

Colwell, Johns Are New PE Instructors

Announcement of two changes in the Oregon Physical Education staff were released through the PE offices yesterday. H. S. "Mike" Hoyman, varsity swimming coach, will be missing from the staff and will be replaced by Ned B. Johns from Palo Alto High School in Palo Alto, California.

The other additions to the staff will be F. Herbert Colwell, University of Washington graduate, who comes to Oregon from Port Townsend, Washington. He will take the place of Jim Wilkinson, who received an appointment to Toppenish High School in Toppenish, Washington.

Few Patients Listed As Infirmary Opens

Although early fall colds may have been predominant this year the students evidently have been "doctoring" them up at home, for the infirmary has only a few patients registered at the present time.

The following are listed: Major J. Isler, Gerald Good, Hugh J. Crocker, W. C. Smallwood, Rudolph King, Dudley Walton.

A display of Mexican souvenirs, including scarfs, jackets, baskets, hand-painted boxes and household utensils, may be seen this week in the main reserve of the library. All articles were loaned to the library by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tupling, who made a honeymoon tour of Mexico this summer.

University's Law Graduates Have High State Rating

Sixteen of Nineteen Applicants Pass Bar Exam This Summer

The University's law school graduates who took the bar exam at Salem this summer came through with a good rating as a group, Wayne L. Morse, dean of the school said lately. Sixteen of the nineteen University graduates were admitted to the Oregon state bar.

As one other graduate passed the Washington tests this puts the rate of bar admittance for Oregon graduates at about 85 per cent of the 1938 class, Morse claimed. Four of five students who were not granted degrees also passed. University law students ranked higher than the general average since 22 of the 44 admitted studied here, he said.

The former students are C. E. Wheelock, William K. Shepherd, Nathan Cohen, Herbert B. Galton, Edward McKeon, Erel L. King, Charles H. McGirr, Jr., Edwin O. Raup, all of Portland; Fred B. Hammond, Jr., and Norman K. Winslow, Salem; Sidney A. Milligan, George Neuner, and William E. Dougherty, Eugene; Andrew J. Newhouse, Coquille; Tallant Greenough, Coquille; Harrison E. Winston, Roseburg; David C. Silven, Baker; Kenneth R. Schramm, Milwaukee; Robert M. Mulvey, Oregon City; Willard McInturff, Marshfield; and Dick B. Miller, Klamath Falls.

R.O.T.C. Expects Banner Year, Says Colonel R. M. Lyon

Prospects for a banner year in the University R.O.T.C. unit, look exceedingly bright, according to military head, Colonel Robert M. Lyon, after the first drill session of the term had been held Wednesday.

New uniforms have been ordered for junior and senior officers, while new type hats with black piping around the edges have been issued to sophomores and freshmen. Uniforms will be worn each Wednesday at drill or when otherwise specified by the military staff.

Colonel Lyon, who is starting his first year as the University R.O.T.C. head, was impressed by the officers who had attended summer camp at Vancouver, Wash. These advanced men will make a capable staff for the coming year, Colonel Lyon said.

Bruins Arrive

OLIVER, Webfoots

Almost four sets of backs worked for the Webfoots in Thursday's session. Jay Graybeal, Jimmy Nicholson, Steve Anderson, and Duke Hankinson worked at left halfback; Leonard Isberg, Dave Gammon, and Ted Gebhardt divided duty at right half; Nilsen, Chet Halliski, Denny Donovan and Bill Hawke called signals, and at fullback were Frank Emmons, Marshall Stenstrom, and Smith.

In the temporary absence of Hank Nilsen, who suffered a minor concussion last Saturday, Bill Hawke, sophomore end candidate, was shifted to blocking quarterback.

From Portland... "University of Oregon's brilliant 10 to 2 win over Washington State College won it acclaim as western football's 'team of the week' on 'Touchdown Parade,' KEX feature."

"Play of the week" was Fullback Frank Emmons' startling 65-yard touchdown gallop early in the WSC game... Emmons, the Beaverton Buster, incidentally, was a 10-second man in high school and simply ran away from Washington State's so-called speediest men.

Bill Spaulding is "the coach without a system." He is said to mix 'em up, using a little Warner, a little Notre Dame, and a little of what-have-you... in other words, he and the Uclans are unpredictable.

Some dope on UCLA... Gordon Mollett, reserve right half, is a sprinter of note... he did a 9.7 in the 100 last spring... "the most underrated center on the coast" is supposed to be Bruin Johnny Ryan... Woodrow Strode, giant negro end, UCLA's best pass receiver, is rated high in the decaathlon.

Warren Haslam is rated UCLA's best short passer... a high scorer in prep football in 1936... sports writers coming north with the Bruins are Sid Ziff, Herald-Express; Charles Genuit, Evening News; Ken Frogley, Morning News; Max Steiles, Examiner; Frank Finch, Times... the Hayward field press box will be crammed Saturday with over 40 scouts and scribes.

Libe Desks Getting Fall Color Scheme At Hands of WPA

A check room, in which visitors may leave coats, books, or other personal property while in the library, will be offered for the use of students and all patrons of the University of Oregon library starting Monday, October 3, M. H. Douglass, librarian, announced yesterday.

The room, which is located in a short hall just off the east end of the main corridor, is number 155. An attendant will be in charge all hours that the library is open.

The book mending department will shortly be moved into this room, also. Mr. Douglass announced. Users of the library are asked especially to leave wet coats, umbrellas, and other articles which might soil library furniture in the room.

Mrs. May Miller, whose husband was dean of the law school on the University campus a decade ago, is having her first book published this month by Alfred A. Knopf.
