

Oregon Nine Loses to Idaho Vandals, 2 to 1

Fourth Consecutive Loss Handed Ducks By Pitcher Gregory

By ELBERT HAWKINS

Another tearful ninth inning, a few errors, and the pitching of a tall lad from Potlatch, Idaho, Earl Gregory, yesterday combined to shove Oregon's defending champions just a notch deeper in the northern division cellar.

Pitcher Gregory kept Oregon batters in the hole from start to finish, yielding but five hits, and enabled the Idaho Vandals to sneak off Howe field with a 2 to 1 victory. They play again today at 3 o'clock.

It wasn't all a snap for Forrest Twogood's outfit though, for Hobby Hobson's slumping Webfoots put on a belated ninth inning rally that ended only with the tying run on third—a run which might have scored moments earlier.

Plenty of Rain

Not even April showers on the second of May could stop the game, which was delayed for a half hour in the fourth inning. The game was started by mutual agreement on a muddy diamond, and finished that way.

Errors, bugaboo of the other three losses in Oregon's losing streak, again cost Oregon and Pitcher Bob Creighton yesterday's game. The Vandals got their two runs in the fourth inning on three hits and an error, the last run being unearned.

Creighton retired after four innings with a sore arm in favor of Southpaw John Linde, who allowed just two singles in the last five innings.

Ducks Try Hard

Oregon's sad ninth inning rally started when Wimpy Quinn doubled off Left Fielder Spicuzza's glove with one man out. It was Quinn's first hit off Gregory. Spicuzza dove for the ball but couldn't hold it.

Jack Gordon hit a Texas leaguer into right field, but Quinn in rounding third saw the relay throw to Gregory hit in the diamond, and made a dive for third base again.

Gregory then flicked the ball to second base where Gordon was caught sliding. That made it two away, and Relief Pitcher John Linde fled to left to end the game.

Vandals Field Well

Idaho's infield gave Gregory beautiful support throughout, cutting off several balls hit by Webfoots which were apparently headed for hits. Wayne West, second, and Bill Kramer, first, turned in the game's only double play.

Oregon failed to touch Gergory for a hit until the sixth inning when Ford Mullen, lead-off, tapped one over Kramer's head into right.

Bob Hardy, hitting for Beard in the seventh, doubled with Jack Gordon on second to drive in Oregon's only run of the game. Gordon, who led Duck hitters for the game with two in four trips up, had previously singled to center.

Idaho's big inning, the fourth, opened quietly when West rolled out via shortstop, but Spicuzza then singled to right. He scored when Catcher Price lined a triple to left field.

Ken Battleson kicked the ball in retrieving it, and Price scampered home for Idaho's second and final run.

In a student poll, University of Pittsburgh undergraduates endorsed Anthony Eden's foreign policy for England.

Softball Contests Set for Thursday Moved to Today

Because of the intramural track meet to be held Thursday, May 5, all intramural softball games scheduled for that day will be moved up to Tuesday, May 3, (today) it was announced by intramural officials.

The new date will be in conflict with the second Oregon-Idaho baseball game to be held today, but it was found impossible to move it to any other date. There are no open dates during the softball schedule, and final examinations follow close on the heels of the play-offs for the intramural softball championships.

All four games that were to be played Thursday will be changed, and will be held today on the field they were originally set for.

Duck Grid All-Stars To Practice Today

The Webfoot All-Stars will hold an important practice session on Stoddard flats this afternoon, and all ex-varsity and alumni members of the squad are asked to be ready to start practicing at 4:30 o'clock sharp.

Arrangements have been made with Coach Tex Oliver and Equipment Room Tycoon Walt Bonney to secure shoulder and hip pads for today's practice, and some time will be spent on tackling and blocking dummies. Following this a hard dummy scrimmage will be held in order that timing of plays may be perfected.

Latest recruits to the All-Star squad are reported to be Johnny Kitzmiller, one of Oregon's greatest backfield stars and for three years backfield coach here, and Orville "Red" Bailey, star end in 1930-31-32.

Duck Netmen Blast Cougars; Score, 7-0

By CHUCK VAN SCOYOC

Oregon's fast-improving varsity tennis team lengthened its victory list to five consecutive wins last Saturday afternoon, when it swept the invading Washington State team off the courts with a 7 to 0 whitewashing.

Favored by ideal weather conditions, and a stimulating 6 to 1 win over Idaho Friday afternoon, the Duck racqueteers ran through the Cougar singles men without losing a set, despite the fact that they were lacking the services of Ellsworth Ellis, No. 3 man. Ellis suffered a bad knee injury during the Idaho match, but recovered enough to play doubles with Les Werschkul Saturday.

Crane Wins Easily

Leading off for the Ducks in singles competition, Captain Larry Crane breezed through John Egan, Cougar ace, 6-3, 6-1.

In the No. 2 singles match, Les Werschkul, top ranking sophomore, played a somewhat reckless but effective game in defeating Don Borton, 6-3, 7-5.

Replacing Ellsworth Ellis in the No. 3 position, veteran Bill Zimmerman easily won a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Lloyd Jorgenson of WSC.

Mann Moves Up

Karl Mann, moved up from his No. 5 position to No. 4, posted a straight sets win over Phil Olson, WSC, 6-4, 6-2.

Jack Crawford, utility man on the Webfoot squad, beat the Cougar's No. 5 man, Bob Rasanen, 6-0, 7-5.

In doubles, the Webfoot veteran combination of Larry Crane and Bill Zimmerman scored an easy, 6-1, 6-3 victory over the Cougar No. 1 duo of Egan and Borton.

Go Three Sets

Les Werschkul and Ellsworth Ellis, Duck No. 2 doubles team, played the hardest fought match of the day against Jorgenson and Olson of WSC, winning, 6-0, 5-7, 6-3.

This afternoon at two o'clock the Webfoots will meet their toughest opponent of the season when they clash with the net squad from Linfield college on the campus courts.

Duckling Golfers Defeat OSC Rooks In First Match

Smith Is Low With 71; Ruth Tustin Wins Over Miss Sellars

Frosh golfers took a fall out of the OSC rooks Saturday in a six-man, 36-hole match played on the Corvallis Country club course.

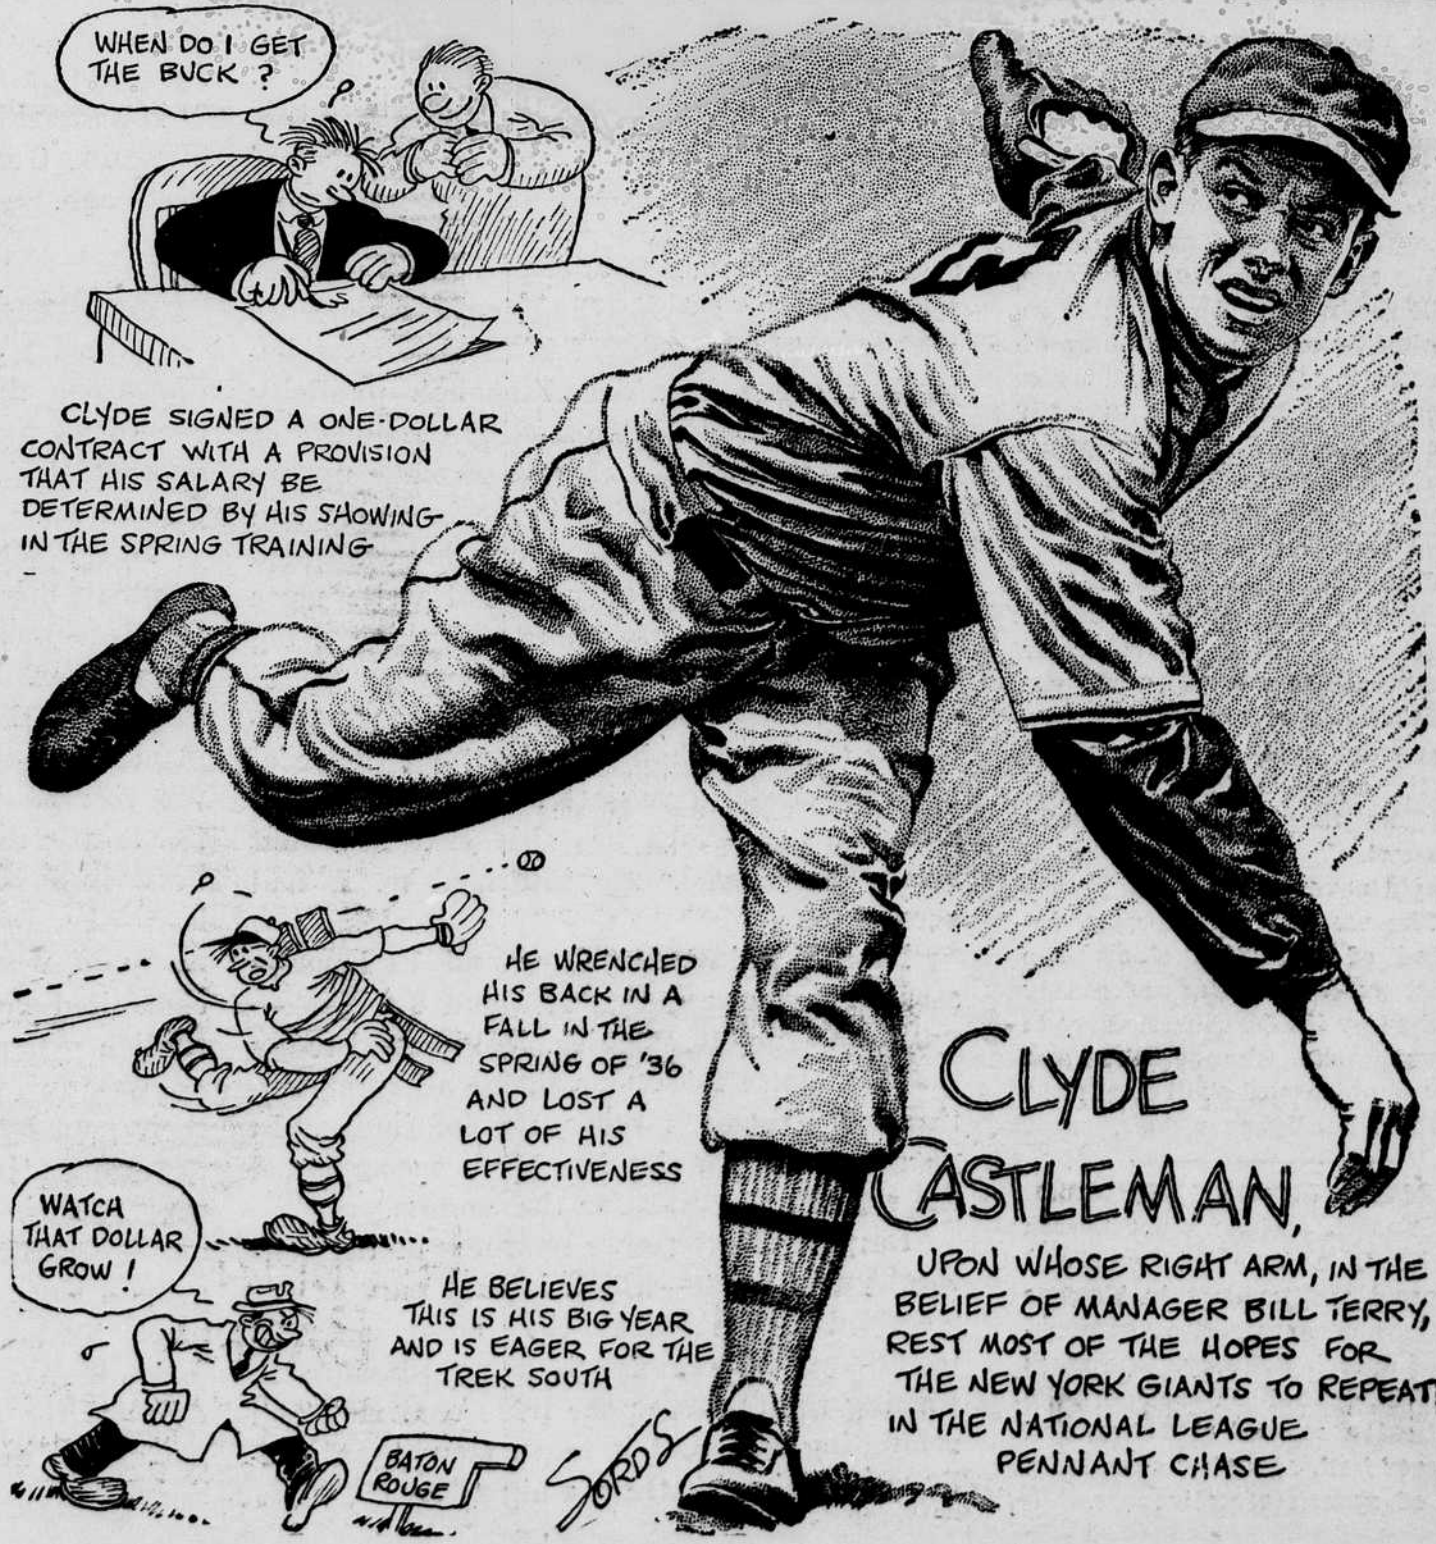

The frosh collected 20 points, while the rooks chalked up seven. Cliff Smith, No. 1 man of the frosh team was the day's low man with a 71.

In a special match, Ruth Tustin, coed member of the frosh squad, at the present time holding down the seventh berth, defeated Dorothy Sellars of the rook squad, also No. 7, in an 18-hole match. Miss Tustin won three points from her opponent.

Big Finish

In his singles match, Smith was one down and one under par on the first nine, and came back to win the last five holes of the second nine to garner two points.

Fred Davis, No. 2 man on the frosh team, was three down at the
