By ELBERT HAWKINS

Whisper, whisper, whisper! Why all the silence about the coast conference's proposed new high commissioner? Or maybe the idea has fallen through.

Back in July Pacific coast conference directors met, and out came 1938 schedules along with the announcement that a new $20,000 commissioner of conference football was in the offing. Of course all details were shushed away until after the December meeting of said committee.

The position will apparently be similar to that held by Major Griffiths of the Big Ten. Said commissioner, who shouldn't be too popular with all coaches is expected to investigate the incomes of various college athletes. An interesting job to say the least.

One rumor says that Mr. Commissioner will draw his 20,000 bucks from Rose Bowl receipts. Another report, which comes indirectly from Hugh C. Willette, conference proxy, informs us that each of the eight full members of the conference will contribute $2500 to the cause, and the king's-x members, Idaho and Montana, are to be held for $1250.

According to Stanford's Tiny Thornhill, who kept rather quiet about the matter, conference coaches have very little to say about it. Probably they could all team up to squelch the idea, but not any two or three. Herb Dana, former conference referee, who now assigns officials to different games, gets a lot of criticism every season, but it looks as though the $20,000 a year commissioner, whoever is chosen, will inherit a thankless job.

Some schools will naturally resent having some one snoop into their athletic budgets, to find out how fullback Wisnisky or left guard Bloch is getting along. Not the faintest hint has been made to date about logical choices for the "dream job." In December we'll probably know all about it.

What a break Prink Callison and his razzle-dazzle sophomores get in having a mid-season rest of one week. They just emerged from five really tough games on successive weekends, (UCLA, Stan-

Return of Haliski to Lineup Strengthens Duckling Team

By BOB JORDAN
With ace Quarterback Chet Haliski positively in the lineup, the Duckling's prospects for a win over Washington at Portland Friday night are brightened visibly. Although Haliski was practicing without shoulder pads last night, Coach Warren stated that he would don his grid togs against the Babes. Keeping Chet company on the casualty list, Roy Bishop is suffering from a torn muscle in his thigh.

Fundamentals Improve
Blocking and tackling have greatly improved on the frosh squad as shown by the sound smacking handed the rooks last Friday night. However, "Honest John" has continued to pound these principles into the lads in the last two nights of practice.

From all reports, the Washington yearlings have a plenty tough eleven. Rudy Mucha and Frank Monkus head an entire backfield combination moved bag and baggage from Chicago. Ted Dorman, formerly of Grant high school, Portland, and Dean McAdams, Caldwell, Idaho, complete the first string quartet.

Two Portlanders
In addition to Dorman, two other former Portland all-stars, Bob McKeown, Franklin, and Jack Coonan, Grant, tackles, share starting berths.

After years of competition, the two squads clash for the first time in Portland. With the mythical northwest title at stake, the fracas should provide a thrilling bit of entertainment. Warren's frosh took the Babes over the wire, 13-7, in Seattle last season to cinch the coveted laurel.

"Honest John" Warren plans to use a mixture of fake reverses and wide end sweeps mixed with an occasional thrust in the aerial lanes.

Fullback Arleigh Bentley left some teeth on Hayward field Saturday, and is recovering from that, while Dale Lasselle and Captain Tony Amato are still in questionable condition with leg injuries. Colonel Bill Hayward won't know until later when their casts are removed.

Bentley, Amato, and Lasselle were the only boys really injured Saturday, but several others can use an extra week to mend bruises.

On November 6 Oregon faces Washington State in Portland, and a week later tangles with California Rose Bowl bound Golden Bears at the same place. With those two games under their belts, the Webfoots then entrain for Seattle for a clash with their traditional rivals, the Washington Huskies.

By BILL PORTER
Coast conference football fans took a backward glance today at the damage done their favorites over the weekend, and most of them came through with the conclusion that the Golden Bears of California are headed for the green field and big purse of the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

The USC Trojans, picked by experts to give the Bears their acid test, proved just another breeze, as the men of Stub Allison rolled up a total of 418 yards net gain in trouncing the Trojans, 20 to 6. The six points the Trojans did score came in the second half after the Bear second string had entered the fray, but as long as the regulars were in, USC was just like any other opponent to the lads.

Still Four Hurdles
Still in the path of the Bear's Rose Bowl parade remain the UCLA Bruins, the Washington Huskies, the Oregon Webfoots, and the Stanford Indians. All of these teams have been defeated at least once, and all with the exception of Stanford have been beaten twice.

Washington State college retained her mathematical chance at the conference title when she surprised 20,000 fans in copping a 3 to 0 victory from UCLA. The Cougars got a break late in the third quarter when Joe Sienko recovered a fumble on the Bruin 8-yard line, and after three line plays had failed to put the ball over, kicked

Oregon Varsity Work On Passes In First Practice

Steve Anderson Does Throwing; Bentley To Dentist's

Oregon's thrice-downed Ducks enjoyed another day of comparative rest yesterday afternoon, with Coach Prink Callison letting a signal drill suffice for the day's practice.

However, before the drill, Coach Callison took time, as he usually does on the first practice after a game, to point out a correct mistake made in the Oregon State game.

Big Bill Foskett, tackle, Bud Robertson, end, and Hank Nilson, quarterback, came in for praise on their fine defensive play Saturday afternoon. Nilson's backing up of the Oregon line was one of the gems of the day.

Bentley Loses Teeth
Arleigh Bentley spent the day in a dentist's office. He lost several teeth in one of the Webfoots' heroic goal-line stands.

Dale Lasselle was not out last evening, but Captain Tony Amato was, although he was not in suit. Both suffered knee injuries in the Beaver brawl.

Coach Callison also had his boys throwing a few passes, with Steve Anderson on the pitching end of the tosses. It was expected that the aerial offensive would receive some attention this week, because the Duck overhead attack failed to produce points for the first time this season.

Webfoot passers, Bob Smith in particular, were rushed so fast and hard by the State line, that they had a tough time getting passes off.

Didn't Duck

Arleigh Bentley, Oregon's quarterback and fullback alternate, was one of three casualties from the Beaver game. Arleigh lost some teeth and is now doing business with the dentist.

Six Intramural Volleyball Teams Collect Victories

Phi Sigs, Sigma Nus, Betas, Sigma Chis, Phi Psi, SPE Win

Six more teams added victories to their records last night in the second round of the intramural volleyball tournament. Everyone of the six matches was finished in two games, with none of the winners being hard pressed.

The Phi Sigs, led by two six-footers, Henderson and Hitchcock by name, swept to an easy 15 to 2, 15 to 4, victory over the Theta Chis. The victors piled up an early 10 to 0 lead in the first encounter and were never headed.

Phi Psis Roll
Phi Psi made short work of the vaunted Yeomen while winning, 15-2, 15-7, while the SPEs chalked up the only shut-out of the evening while beating the Omega hall team, 15-0, 15-7.

The Betas and the Sigma Nus played the two closest matches of the evening while winning over the Gamma hall team and the SAEs. Scores for the games were, 15 to 12, and 15 to 8, for the Betas and 15 to 7, and 15 to 11, for the Sigma Nus.

Sweethearts Victorious
The Sigma Chis took the measure of Sherry Ross hall, 15-5, 15-8, in the remaining game on the evening's schedule. All games were in the A league.

Games scheduled for tonight are all in the B league, and include Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Gamma hall, and Chi Psi vs. the Fijis at 4 o'clock; Omega hall vs. Sigma Alpha Mu, and the Betas vs. Sherry Ross at 4:40; and the Deltas vs. the Comets, and Phi Psi vs. Sigma Chi at 5:20.

Approximately one month remains in which tentative participants may sign up for the intramural cross country race which is to precede the Thanksgiving holidays. All organization managers intending to have representatives in this particular intramural activity are urged by Mr. Russell Cutler, who is in charge of the run, to enter them immediately.

This race will present an excellent opportunity for the various organizations represented to obtain intramural points as each one having three runners to finish the course in 21 minutes will be awarded 30 points toward the cup. The larger the number each has to finish in the allotted time, the greater will be their numerical award, he revealed.

Men who plan to participate in this event have ample opportunity to get in condition and fill the entrance requirements which consists of nine workouts altogether. Three of the compulsory practice runs must be over the cross country course while the remaining six may be taken on Hayward field, said Cutler.

Physical condition is to be stressed this year and it will be advisable for participants to utilize as much time as possible in preparation for the event, he said.

In signing the chart, which is in care of the groundskeeper at Hayward field, the name of the entrant, and the organization he represents is to be given. We would like to have all managers get their men signed up and in condition as soon as possible, he added.
