College Athletics Cost Work Started Oregon Sizeable Sum

So you would like to run a college athletic team? You had better reconsider or have some rich unkle with plenty of "clank."

The following items are just a few of the expenses of last year's football, basketball, baseball and track teams. This does not include the salaries of coaches, officials, or any of the office staff.

Equipment is one of the major costs of all college teams. During the 1937 season the football equipment for the University cost nearly $3500. Basketball suits, balls, etc., cost $525. Baseball and track were slightly less with $485 and $450 respectively.

Doctors Get $1100

Doctor bills for football players alone cost $1100 with the bill for medical supplies costing $900. The training table for the football players cost $2000. An additional $225 for the rubbing men was allowed. In basketball the doctor bills were $25, medical supplies $150, training table $300, and workmen $100.

Much Uncounted

These items are not exact, but are the amounts that are allowed for the various expenses in the athletic budget. In addition to these, the cost of awards, publicity and other miscellaneous expense brings the total to an amount that would be considered large by any investor.

The three major sources of income which balance this budget are from the receipts of football and basketball games plus the money turned in from the sale of ASUO cards.

Easter Speaker

Dr. Donald M. Erb . . . speaks at campus Easter Sunday services.

On Igloo Stage For Peer Gynt

Many 'Props' Being Built; Light System Near Finish

The mechanical department of 'Peer Gynt" began to show definite signs of activity yesterday as carpenters hammered and sawed while other workmen mounted a battery of stage lights on the Igloo east balcony.

The sloping balcony, the whole of which is to be used as a stage for the production, is being transformed by a number of small platforms into a series of level spots where the scenes will be staged. Several of the small stages are in place, as is the stage on which the University symphony orchestra will play.

Also in place is the huge platform on which the dancing numbers will be presented.

The overhead lighting for the stage is now partly in place, with 26 special colored lights already mounted above the front and middle of the stage. The 26 lights already up are only a fraction of the number which will be installed to give proper lighting effects as the cast of more than 40 persons goes through its paces on the night of April 26.

Emerald Program Features Interview With Alyce Rogers

Alyce Rogers, exchange editor of the Emerald, was interviewed on the Emerald of the Air broadcast Thursday night.

Miss Rogers replaced Dale Mallicoat, who was scheduled to broadcast but became ill near the

Her work as compiler of the exchange column in the Emerald furnished the subject of the interview by Commentator Kay Daugh-

Last night the program was a straight news broadcast with Dolph Janes as commentator for the 10:30 broadcast.

Oregon Women

(Continued from page four) "At one time this institution shot aimed by Zoe Bromley, Los Angeles.

Summary:

Los Angeles, 1	2, UO-OSC
McClellan	rw Taylor
Mannell	ri Tomlinson
Bromley, 1	cf Moshberger*
Schimmel	li 2, Snyder
Young	lw Hupprids*
McConn	rh Schaeffer
Hendricks	ch Branthover
Gilliland	lh Stevenson*
Turman	rf Iverson*
Wilburn	lf Horne
Robbins	g Donaldson
Dix	s Sprague
	s R. Russel
	s M. Russel
	s Lewis
	s Eastburn
*Oregon State	players.

Send the Emerald to the folks. They want the campus news.

Professor Howe Says Athletes Rate Above Average in Grades

By SADIE MITCHELL

This year's crop of athletes yielded not only a group of good sports, but their scholarship was also above the average of male students in general, said Professor H. C. Howe, who is a member of the University athletic board, recently.

In spite of the obstacles presented by schedules which keep the players off the campus for about half the term, Professor Howe very often finds brilliant students among the athletes. "In one of my

Ducks, Beavers Vie

(Continued from page four)

Both Oregon and Oregon State have their weak events, and the final decision may rest upon which squad is the strongest in its weak events.

Again, the additional entry of the Portland Pilots in the meet may complicate matters. George Philbrook, Pilot track mentor, is entering teams in seven out of eight events. He definitely has a dark-horse crew, which if it can't win, will have plenty to say about the final outcome.

Hayward will stake his chances of victory on winning the majority of the running events. In the sprints and pace grinds down the cinder paths, he will field such gallopers as dusky Mack Robinson, Olympic sprint runner-up; Don Barker and Bob Mitchell, sophomore distance "twins;" Crawford Lyle, letterman two-miler; Jim Buck, sophomore sprinter; and Kirman Storli, rugged soph middle-distance man.

Staters Have Specialty

Oregon State, conceded almost a cinch win in the high jump relay where Duane Ackerson, team captain and jumper has soared to a height of 6 feet 4 inches.

In Grant Teats, Bob Leslie, Aaron Funk, and Bill Hoyer, Coach Grant Swan has the same quartet of sprinters who last year set a new record of 1:28.2 in the 880yard relay last year.

Robinson of Oregon will run anchoi in three races-440-yard, 880yard, and mile relays.

Barker, Mitchell, Lyle, and Jack Davidson, 4-mile relay mates will form probably the only one of Hayward's entries which will enter the race as a definite favorite.

classes I had a football player at the head of the class, and one at the foot, too," he said.

"Of course there is the type of athlete who comes to school for erty. athletics only, whose motto is 'I am an athlete and that's all I am,' but he usually flunks out." In general Professor Howe finds athletes conscientious in their work, willing to learn, and able to maintain a good standing in their classes.

adopted a rule requiring that a player pass a certain number of hours, or he was dropped from the enrollment. The first person this rule hit was the captain of the football team, who was also editor of the Emerald and president of the student body. "We certainly hated to see him go," Howe said. Later however, a point system was adopted where it was possible to check up on each player's ac-

FIVE MEN PLEDGED

Five new pledges to fraternities were named yesterday by the dean of men's office: Murray Carson, Chi Psi; Jack Dallas, Beta Theta Pi; Clifton P. Smith, Alpha Tau Omega; Earle Rorvick, Phi Delta Theta; Peter Frizzell, Kappa Sig-

FLOOR WAX — DANCING WAX

Floor Polisher for Rent All kinds of Paint and Enamels to fix up your house during vacation ARTISTIC PICTURE FRAMING

Paint, Wall Paper and Art Goods

Phone 749

713 Willamette

Would Return to Old Country

Leopold McLaglen . . . he favored removing himself when a judge gave him the choice between one year in jail or deportation. The monocle-attired gentleman is the brother of Filmstar Victor McLaglen.

Library Receives New Rental Books

New books in the rental collection of the University library are "The Faithful Wife," by Sigrid cussed book, "The Prodigal Par-Undset; Robert Nathan's "Winter ents," is also available at the cirin April;" and "Chinese Women culation desk.

Yesterday and Today," by Florence Ayscough.

"South by Thunder Bird," with unusual illustrations, is a story of South America by Hudson Strade. Sinclair Lewis' much dis-

DINNER

Cocktail Salad

ENTREES

Baked Ham

Fried Spring Chicken

Sizzling Steak

Roast Turkey - Dressing

after the

EASTER PARADE

give "Her" a treat that will climax the Easter Sunday by being host to a most delectable dinner served by the one and only

Cafe Del Rey

It IS Springtime

perhaps you need an extra frat pin. PLANT yours and get another at Bristow's Jewelry Store. All new pins at a discount. Some are rebuilt pins we have taken in on higher priced pins.

CRESTS

For Every Campus Fraternity or Sorority

BRISTOW'S

620 Willamette St.