

Calling 'Em Quick

By GEORGE PASERO Assistant Sports Editor

"... OSC played the best game I've seen them play against us this year."

That was the manner in which Coach Hobson of the Ducks complimented the battling Beavers who bowed to Oregon's hoopmen on McArthur's maple last night.

And here's the tribute paid the Ducks by the coach of the losers, Amory T. (Slats) Gill: "Oregon played good ball against us tonight... yes, very good ball."

But this wasn't all the two old cage rivals had to say. Here's the rest:

Coach Slats Gill: "I look for quite a contest when Oregon plays Washington next week. It's difficult to say which is the best team. I think Oregon's big men are better than Washington's big men."

Coach Hobby Hobson: "We played a little better the second half. I can say we showed two weaknesses tonight—shooting and ball-handling."

And that about sums up last night's game from the coaching angle.

The tussle was tough not only from the fans' standpoint but from the officials. Three of the Beaver big boys, Tony Romano, Elmer Kolberg, and Frank Mandic, along with little Bob Garbould, were ousted with four personals each, but take it from Referee Archie Buckley of Spokane, it was not as tough to "take" as the Oregon-Idaho final game at Moscow. Buckley calls that the one hardest from the referee's standpoint he's officiated this year. "Both teams played so hard," says Buckley.

Mark this one down in your little red book of hoop dope. It comes from Mal Harris, dark-haired Beaver scoring ace, and he wasn't kidding when he said: "We were beat by a better team to-night, that's all. I think you guys are a lot tougher than Washington's Huskies."

And Mr. Mal Harris ought to know. He's faced both teams on the cage court twice.

Colorful Elmer Kolberg, one of the boys who left the skirmish considerably before the smoke of battle had begun to lift, came out of a blanket of steam which enveloped the showers, and summed up his feelings with "We were beat." But the big boy who has roamed many a gridiron in an Orange jersey, laughed and shook his head.

Oregon's victorious hoopmen sat in their dressing rooms, silently munching juicy red apples... they were a bit troubled by their "off" shooting and ball-handling.

Glimped by the roving eye... Anse Cornell, Oregon's athletic manager, scanning the crowd... and incidentally, it passed the 6000 mark, and was one of the largest crowds to "jam" old McArthur in two years. Nevertheless, there were still empty seats in the huge structure. Undoubtedly, it would be a dream-come-true were Anse Cornell to see every seat in McArthur taken.

Wonder of wonders... an Oregon State team that drove with the Webfoots, the Beaver strategy nearly working... it did for a half. Once at the start of the game, Romano dribbled down the floor miles-an-hour and almost caught the Webfoots napping.

Toward the end, however, the Beavers were no match for the Duck speed.

Fans last night cheered Romano, Garbould, Kolberg, and Mandic when they left the game... a direct contrast to the boing little Wally Johansen received at Corvallis when he was ousted on fouls.

Best shooting of the evening... done by Big Slim Wintermute of the Ducks whose looping right-hand and left-hand pushshots from the corners put the Ducks on the road to pay money.

Snaps... Oregon State kept men in the backcourt all night, in order to check the Duck fast break... Oregon had a case of jitters in the first half, dropping passes, heaving wild ones, and shooting wild... The Stater's galloped more in this game than they have against Oregon since the palmist days of Wally Palmberg... Dick Reed, Oregon's end coach under Callison was on hand... Touche, touche, the swordsmen of Oregon State and Oregon flashed foils, spears, and sabers... Oregon's

Oregon Team Boosts Hold on Second Place

Seventh Victory Gained Over Orange Quintet

Slim Wintermute Paces Scoring With 13 Tallies

Oregon's Laddie Gale and the rest of his mates weren't too hot on their shooting from the floor, but they more than balanced it with free throws. Oakridge Laddie got seven of his 11 points from the gift line. Center Slim Wintermute was Oregon's deadeast shot from the field, getting five buckets on 17 shots for 13 points and high honors.

A firebrand from Long Beach, California, a newcomer this winter in the person of Bob Garbould, held the Stater offense together, getting loose for repeated shots. He finished with nine tallies to 11 for Big Frank Mandic, Orange center. Garbould got 14 shots.

Wally Hits It Oregon took a temporary lead after only 20 seconds of play when Wally Johansen tipped in Wintermute's rebound shot, but goals by Elmer Kolberg, Mandic, Tony Romano, and Kolberg again gave Oregon State an 8 to 4 lead after only four minutes.

For six minutes the rivals—much more friendly than in their previous debacle at Corvallis—battled along, checking tightly with their zone defenses, allowing but a free throw apiece.

Well past the middle of the first half, the Beavers had a three-point lead, 10 to 7, but Slim Wintermute cut it down by pushing in a one-hander from the right corner.

Almost four minutes from the end of the half Oregon trailed only 14 to 13, but Forward Garbould got busy and boosted it along, the Beavers leading, 19 to 14 at the intermission.

Oregons Get Busy Hobby Hobson's crew got busy right after the second period started, and knotted it at 19-all on buckets by Bobby Anet and Laddie Gale.

But while the Webfoots boomed, the Staters boomed too, and it was still tied at 26-all at the 7-minute mark.

Oregon State never led again after that. With Slim Wintermute pushing in a couple of field goals, and John Dick contributing a lay-in shot, Oregon's offense started to roll, and after it was 35 to 32 the Orangemen weren't able to stay with the Ducks or get as many shots.

In futile attempts to check Hobby's rushing Ducks, the Beavers fouled. And the Oregons converted. Wintermute, John Dick, Dick again, and Gale made good their chances from the gift line as the score skyrocketed to its worst difference, 46 to 35, with less than two minutes to go.

At the half-way mark in the northern division race with a lone defeat in eight games, Oregon faces University of Washington's league-leading, undefeated Huskies in a two-game series in Eugene Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Frosh, Rook Hoopers Scrap Here Tonight

Ducklings Seek Revenge for Defeat

Bill McKalip's Boys Boast Undefeated Record, Six Straight Wins; Len Gard to To Lead Honest John Warren's Men

By EHLE REBER

Fighting for revenge... That's what Honest John Warren's freshman basketball team will be doing tonight on McArthur court when they meet their old rivals, the Oregon State rooks, in their second battle of the "little" series. The tilt will start at 8 o'clock.

Coach Bill McKalip, rook mentor, has had an undefeated season so far this season having won six games. The Orange squad took the frosh into camp last weekend at Corvallis, 36 to 29.

Emerald Whips Barometer Team; 'Nuff Said....

By JOE SOAP, JR. McARTHUR COURT, Jan. 17.—(Special) — Say what ye may, newspaper men can still play basketball.

Ask any of the 17 spectators who saw the University of Oregon Emerald press men edge out a 32 to 28 victory over Oregon State Barometer journalists yesterday afternoon at McArthur court.

For a pre-thriller of the Oregon-Oregon State battle, the typewriter mangle, the head-line writers, the proof-readers, and the newspaper editors offered tops in basketball.

Dead-Eye Oregon Oregon's Emerald representatives proved too adept at hitting the basket, not the first half though. The score at half-time was tied at 11-all. The second half told the story.

It took three officials to handle the game, each holding sway over the game at different times.

Two coats watched the under-cover basketball game for a few minutes but soon began edging toward the exits.

Such sports notables as Bill Cole, Oregon line coach who recently accepted a coaching position at Santa Ana high school in California, "Honest" John Warren, Duck frosh coach, Ned Simpson, Eugene Register-Guard writer, and George Godfrey, campus photographer sat high in the bleachers and egged the Oregon lads on to victory.

The game was marked by erratic shooting and was scoreless for the first four minutes. Then "Handle-bar Hank" Garnjobst, Barometer sports editor, potted a shot from the corner that put his fellow publishers in the lead. Ken Shipley of Oregon countered shortly thereafter with a free throw, followed by Gib Wiley's basket which tied the score at three all. The score see-sawed back and forth the first half and wound up in a 11-to-11 tie.

Scorers Click The offensive forces of both squads clicked with much better precision the second half. Shipley, Wiley, and Buchwach went to work with great earnestness and kept Oregon just one jump ahead of the Beaver press men.

The Barometer ambassadors proved a most formidable foe. The "high-ups" of the paper played ball like veterans. Included were Ed Burchell, pudgy but reliable Barometer editor; Don Drake, ath-

Varsity Mermen Will Aim at Records Today

The Pacific coast record for the 100-yard breast stroke is one minute, 10.5 seconds, and was posted by Clarke of Stanford in 1933. The 200-yard breast stroke record of two minutes, 36.7 seconds was established by Towne of Stanford in 1937.

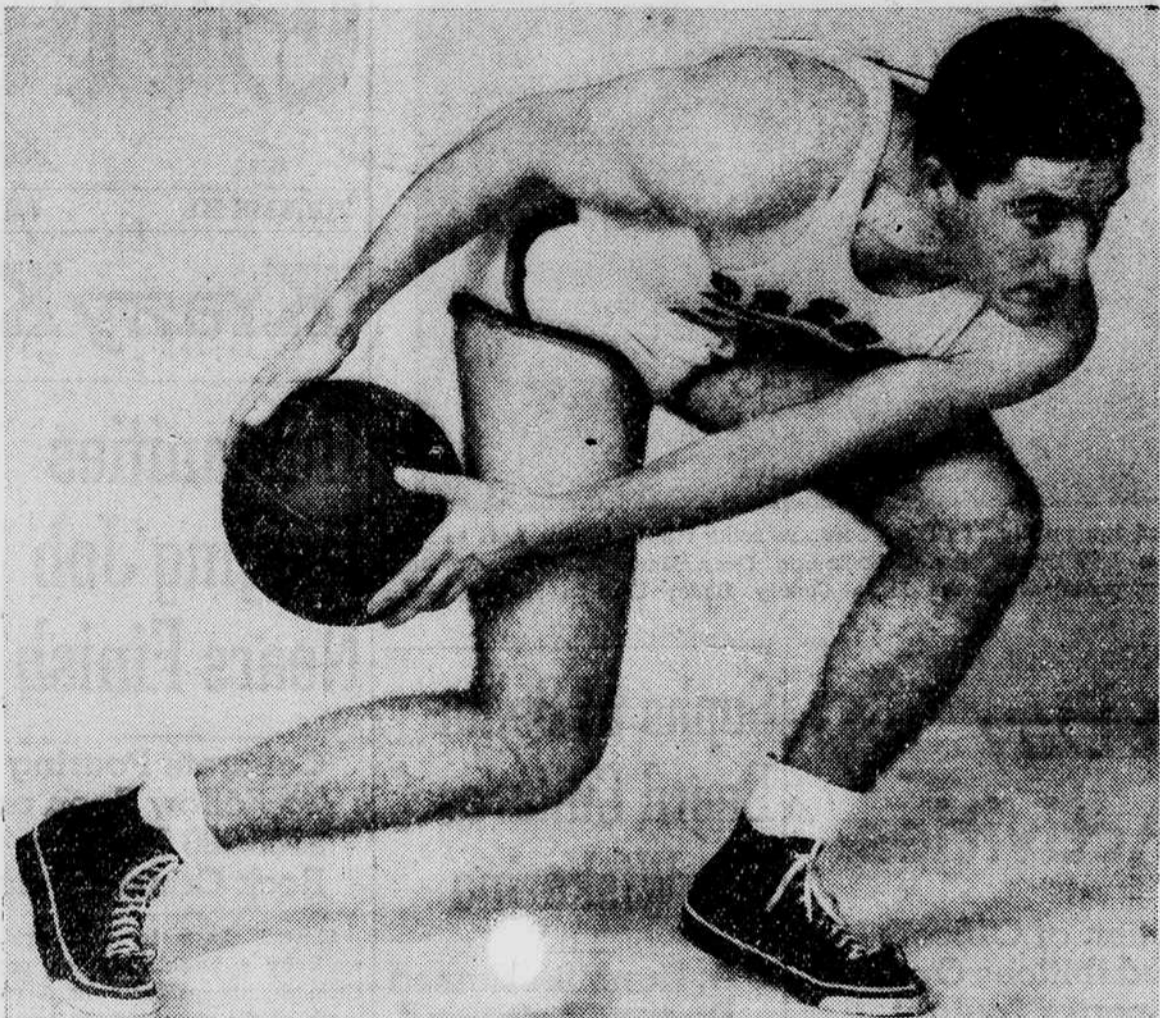

This afternoon at 3 o'clock Jack Dallas, star breast stroke performer of the varsity mermen, will endeavor to better these records in a Dad's day exhibition match, according to Coach Ned Johns.

Tebbetts, backstroke of Stanford, has the 100-yard record of 1 minute, 6.8 seconds; Park of USC holds the 150-yard honors with a time of 1 minute, 40.1 seconds. Shem Wetmore, versatile Webfoot, will point for both of these records.

To Assault Records The Duck Medley relay splashes will see what can be done about Stanford's record of 3 minutes, 8.1 seconds, in the 300-yard medley relay.

Coach Johns' schedule of events includes the 300-yard medley, 100 and 150-yard backstroke, 100 and 200-yard breast stroke, 220-yard free style, 40-yard free style, 100-yard free style, diving, and the 440-yard free style. Participants will be S. Wetmore, G. Huestis, J. Dallas, R. Lafferty, P. Mallory, J. Macdonald, T. Starbuck, J. Marne, E. Jacobs, E. Mallory, L. Gaffney, R. Cathey, E. Range, J. Carney, A. Sandner, J. Levy, and D. Smith.

Ducked by the Ducks

This Beaver, Nello Vanelli, saw action against Oregon's Webfoots at McArthur court last night. Oregon State was victimized by a late Duck drive, 46 to 39.

Fijis, Sigma Nu, Theta Chi, Sherry Ross, Kappa Sig, Omega, in 'B' League Wins

By JACK LEE

Phi Gamma Delta, playing with only four men in their lineup during the entire first quarter early defeated Sigma hall, 28 to 6, in a "B" hoop tilt.

In two other "B" games, the Sigma Nu quintet nearly succeeded in shutting out Alpha hall, winning easily, 21 to 2, while Sherry Ross gave the dorm boys their only win by decisively dumping Delta Tau Delta, 15 to 4.

An oddity occurred in the Fiji game when the fifth man had to report to get into the game. Ted Olsen, Fiji guard entered the game when the second period started.

Hal Adams and Olsen were the leaders in the Fijis' scoring attack, rolling up 16 points between them. Half-time score favored the Fijis, 13 to 2.

The lineups: Fijis (28) (6) Sigma hall Adams (10) F..... Murphy Lonigan (5) F..... (4) Ray Richards (5) C..... (2) Libke Bladine (2) G..... Moore G..... Warrall Olsen (6) S..... Levy Seufert S.....

Sigma Nu 21, Alpha Hall 2 In a one-sided fray, the millrace boys from Sigma Nu dumped the dorm quintet from Zeta hall, 21 to 2. The Sigma Nu quintet led at half-time, 6 to 2. After playing rather sloppy ball in the first half, Sigma Nu really clicked in the second half.

Gib Wiley and Bud Nestor played outstanding ball for the millrace boys. Bob Allen was the only Zeta to break into the scoring column.

Delts 4, Sherry Ross 15 Stuppy ball handling and missed shots were the features in the Delt game. The dorm boys' scoring was evenly divided between their team members, while Bob Hill was the only Delt to hit the hoop.

Sherry Ross led the Delts by a low score of 3 to 2 at the half.

University Ski Squad Reaches Reno Carnival

Four-Man Group Is Rated Unknown by Nevada Opponents

Word was received yesterday morning that the University of Oregon ski team of Captain Walt Wood, Henry Evans, Tom Wiper, and Ed Wallis, has reached Reno, Nevada, and that after a brief rest would prepare for the ski carnival sponsored by the University of Nevada, January 28 and 29.

Latest press dispatches from Reno stated that while little is known of the Oregon squad, which has been comparatively unknown until this year, reports have it that the Webfoots are very strong in the four events, cross-country, slalom, downhill, and jumping.

Oregon's latest claim to fame in skiing was the Sun Valley meet

Oregon Boxers To Display Skill For Dads Today

Wrestlers Will Meet Central 'Y' Squad In Portland

Oregon glove-tossers are planning to show the "gubernuh" how to throw leather today in a Dad's day exhibition in the men's gymnasium at 2 p.m.

Cam Collier, varsity, and Martin Schedler, freshman, will put on a couple of two-minute rounds at the 145-pound limit.

George Warner, 135, and Karl Zimmerman, 147, will battle. Both are freshmen.

Herb Colwell will also show Edwin Harding, 146, and Jim Greene, 118, against each other. Both are varsity.

Meet 'Y' Team

Webfoot grapplers will meet Portland "Y" wrestler in a return match this evening in Portland.

Herb Colwell, boxing and wrestling coach, will throw 12 bone-crushers against the array of talent brought together by Central "Y."

In a previous engagement here, Oregon topped the northern team by a score of 13-8. They took three out of five bouts.

Men making the trip are: Wendell Haley, 118; Bill Lauderback, 135; Ronnie Long, 135; Jack Morlarty, 145; Burt Dake, 145; Al Conger, 155; Earl Jeans, 155; Ray Foster, 165; Dale Peterson, 175; Harold Kaschko, 175; Bob Douglas, 185; Glenn Carroll, 185.

Ski Reserves to Face Staters Sunday

While the varsity ski team competes at Reno this week-end, the remaining members of the University of Oregon squad will contest with Oregon State skiers in a dual meet Sunday at 7 a.m. at the dedication of the Hoodoo ski bowl.

The team making the trip includes Scott Wright, Joe Keever, Art Lowther, Harold Larsen, Sam Stevens, Ken Blandine, Phil Bladine, and Pat Dolan and Neil Farnham, the latter two being varsity men who stayed at home to aid in bolstering the team's standing in tomorrow's meet instead of going to Reno. Coach Paul Lafferty and Manager Norman Holt will complete the ski contingent.
