Lemon-Aid

By JOHN PINK

Today the subject will be color. Some got it and others ain't—and never will. But if you saw Saturday's ball game, and Friday's too, there can be no doubt in your mind that one gentleman in these parts has the old razz-ma-tazz. Walking up and down along the sidelines, giving and taking with the crowd—who ate it up—wandering all over the diamond was big Forrest Two-good, coach of the Vandals, ex-big leaguer, and well versed in the art of crowd heckling, and pleasing.

The bleachers in back of first baseline were in a continual uproar as the campus Joe Millers dug down deep, and let fly with loud and raucous voices, and Forrest, on the bench, off the bench, patting a player on the back, arguing—with arms waving—with the umpire, matched the bleachers word for word.

For my part I liked it. The game was not too exciting and attention commanding and this sidelight supplied a rather dull ball game with a spark that everyone enjoyed. I think there was more noise, chatter and pep displayed Saturday than any game this season and Two-good's antics were greatly responsible for that life.

If I've heard correctly the portly Buck Bailey, who leads his Cougars here tomorrow and Thursday is liberally endowed with much the same stuff. Vociferous and gigantic—all 240 odd pounds of him—Buck should keep the bleacher boys and girls in a dither. And with the close games, that these should be, there should be all of the color, excitement and sparkle of a day at the big leagues.

When Bill Hayward said that his Duck cinder pathers would get only 47 points against Washington several days before the debacle, the rail birds were inclined to scoff and consider the statement a bit of pre-meet strategy. But Bill couldn't have figured it much closer for his Webfoots tallied exactly 46 counters against the powerful Huskies. One reason for the lack of running ability so far this spring can be attributed to the weather, which has been too disagreeable to allow any concentrated work on speed or short sprints. No one can pull a muscle or strain a tendon easier than a runner trying too hard on a cold day. And that is what the veteran mentor has had to contend with all spring. But if a few days' of sunshine as beheld over the weekend, would turn up, I, for one, will lay some mazzuma on the blaze that when the conference meet rolls around, Hayward will have some winners in the running events to go with his top-notch field event men.

Royal Brougham of the Seattle P-I Monday in an open letter to Ray Eckman, athletic director of the University of Washington, complained of the treatment of the public of Seattle from the getting of the headline performers at Husky-staged meets. He went on that Glenn Cunningham, did not break any world's records in an exhibition and that Archie Williams, California's star quarter miler, didn't make the cash customers gape early this year and then he concluded something like this "and the great George Varoff came out and made one jump and then went to the showers."

But Mr. Brougham must not lose sight of the fact that when a champ is good enough to win without duly extending himself against the local boys why should he burn up energy to give the hard money people a thrill. And there is always the risk of injury, too.

What Mr. Brougham loses sight of is that Mr. Eckman is a publicity man, and publicity is publicity. Any newspaper man should know that.

In regards to our George, though, he has been favoring an injured leg all spring and what would the percentage be in jumping all afternoon for Mr. Brougham's satisfaction?

Webfoots Prepare for Crucial Washington State Series

Track Squad Pointing for Cougar Meet

Second Two-Day Contest Slated for Saturday at Pullman; Husky Men Bounce Ducks, 88-46

With Saturday's 88 to 46 defeat at the hands of Washington's Huskies completely forgotten, Oregon's varsity track squad yesterday began concentrating on their second dual meet of the season against Washington State at Pullman, Saturday.

The Husky encounter bore out Colonel Bill Hayward's pre-meet prediction that Oregon would be lucky to get 47 points. Webfoot runners did not take a first place on the cinders and it remained for Bill Foskett, Dutch Holland, Squeak Lloyd and George Varoff to come through in the field events.

In an attempt to develop his runners Hayward will concentrate on speed work for his cinder men this week. Owing to the cold weather this spring, the track men have been forced to do distance and slow jogging work because of the chances of straining and pulling muscles.

With a good hot sun forecast for this week, Hayward expects to send his runners at top speed instead of the usual jogs and short sprints.

Hayward would not make any prediction yesterday as to the probable score of the Cougar meet, but was definite that his Ducks would be on the short end of the counters again.

Washington State has a formidable aggregation of stars, headed by blond Bill Benke, quarter miler, low hurdler and broad jumper. The Cougar mile relay team recently copped first at the Drake relays, competing against some of the finest squads in the country.

Frosh Divoteers Beat OSC Rooks

Coles Shoots Par 72 to Lead 6-Man Duckling Team in Corvallis Win

Oregon's six-man frosh golf team returned from Corvallis with a 12 1/2-5 1/2 win over the Rooks of Oregon State Saturday in an 18-hole singles and best-ball match.

Best scores of the meet were made by Don Coles, frosh No. 1, and Charles Stafford, Rooks' opponent. Coles won the match with a par 72, but Stafford's hole-in-one on the 135-yard 7th hole gave the Rook No. 1 man something to write home about.

Stafford's ace was a perfect shot that hit the green a few feet short of the pin, rolled to the cup and dropped in. Stafford shot a 74.

Bill Rosson and Charles Phipps, Ducklings, scored the only shut-outs in the singles matches, each winning three points.

Results: Frosh (17 1/2) Coles 2, Hughes 1, Rosson 3, Near 1 1/2, Phipps 3, Fortmiller 2. Rooks (9 1/2) Stafford 1, Blasen 2, Murch 0, Ireland 1 1/2, Weidemann 0, Graham 1.

Best-ball matches: Coles-Near 1 1/2; Stafford-Ireland 1 1/2; Hughes-Phipps 1, Blasen-Weidemann 2; Rosson-Fortmiller 2 1/2, Murch-Graham 1 1/2.

Joe Devers, frosh manager, stated yesterday that he is planning to negotiate with the Washington Babes this week for a match in Portland, probably on May 15. The match, if arranged, possibly will be played on the Oswego club course or the Portland country club course, Devers intimated.

Betas Score The Betas came back in their half of the second to score five runs. The Phi Deltis retaliated in the third by pushing over two runs, when White walked, Joe Wilson forced Gale at third, and Jess Lacklen tripled scoring Wilson and White.

The Phi Deltis counted twice in the fifth, as the Betas bounced back to score five runs, including a home run between Wilson and Strohecker by Wilson Seigmund.

The Phi Deltis scored one in the sixth, when Bob (Lala) Wintermute beat out an infield hit, advanced to second on Swanson's balk, to third on Seigmund's Texas leaguer to right, and scored as Les Werschkul was safe on Martin's error.

By BILL NORENE The Phi Deltis could bat in more runs and oftener, than the Betas yesterday, so they won 13 to 11 in one of the highest scoring games played yet.

The Phi Deltis opened the scoring with a big six run rally in the second inning. Walter Swanson, Phi Delt hurler, started the inning with a single to right center. Laddie Gale hit one to the same place, scoring Swanson as Dick Werschkul momentarily juggled the ball.

Clarry White tripled to score Gale and Jess Lacklen hit a home run past Ercei King, scoring White ahead. Bill Martin walked and Ken Shipley was credited with a home run, when he hit one past Dick Wintermute.

Duck Netters Down Vandals, Cougars 7-0

Team Opens Conference Competition With Two Landslide Victories; Meet Huskies Next

By CHUCK VAN SCOYOC Running their season's total to seven consecutive victories, the Oregon varsity netmen returned from an invasion to Washington State and University of Idaho, with two seven to nothing victories to their credit.

It was the northwest conference opening for the Webfoots who seemed little affected by their long trip, and who displayed championship form. According to statistics to date, the Ducks have won 45 out of 49 matches in team competition.

The Cougars, who were fresh from a 7-0 victory over the Idaho Vandals, saw their hopes for a conference championship dashed to oblivion as the Webfoots cleaned house in every match played.

Johnny Economus, captain and No. 1 man for Oregon started the landslide by drubbing D. Barton, top man for the Cougars, 6-2, 6-4. The steady playing of Economus was largely responsible for his victory.

Larry Crane was apparently a little bothered by the new courts, dropping his first set to R. Hull, No. 2 for the Cougars, 6-8, but came back in the next two sets to triumph 6-1, 6-1.

Eaton Wins Easily Charlie Eaton eliminated L. Jorgenson of the Cougars in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. Eaton had little difficulty in disposing of his less-experienced opponent.

Bill Zimmerman, No. 4 for the Ducks had the easiest time in the singles competition, dropping J. Snodgrass, 6-0, 6-2. Zimmerman, playing an aggressive game, outclassed his opponent in every department.

Al Finke, No. 5, had the most difficulty, but after losing his first set to W. Kaiser, 1-6, he turned the tables and won the deciding sets 6-4, 6-4.

In doubles competition, the Webfoots scored two easy triumphs. Eaton and Economus defeated Hull and Kaiser 6-2, 6-3, and Finke and Zimmerman completed the white-

Baby Ducks Grab Weekend Games

Pacific College and Dallas Fall Before Warren's Men, 5-4, 22-3

Oregon's Ducklings were victorious in two weekend tilts barely edging out Pacific college at Newberg, 5 to 4 on Friday and swamping Dallas high school 22 to 3 on Saturday.

Wimpy Quinn, pitching against Pacific college Friday, allowed only four hits and struck out eight men. Roberts, Pacific chucker, struck out 13 men but allowed seven hits.

Tom Robertson, pitching for Saturday's game with Dallas set the boys down with 2 hits and three runs. In the meantime Warren's boys fattened up their batting averages, getting 22 hits, good for 22 runs off Dorenbecker, Dallas hurler. Robertson struck out seven men and Dorenbecker whiffed four.

Wimpy Quinn made the longest hit that has ever been made on the Dallas field, but got only two bases on it because of a field rule. If a ball hits the high school, which is located near the field, a man is allowed two bases. Quinn put one on top of the school, about an 80 foot structure, but the rule still held. Marcel Empey hit a home run.

Today, the frosh meet Junction City in a return game to be played there. Last week, they eked out a 2 to 0 victory in a tight game with John Linde pitching. Linde will probably pitch again today.

Score, first game: Oregon frosh R H E 5 7 4 Pacific College 4 4 3

Second game: Oregon frosh R H E 22 22 6 Dallas 3 2 6

First game—Quinn and Empey; Roberts and Mills. Second game—Robertson and Empey; Dorenbecker and Peters.

Hobson's Club Faces Cougars On Wednesday

Sayles and Lefty Marlowe Will Compete in Duel; Duck Hitting Averages Are Still High

Oregon's undefeated Webfoot baseball team with four conference games chalked up in the win column is squaring off for this week's crucial pair of contests against the second place Washington State Cougars.

Buck Bailey's defending champions swamped Oregon State yesterday 16 to 6, play the Beavers again today, and then move to Eugene on Wednesday and Thursday for possibly the season's home biggest games.

Oregon, with double wins over Oregon State, stands at the league top, while Washington State, by virtue of last week's split series against Washington, is a half game below with four wins and one loss.

Coach Howard Hobson's Ducks were forced to put up a late hitting spurge in Saturday's second Idaho tilt to nose out Forrest Two-good's fighting Vandals. They finally did it, 6 to 3, behind five-hit pitching by Johnny Lewis, but were forced to the limit.

Earl Gregory, Vandal chucker, kept Oregon away from the plate until the fifth inning, but finally yielded a run when Ford Mullen singled, and tallied on first baseman Bill Kramer's wild heave.

Idaho scored two runs in the (Please turn to page four)
