

Peace 'Strike' Will Be Limited This Year to Positive Pacifists Only

By GORDON CONNELLY

Although the peace strike next Wednesday will be limited to those who refuse to fight any war conducted by the United States government, various sentiments and slants to their pacifism are held by the participating students.

Because they adhere to a new party line of "collective security," a policy they hope will defend Soviet Russia from fascist states, the Communists, who once denounced all imperialist wars and compulsory military training, will be absent from this year's strike.

Also the American Student union, a coalition of progressive, liberal, and radical students, which formerly led opposition to ROTC, will be absent. The last national convention of the ASU voted to favor "collective security" by a vote of four to one—a change in policy attributed to the League of Nations advocates, Communists, and others, a member of the committee said.

Locals Unorganized

The leadership of the strike this year fell to the United Student Peace committee. Many Socialists and pacifists have deserted the ASU, and the local chapter has become defunct, because Oregon Socialists and pacifists, who have always dominated the local chapter, have found it difficult to cooperate with those who justify "holy wars."

Socialists and pacifists generally believe that if the United States becomes entangled in another war, permanent American fascism will develop out of the industrial control advocated by the war department in the May bill now before congress.

Strikers Pledge

Many of the local strikers will take the Oxford pledge—"I refuse to support the government of the United States in the war for which it is now preparing"—which has a double significance. To complete pacifists it is an expression of their belief that the war method is always wrong and will demonstrate their determination to avoid its use in all cases. To the socialists it is a statement not necessarily of complete pacifism, but one of a pledge not to defend any capitalist government, and the pledge contains no statement against fighting for such a government as that in Spain, which they deem a workers' government. The communists have discarded the Oxford pledge.

FROSH MEET FRIDAY

There will be an important meeting of all freshman men this afternoon in the Igloo at 4 o'clock. Tiger Payne, class prexy, announced last night.

Kid's Ma Weeps

Mrs. Lillian Bernstein . . . Jackie Coogan's mother fighting his suit for accountings of his $4,000,000 earnings, weeps, court adjourns.

Fun Round Up

Mayflower: "Awful Truth," 6:32, 9:21. "Jones Family in Hot Water," 8:03, 10:51.

McDonald: "Merrily We Live," 2:50, 6:05, 9:25. "Dangerous to Know," 1:10, 4:30, 7:45, 11.

Heilig: "Lone Wolf in Paris," 1:50, 3:50, 5:50, 7:50, 9:50.

Rex: "Last Gangster," 7:00, 10:05. "Nothing Sacred," 8:50.

* * *

Stage

Peer Gynt at 8:15 tonight in Igloo.

* * *

Radio

KORE: 10:30, Emerald News Reporter.

NBC: 11:30 a.m., Anthony Eden; 5:30, Fibber McGee and Molly; 6, Ripley with the Mayor of Hell; 7:30, Johnny Presents.

CBS: 11:30 a.m., Anthony Eden; 5:30, Benny Goodman; 7:30, Al Jolson's show, Parkyakarkus, Martha Raye, Seven Dwarfs; 8, Ford Program with Al Pearce's gang; 8:30, "Big Town," Edward G. Robinson, Claire Trevor.

Dance orchestras: 9, NBC, Charlie Agnew; 9:30, NBC, Frank Trumbauer; 10:15, NBC, Carl Ravazza; 10:30, NBC, Skinny Ennis; 10:45, CBS, Ozzie Nelson; 11, CBS, Henry King. KORE from 9:30 on.

Anthony Eden, ex-foreign minister for Great Britain, will speak at Grosvenor House in London today. The broadcast will be carried to American ears through both CBS and the Blue network of the NBC. There will be no caustic comment, but the half-hour chat should be interesting in that Eden has been in the big mix of foreign affairs on the Continent until his recent resignation.

* * *

"Believe It or Not" Ripley is bringing the Mayor of Hell to the ether this evening at 6. It probably won't sound like the Devil because the mayor is Lorentz Stenvig and he is the mayor of Hell, Norway—a little village near the Arctic circle. Mayor Stenvig has been visiting in New York and neighboring cities, but plans to go to Hell shortly.

* * *

Another mayor broadcasting tonight is Al Jolson, the city godfather of Encino, California. More important than Jolson are his guests, the Seven Dwarfs. These are the real McCoys, though there are six actors instead of seven. (One doubles.)

Doc is played by Roy Atwell, veteran mush-mouth radio player. You may remember him as Senator Fishface on various programs, including Fred Allen's Town Hall.

Eddie Collins takes the part of Dopey. Collins has been in burlesque theaters for years but now has a 20th Century-Fox contract. Vocal work for Sneezy is done by Billy Gilbert, a sneeze artist from way back. You've probably seen him in numerous shows as an

Offers Eyesight

Albert Kessel . . . 23, convict awaiting execution by gas in San Quentin, has agreed to an operation after death to remove the cornea of his eye and graft it onto a minister's eye.

Offered Eyesight

Rev. V. E. Harding . . . Portland pastor, who has asked for and been offered a cornea from the eye of a condemned convict.

Dr. Miller comments on recent experiments:

In an effort to restore eyesight to the blind, physicians have recently been conducting experiments where the lens and the outer portion of the cornea of the eye of a person willing to sacrifice his sight is inserted into the eyes of the blind.

"In an experiment of this kind the patient has everything to gain," said Dr. Fred N. Miller, of the student health service, "for since the lens and cornea do not have a blood and nerve supply they can be transferred without much danger of their losing their functional ability."

Italian chef with a spicy ker-choo. That's his favorite part.

Bashful is portrayed by Scott Matraw, who has played minor parts in pictures for 15 years. Happy is none other than Otis Harlan. You may remember him in his favorite characterization—that of a country judge in some backwoods town.

Pinto Colvig doubles for both Grumpy and Sleepy. Colvig, a member of the Disney staff for six years, has given voice to "Pluto the Pup," "Goofy," "The Big Bad Wolf," and one of the three little pigs as well. He also authored the lyrics of "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf," and "The World Owes Me a Living."

Speaking of foreign affairs, Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy will be heard at 1, Thursday afternoon over the NBC Blue hookup responding to a toast at a British Chamber of Commerce gathering.

Snapshots:

Martha Raye may be co-starred with Joe E. Brown in "The Gladiator." With a salary boost coming up in their new Chesterfield contract starting October 7, Gracie Allen and George Burns will take time off and do a quickie entitled, "The Gracie Allen Murder Mystery." Another radio start to enter the films is Irene Rich, tentatively cast in "After 40 Club." . . . Deanna Durbin is about ready to appear with two beaus in a new show, "That Certain Age." . . . Another film to be released shortly is "Alexander's Ragtime Band," with Tyrone Power, Don Ameche, Jack Haley, and Alice Faye.

Large Crowd Attends Eldorado Celebration

A record-breaking AWS carnival crowd attended the Eldorado celebration Saturday night final door receipts showed.

The cup for the most original booth was won by Chi Omega and Zeta hall. Zeta hall won the same cup last year. Honorable mention went to Alpha Phi and Chi Psi.

Gamma Phi Beta, Gamma hall, Phi Kappa Psi won the cup for having the busiest booth. Honorable mention went to Hendricks hall and Sigma Chi.

Send the Emerald to the folks. They want the campus news.

May Day Breakfast Chairmen Selected

Committee members who are preparing for the annual YWCA Junior-Senior "doe" breakfast, to be given on Gerlinger sun porch May 1 at 9:30 a.m., were announced yesterday. General chairman is Eleanor Hays.

In the traditional manner, juniors will escort seniors to the breakfast, tickets for which are 35 cents each or 65 cents per couple.

Assisting in the preparations are Rosemary Geneste, in charge of tickets; LaVerne Littleton, properties; Betty Lou Swart, programs; Phyllis May Ricker, decorations; Betty Young, food; Aida Macchi and Helen Pearson, service; Jean Ramsden and Jean Kendall, publicity; Marcia Steinhauser, secretary; Barbara Ward, finance, and Mary Jane Wormser, clean-up.

Failing-Beekman Contest Lists $250 In Senior Prizes

The best original speech delivered by a graduating senior in the annual Failing-Beekman oratorical contest will receive a prize of $150, with a purse of $100 going to the second-place speaker, it has been announced by the speech division.

Open to any graduating senior, the contest will take place Friday, May 27, at 8 p.m. The deadline for entries is May 11. The speeches may be on any subject, but must not exceed 1500 words. No more than six contestants will be entered in the final contest, with preliminaries scheduled for May 23 if the turnout necessitates.

Anyone planning to compete is asked to consult some member of the speech division staff.

Final AWS Meeting Thursday to Honor Royal Junior Court

AWS meetings for the year will be completed next Thursday with an all-campus assembly in honor of Queen Virginia I and her royal Junior weekend court.

Newly elected members of the council will be presented. Reports of the recent convention at Pullman, Washington, will also be given.

Anne Frederickson is in charge of the program.

Executed Pork

Little Brown Pig . . . became a guinea pig at San Quentin penitentiary while 30 observers watched California's lethal gas chamber being tested. Nine times the pig got to his feet, slowly walked away, fell down, finally rolled over dead after 2 minutes and 20 seconds of breathing fumes from cyanide eggs in sulphuric acid.