

Peace Education Spirit Shown in Debate Group

Evidence that University of Oregon students and faculty are carrying on the spirit of peace education advocated by "peace strikers" on this campus and at other universities in America is shown by the program of all-campus discussion groups which will meet next week on Tuesday and Wednesday in Gerlinger hall to talk of the best peace-insurance methods, according to Marion DeKoning, general chairman.

Four topics have been designated for consideration by the conference: armament budgets, America's international policy, raw material and population pressure, and peace and war propaganda.

The discussion on armament budgeting will be led by D. E. Hargis and W. A. Dahlberg; on the international policy by James D. Barnett and Waldo Schumacher; on raw material and population pressure by E. H. Moore, W. D. Smith, and A. L. Lomax. The question of peace and war propaganda will be directed by Eric W. Allen and S. Stephenson Smith.

The program is being initiated with the belief among students and faculty that the best means of maintaining peace is by education toward peace.

Motivating forces behind the movement are representatives of each organization on the campus. Marion DeKoning is chairman of the group which includes Frances McCarter, Harold Strawn, Grace Martin, Harold Barton, Bruce Rogers, Marjorie Montgomery, Prof. Francis Beck, Dr. Victor P. Morris, and Mrs. John Stark Evans.

Final speaker in the series will be Lieutenant-Commander Bryant, who will address students at an assembly at 10 o'clock Thursday morning on "The Far Eastern Conflict, the Causes, Consequences, and Our Defense."

Adequate Finances Needed, Says Kipp

Settlers bound for Oregon from other parts of the United States should be warned that they should be adequately financed if they are to be successful in this state, and further, the promoters of areas should make every effort to obtain only people who are financially responsible, it was declared by R. H. Kipp, manager of the land settlement department of the Portland chamber of commerce, in an address before the Oregon chamber of commerce secretaries conference, now on at the University of Oregon.

Kipp strongly recommended that a questionnaire be submitted to prospective settlers regarding their finances, and that only those adequately supplied with means be encouraged to come here. Six up-state communities are already cooperating with the Portland chamber in work along these lines, he pointed out.

Secretaries devoted much of the morning in discussing chamber technique such as gaining membership, promotion, campaigns, collections, budgets, and other details.

Varsity Golfers

After ending the 18-hole match all square with a pair of 76's, the two went to the 19th hole where Cook won the hole and the match.

Oregon State golfers also go east to the Moscow and Pullman country this weekend. They will play Idaho on Friday, and will then move to Pullman to play the Cougars Saturday while the Webfoots take on Idaho.

Oregon's first five making the trip are Doc Near, Walt Cline, Bill Watson, Shelby Golden, and Kirk Eldridge. Eldridge moves to No. 5 to take Hughes' place.

These officers will be installed May 14 and 15 at the annual McKenzie conference at Cedarwood tavern.

Phi Deltas Are Ahead

(Please turn to page five) points respectively. There is not a mathematical chance of anyone challenging first place other than the two leading houses. Even should Sigma Phi Epsilon take both first places and Alpha Tau Omega fail to place at all, the mill-race house would fall short of displacing the ATOs from second spot by 57 points.

Softball Champs

Last year's softball title was taken by Beta Theta Pi, while Sigma Alpha Epsilon walked off with the Sigma Delta Psi crown. The Beta softball team is strong again this year, but only three members of last year's SAE track team are here this year.

Intramural standings are as follows:

Phi Deltas	1234
ATO	1196
SPE	915
Sigma Chi	879
Fijis	816
Betas	800

"Any education which would seem to have as its slogan 'training in techniques which will prevent a sucker from getting a break' or 'training in techniques of friendliness that will enable you to get the better of the other fellow' simply falls without the pale of true education. It represents the lowest standards of our society and cannot but be condemned." Prof. A. B. Williamson, New York university, speaks his mind on a publicly-popular phase of education.

Faculty Members Named on History Group Committees

Two members of the University faculty, Dr. R. C. Clark, head of the history department, and Dr. Andrew Fish, associate professor of history, received notice recently of their election to committees of the Pacific coast branch of the American Historical association.

Dr. Clark is chairman of the American history committee and Dr. Fish is a member of the European history committee. An award is to be made in each of the following fields: European history, American history, and Pacific history, in a competition sponsored by the association. Works, which may be either in manuscript or printed form, are to be submitted to the appropriate committee before June 1.

Awards Give Recognition

The competition is open to men and women residing in the states west of the Rocky mountains from which the Pacific coast branch draws its members. The awards, which are without monetary value, are designed to give recognition to the researchers of younger scholars who have not previously published any important work.

Results of the competition will be announced at the annual business meeting of the Pacific coast branch and will be published in the "Pacific Historical Review."
