'Cocoanut Grove' Will Be Theme

Streamlined Sign Winner

The Theta Chi illuminated sign... winner of the campus sign contest staged as part of the program to welcome back the grads to the 24th annual Homecoming.

Deafening Din of Saws, Jack Hammers, Whistles Split Eugenean Eardrums

Twenty boiler factories were turned loose in the streets of Eugene last night when twenty noise floats, every one a winner, were paraded down the streets.

Earmuffs and cotton were in order as more than 10,000 Eugene residents, visiting alumni and students gathered along the sides of Wilamette street to witness what was termed as "Oregon's noisiest noise parade."

THE WINNERS!
Most attractive house sign: Men's houses—Theta Chi, first; SAE, Sigma Nu and Men's Co-op, honorable mention.
Women's houses—Alpha Gamma Delta, first; Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Omicron Pi, honorable mention.
Noisiest float: Theta Chi and Ordes, first. Pi Kappa Alpha and Hilyard Co-op, second.
Yoemen and Phi Beta Pi, third.

Student Train Gambling, 'Bats' Investigated

By ANNA MAE HALVERSON
The ghosts of 7-come-11 must have been floating around the University of Wisconsin during the recent investigation of gambling on the special student train to the Iowa-Wisconsin game.

The Daily Cardinal, student newspaper at the University of Wisconsin points out that the university is not to blame for the gambling since it had been an agreement with the railroad company that the latter see that the conditions on the train were "wholesome."

However, the Cardinal viewed the possibility of discontinuance of the special trains in the light of "ginned-up" parties with skidding and crashing automobiles on their way home from a football victory.—Calif. Daily.

Old Proverb: Life begins at forty.
Song Hit: Life begins when you're in love.
Late movie: Life begins in college.

So now you have to be a forty-year-old, lovable college student to really live.—Alabamian.

Honorary

The University of West Virginia has a mock honorary fraternity named Fi Batar Cappar. As a first step in a new constructive program it instituted a tag day to provide grants and aids for worthy students participating in tennis, track, and baseball.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION MEET

A general alumni discussion meeting will be held at 10 o'clock this morning in the assembly hall in Johnson. Ed Bailey, Portland, president of the association will preside.

McArthur Court Set For Barris Edition of Homecoming Mixer

It's "McArthur Grove" for tonight, in honor of Harry Barris, writer of hit tunes, madcap of the piano keyboard, and ace band leader, who will for four hours demonstrate to students, returned grads, townspeople, and homecoming guests how he does it.

Barris, fresh from the Los Angeles Cocoanut Grove, leads off with his special ASUO bonus swing concert at 8 o'clock. This will go on for an hour, until 9.

Then at 9:30 the "Grove" atmosphere will really begin to show up as a thousand couples make the most of the Barris night in the annual Homecoming dance.

Barris at the piano, doing the hot breaks which are by now second nature to him, Barris all over the bandstand, Barris, Barris, BARRIS, with Oregon Homecoming atmosphere further coloring the affair.

Dancing will continue until 12:30, and possibly a little after. Girls must be in by 1 o'clock, even with the special late permission granted for the weekend.

Dark suits for men, long dresses for women. No corsages—mums are official Homecoming corsages.

Dad's Day Set for Winter Term Date

The University of Oregon's annual Dad's day will be January 28 this year, Dean of Personnel Karl W. Onthank announced yesterday following action by the Oregon Dad's organization.

The faculty committee named for the affair includes Dean Onthank, executive secretary, G. N. Belknap, C. L. Constance, V. D. Earl, G. H. Godfrey, Mrs. Hazel P. Schwing, and Mrs. Genevieve Turnpseed.

NYA Checks Arrive For 311 Students

Students working on NYA received checks yesterday totaling $3543.65 for work done between September 19 and October 16. The checks were mailed direct to students from the Portland office.

Undergraduate students, 297 of them, worked a total of 9602 hours for an average earning of $11.32. Fourteen graduate students worked 366 hours for an average check of $13.07.

Stage Set for New Writers, Visitor Says

By HELEN ANGELL
The stage is set today as never before for an influx of new writers into the field of fictional writing, Edison W. Marshall, noted American author, who is here this week-end to visit his alma mater during Homecoming, declared last night.

Seated with Dean Eric W. Allen of the journalism school and W. F. G. Thatcher, professor of English, in Dean Allen's office, Mr. Marshall exchanged memoirs of the war-time years spent at the University of Oregon. The three recalled how "Eddie Marshall" stayed up to the small hours of the morning at the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house here to compose his early efforts.

Professor Thatcher, recalling old-time stories, reminded the author of the time that he had criticized a story quite fiercely when Mr. Marshall had written in a freshman class in English, and then saw it appear in a leading magazine at a little later date.

For the past 20 years, Marshall has lived what he termed a "vigorous and intense life" in southern United States, Europe and the orient, and now he plans to settle down to a certain extent and write

Stocks Adopted For Sigma Chi Pin Planters

A Puritan punishment device, the stocks was adopted yesterday by the Sigma Chis as a new method of treating pin planters, succeeding the former mattress method.

A perpendicular wooden frame, with holes for arms and legs, was built by Dick Peters, to hold the "offender" in front of the side during the noon hour.

Clayton Sheldon was selected as the first victim. He was locked in the frame, and to make certain his remaining, his ankles, covered with white spats, were locked and chained together.

Sheldon remained until "the Girl," Caroline Sturgeon, arrived and was supplied with a ring of keys. After trying most of them, she succeeded in freeing him.

Tabard Inn Meets, Pledges Announced

Edison Marshall, who writes for Cosmopolitan, Robert Orman Case, who has a short story in the current number of Collier's, and Earline Haycox, another regular contributor to Collier's magazine... were all there... as well as several other professional writers and former actives in Ye Tabard Inn when that organization banqueted at 6:30 last night.

Following the dinner Wen Brooks, president, introduced four new pledges to the writing honorary: Hubard Kuokka, Howard Kessler, Leonard Clark, and Daniel Bergman.

W. F. G. Thatcher, founder of the local chapter of Sigma Upsilon, spoke briefly, after which Marshall, Haycox, and Case led in a general discussion of writing.

Oregon Profs Will Appear on Radio On Education Week

Four University of Oregon professors, two city school superintendents, and the state superintendent of public instruction will appear on KORE broadcasts during American Education week, November 6 to 12, it was announced Friday.

Under the general theme "Education for Tomorrow's America" daily programs have been lined up through the week, with a different speaker each night.

Leading off Sunday morning at 9:15 will be Rex Putman, state superintendent of public instruction, whose topic will be "Achieving the Golden Rule."

GYM OPEN TO PUBLIC

Homecomers will have the opportunity to see Oregon's new gymnasium Saturday morning, according to the announcement of Dr. Leighton, acting dean of the school of physical education. Guides will be supplied to escort visitors through the building and point out the things of interest. Also, the gymnasium and men's pool will be open to students for recreational purposes during the morning, Dean Leighton said.

Pi Phi Blonde Wins Sweetheart Race

Blonde, blue-eyed, 19-year-old Betty Anderson, Pi Phi from Seattle is official sweetheart of Sigma Chi, University of Oregon chapter.

The petite freshman nosed out four of her classmates to win the sweetheart contest in a vote cast at noon yesterday and counted last night at 9:45 over KORE.

Voting was by all actives of the local chapter. The secret ballots were counted with presidents from the houses of each of the five finalists on hand at KORE as an honorary election board. The local sweetheart contest is part of a national movement.

The five finalists earlier survived an elimination to which each women's organization had set two entries. All entries attended a banquet in their honor last week at the Sigma Chi house.

"Sweetheart" Betty, five feet four inches of personality surmounted by an up-style hair-do, showed extreme excitement over her new status, but admitted being "very happy" about it. Oh, yes, she has dimples.

She will be banqueted tonight, when Sigma Chi will plant its official "sweetheart" pin on her.

Other finalists were Mary Storkersen, Theta; Florence Stevens, ADPI; Marjorie Kempter, Alpha Chi O; and Ann Bossinger, Kappa.

Erb, Hunter Will Go To Convention in East

Dr. Donald M. Erb, president of the University, and Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter will leave Monday for Chicago to attend the national convention of state universities, scheduled for November 9, 10, and 11, they announced today.

President Erb, following the state university conference, will continue east to New York where he will spend the week of November 14 seeing alumni and contacting various foundation enterprises. He will be the guest of Oswald Garrison Villard, noted publisher and son of Henry Villard, for whom Oregon's Villard hall is named, at dinner November 16.

At the state universities convention the two Oregonians will confer with the National Educational association on the nation's educational program, the problems which confront educators today, and the purposes of education.

Dr. Hunter will also meet with the Educational Policies commission, of which he is the only member of the Pacific Northwest.

Morris Attends Portland Meeting

Victor P. Morris, dean of the BA school, is in Portland this weekend for a series of meetings of the League of Nations association of which he is the Portland branch president.

The occasion of the meeting is the visit of Mr. Clark Eichelberger, national director of the association, to Portland. Mr. Eichelberger has been in Geneva and the capitals of other countries in Europe during the recent tense weeks.

He was one of the observers used by the Columbia broadcasting system to send the news of European conditions to America.

Powerful Idaho Team Will Meet Revamped Webfoot Squad Today

Hayward Field Will Be Scene of Game at Two o'Clock; Hard Fight Seen Between Evenly Matched Aggregations

By GEORGE PASERO

Idaho's powerful Vandals will furnish the opposition for Oregon's revamped Webfoots this afternoon on the Hayward field turf in the annual Homecoming classic. Game time is 2 o'clock.

Coach Tex Oliver's gridders will be trying to break a losing streak which has stretched to three games when they face Ted Bank's men from the Inland Empire.

As for their part, the Idaho squad makes no secret of its determination to wallop another conference opponent, even if its games with member teams are labeled "kings-ex."

Vandals' Record Good

Idaho has a record of four wins in six games. Its list of victims includes Oregon State and Washington, although the latter must be entered in the partial victim class. The Huskies tied the Vandals, 12 to 12.

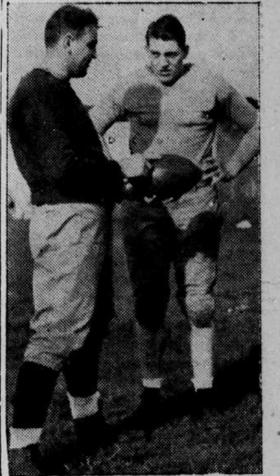

Coach Ted Bank and a squad of 29 football players arrived in Eugene yesterday and ran through a short drill on the McArthur practice field.

Lineup Shift Possible

Two shifts in the Oregon lineup will send Don Mabee and Larry Lance to the end positions, and Ted Gebhardt and Bob Smith to the halfback posts. These shifts were made by Oliver following the Southern California game.

Military Training Up for Discussion

"The ROTC and Christian Ideals" will be discussed tomorrow evening at Wesley club meeting at 6:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church. Charles Carpenter, Murray Adams, and Fred May will speak.

Since 1928, when the general conference of the church took its official stand, the Methodist church has favored optional military training and has asked that all Methodist students conscientiously objecting to the course be exempted. This stand was again taken at the third national conference of Methodist Youth, which 14 local students attended, meeting on the University of Colorado campus last summer.

One student in a California school carried his case to the United States supreme court, and, while the court's decision was against him, Methodist churches throughout the country united in his support.

The local group was active in the attempt to make military training optional in the state which was voted down by a count of 214-246 to 131,917 in 1936.

UO Alums Swamp Eastern University

The University of Oregon has more alumni registered in the graduate school of retailing at New York university than any other out of state schools among the 36 states represented, according to a letter received by Professor N. H. Comish of the business administration school from Jack Enders, Oregon graduate in 1938, who has been elected president of the graduate class of 104 students. The students on scholarships are Beryl Cornish, Jack Enders, Kermit Gimre, Vivian Runte, and Wilbur Webb, while Harry Hodes and Howard Overbeck round out the Oregon delegation.

Other Oregon grads from the school of business administration attending different universities with scholarships for graduate work include Gordon Palmer and Carrol Gates at Northwestern university, and Jack Pillsinger at the University of Washington.
