

Movie Talent Scout Interviews 'Cream' of Campus Dramatists

"We are looking for leading types," was the reason given for Mr. Anderson Lawler's visit to this campus Monday and yesterday. Mr. Lawler is a talent scout for Warner Bros. studio.

He interviewed numerous Oregon students, including Hallie Dudrey, Jim Wilkinson, Jerry T. Smith, and Pete Mitchell. Miss Hallie Dudrey and Miss Lorraine Hixson were requested to send their pictures to Warner Brothers.

According to Lawler, Jerry Smith is the best prospect. "He may be just the man, although only one out of fifty ever make the grade," he said. Lawler stated that he was taking Jerry's pictures back to Hollywood.

Hollywood is looking for new faces, mainly those that photograph well. He asserted that one needs an instinct to act. "Beauty is almost essential for Hollywood, because the cameras pick up every little defect."

Mr. Lawler has had fifteen years of acting experience, but this is his first experience as a talent scout. He left yesterday noon for Willamette university, from there he will go to the University of California and then to Hollywood.

Orides to Entertain High School Girls

(Continued from page one) spaces for names of eligibles have gone out as inserts in the latest edition of "Old Oregon," University publication for alumni. Cards will be distributed on the campus as well, he said.

Name Cards Out

The idea behind the movement, Weston emphasized, "is not to win students on a basis of the good time we can show them, but to get people of the caliber we desire."

The new organization will work under the surveillance of the high school contacts committee of the state system of higher education, which makes the rules which govern the contacting of high school students.

Young Loves Go A'riding; $2 Fine Levied

It may have been only love in bloom, but one University football player is minus two very good dollar bills because he did not keep his mind on driving during a drive up the McKenzie highway Monday.

The football player and his lady friend had their afternoon spoiled by James Koepke, state police officer, who gave the couple a ticket for one-armed driving. To top it off, Justice of the Peace John Bryson administered a strong lecture and a request for "Two dollars please."

The culprit pleaded guilty.

Oregon Graduate's Indian War Book Is Well Reviewed

Dean R. C. Clark of the history department yesterday received a letter from George F. Brimlow, Oregon graduate and author of "The Bannock Indian War of 1878," in which Mr. Brimlow said he was well pleased with the reception his book has had since its publication May 2.

An excerpt from the Dallas (Texas) Journal review of the book was enclosed describing the work as "... an accurate, painstaking study, dry but authentic. Here is one Indian war that can be laid on the shelf with the conclusion that on it the last word has been said. . . . This particular war has decided historical importance in the story of the settlement of the Northwest but it is national, not regional literature in the final analysis; a type of historic record that ought to be followed through until completed for all similar phases of Indian pacification."

Trailer Trouble
