Bring Opera to Portland

Fortune Gallo and Coe Glade . . . director and guest star respectively of the San Carlo Opera company which will open a four-day series of operas in Portland February 3.

San Carlo Opera Group Arrives on Coast; To Tour Northwest Cities Soon

Mr. Fortune Gallo and his entourage of grand opera performers, the San Carlo Opera company, arrived in Los Angeles last week to begin the Pacific coast portion of their annual transcontinental tour.

This season's tour, which began with a return engagement at Rockefeller center in New York City, has been the most successful of any of the past decade. The box office reports of advance sales in the cities on the west coast where the San Carloans are scheduled to appear indicate that grand opera enthusiasm in Oregon, Washington, and California will keep pace with the rest of the country.

Soon in Portland

Following nearly four weeks in Los Angeles and San Francisco, the San Carlo troupe will come to the Paramount theater in Portland for a limited four days' engagement on the first week-end in February, beginning with the Friday evening performance on February 3. Six of the most popular operas in the San Carlo repertoire will be given on Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday evenings and on the afternoons of Saturday and Sunday.

Carlo Peroni, "iron-man" conductor, has been conducting all performances given by the San Carlo Opera company during the past sixteen seasons and, during his vacation periods, has been guest conductor for open air summer symphony concerts.

Many Artists Scheduled

Coe Glade, reputed the greatest of the present day "Carmens," will be guest artist with the company. Hizi Koyke, dainty little Japanese prima donna, will return to star in "Madame Butterfly." A newcomer, Tandy MacKenzie, tenor, will make his bow to Portland audiences. Bianca Saroya, Norino Greco, Lucille Meusel, Leola Turner, Aroldo Lindi, Dimitri Onofrei, Harold Kravitt, Mostyn Thomas, Mario Valle and many other favorites of past seasons will be with the company. The San Carlo Opera ballet will give incidental dances and will be headed by Lydia Arlova and Lucien Prideaux.

According to the management of the Paramount theater, the mail order sale of tickets for the Portland appearance of the San Carlo Opera company has been heavy, but there are still many good seats available to be had by mail orders to the Paramount theater. The regular box office seat sale will open at the J. K. Gill company, Fifth and Stark St., Portland, on Monday morning, January 16.

There will be a social program at Wesley house, Thirteenth and Onyx, tonight from 8 to 11:30. Everyone is invited.

Thetas Swim; Call Mill Race 'Just Right'

Have you been swimming in the millrace yet this year. What, you say it is still too cold? Maybe so, but five Theta pledges thought differently. Diving in from the Gamma Phi's front lawn Thursday about 4:30 p.m., these ambitious amphibians swam, with much vigor and noise, down to the Beta's lower landing.

"The water was just right for a good swim," Janet Morris exclaimed between puffs as she ran back to the house with Peggy Smith and Jerry Keller.

Mary Sweet and Kay Pierce echoed their praises for the "warm" water, "Boy, dinner will sure taste good tonight."

building fee for three terms in each year. This would have to be changed to $7.50 for two semesters, which would have to go through the state legislature, Kemler said.

Before the change could go to the legislature it would have to get the stamp of approval from the faculty committee, Kemler pointed out. Several faculty members have already come out in favor of the change, Kemler reported.

Cost No More

Cost of the reorganization which would be made necessary if the plan goes through would be made up for in the saving which would result from eliminating the extra registration period, it was claimed.

Kemler emphasized that the campaign was still in the formative stages, with the whole thing dependent upon student opinion throughout the state system. The plan will probably come before the ASUO before long, Kemler said.

Coming Dance To Fete Dad's Old School Days

Krazy Kopy Krawl Promises Treat for Students and Pops

"Come on along and listen to" the strains of "Alexander's Ragtime Band" at the Krazy Kopy Krawl January 28. Not only will the tunes of dad's school days be featured at the annual Alpha Delta Sigma dance, but there will be lot of surprises. There will be revelations of the days when pop was young.

With the spirit of the "good old days" predominating, Glen Pounder, dance chairman, promises "a big time for all."

The latest in bustles, derbies, and elaborate coiffures will be shown in reproduced advertisements of that period. Maurie Binford's orchestra, derbies and all will give forth numbers which will inspire dad to strut forth in his best two-step style.

Dads will be admitted free to the dance. There will be a reception going on during the dance in alumni hall. The freshmen are giving the reception, and the faculty will be there to meet the Oregon dads. Both are highlights of the big weekend being planned.

Onthank Chairman Of Welfare Group

Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel, is working as chairman of the planning committee for the first Northwest Hazen Foundation conference, to be held July 29 to August 5 in the Puget Sound area.

This conference, designed to stimulate interest in problems of student welfare, is sponsored by the Edward W. Hazen foundation, which originates similar gatherings in other parts of the United States.

Faculty members, personnel workers, and student pastors from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and California will attend.

Other Oregon members on the plannin gcommittee are John L. Casteel, head of the University's speech department; Mrs. Robert Dann, whose husband is a sociology professor, and Ernest W. Warrington, professor of religion. Bruce Baxter, president of Willamette university, represents that school, and Mrs. Cherwl Schulze, dean of women, is from Reed college.

Five New Pledges Picked by Greeks

Since rush week ended last Saturday night, five new pledges have been announced by University fraternities.

Beta Theta Pi pledged Harold V. Johnston; Sigma Alpha Epsilon pledged James H. Goodhew Jr.; Pi Kappa Alpha took in Robert H. Cheney, and Carl Robertson; and Phi Kappa Psi pledged Lloyd Dod.

Slats Gill has used Elmer Kolberg, the ex-footballer, and Mal Harris, a two-year letterman at the forward positions; Frank Mandic, the burly, dark-haired Californian, at center; and Roy Pflugrad and bespectacled Al Hunter at the guard berths in practice this week, and this combination will probably start.

In reserve Gill will have Tony Romano and Bill Stidham, the two biggest boys on his squad, Chuck Klein, Don Stitt, Nello Vanelli, Bob Garbould, and Dick Kessler.

Californian's Work To Be Featured in January Symphony

A new unpublished work by the contemporary California composer, Frederick Preston Search, and friend of Director Rex Underwood of the University of Oregon symphony orchestra, will be played by the group for the first time in this locality when they appear in concert in the music auditorium on Tuesday, January 24.

Mr. Underwood met the composer when they were both studying music in Leipzig before the war. Since then they have carried on correspondence. It was through this that Mr. Underwood first heard of the work, "The Dream of McCorkle."

Dealing with the life episodes of this legendary adventurer of the days of '49 in California, the work tells in representative fashion of the Paul Bunyan of California, McCorkle. Sometimes a preacher, bartender, barber, hunter, miner, he was best known in the old mining towns of You Bet and Red Dog. He is credited with the doubtful glory of setting fire to the boarding house of Mrs. Stitch at You Bet.

In addition to the Search work, selections by such favorites as Tschaikowsky, Dvorak, Johann Strauss, Saint-Saens, Mozart, Paul White, and von Weber will also be offered by the orchestra. David Campbell, pianist, and Doris Helen Calkins, harpist, will be soloists.

Eugene Students Lead Band Roster

Twenty Members Local; Concert Set Sunday Afternoon

Twenty players, over 40 per cent of the total students in the University of Oregon band, are from Eugene, according to information released Wednesday by John H. Stehn, director.

The group will give its first concert of the year Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the music auditorium. There will be no admission charge.

Eugene students who play in the orchestra are Rebecca Anderson, French horn; Charlotte Plummer, Gordon Tripp, Phoebe Breyman, Don Wunn, Julia Blazhiser, and Vivian Cornutt, first clarinets; Howard Haughsland, Don Rees, Joe Shirey, Maurice Hunter, and Larry Watson, second clarinets; Gordon Hogan, flute; Wendell Gilfry, bassoon.

Leeper's Work on Psychology to Be Sent in for Printing

Recognition was given Professor Robert Leeper of the Psychology department for a paper he wrote and which was read to a gathering of psychologists in Ithaca, New York, during the Christmas holidays.

Although Professor Leeper was invited to the meeting, he was unable to attend, and his paper, in which he attempted to clarify the conception of direction, was read by Dr. I. Krechevsky of the University of Colorado. From a recent report by Dr. Krechevsky, Professor Leeper learned that his paper was well received by the convention, and he was asked by Donald K. Adams, editor of Contributions to Psychological Theory, to submit it for future publication.

All Yeomen and Orides intending to attend the dinner should contact Mrs. Edith Siefert, hostess at Gerlinger, by noon today in order that the committee may know the number of persons which will be present.

After the dinner there will be dancing in the AWS room on the third floor of Gerlinger until midnight. Admission to the dinner which is open only to Yeomen and Orides will be 20 cents. Members will not be charged admission to the dance, but non-members will pay a fee of 10 cents.

Iowa State college has started construction of a $230,000 women's dormitory, to house 165 students.

Three Junior Women Pledged at Tea by Phi Theta Upsilon

Three outstanding junior women —Jane Montgomery, Betty Cowan, and Lorraine Gjording — were pledged to Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, yesterday afternoon when that organization entertained at a tea in honor of freshman women in Gerlinger hall.

Corsages of violets were presented the three girls by Rita Wright, president of the organization, during the ceremony.

Members of Kwama, sophomore women's honorary, were in charge of the program which included a playlet based on the tale of "Ferdinand the Bull" enacted by Kwama girls, and a parody on telephone conversations by Pat Taylor.

Tri Delt freshmen were in charge of the tea which followed.

WPA Workers Find

apparently could use their own discretion. Girls wearing 1939 model bathing suits would certainly have been fined the maximum of $50 or have been imprisoned for 15 days.

The third ordinance, one which was passed in Astoria in 1898, should be put into effect today. It prohibited "any person from wearing hats or head coverings in theatres or places of amusement, during the performance." The fine was not less than $10 nor more than $25 or imprisonment not less than two days nor more than 10. Because of all the skyscraper hats women are wearing these days, theater-goers would probably welcome such a law.

Another curious ordinance was one which said that the annual time for issuing licenses and time when all licenses would expire "shall be the 31st day of April of each year." The lawmakers must have forgotten that well-known rhyme beginning: "Thirty days has September, April, June, and November."

Beaver Diets In Oregon's Infirmary

FOUND: One Mahatma Gandhi attending the University. For ten days, John Beaver has had no solid food. Pineapple and orange juice for breakfast, orange and pineapple juice for lunch, then pineapple and orange juice for dinner—he has been living on this.

Dr. Bossing Leaves For U of Minnesota

Dr. Nelson L. Bossing, professor in the school of education, has left the University of Oregon campus this term to become head of the department of education at the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Bossing is replacing Dr. Harl Douglass there. Professor Douglass, who used to be a faculty member on this campus, has accepted a Keenan professorship at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, one of the most highly paid teaching jobs in America.

No new professor has been definitely selected to take Professor Bossing's place here as yet, but Dr. David MacDonald has been chosen to fill the position for the next two terms. Dr. MacDonald has been a professor of education at Whittier college in Whittier, California, as well as supervisor of teacher training in high schools at Pasadena.

Professor MacDonald is also a former faculty member here, having taught summer school on this campus for three or four years.

ROTC Men Set Date For Military Ball

Scabbard, Blade 'Colonel,' Pledges Revealed at Dance

Planning for the annual military ball to be held February 4, was begun in earnest yesterday with the naming of committees for the event by Co-chairman Don Smith and Bill Van Dusen.

The ball, sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, campus chapter of a national military honorary, will feature annual winter term pledging of new men. It will be presided over by some coed elected "little colonel."

The following men will run the dance: ceremonies, Jack Wagstaff; Little Colonel, Jack Gavin and Don Anderson; invitations and corsages, Wilfred Stevens; program, Bob Findtner; refreshments, Bill Foster; decorations, Don Childers; publicity, Bill Cummings; floor, Ed Welch; patrons and patronesses, Harry Weston; pledging, Bob Watkins, Claude Hockley, and Bill Campbell.

Orchestra plans were characterized by Co-chairman Van Dusen as "indefinite." The affair is scheduled for Gerlinger.
