

THE HOT CORNER

By BILL NORENE

Right now Oregon's Ducks are a game behind WSC and Idaho in the northern division standings...

In the interim, Idaho will have played three games, two with Oregon and one with Washington State...

The really crucial series of the whole aggregation is of course, the Idaho series Tuesday and Wednesday.

If the Ducks can come through to win both games, they will be on the road to the championship...

A double win by Twogood's boys would practically assure them of the title. They have lost only five games and will have only two games after the Oregon series...

The Cougars are practically out according to the way that we look at things. They have two games with the Huskies at Seattle...

With Idaho's never-say-die spirit, it will be plenty tough for the Ducks to come through...

Alabama's recent Rose Bowl team was supposed to be a tough last quarter team.

Forrest Twogood, coach of Idaho's Vandals, came out recently and said that not only was this the toughest college conference in the country...

However, it is peculiar to note that the first year that he came to Idaho he brought Steve Belko up from California with him...

Then he picked up Bren Barrett, also from Indiana, and now on his freshman quintet are several men from the Middle West.

Short Shots—A move has been started to abolish the javelin throw in Oklahoma because of danger to spectators...

Forrest Twogood Wins Tough Battle

(Note: The following is a reprint from the Whitman College Pioneer. It is from Bob McMullen's column, "Gleanin's.")

Not long ago when the University of Idaho basketball team visited here I was introduced to Forrest Twogood, popular Vandal mentor...

Some 26 years ago when Twogood was living a normal life with his parents in the town of Marcus, Iowa, he contracted one of the most dreaded diseases of mankind...

Twogood Takes Up Basketball Father Twogood, realizing that his son must in some way exercise if he wished to amount to anything, immediately bought for his limping son a complete baseball outfit...

Upon entering high school, "Two-good" entertained notions of playing both baseball and basketball but was denied a football suit because of his mere 125 pounds...

His first year of football was phenomenal. Taking over the varsity quarterback position, he did so well that he was accorded all-state honors...

Jack Levy saved Oregon from a complete whitewashing Saturday when the OSC swimming team turned under the Ducks, 55 to 20.

Levy won the 440-yard free style event for the only Oregon win. Levy also placed second in the 50-yard sprints.

Brownell and Brugger once more set the pace for the Beavers. Each won two first places and swam on the winning 400-yard free style relay.

Brownell and Brugger captured the 50-yard sprints and the 150-yard back stroke.

Levy, under orders the previous week to take it easy in the distance event in order to be in good condition for the relay, opened up on the 440 yard to walk off with first.

Ralph Lafferty was a scant yard behind Rea of Oregon State in the breast stroke. The previous week saw Lafferty win over Rea in the Oregon pool by a like distance.

Pierce Mallory turned in a good performance taking third in both sprints. Jim Smith, leading sprinter, was shifted to the distance events.

Oregon's next varsity meet is with the University of Washington in the Oregon pool this Saturday. OSC meet summary:

300-yard medley relay—Won by Oregon State (Koski, Rea, Vogland). Time, 3:21.8. 220-yard free style—Won by Brownell, Oregon State; Burns, Oregon State, second; Smith, Oregon, third. Time, 2:24.8. 50-yard free style—Won by

Frosh Win Two Games On Journey

Longview Is Downed, 46 to 33; Bottlers Are Easily Trounced; Marshik High Man

Oregon frosh basketball stock gained in the market this week as the result of two victories over the Astoria Bottlers and Longview high school five.

The "Greenies" trounced the Bottlers in Astoria Friday 52 to 29 and then beat a determined Longview crew, 46 to 33.

Archie Marshik scored 15 points to take high point honors in the first game followed by McNeely with 12.

In the second game Earl Sandness, the big Astoria forward, stole the show by scoring 20 counters.

Archie Marshik, Duckling center, tallied 29 counters in both contests for high honors.

After a brief rest over the Sunday the Ducklings were put through Warren's "inquisition" again last night as only "Honest John" can put them through.

The frosh practiced shooting and drilling on fundamentals. A tough scrimmage session was also held with rangy Chet Allen and Harold Hofman receiving most of the Duckling mentor's time.

Archie Marshik was not out for practice yesterday. He was kept from practice by a sprained ankle received in the Astoria game Friday.

Archie is expected to report in time for practice tomorrow.

Debt Payers Oppose Sight For Olympics

By E. E. SEBIRCS An article on the "Theory and Practice of Basketball" has just been released. Here at Oregon the theory is to win games and the practice is—oh, shucks, at 3 in the afternoon.

Finland, the home of paid up war debts and the mother country of Astoria, now proposes that the Olympics should be cancelled when the host country is at war.

The bombs interfere with the starter's gun. Understatement of the week: "Idaho's Vandals were outshooting us."

"Little civil war" series here Thursday, and at Corvallis Friday night. Warren's crew has a slight edge over the OSC five, having won the first two skirmishes with the Orange.

ATOs Drop Sigma Nu, Sweethearts to Win Mural Casaba Crowns

Stafford, Miller Star as Hotelmen Win A Crown, 29 to 18; Hay, Wyman Lead Bs to Narrow Victory, 22-20

Whew! Oregon, meet your new champions of intramural basketball, and while you're at it, meet one of the gamest, hardest fighting outfits that ever sang of a golden-haired and blue-eyed sweetheart.

That 29 to 18 score doesn't begin to tell the story. The ATOs figured about 30 points better than the Sweethearts, but they don't figure in the fighting spirits of those Sigma Chis.

Peters turned in his usual sparkling game. ATOs (A), 29 Sigma Chi (A), 18 Stafford, 9 F., 4, Peters Dunn, 4 F., 5, Soderstrom Miller, 8 G., 2, Hendershott Scott, 5 G., 2, Burlingame Karstens, 3; G., 7, Lowry Rouseau, 1; S., 7, Hansen S., 7, Anderson

The Alpha Tau Omega B team completed a championship sweep for the Hotelmen by nosing out the Sigma Nus, yesterday, 22 to 20, in a wild, basketball ??? game. Half time score was 8 to 7 for the Sigma Nus.

The game began in dashing Web-foot style (Webfoot on a road trip) style, with a grand total of three points scored in the first quarter. Bun Hodgen went on a scoring jag to drop in two free throws and give the Sigma Nus a 2-to-1 lead.

Jack Hay came back in the second quarter to start after scoring honors, but he couldn't quite catch up with Hodgen Bros. and Company, and the Hotelmen stilled trailed at the half, 8 to 7.

Move Into Lead The third quarter saw the azure blue and gold quintet move into the lead for the first time. They swished the net for five points, meanwhile holding the Stews to one tally, to take a 12-to-9 lead.

Eldon Wyman came in late in the third quarter and went Laddie Gale in a quiet way. He rolled up 7 points, and with them the azure blue and gold rolled up an 18-to-10 lead. That was too much for Jack Hodgen who had his own little scoring party, and before the ATOs calmed him down, the score was 20 to 18.

Van Dusen came right back with two more, and with two seconds to play Clifford was fouled. On the foul shot he dropped the ball toward a teammate, but Jack Hay took it right away from him to save the game and the championship.

In between the times Hay was saving the game he was scoring eight points to win it, too. Wyman was right on his heels with seven points, all in the last half. Jack Hodgen, the scoring half of the Hodgen brothers, was scoring 8 points to lead the Sigma Nus, while Bun Hodgen was taking the ball away from all the ATOs, checking everybody in sight, fouling when necessary, and making himself a general nuisance to all the ATOs concerned.

Alpha Tau Omega Sigma Nu (B), 22 (B), 20 Karstens, 4 F., 4, B. Hodgen Hay, 8 F., 4, Van Dusen Anderson, C., 2, Clifford Graybeal, 1 G., 2, Frank Mitchell, G., 8, J. Hodgen Peake, 2 S., Coleman Wyman, 7 S.

The Phi Delt won the intramural handball championship by defeating the Sweethearts 2 to 1 in three fast and furious games yesterday.

In the closest game of the afternoon Mel Johnson and Dick Roberts of Sigma Chi defeated Sid Milligan and Bob Smith 21-17 and 21-7.

The Phi Delt won the rest of the games comparatively easily, taking the first singles match 21-5, 21-14, with Paul Jackson playing for the Barmen and Earl Simonsen for the Sweethearts. Romy De Pittard played a very good game and downed a strong opponent, Ralph Amato, 21-3, 21-7.
