

Next Assembly On Wednesday; Lester to Talk

Speaker Is Inspector For FBI; Classes to Be on Thursday

W. H. Drane Lester, inspector for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will speak at an assembly of students, faculty, and Eugene residents Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in Gerlinger hall.

Mr. Lester, who will also speak before delegates of the Commonwealth conference and the Eugene Rotary club, is a major in the military intelligence division of the Officers Reserve corps of the United States army. He assisted Herbert Hoover in his administrative duties.

At present Mr. Lester's chief task is the training of men in FBI's training school for agents and police officers. A native of Mississippi, Mr. Lester was graduated from that state's university and Oxford, where he attended as a Rhodes scholar.

Wednesday classes which are scheduled at the assembly hour, will be postponed until 11 o'clock Thursday.

Goat Goes Shopping

A goat . . . who knew nothing, or cared nothing, about man-made laws governing breaking and entering, proved hard to handle when he spied a head of lettuce in a Los Angeles grocery store. He butted through a pane of glass, knocked down the door and contentedly munched at the lettuce until officers came along to make an "arrest."

Bossing Offers Comment On 'Bad Teaching' Report

Dr. Nelson L. Bossing, professor of education, commenting on the statement made by the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching that American colleges are turning out poorly-educated teachers as compared to tests made with high school teachers, said that he was not surprised that high school seniors knew more than college seniors.

The Carnegie foundation report stated that the majority of the future teachers "exhibit inferiority in contrast with non-teachers in nearly every department of study; and they show up badly when compared in the same tests with students four years below them who represent the educational problems with which they must be prepared to deal."

"Of course, high school seniors would naturally fare better than the college seniors in tests of purely factual material, because a great deal is forgotten in four years; however, if the test were concerned with questions of the thinking-ability type, I would be surprised at that outcome," Dr. Bossing said.

"Students of pre-medics, pre-law, and engineering have had very intensive vocational training from their junior year on, and some have had more than that," added Dr. Bossing. "In education we are satisfied with 20 to 30 term hours credit, the least training of any vocation."

The Carnegie report is the result of a ten-year study on 26,000 seniors in Pennsylvania high schools and students in 49 colleges and universities. Identical tests were given twice to 2800 college students to measure the growth of their knowledge. As seniors, about 15 per cent had lower scores than when they were sophomores.

Litfin Declares Ouster of Upperclassmen Lacking Certificates in Soph Polls

Students who do not hold junior certificates, and who are not registered to graduate in the class of 1940 will not be allowed to vote in the sophomore class elections this spring, according to Dick Litfin, soph president.

Dean Earl recently announced that anyone who did not hold a junior certificate would be classed as a sophomore and consequently be eligible to vote in the sophomore class if in possession of a sophomore class card.

Must Be in '40

The sophomore class constitution gives the voting privilege to anyone who holds a sophomore class card; but Litfin declared that, nobody but students registered in the class of 1940, and possessors of membership cards in the class of 1940, are to vote in the sophomore election this spring.

The reason for this step, according to Litfin is to keep out juniors and seniors who may have class cards but have no other interests in the class.

Cards this year must be purchased personally and card sales will close May 1, five days before the class elections. The list of card holders will be checked against the persons who are registered in the class of 1940 and those which do not check will be thrown out, Litfin warned.

Use of PE Facilities Jumps to High Mark

During the month of February a new all time record for students using the facilities of the new men's gymnasium was set when more than 13,342 calls for baskets were received. This figure is 1357 more than the previous record set in October, 1935.

Compiled on the basis of the number of towels issued each day, there has been an average of 407 students using the gym each day.

This is a marked increase over the 320 in 1935-36 and the 318 in 1936-37.

A large increase in the number using the gym for the whole year has been noted. Baskets have been checked out 58,920 times so far this year and with three months left in which to better the record of 63,948 set in 1935-36.

The greatest percentage increase was during the month of November this year when 9,611 calls for baskets came in as compared with 5,715 last year, or an increase of 68.2 per cent.

According to the survey made by the physical education department almost as many students use the gymnasium during cold weather in the months of January and February as in all the other months of the year.

For some it's the blood and thunder shows, While others like romance. Some people like the girlie fotos Some like the song and dance. And still we find the guy who says It's Garbo, pure and simple. But the dopes who got it worst of all Are those who see Miss Temple.

By DOUG PARKER

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" is the Shirley Temple version of the old Kate Douglas Wiggin's tale. The original story was about a little girl who lived on a farm, but this girl doesn't take much interest in such things as cows and chickens. This is a cute little Shirley Temple who sings over the radio on a hookup "down to the farm."

This is the same little Shirley Temple who was No. 1 box office attraction but a few years ago. She was cute then and probably still is. If you like her, and that's your privilege, see this show for critics say it is one of Shirley's best.

The second billing is "Mr. Moto's Gamble" with Peter Lorre doing some more super-sleuthing. Warner Oland, Charlie Chan to you, was first cast as the detective, but he disappeared only to appear a few days later in a nervous breakdown condition. Lorre was drafted into service and the film was salvaged. (But why?)

Retail Merchants To Meet Here Soon

Oregon retail merchants, gathering on the University of Oregon campus May 2 and 3, will attack various business problems, and will also have an opportunity to inspect the very latest office equipment. Dr. N. H. Comish, professor of business administration, announced recently.

The meeting this year, to be known as the Oregon Retail Distributors' Institute, will be open to all retailers, sales promotion men and women interested in retailing, and members of business school teaching staffs.
