

Completion of Oregon's Million Dollar Building Program Brings Service to University Students

Completion of Oregon's gigantic library, opened on full schedule this fall, brought to an end a two-year campus building program. The infirmary, on the right, houses the finest medical equipment, giving Oregon a complete health service. Effect of the new men's gym on Oregon's educational program was felt for the first time this fall when a full-time schedule of activities were added to the PE program.

Barker Collection Recalls Monks' Work

By PAT ERICKSON

Rare, exciting volumes and old books that bring visions of cloistered monks compose the Burgess collection of rare books recently donated to the University of Oregon.

The books, originally the property of Edward S. Burgess, head of biological sciences at Hunter college in New York City, are now being cataloged by his sister, Miss Julia Burgess. It was through her efforts the books were brought to the University.

Yearly Gold Output Surpasses Alaska

The Philippines are now producing more gold in a year than the annual output of Alaska. This news was received recently with a great deal of interest on the part of Dr. Warren D. Smith, professor of geography and geology, since he took an active part in the development of the Acupan mine, one of the most important in the islands.

As chief of the division of mines in the bureau of science in the Philippines, Dr. Smith was requested in 1922 to survey and report on the Acupan mine, which was shut down at that time. An earlier report by an engineer had been unfavorable.

As the result of Dr. Smith's recommendation the mine was reopened and became one of the richest in that part of the world.

Old Oregon Will Be 'Hot Off Press' For Homecoming

Bill Pease, editor of the monthly magazine "Old Oregon," announced early yesterday that the October edition will be released this coming Wednesday, the thirteenth.

"This edition will consist of twenty-four pages devoted entirely to Homecoming, and will carry some of the highlights that will be held at that time," stated Pease. "With Paul Whiteman and his forty-piece orchestra, Oregon will have one of the greatest Homecoming celebrations in history."

The cover design will feature Arleigh Bentley, ace quarterback of the Oregon Ducks. One of the unique touches of the publication will be the use of the "new face type" that is now being used in the Emerald.

"All student organizations will receive three to four copies this year, instead of just one as in the past," stated Miss Orsch, alumni secretary.

Recreation Class Will Offer Wide Range of Activity

Recreation classes in which a wide range of activities will be included are being offered Eugene women by the department of physical education, it was announced Friday by Miss Florence Alden, professor of education.

Class members may choose any combination of activities they wish. Classes, which opened this week, are held at 7:30 each Tuesday evening, and will continue through Dec. 7, a series of ten lessons in all. Use of all equipment, except bathing caps and gymnasium shoes, is covered by a small fee, it is stated.

Instructors are Miss Ruth Russell and Miss Beth Taylor, who teach in the campus school of physical education.

Yeomen Lay Plans For Orides Dance

The Yeomen held their second official meeting for the year in Gerlinger hall last night at 7:30. President Harry Hodes presided over the meeting and outlined plans for the "Yeomen-Orides dance to be held next Friday.

BOSTON — This from a musical fantasy, called "I'd rather Be Right," that had its world premier in Boston last night. Poking fun at the New Deal, the chief target of the cleverly written show was President Roosevelt.

George M. Cohan, perennial song and dance man, playing the part of the president, says he will run for a third term to balance the budget "even if it takes 10 years." George Kaufman and Moss Hart, winners of the 1937 Pulitzer prize comedy, are co-authors of the production. The supreme court, cabinet, Farley, and even Alf Landon come in for their share of the paning.

NORTH CHINA KEY HELD BY JAPANESE

PEIPING — Japanese are hailing the beginning of the end in their conquest of North China's five provinces, with the capture of the important railway junction at Shihchiachuang, 175 miles south of Peiping.

In the opinion of neutral military men it was the last important line of defense in the rich northern region — home of 80,000,000 Chinese. China's richest coal, iron, aluminum, and cotton and wool growing territory is located in the five provinces now opened to the Japanese invaders.

DUKE DINERS WITH NAZIS AT 22c PER PLATE

BERLIN — The Duke of Windsor ate a 22-cent lunch with German workmen yesterday at a Berlin machine plant, talked to them about wages and working conditions, and when he left shouts of "Heil Edward" rang in his ears.

During his visit he was especially friendly with World War veterans employed in the plant. All the workers cheered a welcoming speech by German Labor Leader Robert Ley when he described the duke as "a friend of the working-man."

ITALIANS CONTINUE TO SNUB INVITATION

LONDON — Mussolini's Italian government continued to collectively thumb its nose at France and Britain and their attempts to bring Rome into a "hands off" conference in regard to their Fascist aid in the Spanish civil war strife.

While the neighbors on opposite sides of the English channel sought a new plan for luring the wily Mussolini into a parley, it was indicated that Italy held little fear for the French threat of opening her border and sending in supplies to the loyalists.

KRZYZANOWSKI HONORED BY ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON — Back on the subject of international relationships for the first time since his world-awakening Chicago address last week, President Roosevelt asked for a "spiritual union" between the United States and other freedom-loving nations.

He spoke in honor of a Polish-American general, Vladimir Krzyzanowski, who fought for the U-

Radio, Discussion Groups Meeting Set

Students interested in radio drama, speaking, and continuity writing are urged to meet at the offices in 107 Friendly tonight at 7 o'clock for the first of three meetings scheduled by the speech department for this week.

Students from all classes are asked to meet with Paul Kiepe so that plans for the year can get underway.

Wednesday night at the same time and place University women are asked to meet to form this year's public discussion group. Freshman women are particularly requested to be there by D. E. Harjones who is in charge of this group.

The men's public discussion group (symposium debate) will meet in the speech offices, October 14 to formulate plans for the coming year. The group usually prepares two questions of current interest to be discussed before churches, granges, and other organizations throughout the state.

W. A. Dahlberg, in charge of this group, said that the questions this year would concern American international relations and some labor question. Those chosen for the men's group travel about the state and a trip is being planned to Reno, Nevada, in the spring to attend Pacific Forensic League.

No experience is necessary to enter any of these groups.

Gamma Phi Plan Frosh Open House

Gamma Phi Beta sorority is having an open house for freshman women on Wednesday, October 20.

The affair, which will be very informal, is to be sponsored by the freshmen, headed by Eleanor Swift, pledge president, and will afford an opportunity for them to renew acquaintances made at the Tri Delt tea last week.

DOWN ON THE FARM THEY ALL FEEL BLUE

CHICAGO — Farmers who held out for a higher price on their wheat, corn, oats, and rye are going to be singing the blues today. Yesterday a sensational collapse of values sent low price records down to some of the 1933 marks. December and May wheat hit the skids to the tune of five cents a bushel.

GRAND COULEE WAGES CLAIMED TOO LOW

GRAND COULEE — CIO and AFL spokesmen put their heads together yesterday and announced that wage scales on the Grand Coulee dam are below the standards for work of the same kind on other projects.

At the same time, verbal broadsides were being hurled back and forth between Atlantic City and Denver, where the CIO and AFL respectively are convened. Green denounced (for the 'tenth time) the "power greedy" leadership of CIO Lewis. Lewis was preparing to reply.

Advertising Head Announces Places Open for Students

All students interested in newspaper advertising are urged to contact Business Manager Walter Vernstrom in the Educational Activities office some time after 2 o'clock on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Emerald work gives advertising majors an opportunity to acquaint themselves with actual advertising problems in the local field, according to Vernstrom. The work done will constitute a practical laboratory in advertising.

William Hall, '36, Will Do Research For Cities League

William O. Hall, '36, will act as adviser and research consultant to Oregon city governments in the newly-expanded program of the League of Oregon Cities. This additional field service, made available by a grant of $400 from the American Municipal association, will assist cities in the codification of ordinances and in the revamping procedure of local improvements.

Mr. Hall, who has been a staff member of the Bureau of Municipal Research for more than a year, has prepared a manual on ordinance codification, after a study of work of this kind in Bandon, Prineville, and Springfield.

During his years at the University, Mr. Hall majored in economics, and made a special study of political science. He won the Koyl cup, which is given to the outstanding junior man each year, and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary.

Peggy Wins ASUO Race by One Card

Taking the lead in a surprise finish in the ASUO card sales drive, Co-chairman Peggy Vermillion came from behind yesterday to top Bobby "Duck" DeArmond's 261 with a score of 262 cards sold to women students.

Peggy, by virtue of her win, will be awarded a free ride down Thirteenth from the College Side in a wheelbarrow, the barrow, incidentally, being propelled by Bobby Duck. The ride is scheduled at 11:50 a.m. today, according to Warren Waldorf, in charge of arrangements.

The drive culminated yesterday after a three-week period, boosting the total number of ASUO cards sold this term to 1968, over 1854 for the entire sales of last year's fall term.

Art Museum Will Be Open to Public On Homecoming

The Oriental Art museum will be open for the first time fall term during Homecoming weekend, Mrs. Gertrude B. Warner, museum director, said yesterday.

Visiting hours will be from 10 a.m. to noon and from 8 to 10 p.m. Saturday, October 23. The museum will be open from 1:30 to 3 o'clock during the afternoon of the 24th.

"At these times all visitors, both from and off the campus, will be most welcome," Mrs. Warner said. As usual, there will be no admittance charge.

The museum was closed all summer while redecorating was being done in several of the exhibit rooms and the lobby.

Faculty Divoteers Start Tournament

Qualifying rounds in the annual faculty golf tournament were played Saturday. Contestants unable to play today should turn in 18-hole qualifying cards to Charles M. Hulten, director of the event, before Oct. 16.
