

National Student Poll Favors Neutrality, Other Measures

With 31,515 students from 101 colleges voting in the Brown Daily Herald-United Student Peace committee survey on peace, pronounced sympathies for neutrality, withdrawal of American troops from China, passage of the billion dollar naval appropriations bill, and establishment of ROTC on an optional basis have been indicated.

Results from the survey are not complete, and further statistics will be announced later. Thirty states are represented in the tabulations to date.

American withdrawal from China and application of the neutrality act has a 2-1 majority over collective security or unilateral action against Japan by the United States, in the Far Eastern question. In the question of a permanent U. S. peace policy, neutrality registers exactly the same vote, while collective security ranks a little higher. Isolation rates low, while the Spanish situation draws but little attention. Despite the pro-boycott propaganda campaign, students still do not support it overwhelmingly as has been often stated.

One of the results is the large vote cast in favor of American entrance into a revised League of Nations, and for action by the United States leading toward progressive disarmament. This is interesting in view of the light vote for an aggressive collective security either through economic or military sanctions.

The ROTC issue brought forth a large majority for optional drill only, with only a few votes cast for compulsory drill even in ROTC colleges as a whole. Abolition of the organization entirely was favored over establishment of compulsory drill.

Frosh Nine Battles

(Continued from page five) Rathbun. The regular infield combination of Hamer at first, Jack Shimshak at second, Elmer Malory at short, and Tini Smith at third will probably start, Warren said.

The outfield places will be taken by three experienced fielders, Quintin Earl, Bill White, and Evert McNeeley.

Reider, who led the frosh against the varsity, defeating them recently, 6 to 1, will probably carry the burden of the hurling duties. In case Reider is unable to go the whole route, Orlando Allegretto will be ready to take over the mound duties.

Warren put the squad through a brief hitting practice yesterday with both Reider and Allegretto chucking to the first and second teams. This was followed by brief workouts in running bases.

Canoe Fete Floats Being Constructed

Preparations for the canoe fete to be presented next Saturday evening will be in full swing today with work on the queen's float and the queen's throne taking the lead.

The Yeomen, led by Max Doty, will begin work on the queen's float which will follow the "Vagabond Melody" theme. Chan Stevens, chairman in charge of lighting, will arrange colored lights in the mill-race and the colored spot lights to play on the queen's stand.

Hall Writes Continuity
To George Hall, assistant chairman of the canoe fete, goes one of the most difficult jobs—that of arranging the continuity of the program. The music of the orchestra and the words of the two commentators must blend correctly for the most desirable effect.

Ed Thomas, canoe fete chairman, has announced that the property on which the floats will be built does not belong to the school, and consequently the junior class will be held responsible for any damage done. Workers should be especially careful about digging holes in the ground, cutting the bushes, or throwing into the water pieces of wood that might float down and injure the power plant at the lower end of the race, he warned.

Sprint Battle

(Continued from page four) the 440-yard oval in 48.5 seconds. However, he has run the 100 in 9.9 and the 220 in 21.4.

Although Oregon's lithe Jim Buck is only a sophomore and will be racing in "big-time" competition for the first time, he will train his sights on second place. He surprised even Coach Bill Hayward by beating Marion Hay of Washington to the finish in both sprints Saturday.

"It is not too much to say that forces playing on education from without, forces over which educators themselves have little or no direct control are making it necessary for educational institutions to redefine their goals." University of Chicago's Prof. Newton Edwards points an unwavering finger at one cause of what many call today's association.

Sigma Xi Pledges 15 New Members

Science Honorary Elects Officers at Last Meeting

Ten new associate members and five active chapter members were pledged to the Sigma Xi, national science honorary, at its meeting Monday night.

The chapter members were selected on the basis of their actual achievements in scientific work, and the associate members are selected because they show promise in the field of scientific research.

The chapter members elected were: Kenneth S. Ghent, Francis J. Reithel, Nicholas P. Sullivan, Frederick R. Judy, and Lyle Veazie.

Associate member pledged were: Francis Holderreed, Margaret K. Hair, James E. Herbertson, Theodore Lundy, Hiroaki Minatoya, Thomas Fuson, Alex D. Krieger, Richard Wilson Leong, Jane A. Myers, and John T. Van Bruggen.

Initiation of the new members will take place May 21, prior to the annual initiation banquet and address held jointly with Phi Beta Kappa.

Officers for next year elected at the meeting were: president, A. F. Moursund; vice-president, W. R. Todd; secretary, Clifford Constance; and treasurer, A. L. Alderman.

Frosh Gridders

Jim Stuart, big 210-pounder, is showing Oliver spark at one-tackle post. Presence of Stuart has increased the supply of line reserves, and with improvement, it is possible that Stuart may command a starting berth next fall.

Bob Hendershott was not outstanding during the first few weeks of spring practice, but he displayed speed and field ability in recent scrimmage sessions which have surprised Oliver. Rated as an exceptional prospect, Norm Connaway, has shown the coaching staff but little of his possibilities at the wing berth. It is expected, however, that he will make a determined bid this week for action at a flanking position in the All-Star game.

Coach Oliver is interested in some of his reserves and plans to try them out in the forthcoming contest against the ex-Duck guests: Mel Passolt and Ernie Robertson at guards, Russ Inskeep at tackle, and Bob Blenkinsop at ends are the most promising.

Helen Jepson to Attend Junior Weekend Event

Another distinguished visitor was added to the list of those who will see the canoe fete Saturday night with the announcement yesterday that Helen Jepson, who will appear in concert at the Igloo Sunday, will be in the stands for the event.

A special section at the concert in which students may sit with their mothers and still use their ASUO cards was announced yesterday. The educational activities office, in response to many requests by both students and parents.

None of the seats in this section will be reserved, but it will be a favored section for student-mother combinations. Prices for the section will be $1 for the mothers and ASUO cards for the students.

Star Will Arrive Late
Miss Jepson will not be on hand for the start of the program, but will arrive on the 9 o'clock train to be immediately escorted to the scene of the fete. She will be greeted and squired by a picked welcoming committee.

Tickets for the canoe fete are still available, the ASUO ticket offices announced yesterday, with plenty of good seats left for the event. Although the $1 reserved sections have been gone since last week, there are still 75 cent reserved seats left, and general admission will not be put on sale until probably Saturday, or when the reserved sections are sold out.

Visitors to Oregon, many of whom were attracted directly by promotion efforts, spent over $20,000,000 in Oregon last year, it was pointed out by Harold B. Say, manager of the travel department of the state highway department. From January 1 to May 1 of this year 23,000 inquiries have been received from prospective tourists. Other features of the promotion program were outlined by Mr. Say.

The budget for Columbia university for the fiscal year ending July 1 will be $14,806,021.

Nash Library

Many of the finest items are displayed on the study tables in room 201, adjoining the Nash collection room, where they will be left during the rest of the week for the librarians' convention and for visiting parents and guests during Junior weekend. M. H. Douglass, librarian, suggested that as many students as can should see the books during this time when they are so carefully arranged for advantageous display.

The collection is being handled by Willis Warren, reserve librarian, and placarded and catalogued by Mrs. Catherine Jensen.
