Summer Training In Personnel Work Offered Two Grads

Two University graduates, who would like to receive training in personnel work free of charge for one year under the auspices of Western Personnel service, will be entered by the University as applicants for such work, Dean Karl W. Onthank of the personnel division announced yesterday.

Potential personnel workers who are interested are asked to contact Dean Onthank without delay.

With school coming to a close, the infirmary list reveals fewer patients than last week. Those ill are: Betty Paske, Doris McAlister, Rosemary Harrison, Lewis Harris, Dwight Nott, Howard Lee, Theron Borden and Walter Vernstrom.

Hal Young Pleases Concert Audience

Singer Accompanied By Mrs. Underwood On Varied Program

Hal Young, professor of voice at the University, and former star of the New York musical stage, sang last night in the University music auditorium to a crowded audience.

The singer, accompanied by Aurora Potter Underwood, assistant professor of music, began his program with an aria and recitative from the oratorio "Elijah" by Mendelssohn.

He then sang the "Lasciami! Lascia ch'io respiri" by Tosti from "Quattro Canzoni di Amaranta." Ciampi's gentle "Ina," and "Largo" from Handel's opera "Xerxes," were outstanding numbers on his program.

Favorite of the audience was "La Danza" by Rossini, for which the audience applauded so enthusiastically that Mr. Young returned and sang an encore selection "In An Old Fashioned Town."

Religious selections on the program included "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, and "The Crucifixion" by Curran, the latter receiving such a response that he was called back for three encore numbers.

Stewart to Question Writer on Program

Turning the tables of ordinary procedure Paul Stewart, Emerald commentator, will interview Roy Vernstrom, the man who writes the news program, over tonight's broadcast at 10:30.

The Emerald radio reporter will sign off for the year on Friday night's program.

15 Students Plan to Attend Seabeck Meet

About 15 University students will attend the Christian student-led delegation at Seabeck, Washington from June 10 to 19, chairman Frank Chambers announced yesterday.

Part of the program will be arranged to be led by such prominent leaders as T. Z. Koo, secretary of World Student Christian Federation and Muriel Lester, "England's Jane Addams." Another well-known leader will be John L. Casteel, director of the speech department. Mr. Casteel will lead worship in the Cathedral of the Firs.

Seabeck discussion, this year, will be divided between small group, student-led round tables and plenary sessions of all small groups.

The conference will emphasize "Christian Living in a Modern World."

The University of California medical school is planning a summer camp for diabetic children.
