

Britisher's Slant To Be Presented Next Thursday

S. K. Ratcliffe, Editor, Author, Will Speak Here Thursday

S. K. Ratcliffe, British journalist and author, will speak at an assembly next Thursday at 11 a. m. in Gerlinger hall. His subject will be "Britain's Supreme Crisis."

The speaker will attend a faculty club luncheon at noon of the same day, and a banquet sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism honorary, that evening.

Mr. Ratcliffe spent five years in India as editor of the Calcutta Statesman, one of the leading English newspapers in the orient. He served on the editorial staff of the London Daily News and the New Statesman and Nation, and on his many trips to the United States has acted as special correspondent for the London Observer and the Spectator.

During his more than 30 years in journalistic service, Mr. Ratcliffe has contributed articles to such American publications as the New Republic, Yale Review, Century, and Survey.

From Eugene he will go directly to San Francisco, whence he will leave on a trip around the world.

Dictatorship Is Not Implied In Reorganization Bill, Says Clark

By DOROTHY BURKE

"There is no possibility of America's assuming a dictatorship," Professor R. C. Clark asserted yesterday, speaking of the reorganization bill, approved by the Senate last week, giving President Roosevelt wide powers to reorganize executive departments.

"The talk of the reorganization bill creating a dictatorship has been made just for the effect and to stir up trouble for the president," said Professor Clark.

"I am thoroughly in favor of the plan," stated Dr. Clark, "as it is something the president has been trying to do for a long time." The present administration system has been growing topsy-turvy, causing an over-lapping of functions and duties. With the reorganization of the bureaus, much duplication in power will be cut off.

"Congress can not carry out such a reorganization process because of the many interests involved," insisted Professor Clark. "I believe that the president is the logical one for the job."

The weakness of the government is due to the fact that it is too dissipated; no one is held responsible. According to the plan, responsibility will be concentrated in the president, said Dr. Clark. "The citizens would not tolerate such a system in a business enterprise and all that the president is asking for is power to create a more business-like government."

"This bill is not the president's idea," stated Professor Clark, "but is based on the report of a commission of experts on government who advise the president. The bill is already in the form of a compromise," he said, "but I would like to see it go farther and give him greater powers."

Alpha Gamma Delta Meets in Portland

Alpha Gamma Delta will hold its annual international reunion day in Portland tomorrow at the Old Heathman hotel with all undergraduates of the local chapter and the Oregon State chapter meeting alumnae for an all-day program of discussion.

The program will begin with registration from 1 to 2. Dean Hazel P. Schwering will be the featured guest speaker of the convention.

The annual founders' banquet at 6, in the Georgian room, will honor the women who founded the sorority at Syracuse university in 1904.

Miss Elinor Stewart, a graduate of Oregon and ex-president of the local chapter, is general chairman. Evelyn King, a senior on the campus, is in charge of the round-table discussion.

IN RADIO, TOO, THEY DISCUSS THIS SUBJECT:

BETTY MIDDLETON ASKS RAY WINTERS, THE ANNOUNCER:

"RAY, ARE CAMELS REALLY SO DIFFERENT FROM OTHER CIGARETTES?"

WHEN RAY WINTERS SIGNED OFF (above) he had a long, hard day behind him. Ray has thought a lot about which cigarette best fits in with the nerve-and-energy-consuming work he does. "Camels are different from other cigarettes," is his verdict. "In the ten years I've been enjoying them, I've never known Camels to make my throat feel scratchy, my nerves ragged. That says mildness, doesn't it? There are so many ways in which Camels agree with me!"

And many millions of other smokers find what they want in Camels, too.

MORE and more experienced smokers are concluding: "Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me." If you are not now smoking Camels, try them. Look for the difference between Camels and other cigarettes. Find out what it means to enjoy Camel's costlier tobaccos.

HE'S AFTER A "STRIKE"! Off duty, bowling is one of Ray Winters' pastimes. He's good! "And when I'm tired," Ray says, "I get a 'lift' with a Camel—a feeling of renewed energy."

"The majority of tobacco growers favor Camels because we know what choice tobacco goes into them,"

TOBACCO PLANTERS REPORT

"The favorite with most men who grow tobacco," is what Vault Snowden, veteran planter, calls Camels. "Camel doesn't buy just any tobacco—they get the best. The Camel buyer bought all the choice grade tobacco of my last crop. I've been a steady Camel smoker myself for 19 years."

B. F. Bivins, another experienced tobacco grower, knows what cigarette pays more for the choice leaf tobacco. "The Camel people sure do get the best grades," he says. "Take my own crop last year. Camel bought the best lots. And other planters will tell you the same. You bet, I smoke Camels."

He's been growing tobacco for 10 years. "I'm in a position to know a lot about the quality of the tobacco that goes into various cigarettes," James Graves, another well-known planter, says. "Most of the growers around here—myself included—sold the best leaf tobacco of their last crop to Camels. I know tobacco so I smoke Camels."
