

Added Courses Announced for Summer Session

Education, Drama, Psychology, Law On New List

Dr. Dan E. Clark, assistant director of the extension department, announced Saturday the addition of ten courses to the regular summer school session list. The main catalog with a full description and schedule is expected to be out by the middle of next week.

Dr. F. G. Macomber, professor of education at the University, will teach "Units of Work," primarily a practical course in which teachers under guidance will actually plan out units for their own schools. A discussion of different types of activities will be carried on.

"Improvements of Examinations" will be taught by Dr. C. W. Stone of Washington State college at Pullman. He will offer work showing how to construct essay, objective, performance, and application type of questions.

Eastern Teacher Coming
Another new course is the "Philosophy of New Experimentalism," to be taught by Dr. J. P. Williams, associate professor of education at Massachusetts State college at Amherst. Dr. Williams taught at Columbia university, and had charge of all adult education in the Harry Emerson Fosdick institute at New York's Riverside church for three years. He will also have charge of a character education seminar on materials and methods in character education.

Dr. J. F. Cramer, city superintendent of schools in Eugene, will instruct two courses, one in the administration of the elementary school, and the other in the administration of the small high school.

A new viewpoint in psychology will be presented by Dr. E. R. Hilgard, associate professor of psychology at Stanford university in "Employment Psychology," and "Psychological Problems of Guidance and Counseling."

In the drama department, Horace W. Robinson, assistant professor of drama at the University, will teach "Introduction to Theater Arts," an entirely new course which will be a regular course at the University next year.

Dr. Hans von Hentig, formerly dean of the law school and professor of criminal law at the University of Kiel, will teach two courses, "Jurisprudence" in the law department, and "Criminology" in the sociology department.

Interhouse Sing

held. Defaulters in the contest so far are: Delta Upsilon, Canard club, Sigma and Sherry Ross halls.

Houses still to compete in the first round are Phi Delta Theta, and Theta Chi, Campbell Co-op No. 1 and Phi Sigma Kappa, Campbell Co-op No. 2 and Kappa Sigma; and Omega and Zeta halls.

Excellent cooperation and sincere spirit in the singing contest has been displayed, according to Faunt. He said that the houses are being judged by Bill McKinney and Bert Chamberlain, D. E. Hargis, instructor of speech, and Bob Vosper.

The four best houses will be selected by the judges, and the cup-winning group will be chosen from these four at a student assembly or other meeting arranged for the selection.

Harold Faunt is chairman of the committee arranging for the contest. He was appointed by Don Johnson, president of the interfraternity

Burke Asserts Emerald Stars Must Shell Out

By DOROTHY BURKKE
Attention all you Emerald workers!

Now is the time for the big event of the year—the annual Emerald picnic! Sunday, May 15, is the day scheduled for the picnic which will be held at Swimmers' Delight.

All workers on The Emerald including news and business staff members are invited to attend and must sign up on the bulletin board in the journalism building immediately.

Events scheduled for the day are swimming, canoeing, dancing, and the yearly softball game, plus a picnic lunch.

Thursday is the deadline set for signing up and 25 cents must be paid to Bill Rentz or Dorothy Burke by that date.

Anyone who can take a car is asked to sign up for the number of people he can take. Those going will leave the shack at 2 o'clock.

ternity council, and has named a committee consisting of Maurice Manning and Frederick H. Heidel to assist him in managing the competition.

First Forum

to discuss the problem of payment for defense material with Professors D. E. Hargis and W. A. Dahlberg.

Continue Wednesday
The discussions will continue at 3 o'clock Wednesday in the same rooms.

The climax of the concerted effort of students and faculty to come to a better understanding of the causes that lie behind modern warfare will be Lieutenant-Commander Bryant's address to the entire student body in Gerlinger auditorium at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning. Bryant will hold a forum discussion after the assembly.

Five Sponsors
All students will be able to take part in the discussion.

Marion DeKoning is chairman of the committee sponsoring the forum, which is composed of representatives of all campus organizations. Others who are responsible for the new type of peace education are Mrs. John Stark Evans, YWCA adviser; Francis Beck, of the YMCA; Victor P. Morris, of the school of business administration; and Peggy Robins.

The nation's largest wind tunnel is now being completed in University of Minnesota laboratories. It'll make a 150-mile "breeze."

Thursday Assembly Will Feature Stewart Bryant International Lecturer

Stewart F. Bryant, lecturer and writer on international affairs, will speak at an assembly of students, faculty, and townspeople in Gerlinger hall Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, and at an open forum in Alumni hall at 11.

Mr. Bryant, who is a retired lieutenant-commander of the United States navy, will discuss "The Far Eastern Situation: Causes, Consequences, and Our Defense."

Regular 10 o'clock classes will be held at 11, but those who have no classes that hour will be permitted to attend the forum, it was announced by Karl W. Onthank, who is arranging for the assembly. Graduated from the United States naval academy in 1913, Mr. Bryant served in the Far Eastern division of the office of naval intelligence in 1917. He was in command of the U.S.S. Mayflower under President Wilson the year after the war ended, and was assistant to the advisory committee during the Washington conference on limitation of armaments in 1921-22.

Active in Civil Work
In addition to his service to the navy, Mr. Bryant has always been active in civil and foreign service work. He was forum director for the San Francisco international news symposium and West Coast director of the League of Nations association.

Before the United States entered the war he was in Turkey for two years, and in 1915 he was working for the American embassy in Constantinople, doing relief work for Allied prisoners of war. He has seen service in the Philippines, China, Manchuria, Japan, Korea, Formosa, Borneo, Siberia, and other countries.

Other meetings for which the author will speak are the Rotary club luncheon at noon today, where he will speak on "Dangerous Thoughts in American Society" and the Lion's club meeting at noon tomorrow, when he will discuss "The Purposes of Armament."

Dean Jewell Named To National Position

Dean J. R. Jewell, of the school of education, was recently named a member of the national advisory council for supervisors of student teachers. One of the 11 men chosen from the various geographic regions of the United States, Dean Jewell will represent Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon.

Dr. E. S. Evenden of Columbia university, who is also an Oregon man who taught at Oregon normal school for some time, was also chosen.

Food, fun, and frolic—at The Emerald picnic!

So He Sayeth To Him 'Queen Black George'

As a multitude of people were peacefully munching their crusts at Friday's campus luncheon, behold they looketh unto the skies and a miracle came to pass.

A silent group of Sigma Delta Chi pledges, dressed in silks and satins of blue, red and green, which are loud colors, troddeth quickly up to the platform of the queen's throne bearing with them one who was called by the name of "Black George" Pasero.

These journalists, who were honorable (?) men felt need for great haste and sitteth their captive upon a throne, calleth forth one from their ranks who answereth to the name Bill Pen-gra.

The chief prophet of the tribe casteth his eyes to the skies and layeth a wreath of thorns which resembled a dish, spake and sayeth unto him:

"I hereby crown you Queen Black George, the next, of the Green Goosers."

Emerald workers arise—come to The Emerald picnic.

Final Installment On Fees Due by 3 o'Clock Today

No extension of time will be granted on final installments on University fees, due today, C. K. Stalsberg, University cashier, announced yesterday.

Approximately 400 students have last installments on fees including registration, student body, and out of state charges.

The fees may be paid between the hours of 8 and 3 today, with fines accruing at the rate of 25 cents a day after that for a week. At the end of that time, all students with overdue fees will be suspended, Stalsberg said.
