

PINK Lemon-Aid

By JOHN PINK

There is some sort of psychology in baseball that team winning the first game of series doesn't have to worry too much about the remaining ones, for they will fall in line.

And so Hobby was in some sort of a spot this week. Here was the opening game away from home and another one the next day in the home orchard.

Well, Hobby did that which was expected of him. And thanks to the brilliant four-hit hurling of Johnny Lewis, the converted third baser, Hobby guessed right.

There is some saying that says that the guy that guesses right can't be wrong. But let him guess wrong sometimes.

Lest you are the glibble sort who believe that all these today when the Webfoots take hitches in their pants, get glints in their eyes, exhort excitedly, and exude that old "die for alma mammy" stuff that there only thought is for the Universitas, I want to set you straight.

When someone gets up to the plate and gets hit with a ball on the noggin, then gets up with a smile, it will probably not be because he loves the game, but that he was thinkin' "Oh boy, I win that fancy pair of earmuffs that so-and-so is giving" and the fellow that takes those lousy cuts "Gee, if I smack this one, I can take Liz to the show on the dozen passes I win."

You get it. Those prizes are fun for the boys and they get a great kick out of winning them. Even coaches aren't averse to eating a big dinner free gratis, or getting a new neck tie (complete, without soup spots) or even a new car, which some coaches consider a suitable prize.

So we have everything today. Ancient school rivalry, prizes galore to shoot for, no end of presidents throwing the onion, a couple of hot bands for stirring the spirit, hot dogs and soda pop, a day filled with sun (we hope), a first class team—how can we miss.

Boy, make mine with mustard.)

Oregon and Oregon State Relay Squads Tangle Today

State Rivals Compete at One P. M. on Hayward Field in Annual Event

Moved Forward an Hour To Give Fans Chance To Glimpse Meet and Baseball Game Too

Colonel Bill Hayward's 1937 varsity track squad makes its official debut today on Hayward field in the 10th running of the annual Oregon-Oregon State relay carnival.

The time of the meet, originally set for 2 o'clock, was advanced one hour in order to allow fans to witness the carnival, then go up to Howe field to take in the opening varsity baseball game also between Oregon and Oregon State.

With a sun shining most of yesterday and good weather predicted for today the track will be in fine condition for record assaults.

For both squads this is the first appearance of the season. Dope favors neither team as both have been hit by graduation losses, and lack of favorable training conditions during the spring.

Although neither Hayward nor Carl Lodell, Beaver mentor, would give out their definite lineups, the probability is that the following men will be used, but not necessarily listed:

440 and 880-yard relay—Oregon (Frank Lloyd, Gib Schultz, Stan Carlson, Ben Forbs), Oregon State (Bob Leslie, Bill Hoyer, Aaron Funk, Grant Teats, Russel Niblock, Charles Hillway).

Shot put relay—Oregon (Bill Foscott, Chan Berry, Dutch Holland, Stan Smith), Oregon State (Bud Wagner, Ken Deming, Ray Fugate, Eugene Spencer).

Two mile relay—Oregon (Crawford Lyle, Ken Miller, Chick Hart-disty, Eldon Fix), Oregon State (unknown).

Four mile relay—Oregon (Sam McGaughey, Crawford Lyle, Pere Draper), Oregon State entries unknown.

Shuttle Hurdle—Oregon (Bob Goodfellow, Harold Weston, Milo Acherson), Oregon State (Duane Acherson, Pete Beamer, Aaron Funk).

High jump relay—Oregon (Frank Lloyd, Mel Fitchard, Dutch Holland, Stan Warren), Oregon State (Duane Ackerson, Pete Beamer, Hal Heggis, Bob Kellogg, Don McDermid).

Distance medley—Oregon (Jim Schriver, Ken Miller, Bill Harrow, Sam McGaughey), Oregon State (Ray Woodman, George Weldon, Dave Lewis, Teats, Niblock, Hillway, Hoyer).

Shot put relay—Oregon (Bill Foscott, Chan Berry, Dutch Holland, Stan Smith), Oregon State (Bud Wagner, Ken Deming, Ray Fugate, Eugene Spencer).

Women's Tennis Will Start Soon

Nicholas, Moshberger, and Fredericksen Seeded in Singles Play

Inter-house tennis for girls is getting off to a sharp rally this weekend with fifty-three girls scheduled for play, the largest number for some time.

The girls have played their matches, they should report their score to Louisa Watson at Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, and they can find the rules posted at the tennis courts.

To earn a WAA check, the girls should have two matches and six practices. When a girl has played a practice set, she may mark a check on the bulletin board at the courts.

There are four scheduled tournaments: the inter-house singles, the inter-house doubles, the all-campus singles, and the all-campus doubles.

The all-campus play will be the really tough games with Murie Nicholas, Anne Fredericksen, and Ursula Moshberger as three seeded players.

If any of the girls need officials in the form of referees, they should be getting in touch with Margaret Van Matre at Susan Campbell hall.

The schedules for next week and following will be up this weekend, so all you girls who have signed up to enter any of these tournaments should be sure to see that you aren't missing any of your sets, as a match not played will be counted as a default.

With Ol' Sol out of hibernation for a while, and spring definitely in the air, the Oregon varsity netmen blossomed out in full force once again to undergo a strenuous training period in preparation for the coming conference matches.

Mel Johnson, who is pinch-hitting for Coach Paul Washke, will allow no waste of the precious weather and has slated an exhibition practice match with the Leader Tennis Shop of Portland for today at 2 stars.

It will be the first competition for the Webfoots since they journeyed to Portland and defeated Reed college a week ago. The Leader team will be composed of several Portland stars, most prominent of whom are Wesley Hartman and Vic Ramis.

Hartman was on the Northwest championship doubles team while attending Whitman college. He will be teamed with Ramis when the independents invade the campus today. Ramis and Hartman are the present holders of the Willamette Valley doubles championship.

Included on the Leader team will be several high school stars from the Rose city. There is a possibility that some of the frosh netmen will receive an opportunity to work out during the match.

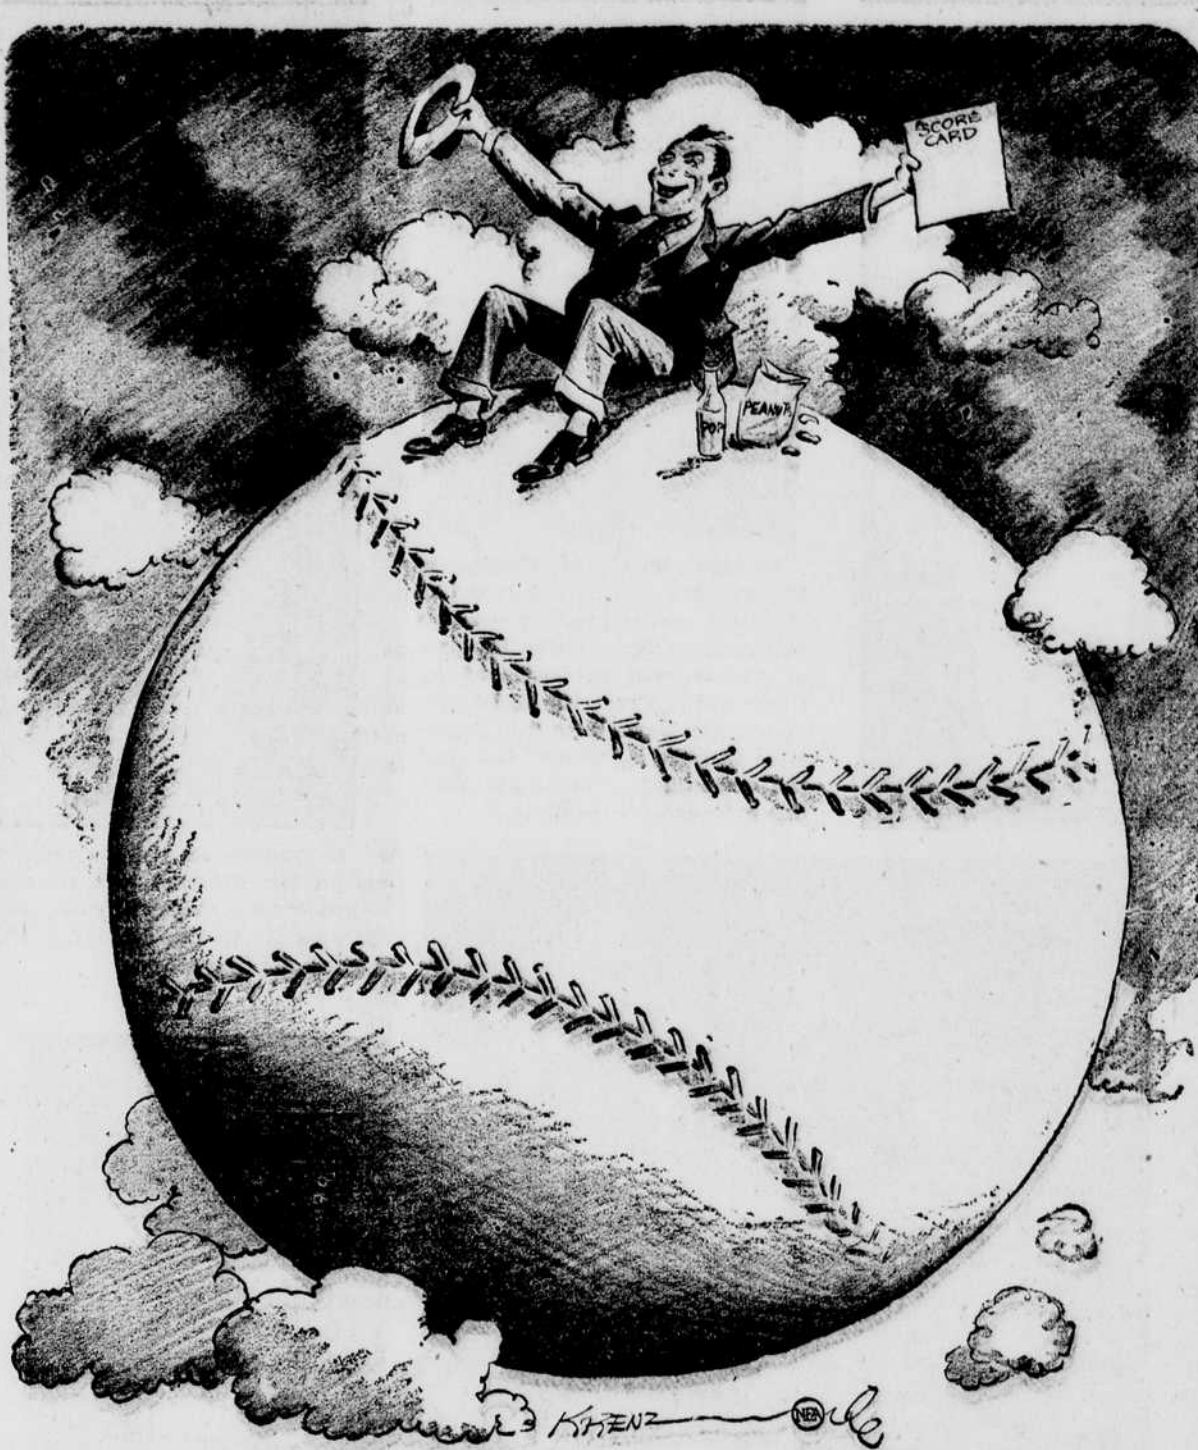

The tournament for the team positions has not been completed as yet, but with the playing of the Economus-Crane match next week, the team positions will definitely be decided.

In what was believed to be the longest singles match in the history of Oregon varsity tennis, Rex Applegate succeeded in outlasting Bob Vaughn in a three hour duel to gain position No. 6 on the team. Scores were 12-10, 2-6, 16-14.

Neither man had an apparent weak point and it was a case of stamina that determined the match. It is reported that the pair wore out five tennis balls before the fray subsided.

In a match for the No. 3 position, Chuck Eaton and Bill Zimmerman put on a spectacular exhibition with the former emerging winner, 6-1, 7-9, 9-7. Both men were evenly matched, and threat-

Ducklings Grab 12 Firsts Over Eugene, Albany, Corvallis, Uni High in Easy Triumph

Taking firsts in all but two events, and sweeping a majority of seconds and thirds, the University of Oregon's Duckling track squad piled up 108 3/5 points to swamp Albany, Eugene, Corvallis, and University high school teams in a five-way meet on Hayward field yesterday.

Corvallis lead the badly out-classed high schools making 18 3/5 points, with Albany, 14 1/10, and Eugene, 8 1/10, and University high, 4 3/5 following in that order.
