

Dean Morse Named Labor Arbitrator

Law School Head
Accepts Position
For Pacific Coast,
San Francisco Bay

Acceptance of the positions as labor relations arbitrator for both the Pacific coast and the port of San Francisco, was announced here today by Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University law school.

Under the appointment, made by Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, Dean Morse will have jurisdiction in disputes between the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union and the Waterfront Employers' association. He will take direct charge of the San Francisco area, and will act in a supervisory capacity over the Ports of San Pedro, Seattle, and Portland, which are also expected to have local arbitrators.

Won't Hinder Present Work

"I have accepted these appointments with the understanding that I will have the power to arrange hearings at such times that will not conflict with my duties as dean of the law school," Dean Morse said. "I am pleased to be of what service I can and will endeavor to help solve these industrial problems of such vital importance to the economic welfare of the Pacific coast."

The appointments were approved by Dr. Donald M. Erb, University president, who said: "I am very happy to note this further evidence of the high regard in which Dean Morse is held by all parties to the perplexing labor difficulties that confront us these days. The unanimous approval of the services that Dean Morse has rendered in employers and workers, is a fine tribute to his judicious qualities."

Dean Morse recently served as arbitrator in labor controversies at the ports of San Pedro and San Francisco. He has also just completed supervision of a nationwide survey on release and parole procedures for the United States attorney-general.

The Yeomen outplayed the Phi Sigs for three and three quarter periods, yet the independents lost the game in the last two minutes. Bruce Carter sank a field goal to tie the score at 13 all, and then coolly dropped in a foul shot to give his team a 14 to 13 victory.

For a whole quarter the two teams played a scoreless, rough, and hard-checking game. In the second period the Yeomen opened up and scored 9 points to the Phi Sigs' 2. The first boys gained on the Yeomen in the third quarter and the period ended at 13 to 9. The Yeomen bogged down in the final period and could not get their offense working. The Phi Sigs took advantage of the independents' slump and scored five points while they held the Yeomen scoreless.

Japanese Schools After Services of Dr. Noble, Recent Offer Reveals

Dr. Harold J. Noble, associate professor of history, has received an offer from the minister of education in Japan to teach in the government college at Kyoto, it was announced yesterday. If Dr. Noble accepts the position he will be expected to be on hand in April as the Japanese term runs from April to April.

His acceptance has not been made official yet as he is trying to secure a two years' leave of absence from the University.

Dr. Noble's object in taking this position would be to enable him to make himself more fully master of the Japanese language, according to Dr. R. C. Clark, head of the history department.

Know Language of Orient

"Dr. Noble is one of the foremost scholars in his field because he is among the few professors of Far Eastern history to have command of the language," Dr. Clark said.

Dr. Noble's popularity with the students is shown by the fact that classes in modern Europe have doubled in size since he has been teaching them.

Dr. Noble was born and raised in Korea, but received his education in the United States doing undergraduate work at Ohio Wesleyan and receiving his Ph.D. from the University of California.

Came to University in 1931

He came to the University in 1931 and was on leave of absence for two years from 1936 to 1938 fall term. The first year of this time was spent at the University of California in language study and last year in Tokyo studying Japanese.

The appointment to Kyoto will be for two years and Dr. Noble will return to the University for the year beginning in 1940.

Schedule Released For Group Pictures

Final schedule for student group pictures was released yesterday by Oregon Editor Don Root. The following groups will be photographed today on the library terrace for the Oregonians:

1:00—Phi Alpha Delta; 1:15, Phi Mu Alpha; 1:30, librarians; 1:45, YMCA cabinet; 2, YWCA cabinet; 2:15, Interfraternity council.

Editor Root's statement attached to the schedule says: "As this will be the last time these groups will be scheduled, it is important that all members be present."

Clarifying this announcement, Root said, "After today, re-scheduling will cost them money. We have to pay the photographer even when they don't show up, so we're passing that extra cost on."

Rev. Steiner Changes Title Of Address

'Religion and the Fate of Democracy
To Be New Topic for Evening Assembly

A telephone call from Portland yesterday made known a change in the subject on which Rev. Richard M. Steiner, of the Church of Our Father there, will speak tonight when he addresses a student assembly at 8 o'clock in alumni hall of Gerlinger.

Originally slated to discuss "Common Sense Religion," the Portland minister yesterday said that he would instead entitle his address, "Religion and the Fate of Democracy."

Rev. Steiner is a graduate of Grinnell university in Iowa and of the Chicago Theological seminary. He was for many years a newspaperman in Chicago and served for a time as a college professor. For five years he has served in his present ministerial post in Portland.

Following his assembly tonight, Rev. Steiner will hold a forum tomorrow morning at 11 in alumni hall for students interested in carrying on tonight's discussion or bringing up new problems.

Personal conferences may be arranged by seeing Francis M. Beck, local YMCA secretary.

Dad's Day Letters Due Friday Night

Contest Winners
Will Be Awarded
Valuable Prizes

Students will have only three more days to enter the Dad's Day Best Letter contest. Letters must be in the mail by midnight Friday, and should be addressed to the educational activities office. This can be done at no cost by dropping them in the campus mail, according to LaVerne Littleton, contest chairman. The contest entry should be a carbon copy of the original letter.

A total of $25 worth of prizes will be given to the writers of the most effective letter home to pop asking him down for Dad's day, January 27-29. To the woman writing the best letter will go three pairs of silk hose. Second prize for women will be a sweater, and third, a compact.

The man writing the best letter will be given a sweater, the runner-up will get a BVD Rutgers sport shirt, and third place winner will get a Botany wool tie.

Four tickets to the Krazy Kopy Krawl will be given to the writers of the four next best letters.

Besides getting a prize the winners will have their pictures taken, and the two best letters will be published in the Emerald.

The deadline, which was previously set at Wednesday, was extended due to a delay in getting the Dad's day stationery distributed to the living organizations.

Stationary and programs may be secured at the Co-op on the table near the door.

Orchestra to Offer 'Encore of the Month'

"Encore of the Month," a practice of a popular magazine which each month reprints some well-loved story as an extra "bonus" for its readers, will be presented in musical form Tuesday evening, January 24, when the University of Oregon symphony orchestra plays in the music auditorium, according to Director Rex Underwood.

The "encore" in this case will be Tchaikovsky's waltz from his "Serenade for Strings," the most popular number played by the orchestra at its last concert, November 22. Mr. Underwood bases his selection on audience appreciation, which was extremely enthusiastic after the presentation of the romantic dance song.

The selection receiving most applause in the forthcoming concert will be repeated as encore in the February concert, Mr. Underwood said.

A student from Puerto Rico has won her class spelling championship at College of New Rochelle.

Preparations Nearing Completion for Annual Newspaper Conference

With only a few hours remaining until newspaper publishers from all parts of the state begin to arrive on the campus, journalism school staff members today will be in the final stages of preparations for the twenty-first annual press conference.

Final arrangements of the conference program will be pushed, and classes usually held in the journalism building will be re-scheduled. Various exhibits are being polished in preparation for the inspection of the publishers. George Godfrey's class in graphic journalism was designing several exhibits yesterday.

Some Expected Tonight

It is highly probable that some of the publishers will start arriving tonight, since the ONPA budget committee meeting is scheduled for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Eugene hotel. Also, the board of directors will meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The publishers will first get together at 6:30 tomorrow evening at the round table discussion and dinner at the Eugene hotel. Harris Ellsworth, former Oregon Newspaper Publishers' association manager and ex-University faculty member, will be the toastmaster.

Wives to Attend Concert

The wives of publishers will attend the Pasmore and Terice concert in McArthur court that evening, while the men will hold informal meetings.

Friday at 9:30 registration for the conference will begin and the actual conference will be under way with the first general session in the morning and continuing through the day. At 12:15 the group will meet at the Anchorage for their no-host luncheon. Charles M. Hulten, assistant professor of journalism, will be the toastmaster. Tex Oliver, head football coach, will speak on "Things About Football You Don't Know."

Friday evening, at 6:30, the ONPA will hold its annual banquet at the Osburn hotel. Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, will be the toastmaster. Governor Charles A. Sprague will speak on "The Press and Politics."

STEINER WILL BE GUEST

Rev. Richard M. Steiner, Portland minister who is visiting the campus today and tomorrow, will be guest at the Dill Pickle club this noon.

Members of the club (girls who eat their lunch at the YW bungalow) have invited the boys who eat their lunch at the YM hut to be their guests.

Rumor Spiked of Ban on Campus Costume Dances

Rules Apply Only to Off-Campus Affairs,
Dean Reports

"The administration has ruled that there are to be no costume dances off the campus and suggests that costumes worn to such dances on the campus be in good taste," is the rule written in the general University regulation pamphlet regarding costume dances on and off the campus.

The rumor stating that the dean's office has forbidden costume dances on the campus is false, according to Dean Schwering. "We did check with the social chairmen last fall regarding some costume dances, and suggested that they use something new instead of the usual barn dances, but we did not forbid costume dances."

In Dean Schwering's opinion a costume dance is perfectly all right if the costumes are in good taste, but costumes are not to be worn down town, because of the appearance they give.

Law Society Plans Courtroom Initiation

The initiation will be held in Judge Hewitt's court room in Portland Saturday.

The society expects about 125 lawyers and members of the legal fraternity from all over Oregon to attend this initiation.

Following the initiation ceremonies the members will hold a banquet. Alan Davis, president of the chapter, has charge.

At the luncheon O. J. Hollis, professor of law, addressed the members and pledges, telling of the purpose, origin, and ideals of the society.
