

THE HOT CORNER

By BILL NORENE

Believe it or not! Jiggs Dahlberg lost all but two games last season at Chehalis high school, and this year he is coaching a basketball team in the northern division.

However, it isn't as bad as it sounds. In fact, his high school record except for that one season is very impressive. It includes one state championship, in basketball, one runner-up to the state title, and still another season in which he lost only one game.

When he finished captaining Montana's basketball entry in the northern division in 1925, he was appointed basketball coach at Miles City high school. He was there for four years and each year he produced a district champ. It was one of these Miles City squads that won the Montana state title.

From there he went to Hoquiam, Washington. In the southwest conference that year he lost one game during the season and then went to the state tournament. He lost one game in the state tournament, finishing fourth. The next year he was beaten once the whole season, but that was enough to keep him out of the tourney.

He then journeyed back to Montana, Anaconda this time, for a one year stay. His men were sophomores that year, but they went to the state tournament. They lost by one point in the first round and finished fifth.

He left Anaconda at the end of the year to accept a position at Puyallup, Washington. Incidentally his sophomore Anaconda team came back the next year to lose out in the finals of the state tournament. They won it in a walk in 1934. Four members of that team are now regular starters for the Grizzlies. Chumrau, Miller, Lazetich, and Johnson are the quartet.

Puyallup makes no attempt to get into the state playoff, but at that he finished second one year and third another in his three year stay.

His next season he transferred activities to Chehalis. There, however, their material was on the downgrade, so, building for the future, he took a team of sophomores and used them almost exclusively. As mentioned before the ball club won only two games. That was the 1936-37 season.

Short Shots—Fresno State has had very good seasons under "Rabbit" Bradshaw, but somebody else must have had quite a hand in it, according to his own statements he has only been there two years . . . not hardly long enough to get his own material started . . . Buzz Buivid, Marquette backfield star, threw 60 passes his last year in college football with 10 of the passes going for touchdowns . . . Sammy Baugh completed 92 out of 170 passes thrown the same year (1936 season) . . . Gil Kuhn, former USC football star received $125 per week as technical director of the show, "Life Begins at College" . . . Prink Callison placed 56th in the poll to select the coaches for the all-star game last August . . . Pete V. Kaughan, Wabash grid coach placed seventh in the poll . . . so what . . . Only three of last year's five all-state basketball players are in college this year . . . reports have it that Lee Sitton, all-state forward from Lincoln high in Portland, is married and working in Montana . . . Harry Wallace, all-state guard from Bellfountain, is now playing with the Bellfountain team.

Bjork and Hughes Lead Scorers for Day; Werschkul, Schweiger, Dariotas Leading Teammates; Reichenstein Also Stars

By WES JOHNSON
It was too much Les Werschkul for the small Sigma hall five to cope with and they bowed to the Beta quintet 25 to 6. The game started at a fast pace with the Betas pouring in baskets from all angles running the score to 16 to 6 at the rest period. The onslaught never stopped during the second half for they potted baskets one after another.

Werschkul took high honors with 6 counters closely followed by Conrad, Essey, and Kestley with four apiece. Scoring honors were divided for Sigma hall. Werschkul was easily the outstanding man on the floor with his unorthodox shots and steady defensive play.

Lineups:
Betas, 25 6, Sigma hall
Barrows, 2 F Grant
Gebhardt, 2 F 2, Dick
McGowan, 3 C Gragg
Harrow, 3 G Lesh
Werschkul, 6 G 2, Robbins

Phi Delt's 34, Comets 12
Combining team work with sharpshooting the strong Phi Delt team powerhoused over a small but game Comet five 34 to 12. The Comets were just no match for such a well organized team. They shot from the middle of the floor, they shot from under the basket; it made no difference to them for they connected from anywhere. They were hot. Even big Stan Rordan got in his four bits worth by scoring six points.

George Schweiger led all scorers with 14 points, he was practically unstoppable from scoring under the basket or near the keyhole. Rordan followed with six. McCoy was high for the Comets, connecting for four.

Lineups:
Phi Delt's, 34 12, Comets
Watson, 4 F Ohman, 2

Sigma Nu 17, Gamma 13
In the last game of the day Sigma Nu triumphed over the strong Gamma hall team 17 to 13. It was a nip and tuck affair from the very start of the game with the score 0 to 0 a minute before the end of the first quarter.

However, from here on the Sigma Nus began hitting the hoop with a little more consistency to hold an 8 to 6 lead at half time. With this little two-point lead they clung to and gradually worked ahead until they held a comfortable margin of 4 points at the end of the game.

Mike Dariotas headed all scorers with 7 markers. The remarkable thing about Mike's playing was the fact that just a few minutes before game time he had been playing a torrid handball match, thus sap-

FOOTBALL AT TEXAS
According to the "Daily Texan," the University of Texas pays its football players $43 per month, which check the gridgers receive, endorse, and get in return room, board, tuition, and books.

At the university a football player can earn $38 per month, $10 more than his room and board.

Sigma Alpha Mu last night scored their second B league victory of the season over an out-classed Delta Tau Delta five, 14 to 5.

The Sammys started scoring early in the game and were never headed. When the whistle sounded for half-time the score showed 8 to 2 for the Sammys. With the start of the second half they greatly increased this lead besides holding the Deltas to 3 points.

Lineups:

Kappa Sigs 35, Zeta 17
Paced by Oliver Hughes who scored 16 points, the Kappa Sigma B league quint had an easy day, winning from Zeta hall, 35 to 17. Although he went into the game as a substitute in the first half, Hughes quickly stepped his team up and helped to wipe out an early Zeta lead.

The score at half was only 9 to 7 for the Kappa Sigs but they put on the heat in the last half and outran the Zeta lads.

Lineups:

SPEs 32, Canard 7
The quintet from Sigma Phi Epsilon last night trounced a smaller Canard club five, 32 to 7, in what was scheduled as a B league basketball game, but which the exponents of Webster might be more inclined to call a good old American football game.

After a fast first half the score was 12 to 5 for the SPEs, but they turned on the power in the final canto to completely submerge the tiring clubbers.

Del Bjork was outstanding "in the line" for the SPEs, counting 18 markers.

Remember the story about John Warren outdoing Slat's Gill and getting a high school athlete from practically the portals of the state college?

That remarkable prize was Chet Allen, who enrolled this winter term. Mark my word for it, you have to look up to him, in more ways than one.

A Sigma Nu, with a build similar to that tarzan-like figure of Dave Silver, he put his six feet six into both basketball and baseball with effects.

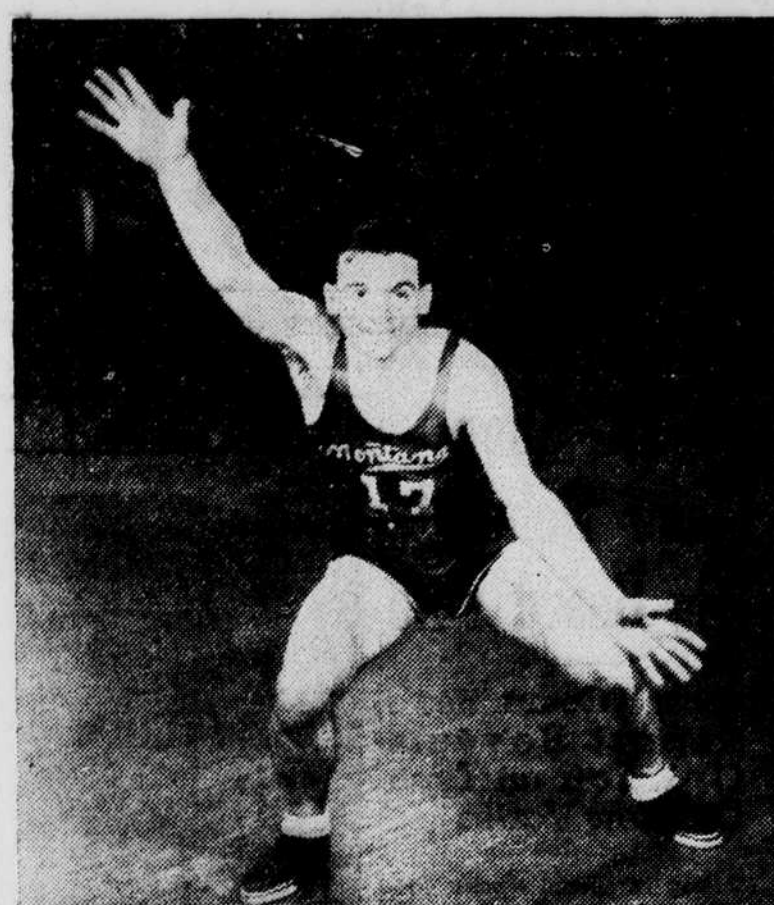

What made him impressive to Coach John was the way in which he played basketball. He knocked off a district scoring record established by some fellow named Luisetti, and increased the record some twenty points. Chet also established an average of nineteen and a half points a game. His record of 31 points in one game is a feature in itself.

The most unusual part of this fellow is that he wants to study! He's a quiet PE major and is homesick (only California girls need apply).

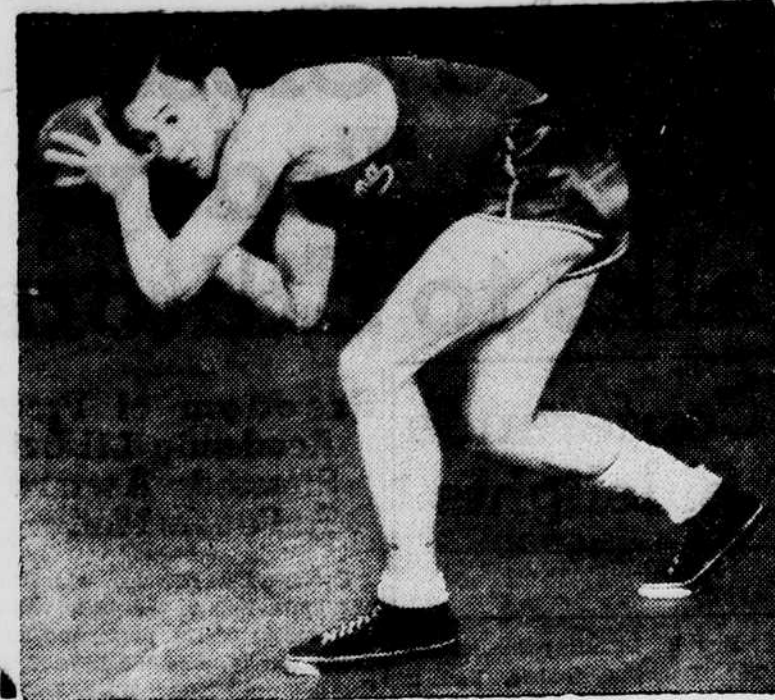

Chet is very interested in getting an ex-schoolmate and basketball player here at Oregon. His name is Darrel Bishop, also from Eureka, California. According to Chet, Darrel is a real basketball player, 'nough said. Anybody got any strings?

Ernest V. D. Murphy, Jr., ex-38, is a second lieutenant in the United States army now on duty with the CCC at Camp Northeastern, Willits, California.

Duck Mitt and Mat Club Slates Bouts With OSC For Igloo Friday Evening

Threatening the fistic regime of Gale Ferris and Smokey Whitfield, Merle Hanscom, Oregon's new glove tossing find, stepped into the boxing limelight yesterday afternoon by calmly disposing of two sparring partners in his daily gym session.

Previous to this spectators, who gather to watch Jim Dimit's Mitt and Matters skip through their training routine, saw him hold his own against both Gale Ferris and Smokey Whitfield.

Friday night Hanscom walks into the squared circle in McArthur court against Cal Monroe, Oregon State College 158-pound champion. Monroe is a veteran of last year's Beaver squad.

Ferris and Whitfield, both 165-pound veterans, plan to stage a double win in their division. Bill Goodwin, national amateur boxing contender in 1929 and a frequent visitor of the training quarters, terms Smokey and Gale on even terms with the best of the coast middleweights.

Friday night both will have a chance to prove the veracity of this statement when Smokey faces the Beavers' Mr. Homer Millard and Ferris squares off with H. Earl Williams. Millard is rated by Jim Williams.

By GEORGE PASERO
The men of Montana were more than depressed last night . . . why? Because they figured that they had put on a sloppy exhibition.

Big Bill Lazetich, Montana State U's football star, was too disgusted to say much . . . and the rest of the Grizzly pack weren't too spirited.

But in the eyes of the crowd last night, Montana was a very favored team. No team that has showed here this year received the enthusiastic applause that the scrappy but small gang of Grizzlies were given. The crowd took this team to heart.

Montana Fast
Yes, if you take it from the crowd, Montana doesn't have to apologize for their showing. War Admiral couldn't have run faster than those booming Grizzlies did during the first half of their game with Hobby's Ducks. They showed a passing game that would do credit to a slight of hand artist, and topped it off with Annie Oakley shooting.

But to get back to some more shower steam . . . Captain Bob Thompson, the lad who tossed them in from "way out there" with such unerring precision backed the Washington Huskies as the team for Oregon to beat. (That, Mr. Thompson, is not news to Hobson.)

Pavvy Worried
Skipping from one shower room to another (no little task in the vast expanse of the Igloo basement), your scribe sought Oregon's Matt Pavalunas who admitted he was kinda worried when the Montanans started out in such a blinding fashion . . . and so did John Dick . . . but both figured the copper state lads to slow as the game grew older.

Wetmore and Dallas will co-captain the "Cougar" aggregation, while Levy and Diver Bert Myers will head the Ducks.

Fans who follow the fortunes of Hoyman's tank crew are looking for a neck-and-neck battle in the sprints between Jim Smith of the varsity and Jim Marnie, the Hawaiian delight. Last week Marnie won the 50-yard free-style race but lost by six inches in the century.

Oregon Ducks—3 p.m., January 22:
1. 300-yard medley—Hayashi, Lafferty, Starbuck.
2. 220—Levy, Johnsrud.

Frosh Battle Longview Hi Team Today

John Warren to Rely On Marshik, Allen, Sandness, Hofman, Porky Andrews

By CHUCK VAN SCOYOC
If "Slim" Wintermute, Oregon's varsity center, can be taken as an indication of the kind of boys that hail from the tall woods around Longview, Washington, it is more than likely that John Warren's yearlings will be in for a real donnybrook when they meet Pop Keeney's Lumberjacks on the Igloo maples Friday afternoon.

One pertinent fact which is bothering the Duckling hoopers no end is the fact that mill-city preppers breezed through Vancouver high school, 33 to 12, while the frosh sweated, stumbled, and prayed their way to a 29-to-21 win over the Trappers a week ago.

Frosh Tall
"Honest" John's sky-scraper combination of Marshik, Allen, and Sandness will be leading the attack for the Ducklings, with George "Porky" Andrews and Harold Hofman acting as key men on set plays and defense.

Toivo Pippe, running mate of Earl Sandness, will probably get his chance to perform against the

Butch Meeker, Mascot, Dies; WSC Mourning

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, Jan. 21—"Butch Meeker," celebrated Cougar mascot of Washington State college for more than 10 years, is dead. The veteran cougar was always on hand for athletic contests staged at home, and his guard of honor, the Cougar Guards, the chapter of the national Intercollegiate Knights.

"Butch" made several trips to the annual sportsmen's fair at Spokane, and in 1930, when Washington State college won the Pacific coast championship, he went to the Rose Bowl at Pasadena with the team.

In the fall of 1927 the kitten, then about seven months old, was presented to the college by the state through Roland Hartley, then governor.

January 19 was "Butch Day" at the state college. Students wear their fez caps or letter sweaters all day. Between halves of the basketball game with the University of Washington that evening "Butch's" empty cage was brought in accompanied by a guard of honor composed of Intercollegiate Knights, Grey W club and Spurs. Chris Rumburg, student president, gave a short eulogy, the alma mater song was sung, and the famous "Cougar-R-R-R" yell was given.

The skin of the giant cat will be stuffed and placed in the Charles R. Conner museum on the campus.
