

United Front 'Strike' Given Officail Okay

Demonstration to Be Planned Tonight; No Classes Are Cut This Year

Permission to unite with other pacifists across the nation was given to the local committee for the student strike against war yesterday afternoon when the faculty assembly committee voted unanimously to sanction a meeting for 11 a.m., Wednesday, April 27, to be held on the terrace in the women's dormitory quadrangle.

It was not decided whether the affair would be a "demonstration" or a "strike", but the faculty decision will apply to either. A decision as to direction and tile of the affair and other matters will be decided at a meeting of the strike committee Wednesday night at 9 p.m. at Westminster house.

The committee members—Mark Trumbo, Vic Goff, Ted Pursley, Kenneth Leatherman, Gordon Connelly, and Orvan Etter—asked only that the affair have faculty approval instead of seeking dismissal of all classes. Those students who have convictions against the method of war will be asked to walk out of their 11 o'clock classes, according to tentative plans.

Faculty members present were Dean Karl W. Onthank, chairman; Dan E. Clark, E. H. Moore, and H. G. Townsend.

Bob Garretson's

(Continued from page one)

Ravel's rippling "The Fountain," and the modernistic "March" by Prokofieff were included on the program. The gentle Liszt "Forest Murmurings" was given with admirable control of tone. One of the most popular numbers on the program was the Gershwin "Two Preludes," a classical selection with a modern swing. The program was concluded with Moszkowski's lively "Spanish Caprice."

Two encore numbers concluded the concert, Guyon's "Harmonica Player," and the popular "Little White Donkey."

Since his appearance here last year, Mr. Garretson's technique has remarkably improved, with the result that his deftness and skillful touch are his outstanding musical characteristics.

Child Actress

(Continued from page one)

canoeing on Lake Washington, were overturned due to teasing pals encircling them in a motorboat.

Richard Lachman, candidate for sophomore class president, rescued

Founder of Conference Once Oregon Professor

Dr. Frederick G. Young, until 1929 head of the University of Oregon department of sociology, was the founder of the Commonwealth conference, the 1938 session of which is being held on the campus.

Dr. Young was closely associated with political and social movements in Oregon ever since he first came to this state as principal of the Portland high school in 1890.

He was made president of Albany college in 1894 and from that post he became identified with the growing University of Oregon under President C. H. Chapman.

During all his lifetime, Dr. Young was motivated by a keen sense of the responsibility which the individual owes the commonwealth. He personally edited each of the twenty-nine volumes of the "Commonwealth Review," which he founded in 1916.

One of the instigating forces behind the Oregon Historical society, Dr. Young was among the first to realize the importance of the history of the Oregon country, and was a member of the Lewis and Clark commission.

In 1920 he was given the highest honorary degree conferred by the University of Oregon—that of Doctor of Laws.

Aside from his public duties, Dr. Young was successful in the cultivation of one of the largest nut orchards in the Northwest.

Just prior to his death, he was looking forward to a plan for conducting a survey of the resources of the state. This project is still being carried on.

Leslie M. Scott, formerly associate editor of the Portland Oregonian and United States marshal, said of Dr. Young in the "Frederick Young Memorial Edition" of the Commonwealth Review, "Oregon people in seeking the history of their commonwealth will ever read the pages of Professor Young."

Members of the women's rifle team will meet upstairs in the College Side Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to award emblems to the varsity shooters and to discuss plans for the coming year.

Meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi members 5 Wednesday at Commerce building.

Gamma Alpha Chi will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the College Side.

There will be a regular meeting at Westminster tonight at 9 o'clock. The group will discuss peace problems. Anyone interested is invited to come.

Rifle club meeting upstairs in College Side at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The YMCA cabinet will meet in the hut at 10 o'clock this evening.

his companion, freshman Eileen Miller, who was unable to swim, supporting her until help came, then routed her to the infirmary for examination proving her just frightened from the accident. "I'm sure neither of us will go canoeing for a long time," was Lachman's comment on the incident.

Campus Calendar

There will be a meeting of booth managers of the coming AWS carnival at the College Side at 4 today.

Members of the YWCA cabinet are entertaining members of the Dill Pickle club at the Y bungalow at lunch this noon.

Tea is being served at the Y bungalow from 3:30 to 5 this afternoon for the advisory board. The frosh commission will serve.

Order of the O meeting at the Phi Gamma Delta house tomorrow noon. Important all members present.

The third meeting of the Weekend Forum club, newly organized social discussion group, will be held at Gerlinger hall Sunday night.

Mrs. Rice of Portland, instructor in making leather gloves, will visit the campus Friday. Girls interested in making their own gloves may see her between 1 and 4 o'clock in Miss Mabel Woods' office in the home economics building.

Members of the women's rifle team will meet upstairs in the College Side Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to award emblems to the varsity shooters and to discuss plans for the coming year.

Meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi members 5 Wednesday at Commerce building.

Gamma Alpha Chi will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the College Side.

There will be a regular meeting at Westminster tonight at 9 o'clock. The group will discuss peace problems. Anyone interested is invited to come.

Rifle club meeting upstairs in College Side at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The YMCA cabinet will meet in the hut at 10 o'clock this evening.

his companion, freshman Eileen Miller, who was unable to swim, supporting her until help came, then routed her to the infirmary for examination proving her just frightened from the accident. "I'm sure neither of us will go canoeing for a long time," was Lachman's comment on the incident.

growing University of Oregon under President C. H. Chapman.

During all his lifetime, Dr. Young was motivated by a keen sense of the responsibility which the individual owes the commonwealth. He personally edited each of the twenty-nine volumes of the "Commonwealth Review," which he founded in 1916.

One of the instigating forces behind the Oregon Historical society, Dr. Young was among the first to realize the importance of the history of the Oregon country, and was a member of the Lewis and Clark commission.

In 1920 he was given the highest honorary degree conferred by the University of Oregon—that of Doctor of Laws.

Aside from his public duties, Dr. Young was successful in the cultivation of one of the largest nut orchards in the Northwest.

Just prior to his death, he was looking forward to a plan for conducting a survey of the resources of the state. This project is still being carried on.

Leslie M. Scott, formerly associate editor of the Portland Oregonian and United States marshal, said of Dr. Young in the "Frederick Young Memorial Edition" of the Commonwealth Review, "Oregon people in seeking the history of their commonwealth will ever read the pages of Professor Young."

'Pledge Day'

(Continued from page one)

first time the words of the pledge, written by Dr. Frederick G. Young, sociologist, who is honored as founder of the Oregon Commonwealth conference. Governor Oswald West, at that time head of the ship of state, read the pledge at that first ceremony.

The observance was carried on from year to year, until it became a tradition at Oregon.

But the 1929 Pledge Day, when Governor Patterson administered the oath, and when Rabbi Henry J. Berkowitz of Portland addressed the student body, was the last on record.

Why do we no longer formally promise our loyalty and cooperation to the commonwealth of Oregon?

Do we not, now more than ever before, need to realize our place in the society of the state?

The Oregon pledge:

"As a student in the University, which is maintained by the people of Oregon, I heartily acknowledge the obligation I owe. The opportunities open to me here for securing training, ideals and vision for life, I deeply appreciate, and regard as a sacred trust, and do hereby pledge my honor that it shall be my most cherished purpose to render as bountiful a return to the Oregon people and their posterity, in faithful and ardent devotion to the common good, as will be in my power. It shall be the aim of my life to labor for the highest good and glory of an ever greater commonwealth."

DEAN SCHWERING ELECTED

Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, was elected president of the Western Association of Deans of Women at the western conference at Pullman, April 13, 14, and 15. The western conferences are held every two years, representing 11 western states. The next conference will be held at the University of Oregon in 1940.

Merry-Go-Round To Be Brought for Coed's Carnival

50 Passengers Can Be Accommodated on Huge Toy

Fun and frivolity will reign at the Eldorado celebration Saturday night at the Igloo. For the first time in the history of AWS carnivals there will be a merry-go-round.

A large merry-go-round is being brought from Salem in four trucks, according to Marionbeth Wolfenden, general chairman of the affair. The merry-go-round, whose capacity is 50 passengers, will shine forth in the glory of its 243 lights in front of the Igloo. It will be set up Friday and will be operated all day Saturday as well as Saturday night.

This year's fun festival has taken on a professional tinge with the assistance of regular showmen in Eugene and Salem.

Besides this feature attraction will be the selling of supper dates and dances with the 20 belles of Eldorado City, otherwise known as the best dates on the campus.

New System Inaugurated

Supper dates with these girls will be sold in a new way, Aidda Macchi has announced. According to tradition they have been auctioned off. This year there will be a fishing stunt to determine the winners.

Living organizations are working on the plans for the concessions. The booths will be decorated in keeping with the general theme of Eldorado. The committees from the different houses will meet today at 4 with Dorothy Magnuson, chairman of booths, at the College Side to present their final plans.

Cactus Gardening Popular in South

Something new under the sun in fads was disclosed by Professor F. P. Sipe, of the botany department, when he reported that a great deal of interest is now being displayed in cactus gardening in the southern part of the United States. Whole cactus gardens are being planted and rivalry exists among gardeners who compete for the widest variety of plants.

Since the cactus family is native of the western hemisphere, it is practically unknown in Europe, and the fad threatens to spread to the continent because efforts are now being made to transplant cacti there.

Lock-up Time Is Complicated For Secretary

Five o'clock, time to lock up and go home. Yet Mrs. Mabel Houck, secretary-librarian at the art school, sighed regretfully.

Not that she wasn't glad that it was 5 so that she could go home, "But just watch," she groaned, and took out her keys.

She turned to a filing cabinet, locked one drawer, took another key to lock the second, another for the third, another for the fourth, and another for the fifth. Then around the desk to a second cabinet, she came, and repeated the ritual.

Back to the desk, she tucks the keys securely in a small drawer, locks it with another, and finally uses another key to lock the top drawer.

Twelve keys to lock an office just slightly larger than an ordinary clothes closet. That's a record!

There's one hope that she fervently clings to, said Mrs. Houck, and that is that she will get a common key.

The Annual Meeting of Members of the Co-op Store will be held in room 105 Commerce, Thursday, April 21st at 4 p.m. All students are invited. Nomination of board members. Manager's annual report.

"MR. AND MRS. NEWT"

Is Your Car Ready for Spring?

Drive in today for a free motor check. We specialize in the following services:

- Complete Motor Tuneup
- Starter, Generator, Distributor, Adjustments and Repairs
- Fuel Pump and Gasoline Gauge Adjustments and Repairs
- Radio and Battery Service
- Complete Carburetor Service

We have the most modern testing devices to accurately diagnose and correct faults. Only SKILLED mechanics and automobile electricians are permitted to work on your car.

GET READY FOR SPRING at

GEO. A. HALTON CO.

72 East 11th Tel. 1619

A Personal Touch

PHONE 825 will add so much to both your formal and everyday shirts.

New Service Laundry