

DUCK TRACKS

By ELBERT HAWKINS

"Oregon's 1938 football schedule wasn't a very moneyed one": Anse Cornell, athletic manager.

That statement comes despite the fact that Oregon played Fordham university at the Polo grounds in New York during the mid-season with a $10,000 guarantee.

Why? "Very simple," explains Anse, "The Webfoots didn't play in Los Angeles last fall." Next year the team plays in Los Angeles twice, and win or lose it means something to Oregon's athletic budget. More people watch South.

ern California wallop the Ducks annually in Los Angeles, 33 to 0, than pay to see Washington's Huskies and the Webfoots square off in their traditional game.

Even though Tex Oliver fielded a much stronger, aggressive, and more colorful team last fall, the schedule didn't work out as well as a losing season might have with a couple of Los Angeles dates.

Take, for instance, the Washington game in Portland last fall, a traditional affair of long standing. Anse says that didn't pay dividends because neither club was near the top in conference play. The Oregon State game a week later was a bread winner probably just because it was a "civil war" game, but partially too because Oregon and Oregon State had made good showings against their previous opponents, Washington and Stanford, and looked like a pretty close match.

Oregon's expenses on the Stanford-Fordham journey of 7,000 miles netted $11,000, which wiped out the $10,000 guarantee. Of course there was a little profit for the transcontinental trek, but its proceeds had to help out the other games, none of which, Anse points out, were in Los Angeles.

Next fall, however, whether Oregon wins only three games or whips 'em all, the financial outlook, as it were, looks better. For the slate calls for two Los Angeles appearances.

No. 1 is September 30—the first week of conference football—when Oregon faces University of Southern California's co-champions of the coast conference and Rose Bowl winners. It is expected to draw as fans will be stampeding to see the mighty Trojans of 1939 and in their initial appearance against Tex Oliver's second Oregon creation.

No. 2 Los Angeles appearance for Oregon will be at mid-season against UCLA's Bruins, once a club which couldn't hold Southern California under 60 points, but now one of the South's most potent contenders. And in 1940—which is a bit far ahead—Oregon will play in Los Angeles too. Which makes Athletic Manager Anse Cornell very very happy.

Speaking of attendance and financial aspects of college athletics, basketball is expected to do quite well here this year, thank you. No figures will be available on the eastern basketball trip until each school sends Oregon a report, but it has been estimated the nine games will net $1,500 over expenses.

Student attendance at the Washington State series was estimated at approximately eighteen hundred per night, which should be pretty close guess as 12 sections of bleachers, six on each side were filled.

To accommodate students for the Oregon State game two weeks from now two more sections of bleachers will be added necessitating closing the side doors downstairs. Students will go in through the end doors.

Five lanky Sigma Chi's defeated Alpha hall's "A" squad in a one-sided game yesterday by a 28 to 10 count. The score was 16 to 4 at half time.

The larger Sigma Chi team ran circles around the dorm boys and in no time late in the game were they less than 10 points in the lead. Richard Peters of the Sweethearts was the big factor in his team's victory. He sank eight baskets and was the game's high-point man with 16 points.

Endicott was high for Alpha with four points.

ATO's 19, SPE's 12
The ATOs came from behind in the last quarter to win a close ball game from a hard fighting SPE team 19 to 12 in a "B" game.

In the first three quarters the score was tied three times. During the first quarter the Hotelmen were on the large end of the score when they had two points to SPE's one. The score was tied at eight and eight at the beginning of the third quarter and 10 to 10 at the end of the same quarter. The SPEs took the lead in the final quarter but faltered under the fast pace of the ATO live.

Ehle Reber saved the game for the SPEs three times by tying up the score but the ATOs outran them in the final quarter to get a comfortable lead.

Reber was the game's high point man with 10 points. Weston was high for the ATOs with eight points.

Tight defenses and smoothly working offenses featured yesterday's intramural play as Phi Kappa Psi subdued Canard club, 30 to 14, Delta Upsilon Swamped Sherry Ross hall, 32 to 7, and in the opening "B" league game Campbell co-op dropped Delta Upsilon, 23 to 9.

The Phi Psis employed a tight man-to-man defense that kept Canard bottled up throughout the game. Fast breaks and nicely executed plays were responsible for the 21 to 6 half-time lead the Phi Psis held.

Canard's quintet held their own in the second half and scored eight points to the Phi Psis' nine. The game became rough at times which was due to close checking by both teams. Fred Hichens was the leading scorer for the Phi Psis as well as for the game with 10 points. His teammate, Cameron Collier was second high scorer with 7.

The line-ups:

Referees: Don Tower and Al Long.

DUs 32, Sherry Ross 7
Wally White, John Weber, and Robert Corby divided scoring honors for Delta Upsilon in their 32 to 7 massacre of Sherry Ross hall.

Accurate shooting and fancy ball handling by the DUs spelled defeat for the dormitory boys. The dormiteers could connect with only one field goal in the first half, while the DUs dropped in ten and one foul shot for 21 points.

The DUs' offense bogged down in the second half, but their early lead was more than enough to assure them an easy victory.

Referees: Al Long and Don Tower.

Campbell 23, DU 9
In the season's first "B" league game the DUs didn't fare as well as their "A" squad. Campbell Co-op started off slow but finished with a blaze of offense that put them on the long end of a 23 to 9 score.

The DUs took a 4 to 3 lead at the end of the first quarter but had to concede a five-point lead to Campbell as the half time score was 6 to 11. Ten points in the last quarter cinched the game for Campbell.

The co-op quintet displayed a classy brand of ball-hawking and handling while the DUs threw the ball away time after time.

Campbell used a tight zone defense that stopped the DUs cold. It was one of the few zone defenses that have been employed in intramural play this season and it was very effective.

Oregon Ski Team Set For Tryouts Sunday

Paul Lafferty, University of Oregon ski coach, announced yesterday that the long delayed ski team tryouts will be held Sunday, January 15 at the Hands Lake ski area starting at 10 a.m.

The selection of the varsity ski team this year will be on a basis of the best showing on the combined four events, cross country, downhill, slalom, and jumping.

According to Coach Lafferty the events will be held in the following order on Tournament hill. Cross country, 10 a.m.; jumping 12; slalom, 1 p.m.; and downhill at 2:30.

The competition will be under the direction of Coach Lafferty, Norman Holt, manager, and Russ Cutler of the department of physical education. The judging and scoring will be according to the FIS rules.

Two Members Back
Both Lafferty and Holt stressed the point that inasmuch as only two members of last year's team, Pat Doland and Walter Wood, are slated for the tryouts all skiers of the University are urged to be on

Duck Mermen Seek Northwest Crown

Mallory, Lafferty Levy, Cathey Flank Swimming Squad

Until last year, Oregon's swimming team had been the undisputed possessors of the Northwest swimming crown for three successive years.

This year the Ducks are back in the running as king-pins of the Northwest conference. Jack Dallas, breaststroke, and Sherman Wetmore, backstroke, are flanked by four returning lettermen—Pierce Mallory, sprints; Jack Levy, captain-elect, distance star; Ralph Lafferty, breast stroke; and Ralph Cathey, diving artist.

Jack Dallas, all-American interscholastic star from Long Beach, California, has been swimming under coast marks consistently. His teammate, Sherman Wetmore, and fellow all-American during high school in Long Beach, cut over a second from the 100-yard back stroke mark during season practices.

Coaches Ned Johns and Jim Reed, former Oregon swimming star, are relying upon four other men to aid in returning the crown. They are Jim Marnie, Tom Starbuck, and Al Sandner, sprinters, and Elmer Mallory, diver.

Laddie Hits First
After fifteen minutes of play in the first half it was only 4 to 2 for the Ducks with Laddie Gale connecting for the only field goal up to that point. His came near the five-minute mark on a one-hander from the right corner.

Tony Romano, Beaver forward, touched off an Oregon State rally after six minutes of play in the second half—with Oregon leading comfortably, 21 to 11—by pushing in two rapid-fire field goals.

He got the first on a rebound and tallied the second moments later with a swishing one-handed push shot from the corner. That brought it to 21-15, and Oregon called time out.

Lead Melts
After 13 minutes the Webfoots were still clinging to a 27 to 21 lead, but it soon melted to 28 to 24. Then with four points separating the teams and less than five minutes remaining, the rivals cut loose with some more rough-and-tough basketball.

They went up and down the floor several times with both quintets missing easy shots until two minutes and thirty seconds were left, the score still 28 to 24.

The pestiferous Romano, who was Oregon State's shining light, got loose for a push shot and made it despite Laddie Gale's foul. His conversion was nil, however, and Oregon still led by two points.

stood 28 to 26 for Oregon. Harris fouled Wally Johansen who converted to make it 29 to 26. Then the Beavers had several chances to close the gap, but missed and a couple of free throws in the final 70 seconds saved it for Oregon. The Webfoots had possession of the ball most of the last minute.

Slate's Gill's Orange offense netted but a single field goal in the first 25 minutes—5 minutes into the second half—against Hobby Hobson's revolving zone defense.

It started out with both teams employing zone defenses and checking closely, but it got rougher as it went, and just before the first half ended had the customers in an uproar with not too much good feeling between the Beavers and the Ducks.

Whitfield in Main Event With Classy Elk Slugger; Bouts Start 8 o'Clock

By KEN CHRISTIANSON
Tonight under the lights of McArthur court the University of Oregon boxers and wrestlers will encounter the local Elks club and Central "Y" of Portland in a double feature starting at 8 o'clock.

The wrestlers will start the mat season with a clean slate, while the boxers will be fighting to avenge a 4-2 defeat at the hands of Benny Hall's fighting Elks.

The main event of the evening will find Smokey Whitfield, Oregon's golden glove, attempting to avenge a decision over Gale Ferris, his team-mate, when he clashes with Wayne Dillingham, Elks' pride and joy, in the 155-pound class.

Oregon Improving
Under the coaching of Herb Colwell, Oregon's boxers and wrestlers have been improving by leaps and bounds. The Lemon and Green sluggers are rated an even chance to down the Elks men.

Jim Dimit, ex-president of the Mitt and Mat club, will officiate matches.

Bill Landerback and Ronald Long, Oregon grapplers will tangle with all that Central "Y" has to offer in Norman Miles and Ray Hooper, respectively, in the 135-pound weight.

Harold Hansen will match words with Art Daniels of Portland. In
