

Over 600 Seniors, Possible Record, To Graduate Here

Commencement Exercises to Serve as Official Inauguration of Dr. Erb; Class Reunions Scheduled for May 28

Over 600 seniors, a possible new record, will officially leave the University of Oregon May 30 at 8 p. m., the time set for commencement exercises.

The occasion will also serve as the official inauguration of Dr. Donald M. Erb as new president of the University. Dr. Erb will be the main commencement speaker.

Commencement exercises will be preceded Sunday, May 29, at 8 p. m. by the baccalaureate service, with Edward Maslin Hulme, professor of history at Stanford university, as speaker. Professor Hulme will take as his topic, "The Message of the Master."

Commencement week begins Friday, May 27, when a benefit tea for the Pauline Potter Home, collection of beautiful books will be held in the browsing room of the library from 3 to 5 p. m. That evening the Failing and Beekman orations will be heard in the music auditorium at 8 p. m.

Alumni day is scheduled for Saturday, May 28, and a record number of graduates and former students are expected. Class reunions will be held on this day, with reunions of the class of 1883, the 55-year class; 1888, the 50-year class; 1898, the 40-year class; 1908, the 30-year class; 1913, the 25-year class; 1918, the 20-year class, and 1928, the 10-year class.

The flower and fern procession at the site of the Pioneer Mother statue, one of the most beautiful of all campus traditions, will be performed alumni day. Several other events are scheduled, including a reception for Dr. and Mrs. Erb in alumni hall, class dinners, and the University luncheon at the John Straub Memorial building.

Bright Students Given Chance To Show in Quiz

Professor S. H. Jameson, of the social science department, did not meet his 8 o'clock social science class yesterday, and Mrs. Kiepe, substituting for him, came close to missing it also.

"Is this Mr. Jameson's class?" she asked.

"No," shouted the class, in unison.

"Pardon me, then," she said, collecting her books and papers, and leaving the room.

A few moments later, enlightened, she returned to where the guilty conscienced students still sat.

The class was given a quiz.

Educational Money Allocated for ROTC Trophy Competition

$1250 Appropriation Made for Cadet Transportation to Military Field Day; New Expense Added to Strained Budget

ROTC activities on the Oregon campus as well as those at Oregon State have received financial support from the State of Oregon's budget for higher education, a story published in the Coos Bay Times of yesterday disclosed.

According to the Times, an examination of the state board of higher education records show that $1250 has been appropriated from the limited higher education budget to finance the transportation of 1250 Oregon State College military cadets to Eugene for competition with Oregon cadets here May 25 for the "Governor Martin" trophy, later designated as "Governor's trophy."

Annual Award

After Governor Martin's denial that the trophy he inaugurated was his "personal" gift, the name was changed to "Governor's trophy," and it was indicated that it would become a perpetual yearly award. This would necessitate a yearly appropriation for the transportation of ROTC cadets between Eugene and Corvallis.)

The Coos Bay Times continued that "Pressure was rumored brought to bear on the board to approve the military field day appropriation at a time when the board was faced with a desperate problem of adjusting salaries, purchasing adequate periodicals and supplies for libraries and carrying on other routine educational functions."

New Rushing Plan Offered By Committee

Division of Week Rebates to Houses Suggested Reform

A new rushing system proposing for the main part to divide freshman week into two separate parts, one for rushing and for academic preparation, has been submitted to President Erb by a faculty committee, Virgil D. Earl, dean of men, said last night.

Dean Earl said that the outcome of the plan was up to the president, either decision by him, or for submission to the faculty.

'Two Gentlemen of Verona'

"Two Gentlemen of Verona" will step from Will Shakespeare's Elizabethan England to the stage of the University of Oregon garden theater at 9 o'clock on the evening of May 19 for the delectation of campus amusement seekers.

The comedy, under the direction of Mrs. Otilie T. Seybolt, will star Eddie Hearn as Launce, Jack Lewis as Proteus, Wilford Roadman as Speed, Gayle Buchanan as Julia, and Alice May Sieling as Lucetta. Prominent in the play are Eugeneans Bill Tugman and Charles A. Huntington.

This is to be the first dramatic production to be presented on the new outdoor stage behind the music auditorium. It is also the first time the University Theater players and members of the Very Little Theatre group of Eugene have combined to work on onet production.

Other entertainment to be offered in the grassy play-house under a summer sky will be "Tobacco Is But an Indian Weed," and "British Grenadiers" by a high school male quartet. The singers will be Arthur Gorham, Jimmy Bartell, Laurie Pratt, and Kenneth Prince. Dances of the Elizabethan period will augment the production.

No heavy Shakespearean tragedy, the offering of the University theater group is rather a delightful comedy, of the sort most consistent with an out-of-door setting. Should weather conditions prove unfavorable, the play will be given at the stated time in the Guild theater, Johnson hall. Second preference broke up into groups to formances will be staged on May
