

Oregon Emerald

z600

VOLUME XXXIX

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1938

NUMBER 93

Frenchman to Speak Today In Gerlinger

Pierre de Lanux Will Talk of European Crisis; Classes Will Be Postponed

An address on the present European crisis will be given by Pierre de Lanux, famous French journalist and lecturer, at an assembly of students, faculty, and Eugene residents to be held in Gerlinger hall this morning at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Donald M. Erb will be host at a 12 o'clock luncheon to honor the French author. M. de Lanux will also talk at a meeting of the French club at 4 p.m., and an inter-city meeting of the Rotary club at the Osburn hotel at 6:30.

Tuesday classes which would have been held during the assembly hour will be held at 11 o'clock Thursday.

M. de Lanux, who has been active in diplomatic and journalistic circles for the past 25 years, will discuss the precarious positions of the statesmen of modern Europe. He is personally acquainted with many of these, as a result of many years of travel in all parts of the continent.

Accompanying the French author on his trip to the campus will be Mme. Benjamin M. Woolbridge, vice-president of the Federation de L'Alliance Francaise in Portland.

(Additional details, page 2.)

Supreme Court To Rule College Football Issue

By ALYCE ROGERS

The U. S. supreme court, top judicial arbiter of differences of opinion, has been called upon to rule as to whether or not inter-collegiate football is an educational activity.

Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson has asked the court to rule that the University of Georgia and Georgia School of Technology must pay taxes on football game admissions—a ruling that would affect gate receipts at stadia throughout the United States.

Government lawyers hold that "at neither school is participation in football a prerequisite to graduation, and no credit is given therefore toward a degree."

Lawyers for the colleges maintain that in staging the games their clients were "engaged in the performance of an essential governmental function."

Spots . . .

Germans name their battleships after jokes so the English won't get them — Critograph. . . . The orchestra stood rooted in its place. It had played "Trees" once too often.—Hyphen. . . . Adam: Eve, you've gone and put my dress suit in the salad.—Industrial Collegian. . . . What, no swing? In order to prevent students from eating too fast, the dietician at St. John's college, Maryland, had installed a

(Please turn to page two)

The French Point of View

Pierre de Lanux . . . noted French journalist who will speak on the European situation at 11 o'clock in Gerlinger hall today.

Junior Weekend Queen Nominee List Narrowed; Election Slated for Today

Competition for the throne of the Junior weekend queen narrowed to five girls last night as the queen selection committee chose from a list of 15 the five whose names will be on the ballots today at the College Side.

The girls who survived the elimination are: Blanche McClellan, Betty Crawford, Jacqueline McCord, Marcia Steinhauser, and Virginia Regan.

From now on the selection of the girl who will reign over Junior weekend is up to ASUO and Junior class card holders, who will vote at the College Side from 10 to 3 today. Either an ASUO or Junior class card makes the holder eligible to vote, while holders of both get two votes.

Winner of today's election will be queen, and the other four will be her princesses. The girls were chosen on poise, personality, beauty, and queenly characteristics by a committee composed of three art school faculty members, three girls and five boys.

The election will be under the supervision of Skull and Dagger.

UO Radio Players Start Broadcasts Over KOAC at 8:45

University Radio Players will start a new weekly broadcast series tonight, at 8:45 over KOAC.

A play will be presented this week, entitled "The Life of Spallanzani," Italian scientist. Those in the cast are Dolph Janes, Laura Bryant, Joe Early, Joe Gannon, and Arthur Porter.

A special Easter broadcast is being planned for the program next week.

AWS Carnival Directorate Named

The traditional AWS carnival, which will be held April 23, began to take shape yesterday with the appointment of the supervising directorate.

Marionbeth Wolfenden is in charge of this year's gala event. Assisting her will be Miriam Fouch, Carolyn Dudley will handle finances; Catherine Murdock, promotion; Virginia Regan, raffles; Regina Grover, cleanup; Jeannette Hafner, secretary; Jane Weston, correspondence; Dorothy Magnuson, booths; Margaret Goldsmith, dancing; Patsy Warren, tickets; Anne Frederickson, AWS booths; Bettylou Swart, food; Bernadine Bowman, publicity; Aida Macchi, features.

This fun festival will be the climax of a successful AWS year. Remodeling of the old carnival plans will be completed at a directorate meeting Thursday at 4:30.

Living organizations will draw for partners and floor positions at 4 o'clock Wednesday upstairs in the College Side.

Tubing Could Go To Three Trees Inn Four Times

If all the glass tubing that is used by the chemistry department in one year were placed end to end, it would reach out to the Three Trees Inn and back about four times, according to figures released by Nils Carlsen, who has been in charge of the chemistry supply room for the past 21 years.

Each year the department uses approximately 200 pounds of the tubing, which comes in five-foot lengths, in sizes ranging from 1/16 of an inch to 2 1/2 inches in diameter. The tubing is heated over a gas flame until it becomes soft and pliable, and it can then be bent into any desired shape.

Observers in Oregon's diminutive science department wonder what better use could be made for the approximately six miles of tubing than to run it out to the "Trees."

Editors, Managers Being Considered

Emerald Positions to Be Studied First by Activities Board

With four top positions on University publications at stake, a list of 11 men who have handed in petitions for the posts was placed before the educational activities board at its meeting last night.

Two men filed for Emerald editor, two for Oregana business manager, four for Oregana editor, and three for Emerald business manager. The petitions were turned in Saturday.

Men listed were: Emerald editor, Lloyd Tupling and Paul Deutschmann; Oregana editor, Wen Brooks, Hubard Kuokka, Donald Root, and Roy Vernstrom; Oregana business manager, Dick Williams and Keith Osborne; Emerald business manager, Bruce Currie, Harold Haener, and William Thompson.

The two candidates for Emerald editor will be interviewed by the board Saturday morning, while the other applicants will come up before the board Monday afternoon at 4 and Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. Notification of the time of interviewing will be given each candidate by mail.

All petitions were read by the board last night.

Tabard Inn to Pledge Nine With Writing Ability; Old Cloaks Used

Not any ordinary burlaps are the lemon and green tabards, traditional attire worn by pledges to Tabard Inn, local chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national men's writing honorary. They represent the coats worn by squires to their knights in the days of old.

During the coming week nine Oregon students will be pledged by Tabard Inn. These men will wear the tabards wherever they go on the campus the day they are pledged.

Such men as Edison Marshall, who writes regularly for Cosmopolitan, E. Palmer Hoyt, managing editor of the Oregonian, and Ernest Haycox, who writes for Collier's, all wore the tabards in their day on the campus.

Library Will Receive Nash Books Today

$150,000 Collection Will Be Installed in Special Room by Owner

The University library will today take on new glamor as it becomes the repository of a $150,000 collection of rare books and the work of John Henry Nash, world-renowned master printer.

Mr. Nash arrived here yesterday to supervise the installation of the collection, probably the finest of its kind in the world. The books must be treated with great care in order that they may be preserved without damage either from handling or exposure.

Bringing his own library furniture, Mr. Nash plans to set up the collection so that it will be displayed to best advantage and at the same time receive the protection it requires.

Collection Is Large

More than 50 cases of books are included in the collection, which contains some of the finest examples of printing known.

Mr. Nash is well known to the campus, having been here last fall and many times before. His present visit was precluded by a brief stop here a few weeks ago to arrange the bringing of the collection to the University.

The noted printer has from time to time loaned groups of valuable books to the University library, the last display being fall term.

The San Francisco printer has served as a special extension instructor in fine printing and typography for the University.

'Y's Co-edition' Issued Saturday Goes to Members

'Y's Co-Edition,' annual publication of the campus YWCA, came out Saturday, April 2.

Y members in all living organizations will receive their copies. Y members who are independents or live off the campus may get theirs by calling at the Y bungalow.

Y's Co-Edition covers all Y activities for the year, and presents plans of the new officers and cabinet for the coming year.

The paper is published under the direction of the publicity committee of the Y and is edited by Ella-mae Woodworth.