweater, yea, one of those kind that button in front and have snappy backs. The price. Tsk. Tsk! Only $5.

JOE RICHARDS': If some one would buy Bob, Tun'er Out, Pollock a new gag book I sure would be happy. Yea, and you might also get him some British imported handkerchiefs in dark plaids for 35c or 50c. I know he needs suspenders by Paris or Pioneer, 'cause only yesterday he said he was going to bare all. They're swell and cheap. Only $1.00 or $1.50. If you don't get him suspenders, get him an initial buckle. What with three initials and in either gold or silver who could be wrong, and only $1.50.

BYROM AND HOSELTINE: It is one thing to give a man a gift, and another to satisfy him. This year by making a pre-determined selection of shirts and ties we feel that we have helped you solve the gift problem. Swell Grayco shirts for $1.95, either plain colors or plaids and stripes. Grayco end-lock ties in many fascinating designs for $1.00 and for good measure you might throw in the handy Grayco $1.00 tie-rack. Yowza, Yowza, a very handy gadget. Mamma buy two of dem.

DeNEFFES': Dear Santa: Please sent me, un-c.o.d., the following Christmas presents. A cocktail shaker, all chromium and stuff ($5.00) an' a bill-fold out of genuine leather with no stitches in it ($1.50 to $5.00). If you ain't got them try to find a pretty blue or wine flannel bathrobe ($6.50 to $10) that my fraternity brothers, the rats, won't like all the more better than me. Beings as how I have been cold lately why not send me a Cashmere sweater, the kind that are all fuzzy wuzzy and warm ($5.00 to $10.00) and also send me a blond rapped in cellophane—Lovingly—Fred Hammond.

If you can't find him a present among all of those things, please don't say that I didn't try. A Merry Christmas to you all—WMS. P.S. Skol—WMS.
