

J. PINK'S LEMON-AID

I'm going to have a heap of difficulty pounding out this column. For five days now my chin has not felt the delicate caress of my roommate's razor and the whiskers thereupon have sprouted to such a length that they keep getting tangled and snarled in the keys of this machine. Not that I mind that, though.

I have Dr. Furless' Sensational Scalp Singe-er which is this year equipped with an automatic oven, along with three burners and a place to keep toothbrushes, right beside me and am keeping the typewriter close-cropper. But it is raising havoc with my beard. By the way, how is the havoc crop this year? My uncle down on his farm never mentions it in his epistles to me, and congress didn't include it in the current crop control legislation.

I was reading the daily sheet of the Beavers today and found out that Slat's Gill is the finest coach on the coast. And why is Gill the best of the coast mentors? Because his team beat Oregon the other night. Gill's slow-break offense is being hailed as the finest thing ever developed.

Now why just one little victory over Oregon should inspire the Beavers to rise to such ecstasies of journalistic blubberings I can't say. After all, Oregon only has a basketball team, composed of five members. I definitely think Oregon did not play the ball they are capable of that Saturday night at Corvallis. I am not trying to belittle the victory of the Staters, because they did win, and their team that night was the best on the floor.

One victory, however, doesn't make a season. And one victory doesn't prove anything. If they win again this season, they will probably run Gill for president on the Republican ticket. On the Republican ticket because they seem to be using the slow break system themselves in regards to the presidential wars.

The loss of big Bob Hardy is certainly a blow to Oregon. The shifty ex-Oregon Normaler was beginning to absorb the Hobson system perfectly. He had worked himself into the starting lineup and was really performing in good style before that unfortunate break. But however great the loss, it is not irreparable. John Dick proved in the Oregon State series that he can be counted on in the pinches.

John is big, fast and rangy, but has not yet the experience that Hardy possessed. He should prove to be a capable understudy to Dave Silver at one of the forward posts.

It might be mentioned here for those of you who haven't heard that the hot-cha Stanford Indians took one on the chin against USC the other pm. In fact under the same circumstances, almost, as Oregon dropped theirs. The Indians dropped the Trojans the first night then were nosed out 49 to 48 in the second tilt. Which all goes to prove that it is open season on teams that are being ranked as tops in their division. So if any of you kids are down-hearted about the Ducks dropping one, forget it. It happens to all of us. Even I dropped six cups the other night in the kitchen. Was I down-hearted? I'll say I was. But I dug down and bought some new ones.

ATOs Win Second Title Defense Game

SAEs, Chi Psis, Delts, Phi Sigs and Betas Also Win in Cup Race

By WES JOHNSON
Paced by a couple of scoring lads, Harry Adams and Rudy Kappel, ex-Oregon State prodigy, who scored 20 and 13 points respectively, the Betas scored an easy win over Campbell Co-op, 42-11.

The game started slowly but gradually increased its pace as it went on. The half-time score was 20 to 8 for the Betas. Then in the second half they put on a "Hobson" scoring spree and scored 20 points.

Rudy Kappel was the outstanding man on the floor playing with ease and finesse which found him a berth on Slat's Gill's state squad last season. Madera was high man for the Co-ops with 5 points.

With but a few seconds to play and the score tied at 15 all, Carter Fetsch, Phi Sig guard made a crumpled shot to break the tie and win the game, 17 to 15.

The game was a see-saw affair throughout with both sides taking turns in having the lead. However, just before the end of the first half, the Phi Sigs scored three baskets in succession giving them a lead of 11 to 5.

This margin gradually dwindled as the Zeta hall quintet got hot and tied the score 15 to 15. The damage was done mainly by Keller, who was high point man for the Zeta five with 8 tallies. He was closely followed by Whitnack who garnered 5. Carter Fetsch with 9 points captured high point honors for the Phi Sigs, Stan Hobson followed with 4. Phi Sigs, 17 Zeta hall, 15.

SAEs 22, Kappa Sig, 11
Scoring their first victory of the current season the SAEs defeated a scrappy Kappa Sig quintet, 22 to 14, yesterday afternoon in a very hotly contested game.

The game was played at a torrid pace through the entire 20 minutes of play. The SAEs held a slight lead at the end of the first quarter of 6 to 4. In the second quarter the Kappa Sigs rallied to forge ahead, 10 to 8, a few minutes before the half, but this lead was very short lived, for the SAEs connected for 3 quick baskets to go into the lead, 14 to 10, at the half-time period.

The second half was an entirely different story, for the SAEs really got hot and potted enough points to come out on top with 8 points to spare. Towards the last few minutes of the fray the game was fast becoming a very rough contest to be called a basketball game. The gun sounded thus ending any outbreak of fist swinging.

Arleigh Bentley and Tom Jacobs tied for high point honors with 6 apiece for SAE, while Carter was high for Kappa Sig with 6 tallies. One of the outstanding features of the game was the clever floor play of John "Mose" Caldwell who cleverly annoyed opposing players with his skillful ball handling.

Scoring an easy win over an outclassed Omega hall team, the Alpha Tau Omega five, defending champions, appeared well on their way towards another title this year.

The ATOs began their scoring early in the game and at half time held a 16 to 5 lead. Not only did last year's champs score an additional 16 points in the final half, but they held the Omega boys to only one free throw.

Miller of the ATOs was high point man of the game with 12 points, followed by Stafford who hit the bucket for 10 points.

Chi Psi 18, Phi Psi 14
Coming from behind in the first quarter, the Chi Psi quintet rallied to win a hard fought 18 to 14 victory from the Phi Kappa Psi.

After a quarter of very ragged playing the score was 7 to 4 for the Phi Psis. Then Osborne and Sullivan of the Chi Psi crew began hitting the hoop and soon pulled them ahead to a 12 to 7 lead at the half.

From this point the Chi Psis were never headed, although the hard fighting squad from 11th street managed to creep within three points of them. At this point Richard Sleeter, who had proven himself outstanding in the Phi Psi rally in addition to scoring eight points, was thrown to the floor in a mad scramble for the ball. He received a very badly cut eye and was taken from the game. This put an end to the Phi Psi rally and the score ended 18 to 14.

Delts 24, Alpha 6
The quintet from Delta Tau Delta took an easy 24 to 6 game from Alpha hall to keep their record clean and remain undefeated in the A league cup race.

The Alpha hall five put up a good fight, but were unable to hold the larger Delts from scoring.

Trailing 14 to 6 at half, the hall five failed to score in the second period and the game ended, 24 to 6 in favor of the Delts.

Hobby Would Disguise Gale: Gates Says No

By VINCENT GATES
With sophomores wearing beads for the Whiskerino, Mr. Hobson is thinking of having Laddie Gale let his chin whiskers grow. Trouble is you can't disguise a guy like Gale.

The way the Beavers boxed him up in that last game, he looked like an apple.

And the Staters' Big Apple was a Lemon to Oregon.

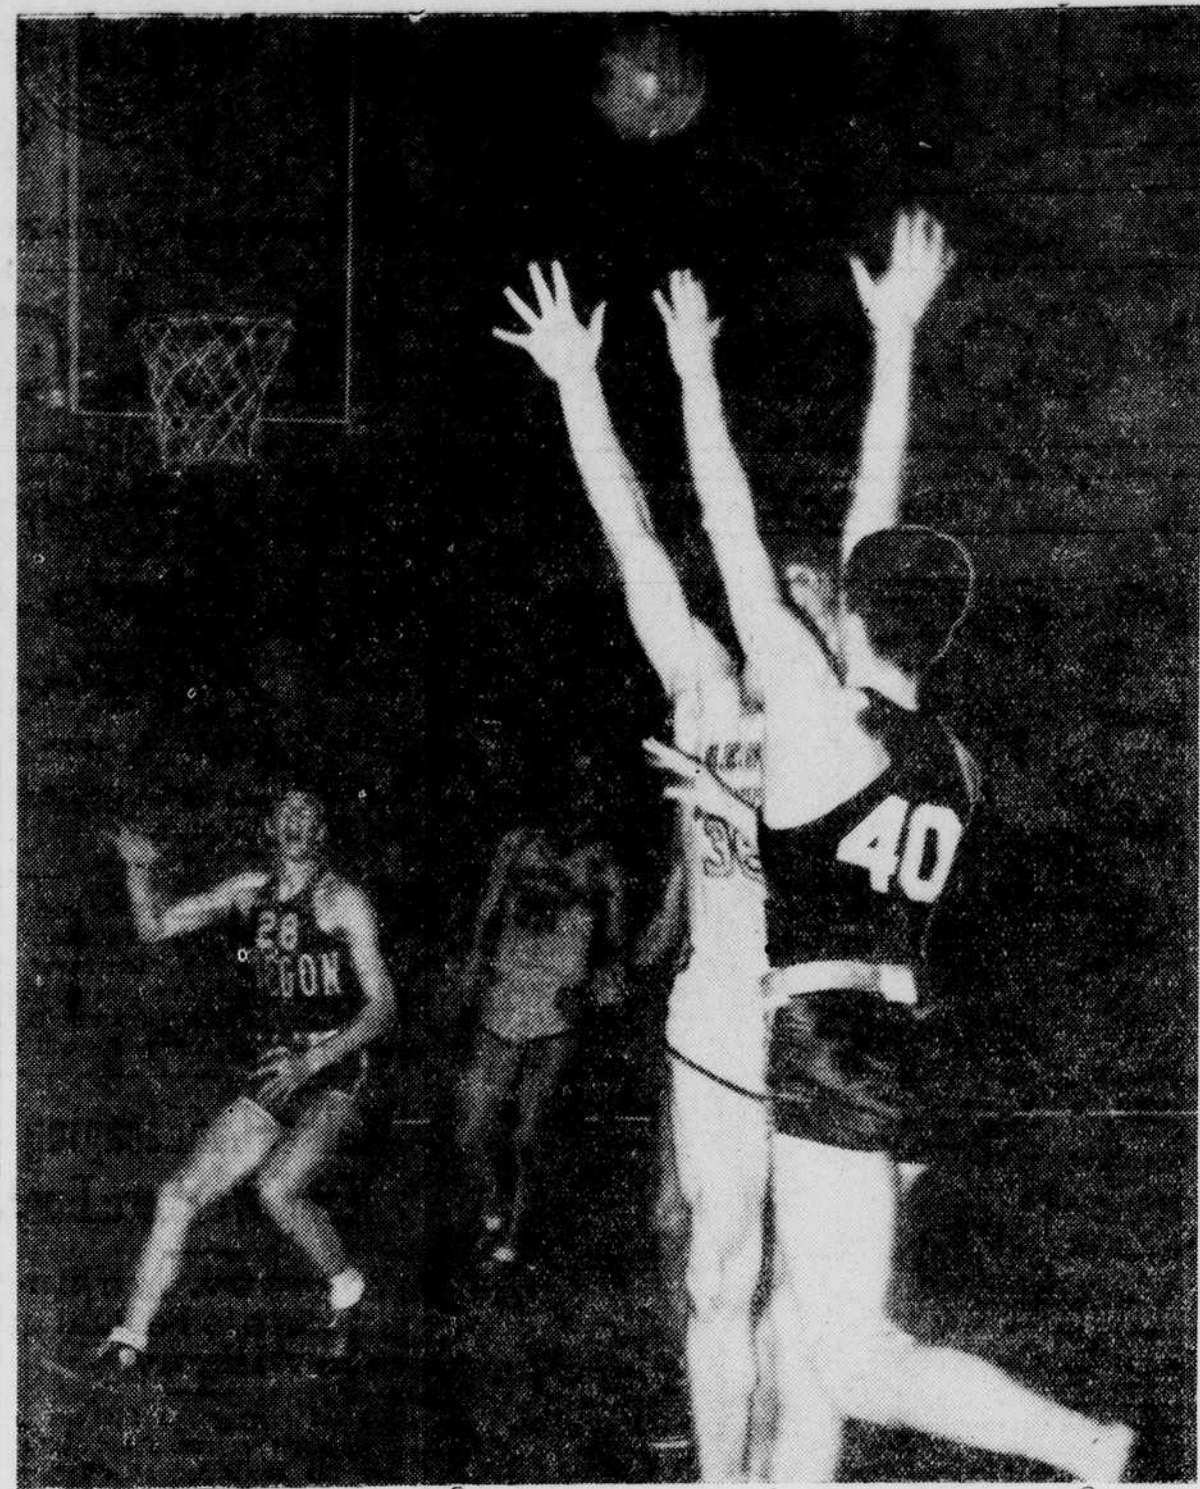

It took the Beavers so long to make the first basket here last Friday that Anse Cornell thought of giving them a room for the night.

Headline: "Japan Conquers Tsingtao Without a Shot." Something like the way the Gilligans from Corvallis took the Ducks.

Hobson says from now on his team will be in the win column, or nowhere. Just so it's not the latter.

Send the Emerald home to Dad every morning. He will like to read the University happenings.

Hardy's Last Stand

Bob Hardy (40) is shown immediately before he was knocked to the floor in Friday's clash with the Beavers in which he sustained a fractured leg. The injury will keep him out for the rest of the season. Chet Kebbe is shown directly in front of Hardy trying to block the shot, while Laddie Gale (33) is waiting under the basket.

Hobby Works Basketeers In Preparation for Series With Speedy Montanans

Apparently Coach Howard Hobson is still undecided as to which five men to start against Jiggs Dahlberg's fast-breaking Grizzlies Friday and Saturday night, as both nights so far this week he has used several different combinations with nine men alternately working at the five positions.

Working yesterday on a fast-break after taking the ball off the backboard, Coach Hobson used Bobby Anet and Wally Johansen at guards, Slim Wintermute at center, and John Dick and Ted Sarpola at forwards.

Later when scrimmaging the frosh, Anet, Johansen, Wintermute, and Sarpola again started, but this time Laddie Gale took over the other forward position.

Later Dick replaced Wintermute and Pavalunas went in for Johansen. Ford Mullen saw action a few minutes later when he took over Anet's guard position.

The frosh with Marshik and Allen at 6 feet 6 inches and the scrapping Sandness at 6 feet 4 inches gave the varsity plenty of backboard competition. However, the Ducks should have an easy time under the backboard against Montana as the Montanans' tallest hooper is their center, Jim Seyler, who is 6 feet 2 inches tall.

Grizzlies Short
In addition to this there are only four Grizzlies over the six foot mark, while four more measure an even six feet. Joe Mariana, a junior from Miles City, is the shortest Grizzlie at 5 feet 6 inches, two inches shorter than Bobby Anet.

Three seniors and two juniors are included in their starting lineup giving the Grizzlies a veteran combination.

Ducklings Drill For Tough Game Here Saturday

Honest John Warren Has Frosh Working On Fundamentals

Fundamentals—and more fundamentals were being digested by Coach Honest John Warren's frosh hoop men this week, as the burly Duckling mentor sent his charges through intensive drills for their game with Longview next Saturday.

Warren's chief concern at present is to iron out the rough spots in his team's passing and defensive play, with special emphasis on working plays against a zone defense. In their game with Vancouver high school last Saturday, the Ducklings were all but stymied in their attempts to fathom the prepper's defense set-up.

Smith, Igoe Are Sparks
Another problem confronting "Honest" John is finding a "spark-plug" to replace Don Mabe in the lineup. None of his regulars seem to possess that intangible gift of inspiring a team to give its best performance. "Tiny" Smith and Pete Igoe have proved to be a pair of sparks to the team but both of them are seriously handicapped by their size, according to Warren.

Following the Longview tilt Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Igloo, the Ducklings will again settle down to drill in preparation for an invasion of Eastern Oregon. Tentatively listed as opponents for the team are Hood River, Baker, Pendleton, and La Grande high schools.

Campus prognosticators are giving the Lumberjacks from Longview a good chance to upset the frosh in view of their 33 to 12 victory over Vancouver. The Ducklings had considerable difficulty with the Trappers in downing them 29 to 21, however, it was the first time during the season that Warren's men had encountered a zone defense.

ball team for three years. In tennis he played in several tournaments, and made his way to the playoffs in the central California meet.

Lithe, six feet two, he is armed with a determined aim to venture into the muddy waters of politics, as he believes that everyone should have his fling sooner or later. In fact, about the only bad thing we could find about him is that his grade point is much comparable to our own.

James Vincent has taken over the duties of instructor at the golf course left by Leonard Anderson, former instructor at the course.

John's Boy 'HARRY'

By JACK BRYANT

He has a reputation of a guy who is too honest to be a politician.

Remember the frosh elections? This is the versatile fellow that couldn't see his way clear to run for prexy under the mink that lurked around the election. His name is Harrison Bergholdt, the pride of the Theta Chis.

He lands in this column because he plays basketball and tennis with quite a polish. In an Auburn, California, high school he was a member of a championship basket-

Kill! Bill, Advise Business Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—At the opening session of public hearings on the administration-approved tax revision plan today, the first spokesman for business advised congress to kill the undistributed profits tax instead of modifying it and to broaden the base of income taxes.

The committee is conducting the hearings with an eye toward lifting the undistributed profit levy. Business' representative, M. L. Seidman, chairman of the tax committee of the New York board of trade, declared: "It has earned its execution. Let it die." Other business men voiced similar views, testified there would be "panic" unless the "despicably brutal tax policies of the present administration" were changed.
