

1938 Oreganas Are Available At Nine Today

Students to Receive Harbert Yearbooks At ASUO Office

On time this year as promised by Editor Wayne Harbert and Educational Activities Manager George Root, copies of the 1938 streamlined Oregana will begin to be dealt out to students, starting at 9 o'clock this morning in front of the educational activities shack. Distribution will last until 5 o'clock.

The books will be passed out over an alphabetically subdivided table outside the shack, weather permitting. In case of inclement weather distribution will be from inside the shack.

Not to Be Delivered

Students must call personally for their books, according to Oregana Manager Howard Overback, who said that no copies would be given to any but their rightful owners.

Payments on Oreganas were announced by Overback as follows: "Students who have signed for an Oregana or made a partial payment will make their final payment at the Educational Activities building; all others may order at the Co-op."

Sales of the last hundred copies have been going fast, according to Overback, with less than half remaining to be sold.

Preparations for next year's edition of the Oregana were already in evidence yesterday as George Corley, Journal staff photographer, went about getting shots of the campus with Don Root, editor of next year's Oregana.

Wabash college fraternities are planning a cooperative buying organization for the purchase of house supplies.

Master's Exams to Be Taken by Grads

Two graduate students, Martha Louise McClure and Hans Plambeck, will take oral examinations for master's degrees next week.

Miss McClure, a Portland Center student who majored in German and minored in economics, wrote her thesis on "Hermann Hesse's Concept of the Creative Personality."

Plambeck, whose major was sociology and whose minor was German, had "Social Control as Manifested in the German Labor Service" as the title for his thesis.

Galton Given $115.40 By Moot Court Jury

After deliberating 25 minutes the jury returned a verdict for the Defendant Herbert Galton in the moot court last night, and granted him judgment of $115.40 in his counter claim against Plaintiff Harrison Winston for damages to Galton's car in an accident last March in which Winston was driving.

Winston had previously paid judgment to Kenneth Schramm who's car he struck on the night of March 4 on his return from Corvallis in Galton's car which he had borrowed for the trip. He was suing to collect the judgment and costs from Galton on the grounds

Mother - Student Section to Be Set Aside at Concert

A special section will be set aside at the Helen Jepson concert, here Sunday, for students who wish to sit with their mothers, it was announced by the educational activities office last night.

All ASUO cardholders presenting their card and a $1 mother's ticket will be given admission to the section.

that Galton was negligent in not informing him of a bad tire on the car which was alleged to have caused the accident when it blew out.

Class Bringing Most Mothers Will Win Trophy

Following a recommendation by Dean of Men Virgil D. Earl, the Junior weekend committee yesterday announced a revision of the inscription on the new Junior weekend trophy put into circulation only two days ago.

The inscription has been changed to read "to the class having the greatest number of mothers on the campus." The former inscription gave the cup to the living organization having the most mothers here for Junior weekend.

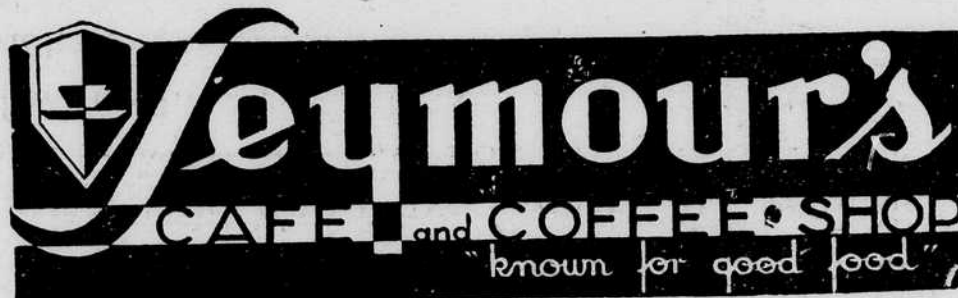

Massachusetts State college was the first land grant college in New England. It was chartered in 1863.
