Watch the All-Stars! Four Play Tonight

By Paul McCarty

The Pacific coast conference's all-stars, scored 1072 points last northern division all-star team will season, Gale himself accounting for play at McArthur court tonight! 408 of them. They are probably

Such an occurrence seems an al- one of the highest-scoring group most impossibility, but regardless, of players ever assembled on the four players who were awarded po- floor at McArthur court. Hooper's sitions on the 1937-38 northern di- quota of these thousand plus points vision first team all-star squad are includes only his conference scores, scheduled for the starting lineups in tonight's basketball opener at the Igloo.

Playing their last season of basketball for the University of Ore- team is Steve Belko, Idaho forgon, three members of this all-star ward, who does not play in Euquartet, Laddie Gale, forward and northern division scoring recordholder; Urgel "Slim" Wintermute, center and the "Sequoia of the Pacific coast conference," and Guard Wally Johansen, one of the famed Astoria troupe, are Webfoot hoop- however. Washington State has sters. This trio will head the Ore- one player on its club who was votgon lineup, aided by Bobby Anet, ed a second-team center position guard from Astoria and Bob Har- for the 1937-38 season. Johnny dy, Southern Oregon normal trans- Kosich by name, he is a senior in

The remaining all-star who swings into action tonight is Al coaches and players of the North-Hooper, a guard on the visiting west conference last season, only "dark horse" Washington State ball two, Bill Kramer of Idaho and

Are Seniors

These four-named men, all

TRUDI SCHOOP

and her troupe of 20 human cartoons in a repertoire of

Comic Ballets

appear at McArthur Court

Thursday Evening March 2, 8 o'clock

Tickets are on sale at ticket office in Me-Arthur Court. Phone 3300 local 214.

PASMORE and TRERICE

Great Personalities

Brilliant Pianists will appear

Tuesday, Jan. 18 8:15 p.m.

at the

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON SCHOOL OF MUSIC

ADMISSION, $1.00 STUDENTS, 50c

Tickets on sale NOW at McArthur Court

Big Boys Parade in Duck Cougar Tilt

Laddie Palms 'Em

Laddie Gale . . . Oregon's hurricane forward, owner of the coast's largest pair of basketball hands.

DANCE The Holland

Saturday, 9 p. m. Tea Dance Sunday, 7:30 (Mrs. L. D. Erickson)

> Drop in After the Game!

Enjoy a delicious dish of our specially prepared Ice Cream.

POMEROY'S ICE CREAM Across from Sigma Chi

Tall Webfoots Meet Match in Height; WSC Boasts Weight Advantage

By George Pasero

The "battle in the clouds" may well be the theme of tonight's hoop classic between the unbeaten in conference play) Cougars of Washington State and Oregon's tall Ducks, defending champions of the northwest.

Of course this description, "battle in the clouds," precludes the possibility, and a very good possibility it is, that this very exclusive "tall man" series may be fought out in the stratosphere.

That is, should Coach Howard Hobson and Coach Jack Friel of the Webfoots and Cougars, respectively, play all of their big men at once, the round hoop which extends outward from the backboard and which has been an open target for so many hoopers in time past might find itself in the very unusual position of looking up at the players. And then, too, the game might be complicated by the necessity of dodging McArthur court rafters by players of both teams.

Or Would It

But this would not be conducive to good basketball, and would not meet with every fan's approval, and so Messrs. Hobson and Friel will insert their smaller dynamos. such as Bobby Anet, Wally Johansen, and Al Hooper and Bud Olson. These boys' jobs will be to meet the aerial attacks with devastating, sure-fire speed scoring, much as the "splinter" boats raised havoc with submarines in the Great War.

The fact is that these Oregon's are tall, and these 1939 Washington Staters are tall, as tall as the Ducks if not taller, and a good deal heavier. Undoubtedly, the Ducks no longer are the undisputed "champs of height" as they were last year, they still have skyscraper No. 1 in Slim Wintermute, who stands a mere six-feet-eight.

One Inch Ahead

At that, Big Slim will only have a one-inch advantage over Paul Lindeman, the big Cougar sophomore find, who is a very husky boy, weighing 223 pounds.

Then, too, on the Cougar side in the clash of Oregon "tall firs" and the Palouse country's "tall pines," are such beanpoles as Jack Jennings, regular center and six-four; John Kosich, six-four and 200

(Please turn to page six)

Every day wear is hard on shoes, too . . .

*****

Basketball is a tough sport for the body to endure, but campus wear is just as hard on

For expert repairing of soles and uppers, bring your shoes to the Campus Shoe Shop. We'll make them as good as new.

CAMPUS SHOE SHOP

843 E. 13th

seniors, all conference players, and while for Gale, Wintermute, and

Johansen, the entire season's tal-

The fifth man of the all-star

gene until February 10, when Ida-

Second Teams, Too

All-stars playing tonight are not confined only to first-team men,

Of the ten all-stars chosen by

Clyde Carlson of Washington State,

are missing from this year's lineups. In other words eight of the ten all-stars are still in suit. The ones not already mentioned are

Roy Williamson, the sensational forward of Hec Edmundson's

Washington quintet, and teammate

George Ziegenfuss, a guard.

ho invades the Oregon territory.

lies are counted.

Telephone 2603

EUGENE RIDING ACADEMY.

- L. F. BONSON, Owner
- Fairgrounds
- Eugene, Oregon

Dear Friend.

YOU are invited

... to an open house at the Eugene Riding Academy, at the Lane County Fairgrounds, Sunday afternoon, January eighth.

L. F. BONSON, and son, FRANK BONSON . . . have purchased the riding academy from the previous owner, Mr. W. O. Rife. The new owners wish to meet and entertain, not only the academy's friends and customers, but YOU, and everyone else in Eugene who enjoys seeing good horses perform, whether you are interested in riding or not.

The buildings will be open to inspection all afternoon, and hosts and hostesses will be present at each building to show you around, and "introduce" you to Eugene's "equine aristocrats," starting at 2:00 p.m.

Members of the Eugene Hunt Club, and friends and students of the riding academy, will be about the premises to show you around and tell you about the pleasure activities of the group of horse loving sportsmen in Eugene.

> Sincerely, EUGENE RIDING ACADEMY. L. F. Bonson.