

DUCK TRACKS

By ELBERT HAWKINS

Fastest pitcher in baseball? "Bobby Feller," says Yankee Joe Gordon...

Joe and Mrs. Joe are at present located on the west end of Tenth street where they will live during the off-season...

Worry, worry... that's the life of a big leaguer when it comes to base hits. "Everybody worries," points out Joe...

Joe explained that the Yank management doesn't even ask them to work out regularly to keep in shape...

Mrs. Joe, pretty former University coed, is an ardent baseball fan, according to Joe, and he would give you to understand that she worries—just like the other baseball widows...

This humble soul was bothered by a rather simple problem two years ago. It is still unanswered. And time still marches on. Two years ago: "Why should Willamette university, a Methodist church school, a school that has only within the last eight years approved of campus dancing, have two drum majorettes while this progressive University has none? Why?"

Remember that string of years from 1928 through 1933 when University of Washington's Huskies never crossed the Oregon goal line, or even score by field goal or safety!

During that stretch of six years from several times distinct favorites to beat Oregon. But by 1933 it had become a Washington jinx, as bad as Oregon's against Southern California, and people were wondering if the Huskies would ever score on Oregon.

Since that time, Oregon has won only one out of four, but a tradition lingers. It's identical with the Oregon-Oregon State tradition, that the teams always walk on the field at an even bet. Oregon teams always play ball against Washington.

This season neither club has played championship ball, the Ducks being an unpredictable dark horse and the Huskies a dopester's fizzle. Saturday the Huskies got hot and dumped Southern California's Rose Bowl bound Trojans, 7 to 6. But it all belongs in the past now. Oregon's injury-riddled Webfoots play the uncertain Washingtons in Portland Saturday, and they'll start from scratch in another of those famous classics.

Oregon and Washington will have more than mere winnings alone in their Portland tilt... the triumphant will go ahead in a long score of 32 games that is at present tied... they've each won 14 and lost 14, four being tied... in those 32 games, Oregon has scored 308 points to 271 for Washington, here's the way Oregon won in that streak from 1928 to 1933: 27 to 0, 14 to 0, 7 to 0, 13 to 0, 0 to 0, and 6 to 0.

Women Schedule Volleyball Semi-final Two Co-op Teams, Kappas, Susies in Round of Four

Four undefeated teams in women's volleyball will play in semi-final games tonight when Susan Campbell hall meets the University cooperative house and Kappa Kappa Gamma is matched against the Hilyard cooperative house.

University house—Eileen Donaldson, Mildred Snyder, June Telford, Rusty Tomlinson, Ardis Dillon, Jean Cramer, Betty Brown, Betty Hole, Betty Doughty, and Georgianna Davis.

Susan Campbell—Lucille Brauns, Pat Parker, Mariana Van Loben vira Brookman, Dorothy Kries, Mary Montag, Beverly Shumate, Ruthann Lakin, Jean Caterall, and Pauline Johnson.

Dorothy Hutchins, volleyball managers, announces that there is no charge for spectators and a large attendance is desired.

LA VERNE VAN MARTER Contrary to all usual forms of policy concerning the matter, the 1938 Duckling grid team fielded a man who didn't come to this campus on an athletic scholarship. Absolutely not.

La Verne Van Marter made the Lemon and Green university on a scholastic scholarship. Despite the handicap of being a four-sport letterman, Van Marter maintained a straight "A" average in Heppner high school.

As a wearer of the "H," "Van," as he is termed, played two seasons at the fullback berth and then shifted over to the right half spot in his last year.

He was named on the Upper Columbia Athletic league all-star one year at full and another at half. Last year Van Marter had the greatest thrill of his high school life when he turned in a 65-yard run from scrimmage against Arlington for the championship of the UCA league.

Kirman Storli Wins Cross Country Test; Beats Don Barker

Finishing with a display of the same speed which gained him the northwest half-mile championship last spring, Kirman Storli, ace of the Hayward running stable, stepped away from Don Barker in the last few yards of yesterday's cross-country trials to cop first place.

Coming into the last quarter-mile of the long grind, they were matching stride for stride. On they came to the last 50 yards when Storli zoomed ahead by a few feet to win in the fast time of 21 minutes, 20 seconds.

The time was considered good by Coach Hayward because most of the course around the mausoleum flats was muddy and water-soaked.

Jensen, Passolt Definitely Out Of Husky Contest

Nilsen, Reginato In Doubtful Group As Game Nears Prescribing a complete day of rest as the best cure for his squad of crippled Webfoot gridders, Coach Tex Oliver posted the "no practice" sign yesterday.

Only two Webfoot gridders appeared definitely out of Saturday's tilt with the University of Washington Huskies on the Multnomah stadium sand and sawdust.

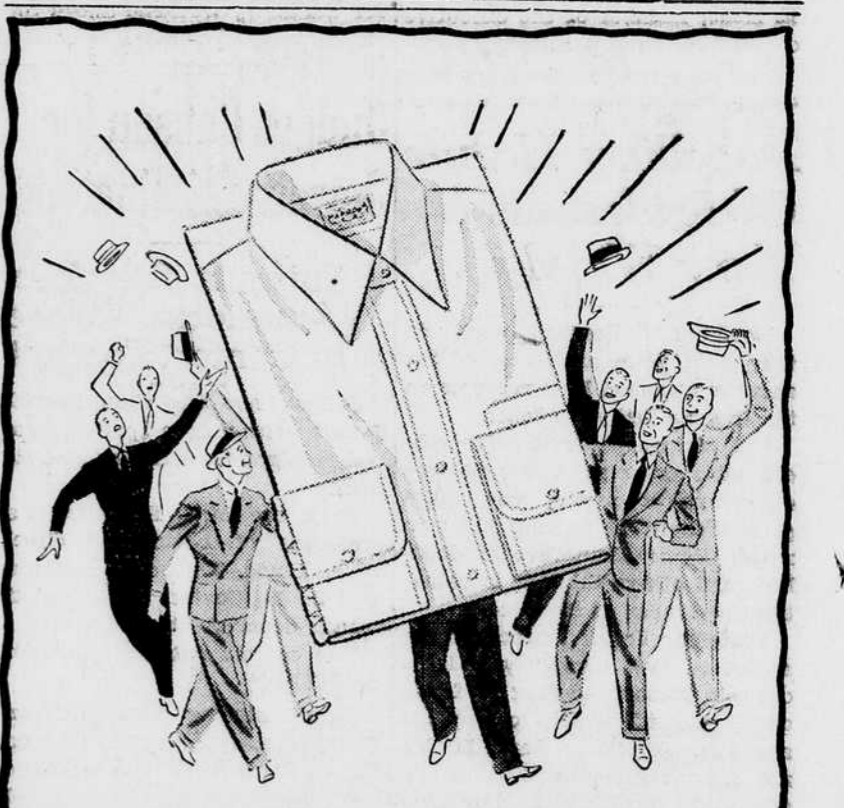

They are Erloy Jensen and Mel Passolt. Tackle Jensen is favoring a pulled lateral cartilage in his knee, and Passolt has an injured side.

Four Doubtfuls Of the other cripples, four come under the doubtful classification. Hank Nilsen and Bill Rach have knee ailments that may keep them out of action. Vic Reginato's ankle is in no playing condition as yet, and Jackrabbit Jay Graybeal is more or less of a doubtful quantity himself.

However, Coach Oliver expects to show Graybeal to Portland fans for the first time this season, if his knee "comes around" by game time Saturday.

Marsh Stenstrom and Frank Emmons, fullbacks; Dennis Donovan, quarterback; Larry Lance, end; and Al Samuelson, center; are other Webfoots suffering from an assortment of varied ailments.
