

Oregon's Cinder Squad Engages Portland Pilots Friday in Dual Track Meet

Oregon's sophomore-tinged but brilliant track and field team will make its second appearance of the season on the Hayward cinders and infield Friday afternoon against Portland university, Coach Bill Hayward announced yesterday.

In a wire to the Webfoot mentor, George Philbrook, Portland coach, whom Hayward had contacted earlier in the week, stamped his approval on the proposed Pilot-Duck track clash, assuring Hayward that he would have a strong array on hand to test again the prowess of Mack Robinson, et al.

The Pilots took part in the Oregon-Oregon State relays last Saturday, pressing the Webfoots in several events.

Friday's encounter will be the first dual meet in history between the two schools.

Chance to Show

In addition to giving the runners competition, Friday's meet will be the first opportunity for Hayward's field men to show their caliber.

Two field champions, Len "Dutch" Holland and George Varoff, will open their outdoor season with this meet. Holland has looked impressive throwing the discus in practice, and will be out to pick up where he left off last year when he won the PCC title. Varoff, Oregon's pole-vaulting pride, is itching to kick himself up and over the crossbar.

Javelin tossers and two-milers will receive their initial competition Friday. Loss of Elmer Kostelo, letterman spear-thrower, has left this department without an experienced heaver, and Bill is praying that one of his prospects will show himself of varsity caliber against Portland.

Lyle on Hand

Hayward is not worrying about the two-mile, however, for in this event he has letterman Crawford Lyle on hand. Lyle has been slow to reach last season's form but is beginning to show the stuff that took him to the PCC last year. Running with Lyle in this event will be Jack Davidson, senior distance man, and possibly Don "Highlander" Barker, who may enter after racing in the mile.

Dean Ellis, smooth-running hurdler, will be in his first varsity dual meet. He will run his specialty, the 220-yard low hurdles, in which he was supreme at Salem high and as a freshman last year.

After running in about three events—one of which may be the low hurdles—Robinson will take a few leaps at the broad jump pit. He has done 24 feet 7 inches this year.

Lights Go Out; Swim Display Is Delayed

The audience went to the men's pool last night to see an aquatic demonstration—but stayed for a jam session instead.

With only a few events completed, the pool was plunged into darkness when a main fuse failed. The two-piece orchestra and the audience responded nobly by singing "Mighty Oregon," and followed it with twenty minutes of all the old and new songs they could get together on.

Divers and swimmers added a novel touch when they used sparklers in the darkened building. The results were striking chiefly when they dived from the board with the lighted sparklers in their hands.

The event, which will be restaged tonight, will start at approximately 8:30, following a swimming meet between University high school and Salem high. University high is defending state champion, and the match with Salem may be for the mythical state championship, since Eugene high school has dropped swimming for the season after two defeats at the hands of Uni-high. The meet will start at 7:30.

The Amphibian show will be opened to the public tonight, and most of the planned events will be staged.

The new Palm Beach Slacks

For classroom, campus, dances, dates and other active sports, the new Palm Beach slacks are de rigueur. There's nothing like them to smarten up an odd jacket or sport coat. They sail through a stiff tennis or golf match without losing their handsome drape. They wash and clean like new. Your favorite clothier can show you a complete slack wardrobe that meets every requirement of good taste and good value. See the Fairway model, for general informal wear, and the Golfer, whose reversible bottoms keep the divots out of your cuffs. Ask to see the new Airtones, whites, stripes and plaids.
