

Erb to Speak At UO Banquet For Mothers

Program to Include Lorraine Hixson, Male Quartet

Highlighted by a speech by Dr. Donald M. Erb will be the banquet for the Oregon mothers to be given in John Straub memorial hall Saturday at 5:30 p.m.

Toastmistress for the affair will be Mrs. A. C. Greenwood, president of the Oregon Mothers' club, introducing Dr. Norman K. Tully who will give the invocation. New officers of the Oregon Mothers will be presented.

Greetings will be brought from the Oregon Dads by Judge Loyal M. McCarthy, president of the organization; from the state system of higher education by Chancellor F. M. Hunter; from the Associated Students by the student body president-elect; and from the Associated Women Students by President Elisabeth Stetson.

In the musical section of the program will be Lorraine Hixson, singing the "Morning Song" from Grieg's "Peer Gynt." A student male quartet will offer the Oregon pledge song at the opening of the banquet, and "Mighty Oregon" at the close, with the mothers joining in on the chorus. Incidental music during the banquet will be furnished by an instrumental trio.

Tentative plans are to broadcast the last half of the program over KOAC, Corvallis, starting at 7 p.m.

The show is being produced by Bob Bailey, assistant chairman of junior weekend, and Day Foster, production manager of KORE. Three KORE announcers instead of the usual one will be used in the broadcast.

Why Girls Go to College? To Get a Man, Say Males

With the politicians in the limelight for the coming elections, their opinions on Why Girls Come to College were gathered for the sake of their feminine public. Out of the sixteen boys interviewed, five expressed their opinion with the emphatically uttered words, "for a husband," while the rest hinted at such. The word education was not mentioned favorably.

Beta John McGowan—"They come to school for a husband naturally."

Chi Psi Bob Winslow—"Some for education, some for anything."
Delt Clayton Ellis—"Because the 'other' girls go to school."
Kappa Sig Burt Thurston—"To get away from the home atmosphere."

Phi Delt Gordon Benson—"For a husband—the sucker."
Fiji Jack Lochridge—"For fun and a social career."
Sigma Alpha Mu Burton Barr—"To get a husband."
Sig Ep Al Krietz—"To find a man."
ATO Wally Rossman—"To grab a sorority pin and a few fraternity pins on the side."

Theta Chi Lee Terry—"For fun and a social career."
Sigma Nu Tiger Paine—"To make good social connections."
Phi Psi Fred Carlson—"To get a husband undoubtedly."
Pi Kap Bob Emerson—"They don't come for an education."
SAE Dick Litfin—"Because their pappy sends them."
Sigma Chi Art Hanifin—"Culture and breeding."
The DU politicians were too busy with politics to be reached.

Recreational Head Will Give Second Exhibition Tonight

Returning to the campus for his second demonstration this year, Glen C. Grant, western representative of the national recreational association, will meet with University students, faculty members and townspeople tonight at 7:30 in the men's gym.

everyone. The prize dance will be at 4 o'clock, with two prizes to be awarded. Judging will be by Hal Young, D. D. Gage, and Miss Pirkko Paasikivi.

The terrace dance will follow the water carnival and burlesque fete, which will offer floats in direct contrast with the beauty of those in the Saturday fete.

Commentator for the water carnival and burlesque fete, which is scheduled to begin at 1:30 Friday afternoon, will be Don Kennedy, Emerald of the air master of ceremonies, it was announced yesterday.

Prizes will be awarded burlesque fete winners this year, according to Hal Adams, water carnival chairman, who announced that floats placing first, second, and third, will win plaques.

The water carnival is also free.

for Saturday at 4 o'clock and will stay there . . . don't forget, it's purely an exhibition affair for "friends" of the University . . . George Nethercutt, Washington State's snappy little shortstop of last year, was slated for duty with the Spokane Hawks in the Western International but decided to enter Gonzaga's law school.

Dr. Luella C. Carson Dies in California

Was Second Woman On Faculty; First Dean of Women

Dr. Luella Clay Carson, first University of Oregon dean of women on the campus, died Tuesday in Pomona, Calif., it was learned yesterday.

Miss Carson first came to the campus in 1888 and served as professor of rhetoric, acting as unofficial dean before receiving her official title.

She was the first woman faculty member after the retirement of Mary Spiller several years before she came to the campus.

She left Oregon in 1909 to become president of Mills college.

Dr. Carson was the originator of two of Oregon's traditions, the Fern and Flower procession and Junior weekend.

As a memorial to her work at the University, one of the engravings made by Prof. N. B. Zane for the stairway of the Library was dedicated to her.

Born in Portland in 1855, she was the daughter of Oregon pioneers, John W. and Elizabeth Talbot Carson.

She was graduated from St. Helen's hall and Mills college. Her graduate work was done at Columbia university. She also served as president and dean of several other colleges and universities.

Surviving her is a half-sister, Mrs. Frances Carson Platt of New York City.

Juniors May Get Cuts on Prom, Fete By Showing Cards

Junior weekend ticket reductions for junior class card holders were announced on two events last night by Zane Kemler, junior class president.

Holders of junior cards who buy both fete and prom tickets will get a 40-cent reduction. Those buying prom tickets alone get a 25-cent reduction. There will be no reduction on fete tickets alone, Kemler said.

The reduction on the prom ticket should be arranged at the door Friday night, while the combination fete and prom reduction can be taken care of at the ASUO ticket offices any time before Friday.

Steed Rollins, Vanderbilt university's southern conference fencing champion, never studied the sport before he came to college.
