

Philomelete Plans Hobby Programs

Many New Activities To Be Presented by Junior Women

New hobby movements have been launched on the University campus under the leadership of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary, inviting 800 underclass women to participate in a mass meeting Tuesday, October 12, in Gerlinger hall.

The hobby groups are prose and poetry, charm school, drama, art, and music, and travel covering every phase the material offers.

The activities of Philomelete last year included a George Washington party which displayed and demonstrated the activities of the hobby groups. In the spring an initiation breakfast was held and all those who had actively participated in the various groups throughout the year were formally initiated.

Group Undergoes Change

This year the group has been entirely re-organized and six outstanding sophomore women have been chosen to act as president of each group. Three members of Phi Theta will act in an advisory capacity also for the individual group, in addition to the six patrons who will be announced at a later date.

Invitations have been sent to all freshman and sophomore women inviting them to meet Tuesday at 4:00 and choose the field in which they are interested.

The travel group will meet in the women's lounge and will have as a speaker Miss Janet Smith, who had the unique experience of having the boat she was traveling on under fire.

"Charm" Is Subject

In alumni hall, charm school will gather to hear Mrs. Blair give a synopsis on the Margery Wilson series of charm lessons which were given at Mt. Holyoke women's college last year.

On the second floor of Gerlinger in the dance room, the recreation group will learn parlor games and plan hikes to be taken during the school year. Prose and poetry will meet in the sun parlor and start their study of favorite poems.

Reading a contemporary play will constitute the first activity of the drama group meeting in the AWS room. The art and music group will gather in the Carnegie room in the music building.

A social program will be planned by Phi Theta Upsilon to be carried on during the rest of the year.

Tea Will Be Served

Following all meetings on Tuesday, groups will congregate in alumni hall where tea will be served. At 4:45 a Phi Theta meeting will be held in the AWS rooms to complete final plans and launch this new hobby movement.

Campus Calendar

Infirmiry patients today include Jean Cramer, Ruby Jacklin, Zola Boyd, Samuel Knight, John Kennedy, Paul Hillar.

An important meeting of the representatives of the living organizations will be held today at 4 o'clock on the balcony of the College Side. The purpose of the meeting is to draw pairings for the Homecoming noise parade.

Indian Collections Added to Condon Museum This Week

Two collections, composed of American Indian materials, were received as gifts this week by the Oregon state museum of anthropology in Condon hall, according to Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department. One was presented by Mrs. Hazel Menkenmaier, the other by Mrs. James H. Gilbert.

Mrs. Menkenmaier's collection consists of several arrow-points, a bone awl, and a stone which may have been used for gambling purposes. They were found in the vicinity of Fort Rock.

About 300 specimens of arrow-points are in Mrs. Gilbert's collection. Most of these were picked along the Columbia and Willamette rivers.

"They are beautifully made," Dr. Cressman explained, "and have a wide range of material and colors."

KOAC Air Program Features Oregon's Musicians Tonight

Norman Gaeden, tenor soloist and music major of the University of Oregon campus, will sing at 7:30 p.m. over station KOAC in Corvallis. Miss Edith Farr, also a music major, will accompany Mr. Gaeden as well as feature in a piano solo.

Another event of the program is to be an interview with Min Yasui, a second year law student, who was selected to represent the University of Oregon at an American-Oriental bar convention held at Stanford last August.

Roy Vernstrom and Warren Waldorf will complete the forty-five minute broadcast with campus news highlights of the week.

DALTON HEADS LAW REVIEW

Herbert Galton, third year law student, will head the Student Editorial board for the Oregon Law Review during '37-'38. Other students on the board are Orval Elter, business manager; Ercel King, note and comment editor; Reva Hearn, recent case note editor; and Kenneth Schramm, book review and statute editor. Charles G. Howard, professor of law, is faculty editor on the board.

The first issue of the law review, due to appear in December, will contain the proceedings of the Oregon State bar and articles written by students on the board.

Issues Warning

Lester Miller, newly appointed manager of the '37-'38 student directory, asks all students who wish to have the data concerning them correct in his publication to notify the registrar's office before noon Saturday if there has been any change in their local address or telephone numbers since registration day.

Martin Has Praise For Bonneville Dam

Governor Declares Project Must Not Involve Politics

"We Oregonians must develop a spirit of the offensive," Governor Charles H. Martin told a group of 200 Eugene business and professional men yesterday noon at a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Service clubs of the city. Expressing a need for building of public interest in co-operation toward the development of our state, he urged that the people of Oregon combine in the feeling of "one for all and all for one."

"Bonneville dam is Oregon's real milestone of industrial progress," the Governor said in terms of the most important advance in the past several decades. "Bonneville, and the great system of hydro-electric plans which will eventually be built along the Columbia and other great rivers of Oregon, will bring the state added population, greatly increased markets and an independence of world fluctuations," he explained.

Asks Oregon Awakening

Continuing his demand for an awakening of the people of this state, the governor pointed out Oregon advancement in recent years. "During the current biennium, $25,000,000, or four times as much as previously, will be spent for social security. Effective next year, the old age limit has been reduced to 65 years. All this has had to be done without increasing our already overladen tax rolls. Oregon does not shirk its responsibilities and will not do so in the future."

Blasts Slackers

Blasting politicians as "demagogues" and "slackers" that have waited in the background until the present time and are now attempting to gain possession of the dam project to further their own ends, he said that he did not believe the people would allow themselves to be "hoodwinked." "The dam has no place in politics. Why didn't these people, who are trying so hard to control the project now, for the people's good," come out and help us get it in the beginning?" he demanded.

"We can make the Columbia river district the greatest industrial center in the world if we keep politics out of it," he continued.

Oregon must fight for her identity, stolen by neighboring states, the governor believes. It has emerged from the depression in the best condition on the coast. "Our budget is now balanced. Last year, while California ran $20,000,000 in debt and Washington $9,000,000, Oregon paid her debts and reduced her bonded indebtedness. Our capital is approaching completion—we have a state to be proud of and we must all combine to continue its advancement."

Several new ideas in presentation of band music will be worked out this year, it is announced, and an interesting and colorful organization will take the field for various University events. Both a concert and marching band will be organized this year.

Salem Will Be Hosts To State Principals Meet October 15-16

October 15 and 16 marks the date of the ninth annual high school principals' conference to be held in the new senior high school auditorium, Salem.

This is under the joint auspices of the Oregon high school principals' association of which Thomas R. Fowler is president, and the state department of education, state superintendent being Rex Putnam.

While the program will be in charge of the officers of the association and will be recognized as an official meeting of that organization, participation will not be confined to members.

All others, whether members of the association or not, who stand in supervisory or administrative relation to secondary schools of the state, either public or private, as well as those engaged in the training of teachers for high schools or junior high schools, are invited to attend and take part in the discussions. This includes high school and junior high school principals, assistant principals, superintendents, city and county superintendents, and instructors in teacher training institutions.

The eight preceding conferences have been of definite value to secondary education in general and particularly to the high schools represented. School boards are urgently requested to make arrangements for their high school principals to attend the session this year.

WAR-ENDING MEET MAY BE HELD IN U. S.

WASHINGTON — With Washington as the possible scene of the nine-power pact conference, the United States government last night prepared to take part in the momentous meeting, designed to end the China-Japan struggle.

Secretary Hull and his aides gave no hint as to the extent of cooperation other nations can expect from the United States in specific action to end the Oriental war. Geneva and London officials suggested that the meeting be held in Washington—the home of the pact.

Tokyo—Putting it boldly, briefly, and to the point, the Japanese foreign office declared yesterday that no matter what decision the nine-power conference may make, the Japanese empire's "fundamental policy" will remain unchanged.

SHELLS AND BOMBS TAKE CHINESE TOLL

SHANGHAI — Japan answered the world's powers yesterday with bombardments that shook the very foundation of Shanghai. Adding to an earlier blood-spattering air-bombing to the south that took the lives of more than 500 Chinese civilians, Japan's warships hurled shells across the Whangpoo river into Pootung in a deadly duel with Chinese artillery batteries there.

It was in this manner that Japan celebrated the opening of the fourth month of warfare. Several times whining shells endangered the American Asiatic fleet flagship Augusta, anchored in "battleship row" on the Whangpoo.

ODD MARITAL CASE IN SEATTLE ENDED

SEATTLE — The marriage of 14-year-old Delta Palmer to John Menefield, 38, a Negro, was annulled yesterday by a superior court judge who expressed amazement at the child bride's story. He suggested prosecution of the person who performed the ceremony.

The girl's ex-husband, a garbage dump worker, and her parents, are serving terms in prison on a perjury count for falsifying the girl's age last February when the marriage license was obtained.

BRITAIN, FRANCE GROWING IMPATIENT

LONDON — Britain and France, angered by Italy's delay in answering their invitation to a three-power confab regarding the flow of Fascist blackshirts into Spain, told the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, that they will not wait much longer for a

Churches Will Offer Informal Programs

Four young people's groups of local churches will officially welcome college students tonight at party-receptions from 8 to 11:30. Although invitations have been sent to preference students, those who have no church affiliations are invited. It is hoped that open house will serve to acquaint students with the churches and their officers.

Rev. Lansing E. Kempton of Portland will be present at Gerlinger hall, third floor, to meet Episcopal students. Rev. and Mrs. H. R. White will also be present. Dancing and games will be included in the program, according to Miss Mary Louise Hohn, student director.

Congregational students will meet in the social room of the church at Thirteenth and Ferry. The program with the Plymouth group in charge will consist of games and folk dancing. Rev. and Mrs. Wirt and the faculty members of the church and their wives will also be present.

Italian War Planes in Great Numbers

Italian war planes in great numbers are reported making their way into embattled Spain, going to aid the insurgents. Followers of Mussolini, active in Spain, are now said to number between 60,000 and 70,000.

ODDITIES FOUND IN DAY'S NEWS

Paternal profligacy personified—that's Mr. August Thiele, 64, of Germany. Yesterday his 38th child was born which now gives him a total of 34 living children and 60 grandchildren. Three wives have shared the burden.

Kansas City police dug up a deep, dark secret yesterday in an experiment with their lie detector. Trying the device out on the headquarters telephone operator, the questioner casually asked, "Are you married?" Her blood pressure went up, the recording needle gyrated wildly, she admitted she gyrate wildly, she admitted she had a job.

Latests Reports Show ASUO Sale Results in Draw

Track Suits, Shorts to Be Featured at End Of Campaign

A tally of the total ASUO cards sold during the drive brought a surprise to faction leaders, Bob DeArmond and Peggy Vermillion, yesterday when the count showed a tie.

At noon today either Bobby "Duck" DeArmond, co-chairman of the drive for men, or Peggy Vermillion, drive leader for the women, was to wheel the winner up 13th in a wheelbarrow.

The drive will be extended until Tuesday noon so one faction or the other can obtain a lead. At 11:50 DeArmond will appear in front of the dress wearing a track suit, and Miss Vermillion will come garbed in a pair of shorts—and other necessary attire.

The question is, who will wheel the wheelbarrow. DeArmond plans to organize his captains for a final effort exceeding any of the past. Miss Vermillion stated she had similar plans.

Furniture awards were announced yesterday by Zoelle Volchok as follows: Tri-Delt first, Alpha Chi, second, Alpha Phi third, and Chi Omega fourth.
