

Frosh Flurry Starts Action On New Laws

Committee of Six Is Named by Payne to Settle Dispute Over Class Vote

Six newly-appointed members of a freshman class constitutional committee, representing both the independent and the fraternal factions of the class suffrage issue, will meet today for the purpose of drawing up a class constitution and also an activities list for the year 1937-38.

Gleason (Tiger) Payne, frosh president, announced the committee members last night as follows: Stan Steiger, Phi Gamma Delta; Harry Holloway, Sigma Chi; Mike Miller, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Marion Mohr, Zeta Tau Alpha; Leo Babcock, Gamma hall; Jim Lill, Alpha hall. Representatives of the fraternal faction are Steiger, Holloway, and Miller, while Miss Mohr, Babcock, and Lill will represent the independents. President Payne is ex-officio chairman of the committee.

Entire Class to Vote

Finding of the committee will be voted on by all freshmen of the University, card-holders as well as non-card-holders, at a general freshman assembly which Payne has tentatively scheduled for next Wednesday night. Arrangements are being made to hold the meeting in Gerlinger hall, according to Payne, because of the great number of freshmen who are expected to attend. It is expected that independent freshmen from both the

Polychrome 'O' Left by Indiana Beaver Artists

"Who is the designer of the new multi-colored 'O' on Skinners butte?" is the question now being asked by townspeople and a few observing University students.

Som explanation is due—it all started before the Stanford game when a few enterprising Indians added their touch of crimson and white to the lemon "O" on the butte.

If the freshmen don't get onto their job as guardians of it's colorfulness the beloved "O" will soon resemble a color chart from a local paint store. An orange, black, crimson and white "O" trimmed in lemon yellow will indeed be enthusiastically received by homecoming-grads.

Woman Doctor Condemns Last Minute Study

By ALYCE ROGERS Further impetus for not having to do that last cramming for finals was given school-weary collegians today by Dr. Ruby L. Cunningham, University of California physician for women, when she said "If you want to get the best possible marks on your final exams, don't study in long unbroken stretches."

She recommended some vigorous activity like a brisk walk or a game of handball as a remedy for the tiring effect that concentrated study has on the eye muscles. Not only would this recreation refresh the students physically, but it would send him back to his books with an entirely different attitude, Dr. Cunningham stated.

"Opinions"

"Business and action strengthen the brain but too much study weakens it," according to "Opinions" printed in the California Daily Bruin.

Education Phoney

"Students today know that the educational system is phoney. What they are getting is a mass of variegated and obsolescent information which is tossed at them in an apparently unrelated form and about which they do little if any thinking," according to President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago.

Stands by His Post

While speculation runs high as to whom will be his successor, Dr. C. Valentine Boyer, University president, carries on his duties as his three-year career as president draws to a close. Dr. Boyer made his intention of retiring known last spring, and will continue as dean of the college of arts and letters.

Appointment of President May Be Made at Board's Special Session on Monday

Whether the University of Oregon would have a new president next Monday remained unknown last night, although members of the state board of higher education will meet in special session Monday in Portland to consider candidates for the post recently vacated by the resignation of Dr. C. Valentine Boyer.

Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter, believed to have completed a list of "eligibles" in preparation for the Portland meeting, said it was impossible to say what action would be taken by the board.

Gerry Smith to Play Lead in 'Roadside'

However, usually reliable sources indicated that a new University executive will be definitely chosen from a list of eligible educators compiled by the University faculty and Chancellor Hunter. Monday the state board will undertake the task of narrowing the list of five or six candidates down to "the man for the job."

Although it has been rumored that the list carried only the names of out-of-state executives, it was clearly indicated to Emerald reporters last night that no line was drawn between Oregon and out-of-state candidates when the faculty advisory committee listed its candidates.

Smith, recent winner of the local Bing Crosby "search for talent contest" has been chosen to play the role of "Texas," a Paul Bunyan of the Oklahoma plains, and Gayle

Gals Schedule Tea For Obsolete Crate

Possibly eighty per cent of the campus cuties look with envy at the cars being driven on the campus this year. Little do they realize what heart breaking lies behind each groaning chariot, the months of toil and saving that the student goes through to acquire one of the rusty, clattering crates that they flash around the campus.

Three of the Alpha Delta Pi sisters in a moment of reckless abandon bought a brick red '22 model that they thought would provide them with months of jolly fun at school, but now grim tragedy again comes creeping up upon them.

Frances McCoy, sitting forlornly in the baby seat which came with the car, munching lemon snaps, was at first loathe to discuss the problems that have arisen, but after probing she reluctantly admitted that things were not as rosy as they could be.

"My partners, Pat Erickson and Izetta Heisler—are you sure you have the names correctly?" She spelled the names several times and continued, "my partners and I are sponsoring a tea in which we hope to gather contributions for the car. We call it the iron lung, and somehow we feel that our case is as important as the lung which is to be purchased for the Eugene front of the 'Y' hut on Kincaid hospital.

Those who would join the party are urged to meet the Yeomen in front of the "Y" hut on Kincaid hospital, street between 12th and 13th by 6:45 p.m. tonight.

Oregon Men Prepare For Annual Hegira; 15 Miles This Year

Schedule Given on Page 3; 10-Minute Wait Periods Must Be Heeded on Traditional Four and One-Half Hour Hike

Once again the annual get-acquainted trek of Oregon students, commonly known as the "bunion derby" will be underway tonight at 7 o'clock when 27 men's organizations prepare to visit 20 women's living groups.

Including seven 10-minute stops, the men have four and a half hours of steady walking and dancing before them. Arbitrarily setting the average speed of walking and dancing at three miles per hour the men have only about 15 miles to go tonight. Incidentally the women will also have to dance about the same distance, or from here to Junction City.

Howe Field to Get New Spring Dress

Concrete Entrances, Booths, Wall to Be Erected Soon

Baseball crowds coming to Howe field next spring will be greeted by a brand new arrangement in ticket booths, gates, and fences along the University street end of the field.

Work was begun this week on the project, which is expected to cost about $2,000, and which includes concrete entrances and ticket booths, approximately 40 feet of concrete wall, and wrought iron fence the remainder of the distance to 18th street.

The new concrete, ten feet high at the main gate, is to be joined directly to the south front of the Igloo. A double ticket booth accommodating two streams of spectators is to be built in at the main gate.

Beyond the main entrance an eight-foot concrete wall will extend

Rowe Hoes His Own Row

Lack of plunging fullbacks to fill the spots left vacant by graduation last year caused early season worry among Oregon football cogitators. Paul Rowe, above, filled the gap, cut a permanent hole for himself in the Duck lineup.

Dressed-up Igloo Model Designed to Overcome Difficulties of Decoration

A complete model of what McArthur court would look like if a permanent decoration was put in use, has been constructed by Horace W. Robinson, member of the educational activities board, who recently announced his plan to give the old Igloo a "facial" for concerts, dances and other ASUO functions.

His plan was submitted at the request of the board, due to a ruling of the athletics activity board bidding the hanging of drapes from the roof of McArthur and because of the continual expense of decorating the structure for functions during the year.

Mr. Robinson's plan calls for the purchase of a complete set of fabric decorating panels and the installation of an eight unit lighting system. The panels will be used to decorate the walls and the lights to "black out" the ceiling.

To Use Joint Funds Under his plan the permanent decorations, financed jointly by the ASUO and the classes with money they would generally allocate for dressing up the Igloo, would be available for all student functions.

The new system has added value, says Mr. Robinson, because it enables three men to decorate the Igloo in only 45 minutes. The make-up of the panelled drapes and lights which he hopes to install allows for unlimited variations thus enabling class, ASUO organization decorators to have an original setting for every affair.

Ruling Works Hardship

The ruling of the athletic board, according to the assistant professor of drama, will make it necessary to string sables across the court if anyone desires to put in a canopy as decoration. This will make it difficult to get an attractive effect.

The value of the permanent decorations, Mr. Robinson points out, is that expense will be greatly reduced, work will be reduced, and the difficulty of putting up trimmings without hanging them from the roof will be overcome.

New Sergeant Joins ROTC Ranks Here

The ranks of the ROTC staff have been augmented by the addition of Sergeant Howard L. Halsey, formerly stationed with the seventh infantry at Vancouver, Washington.

Sergeant Halsey was selected by Colonel E. V. D. Murphy and will have charge of drill and rifle marksmanship. He was graduated from La Grande high school and went into the army immediately afterwards.

Webfoots Hope to Be Initial Crackers of Zag's Uncrossed Goal Line

Coach Prink Callison's charges will take the field in Spokane this afternoon in what Webfoot followers think will be the first successful attempt to cross the Gonzaga Bulldog's goal line this season.

The Zag's forward wall, mentored by Coach Mike Pecarovich, has pulled through two tough games, first Washington State's Cougars and last Sunday the Moraga Marauders, unpunctured.

There are five men on the Zag line that are two year lettermen. Captain Rus Habermann, rangy 180-pounder, whose specialty is diagnosing plays, is at left guard.

Experienced Tackles

Coach Pecarovich is fortunate in having two experienced men holding down tackle positions. Cecil Kennedy, 225-pound Idaho lumberjack, is at one of the all-important tackle positions, and is being boomed for all-coast tackle.

Jack Imhoff, at right tackle, while a weak blocker, possesses a lot of fight, which is necessary for good defensive tackle. John Jansen, who last year dropped out of school because of an automobile injury, is back this year, and is expected to go places. He was considered Gonzaga's best end before his untimely accident.

Peyron at Right Guard

The only other veteran in the line is Henry Peyron at right guard. At 190 pounds, Hank is one of the Zag's best down-field blockers and a "Bulldog" on defense.

Ray Vanderzander, Oregon Normal transfer, is slated to be the starting center. Vanderzander won his first string job by performing brilliantly during spring practice.

In the backfield are Henry "Scooter" Haug, who was an all-city back in Seattle, at quarterback; Fred Kennedy, formerly on the Oregon squad, but dropped for scholastic reasons, at quarterback, and will include backing up the line among his duties. The other half-back is Dick "General" Beaugard, 180-pound blocking back at right half.

Karamatic Good

Fullback, George Karamatic. Opposing coaches read that line and literally weep. Slip Madigan, coach of the St. Mary's Gaels, solved the problem by putting three men on the Aberdeen Slav. What the Oregon plans were, was not disclosed by Coach Callison. Karamatic is more than just a ball carrier of the Cotton Warburton type. He not only runs, but he kicks, passes, bucks the line, and plays safety. In more than two years of varsity competition, Karamatic has converted 17 out of 21 after-touch-down placekicks. Last year against St. Mary's he gained more ground than the whole Fordham university backfield.

Reginato Will Start

According to Coach Callison's statement at train time, he intended to start John Yerby and Vic Reginato at ends, Bill Foskett and Ellroy Jensen, at tackles, Cece Walden and Joe Huston at guards, and Vernon Moore at center.

While Callison named a tentative starting backfield yesterday before he left, he also stated that it was not at all definite. The four starters he named yesterday were

First Junior-Senior Dance to Be Oct. 30

May Become Annual Event; Class Card Admitted Only

Preparations are being made for a junior-senior dance, open only to class card holders and featuring novelty entertainment, it was announced last night by Doug Milne, Phi Delta Theta, and Willie Frager, Sigma Alpha Mu, newly-appointed co-chairmen for the affair.

Although a junior-senior dance is a relatively new idea, it is hoped to repeat it annually in the future, according to Milne. The dance is scheduled for Saturday night, October 30, at McArthur court, the orchestra to be announced soon.

Pedestrian Injured In Campus Accident

The injured man was identified late last night as Carl Lund, 1365 Onyx, about 50 years old.

An unidentified man was critically injured last night about eight o'clock at the corner of thirteenth and Alder when he was struck by a car driven by Kenneth Randall, 24, Eugene.

According to college student witnesses of the accident, the man started across the Thirteenth street intersection and stepped directly in the past of Randall's car. He was thrown several feet by the impact of the car, witnesses said. Randall is not being held, city police said last night.

Attendees at Sacred Heart hospital announced that his condition was serious. They described his as about sixty years old, 170 pounds, five feet four or five, smooth shaven, partially bald and having several fingers missing from both hands.

He was wearing house slippers, a gray sweater and an old gray hat. Radio calls over station KORE, Eugene, had not produced any leads to his identity, police said.
