

Bob Hardy Shuts Out Idaho Vandals, 8 to 0

Oregon Ends Losing Streak Behind Slim Southpaw's Hurling

Coach Howard Hobson's Champs Turn in Smooth Play Afield and Slug Out 13 Hits In Spree; Get Five Runs in Fourth

By ELBERT HAWKINS

Portsider Bob Hardy pitched Oregon's baseball team right out of its frightful slump yesterday by limiting Forrest Two-good's Idaho club to only six singles, shutting them out, 8 to 0.

Hardy, junior member of Hobby Hobson's pitching staff, permitted only seven Vandals to reach first base—only one getting to third—and departed from conventional tactics of left-handers by walking nary a man.

Howe field was still in soggy condition, causing outfielders no end of trouble, but Oregon's uncertain infield snapped out of its lethargic streak by giving Hardy almost perfect support.

The win didn't put Oregon within hailing distance of first place in the northern division race, but it left the Ducks with a grim chance to finish in the money.

Don't Hit Southpaws

The Vandals evidently don't like left-handers. Add Hardy's nine innings to the five Linde heaved at the end of Monday's game and you have 14 consecutive scoreless innings for Idaho.

The Webfoot pitcher was lenient for four innings, giving Idaho the aforementioned six scattered hits, but for the last five frames pitched perfect ball, facing only 15 men.

Oregon sewed up the ball game very definitely in the last of the fourth by knocking Pitcher Hallberg off the mound, continuing the attack off Edwin Ranta for five hits and five runs. The Ducks held a 1 to 0 lead up to then.

Beard Opens It

Bob Beard opened the merry rally with a single to center, and he tallied on Bob Hardy's double to right. Matt Pavalunas singled off Hallberg, and Two-good yanked the Idaho southpaw.

After Bob Smith, batting for Ken Battleson, was hit by a pitched ball, Ranta got the next two Oregon batters, making it two away. But Gale Smith rapped a single into center to drive in two runs, and Wimpy Quinn tripled over centerfielder's head to send two more Oregon runs home. Quinn was nipped at the plate trying to stretch his hit.

Oregon opened in the first inning with one run on two hits and an error when Jack Gordon and Wimpy Quinn worked a steal on Idaho. Quinn started to steal second, and, while the Vandals were playing him, Gordon sneaked home. Quinn finally got back to first safely.

Bob Smith singled off Ranta's glove with one man out in the ninth and scored Oregon's seventh run when Ford Mullen doubled to center. Mullen took third on the throw-in, and scored on Jimmie Nicholson's sacrifice.

Mullen, Nicholson, Quinn, and Beard all got two hits for Oregon, while Atkins and Spicuzza did likewise for Idaho.

Bob Hardy contributed some sort of a record for pitchers when he chalked up nine assists.

WASHKE NEW ROTARY HEAD

Paul R. Washke, physical education professor, was yesterday elected president of the Eugene Rotary club for 1938 at the annual meeting of the board of directors.

Professor Washke will succeed Dr. J. E. Richmond of Eugene.

G. A. "Tex" Oliver was among the new members welcomed into the club at the meeting.

Senator

Emil Leonard . . . a knuckle ball pitcher for the Washington Senators.

Frosh Nine Battles Pleasant Hill Today Teams Will Tangle at Swimmers Delight In Practice Meet

Oregon's frosh baseballers will face one of their toughest games of the season today when they meet Pleasant Hill's state league nine at Swimmers' Delight.

John Warren, Duckling coach, indicated he would start big Bob Reider, curve ball artist, on the mound and save Pete Igoe for the rook game at Corvallis, Saturday. Because of rain and muddy fields the frosh have been practicing very lightly and infrequently, with the result that they are in a slump, according to Warren.

Washke's Varsity Netmen Turn Back Highly-Touted Linfield Racquetees, 6-1

Crane, Zimmerman, Ellis Shine as Ducks Take Four Singles and Pair of Doubles Matches; Play Oregon State Friday

By CHUCK VAN SCOYOC

Oregon's title-bound varsity racquet wielders scored their sixth straight win yesterday when they trounced the strong Linfield college netmen, 6-1, in a non-conference match.

The Wildcat team, which recently lost a close 4 to 3 decision to the OSC varsity, had fond hopes of taking the Webfoots into camp this year, but within an hour after the contests started, Washke's men had cinched a win by taking four of the five singles matches.

Although the final score indicated that the match was a one-sided affair, the Linfield lads offered the stiffest competition that the Ducks have faced this season.

Zimmerman Wins Easily

Bill Zimmerman, Duck No. 4 singles man, put the Webfoots into the win column by quickly disposing of Bill Stryker in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1. He was closely followed by Ellsworth Ellis, who won easily over Frank Hendricks, 6-2, 6-3.

Karl Mann posted the third singles win of the day when he defeated John Breeding, 6-3, 6-3.

Captain Larry Crane, playing in the No. 1 singles position, put the match on ice for the Webfoots when he barely edged out a 2-6 6-3, 7-5 win over Milt Robbins, Wildcat singles ace. In the third set, Robbins had Crane at match point with a 40-love advantage, but the veteran Webfoot put on a sensational rally to take the game and the next three in a row to emerge victor.

Werschkul Loses

Les Werschkul dropped the only singles match of the day to Harold Beall in three hard-played sets, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2. Beall's hard drives, coupled with Werschkul's many errors, gave him the edge in the match.

In the doubles competition, the Duck No. 1 duo composed of Zimmerman and Crane was hard (Please turn to page eight)

Varsity Golfers Travel North To Defend Crown

University of Idaho, Washington State Are Ports of Call

Oregon varsity golfers go on the second road trip in defense of their northern division match play crown when they leave Thursday morning for Idaho and eastern Washington.

Minus the services of Ben Hughes, who is anchored at home for Junior weekend activities, the varsity squad will take either Lou Cook or Bob Speer to fill in No. 6 position against the University of Idaho and Washington State.

The Oregon men play Washington State Friday and University of Idaho Saturday. Both matches will be over the 36-hole route, with best-ball foursome matches in the morning and singles in the afternoon.

PhiDelts Are Ahead In Donut Tally List; ATOs Close Behind

Barnmen Lead Houses With 1234 Points; Alpha Tau Omega Trails, Followed by Sig-Eps; Two Mural Events Remain

With a total of 1234 points garnered from fall and winter term events as well as swimming and water polo of this spring, Phi Delta Theta is leading Alpha Tau Omega by a slender 28-point margin.

The two houses will battle out for first place intramural honors in the closing weeks of spring term competition. Only Sigma Delta Psi and softball remain on the athletic calendar.

Both outfits are far ahead of other houses in total points and each will finish either in the first or second position regardless of who wins in softball and Sigma Delta Psi.

SPEs Third

The ATOs, last year's intramural crown defenders, have 1196 points to their credit. Following the ho-teimen are Sigma Phi Epsilon with 915 points, Sigma Chi with 879, Fijis with 816, and Beta Theta Pi with an even 800 points.

Winners of Sigma Delta Psi and softball will receive 75 and 150 (Please turn to page eight)
