Hayward Men Start Tapering For UW Meet

Victory Outlook Gloomy As Meet Time Draws Near; Team to Travel North on Friday

Coach Bill Hayward sent his varsity track team through their final hard workout last night in preparation for their opening dual encounter with Washington's Huskies Saturday at Seattle.

A light tapering off is on schedule for this afternoon with the squad of 18 men expected to leave early Friday for the trip north.

Hayward has not yet divulged his traveling squad but in a time trial in the high hurdles yesterday he picked his two high hurdle entrants. Harry Weston, sophomore speedster, and Milo Lacy, veteran senior, were the two men chosen, finishing the race in that order.

Huskies Powerful The veteran Webfoot mentor does not expect to defeat Washington and figures the team lucky if they score 45 points. Washington has its usual powerful squad and is looked upon as the tops in the conference.

Bill Vandermay, Husky high jumper, is expected to find little competition from the Ducks as he is capable of 6 feet 6 inches while Hayward's Bob Fitchard usually jumps around the six foot height.

McGaughey and Angle Captain Sam McGaughey will have his hands full out-running the Seattle duo of Jimmy Angle and Bill Trowbridge. Trowbridge is regarded a great prospect in this event.

Although everyone is practically conceding the pole vault to George Varoff, reports from the Husky camp say that Jay Reese, a transfer from the University of Missouri, has been clearing 13 feet consistently and should go much higher in the meet.

A duel is expected between Ken Miller, one year half-mile veteran, and Bill Palmason, cream of the coast's 880 men. Experts are rating Miller on a par with Palmason this season.

Squeak Lloyd, Oregon's springy-legged broad jumper will find stiff going against Jim Pantan who has been jumping close to 24 feet in practice meets in the northern country.

Washington has a trio of expert timber toppers in Jim McGoldrick, Bert Anshutz and Fred Studfield and little chance is conceded the Ducks in this event although Weston and Lacy are capable of upsetting the dope bucket anytime.

In the field Oregon's Bill Fosskett, shot put, Dutch Holland, discus, and Elmer Koskelo, javelin, should have comparatively easy going although Jess Miller, the Husky harpoon thrower, is capable of 190 feet with the spear.

ago days when Don Mee and Frank Dolp performed for Oregon. It is interesting to note that the last two Seattle affairs ended by 14 to 13 scores.

Coach-captain Milligan in describing the Seattle course says it is right on Washington's campus in the hustle and bustle of city life. Trains and autos are constantly whizzing by, and you can watch a nearby draw-bridge functioning for the city's traffic.

Honored Eugene W. Nixon, director of athletics at Pomona College, Claremont, Calif., for 21 years, won the 1937 honor award of the American Physical Education association for outstanding achievement in the field of health and physical education.

In the 1935 championship matches held in Eugene, Leonard Anderson, who is now pro at the Laurelwood course, captured individual medalist honors. Captain Sid Milligan, is the only member of this year's team who saw action with the '35 outfit. Tom Stoddard coached the Oregon golfers during the past two seasons.

Ducks Open Conference Play Against Cougars Friday Afternoon

With hopes of stretching their victory total to six consecutive matches, the Oregon varsity tennis team departed early this morning to Pullman, Washington, where the Ducks will meet the Washington State Cougars for their opening Northwest conference match.

Following the contest with the Cougars Friday, the team will travel to Moscow to meet the Vandals for their second conference engagement. Team members, managed by Mel Johnson, who will make the trip are captain John Economus, Larry Crane, Charlie Eaton, Bill Zimmerman, and Al Finke.

Coach Paul Washke, who has been attending a national physical education convention in New York is expected to meet the team when they arrive in Pullman.

In past contests, the Webfoots have had little trouble with the northern teams. Washington State is reported to be lacking in experienced men as are their neighbors the Vandals. Oregon boasts one of the strongest teams since 1929 when the Webfoot doubles team won the national intercollegiate championship from the University of Texas.

Hayward Relays Set for Saturday

20 High School Squads to Meet in First Annual Track Competition

Teams from 20 high schools from Salem to Cottage Grove will line up Saturday at 2:00 o'clock to start the first "Hayward Relays" to be held annually on Hayward field.

More than 100 athletes will be on hand to participate in the five track and three field relay events. The meet is open to all schools in the valley; eight of the twenty invited have already accepted.

Schools from as far north as Salem and south to Cottage Grove will be represented at this inaugural event of the Hayward relays, named in honor of Oregon's veteran track coach, Colonel Bill Hayward. These relays to be staged annually will be a lasting tribute to that great athlete, trainer, and coach whose name they bear.

Three men teams will participate in the field events, and four man teams in the track events. The track events are as follows: 440 yard relay, sprint medley, distance medley, mile relay, and three mile relay. The field events are: shot put relay, javelin relay, and high jump relay.

Frosh Divoteers Take 3-Way Meet

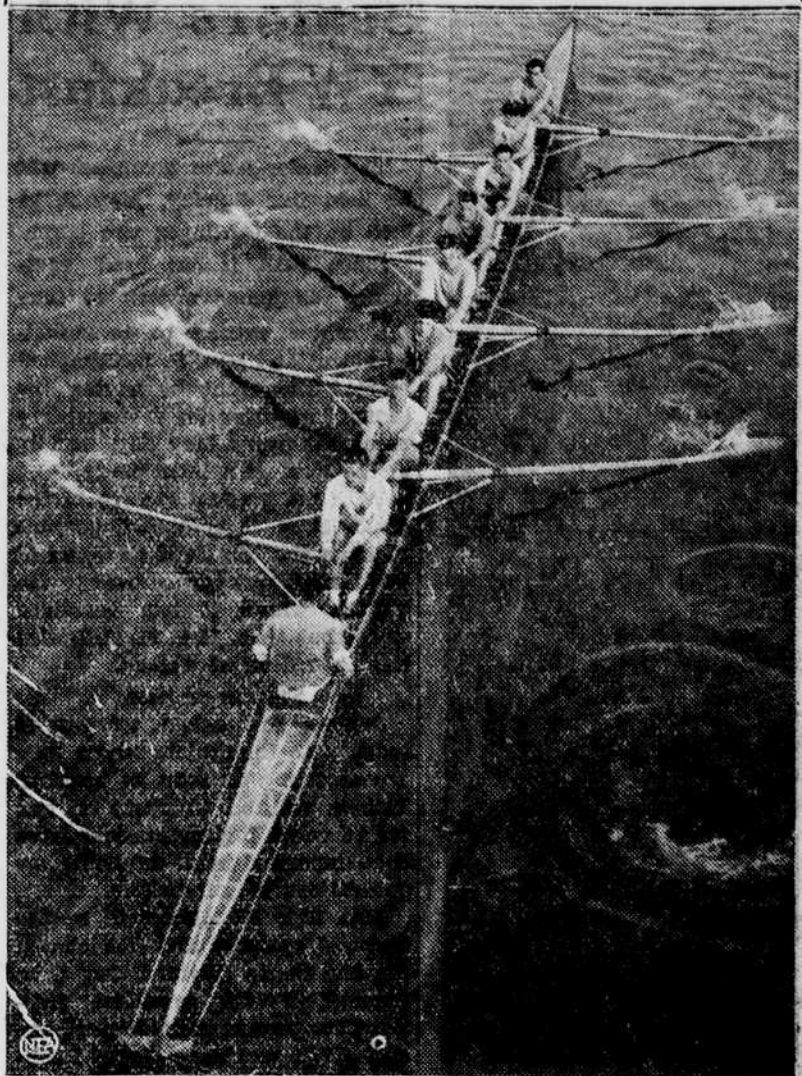

Eugene, University High Submerged Under Par Duckling Scores

Paced in scoring by Ben Hughes, No. 2, a 5-man Duckling golf team practically whitewashed University and Eugene high schools in a three-way meet Wednesday afternoon on the Laurelwood course.

The frosh playing near perfect golf, made a clean sweep of all points but one, beating University high 14-1 and Eugene high 15-0. Ben Hughes was low with a medal 68, four under par. Behind him was Don Coles, No. 1 frosh, with a 70.

Saturday the frosh make their first road trip of the season, traveling to Corvallis to meet Oregon State's Rooks in a 36-hole match. The six frosh golfers in this meet will be Don Coles, Ben Hughes, Bill Rosson, Doc Near, Charles

Dave Hamley Reaches 3rd Position on 6-Man Varsity Squad; Tussle With British Nears

With Friday's 36-hole match against an unknown, untried University of British Columbia golf team rapidly drawing near, Oregon's undefeated varsity divot-diggers are practicing to iron out weak spots in their games before the "mystery" test.

The only challenges for higher positions in team lineup this week were made by Dave Hamley, who played No. 4 in last weekend's Puget Sound and University of Washington matches.

Hamley shot a par 72 at Eugene country club to grab No. 3 spot from Doug Ramsey, who has held that position all season. Hamley beat Ramsey one up.

Following his win over Ramsey, Hamley challenged Walt Cline, No. 2, man but lost 6 and 5 when he scored a 78 to Cline's 72. Since the start of the season, Hamley has climbed from No. 5 to No. 3 position on the squad, by virtue of win over Bill Watson and Ramsey.

Positions, barring last-minute changes, as follows: Sid Milligan, No. 1; Walt Cline, No. 2; Dave Hamley, No. 3; Doug Ramsey, No. 4; Bill Watson, No. 5, and Bill Watson, No. 6.

No doubles match lineups have been announced as yet by Milligan, captain. The Duck golfers will be after their 14th consecutive dual British Columbia team.

LONDAHL GETS POST John Londahl, ex-Webfoot star athlete, has received an appointment to coach athletics at Milton-Freewater high school, according to an announcement made by Dean Bovard. Londahl will leave, Redmond high school, where he is now coaching, to take over his new job this coming fall.

Varsity Nine Ends Practice For Vandals

Bill Sayles Is Named as Mound Choice to Face Idaho in First Contest Here Friday

Bill (Chic) Sayles, sophomore pitching ace, has been named by Coach Hobson to start on the mound in Friday's game on Howe field against the touring University of Idaho Vandals.

The Duck mentor is taking no chances in getting his boys off to a good start, and will have the speedball righthander ready to use against Washington State in next week's crucial series.

The Webfoots took things fairly easy last night, with four of the team's six-man pitching staff working on the hill, and the whole outfit taking batting practice.

Lewis, Hardy Ready Sayles and Bill Marshall pitched to the varsity hitters, and LeRoy Mattingly and Dave Gammon worked in a practice tilt between the Ducklings and a makeshift lineup of frosh and varsity reserves.

Johnny Lewis and Bob Hardy are both in fine shape, and ready to work this weekend against Idaho. Figures on the players for last week's conference games against Oregon State show nine Webfoots hitting over .375, and the team's average was .396.

Batting averages follow table with columns for G, AB, H, Pct.

Coach Hobson has been using about the same lineup in this week's practices that opened both Beaver contests. Only changes may be in the outfield.

Tentative Lineup Named Gale Smith is a cinch to hold his post at first base. The Duck sophomore is fielding beautifully, and boasts a nice hitting average for the Oregon State series. Cliff McLean hasn't hit his stride yet, but is an institution behind the bat.

Smooth-fielding Ford Mullen, third base; hard-hitting Jack Gordon, shortstop; and Jack Coleman, second sacker, who has found his batting eye, complete the infield.

Andy Hurney, rightfielder; Ralph Amato and Jimmy Nicholson, centerfielders, and Bill Courtney in left, will patrol the outer garden as usual. John Yerby is also a possibility to crack the lineup against Idaho.

Score: R H E Freshmen 6 8 3 Yannigans 2 5 5 Robertson, Mitchell and Kelly, Empey; Gammon and Mattingly and Crosby.

Thirteen Frosh Trackmen Will Compete Friday

Freshmen Prepare for Annual Relays Against Oregon State Rooks On Home Track

George Scharpf, freshman track mentor, apparently doesn't believe in jinxes or superstitions, for he yesterday named 13 yearling runners to compete in the annual Frosh-Rook relay battle on Hayward field tomorrow afternoon.

The yearling runners will compete in five events, the 440, half mile, mile, three mile and medley relays. Last spring the rooks copied four of the five races, but, according to Scharpf, the Ducklings are primed to avenge that defeat.

Relay Team Picked Jim Buck, Dean Ellis, Lyle Reider and Bob Samuels will run in the quarter and half mile relays. The mile relay team will be composed of Kirman Storli, Scott Corbett, Ed Buxton and Ed Stanton.

Storli and Bob Mitchell will run half-mile laps, and Wayne Mackin and Bob Neese will run mile laps in the three-mile relay.

Entrants in the medley relay are still uncertain, depending on the outcome of the other events, but the tentative team is composed of Harry Hildeburn, Elvred Steele, Buxton and Neese.
