at the U. Resting on his shoulders are the responsibilities of planning ski buses, weekend outings, and dances for the club and the task of digging up transportation for the team—which is entering meets everywhere from the Canadian border to the snow slopes of California.

Norm is largely responsible for the club having a special car on the Southern Pacific ski train to the summit of the Cascades Sunday, Eugene Ski Runners, handling arrangements for the train, said last night that expectations are for a crowd of at least 500 to take the trip. Those taking the ride are in for a good time, too, they said, for there is eight feet of snow up to the "big divide." Sunday will see the inauguration of a new ski area, cleared by CCC workers last summer on the slopes of Red Top mountain a quarter of a mile from the depot at the summit. This will be the first organized trip into the area.

Back to the ski team, it is worth noting that Pat Dolan looks good to hang up his share of scalps this season. Pat has been competing in tournaments at Mt. Hood for several years and is rated as just about a "top" in campus slalom circles. Last year both he and Wood competed in five intercollegiate meets. Only a sophomore, he will pace the Oregon team for two more years. Hank Evans, too, is going to be around Oregon for three more years—and chances are that he'll be causing opponents a lot of trouble. Already Hank is labeled as the best jumper on the squad and he has a lot of time and a lot of opportunity to improve.

Two other freshmen on the team, Scott Wright, Springfield, and George Hoffman, Portland, show a lot of promise, Captain Wood says. Wright is a three-way skier, while Hoffman competes in only two events. In addition, the team has five or six other skiers to draw on for material. It looks like war in coast ski circles during the next few years while Oregon goes about getting her place in the slat world's sun.

In a slow ball game with both teams missing numerous shots, Pi Kappa Alpha dumped the Yeomen by the low score of 11 to 7. The Pi Kaps gained an early lead and were never threatened throughout the four periods.

Score at the half-time stood 8 to 1 for the Pi Kaps. Bob Fogedalen was the high scorer for the Pi Kaps collecting a total of four counters.

The schedule of the Duck team places its arrival in Eugene, March 21, 27 days after date of departure. Former Instructor To Be German Head

Dr. George Frederick Lussky of the University of Minnesota, successor of Dr. F. G. G. Schmidt, head of the German department who is retiring at the end of this year, will move in next fall to take over his new duties at Oregon.

Dr. Lussky taught here last year at the summer session in the German department. He has published numerous articles in German, and is a member of the literary honorary, Lambda Alpha Psi. In 1907, he received his BA at the University of Chicago, and both his MA in 1912 and his Ph.D. in 1915 at the University of Wisconsin.

He has held positions at the University of Montana, the University of Texas, and the University of Minnesota. In 1910 and 1911, Dr. Lussky was an instructor in German here at Oregon.

There is a possibility that Dr. Lussky will come to Oregon this summer again for the summer session.

Capacity Crowd Out To See YMCA Film

An audience that filled the room to capacity turned out to see "The Plow That Broke the Plains," United States documentary film sponsored by the YMCA, last night.

Dr. Dan E. Clark, professor of history, presented a preview to the picture with an introductory speech.

The film dramatized the great plains region, first grazed by cattle when the land was "A Cattleman's Paradise." It then gave a vivid history of the plains as the land was settled by pioneers and was broken by the plow. Several hard years of drought and dust storms were pictured when 50,000 victims left the plains regions every month looking to the west for help.

jumping will be the routine for the team's daily workouts.

Ed Wallis was appointed assistant manager yesterday and along with Norman Hoyt, senior manager, will make the trip.

'Smarties' Quizzed, Listen to Play, At Annual Party

The best grade-getting coeds on the campus, last night attended the "Smarty Party," given by Mortar Board for all the girls making a three-point or higher last term. It was held in Gerlinger under the direction of Elisabeth Stetson, AWS president.

Miss Ethel Sawyer, browsing room librarian, read Moeller's play entitled "Helena's Husband." To test the intelligence of the women students, Miss Stetson asked questions in "Professor Quiz" style, giving ice cream bars to the winning team.

The serving of refreshments and the singing of "Mighty Oregon" ended the program.

Women's Honorary Sponsors Meeting

Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary, sponsored an assembly for freshman women yesterday at 4 o'clock in Gerlinger hall as part of a series of meetings to acquaint freshmen with the activities and honoraries on the campus. Jane Montgomery and Rita Wright were in charge.

The Amphibian club, swimming honorary, staged an exhibition in the swimming pool under the direction of Miss Warrine Eastburn, instructor in physical education, and Margaret Van Matre, president of Amphibian.

The demonstration consisted of examples of diving by Martha McClung, and types of swimming strokes. The various speed tests were won by Jean Matson, Janet Morris, and Martha McClung.

The assembly program continued with a demonstration by the Master Dance group. Those participating were: Zadie Enos, Ellen Torrence, Darlene Warren, Claudia Sevier, Betty Jo Foulter, Martha Wodeage, Barbara Holt, and Loraine Gjording.

Serving of refreshments concluded the assembly.

Women Debate on 'Youth Problems'

Two University of Washington debaters made an appearance on the Oregon campus yesterday. They and two University of Oregon women spoke on "Youth Problems" before a Eugene high school social science class.

Doris Leighton, of the Oregon group, gave an analysis of the economic, social, home, educational and other problems of youth today.

Ruth Sulkins, from Washington, suggested some educational solutions, and Lois Nordling, of Oregon, spoke on the home. Rowena Stubbs, from Washington, talked on the relation of war and peace to youth.

Wesley Clubbers Plan Old-Time Social

Using an old-time custom as the theme, Wesley clubbers will hold a box social Friday evening at 6 o'clock in Gerlinger hall.

The third floor of the building will be decorated as one of the old-time halls and will be presided over by Charles G. Howard, law school professor, as auctioneer.

Phi Beta girls who are to be in the play to be given at Washburn's, will meet for practice today in the AWS room in Gerlinger at 4:45. All girls interested are asked to be present whether they have been notified or not.

Amphibian Pledges Initiated in Gerlinger Hall Last Night

Thirteen pollywogs were made full-fledged Amphibians last night at a short candle-light ceremony. Margo Van Matre, president of the club, officiated.

The initiation, set at 7:15 p.m. in the WAA social room, was postponed until 8:15 p.m. in order to include the girls who attended Mortar Board's Smarty Party.

These new Amphibians will all be wearing a rose today: Jean Burt, Betty Jean Caldwell, Kay Dillard, Hope Dondero, Dorothy Horner, Carolyn Kamm, Martha McClung, Sally Murrrow, Janet Morris, Elizabeth Steed, Jean Watson, Margaret Young.

To Forgive Is Divine—(We Hope)

TO err is human: to forgive divine. We quote this old statement at a very opportune time. For we are in the aftermath of having erred. It would not be so disastrous if we had erred against Harold Weston, president of the ASUO, or the basketball team, or any group of men. Facing them would be difficult, to be sure, but not one-half so difficult as facing the group of charming ladies whose name we have all but taken in vain.

Before we get into apologizing we would like to make this clear, the sisterhood of Pi Beta Phi has always rated high in our estimation. We have never had anything against the Pi Phis, and have always felt sincerely that they were a distinct asset to the community. Our associations with them have always been most pleasant.

YESTERDAY we felt in a capricious mood. Editors do get into moods such as these in spite of all their heavy burdens and weighty comments they must make on the affairs of the campus. In this mood we seized upon the Dime Crawl as a subject for our humorous discussion, sensing in that interesting event opportunity for comment—none of it, of course, overly serious. What appeared interesting were a few side-lights of the evening.

We included in this group of side-lights a statement that the Pi Phis had invited the ATOs over for dessert and then "corralling them for dimes when the crawl began." In the spirit of jest, we mentioned something about "sharp trade practice." Subsequent events have indicated (very forcefully) that the Pi Phis did no such a thing, that their winning total was posted by completely honorable means, and that the Pi Phis object to being picked on in the Emerald (also no doubt that the editor should be horse-whipped, or at least strung up by his thumbs).

Closing in abject apology we feel urged to make one more observation. Even though the Pi Phis didn't use the "sharp trade practice" we "accused" them of, we can't see why they refrained. For such a worthy cause as the Dime Crawl almost any method of bringing in the men would be not only condoned but commended.

In the Mail

HERE'S HOW IT WAS

To the Editor:

In answer to the "Forgotten Ten Per Cent" in the nomination for the King of Hearts, we would like to show you where the election board stands.

Claire Hoflick's name appeared at the same time as Charles Green's letter not because of an oversight but due to the fact that we had been unable to secure a nominee until that time. Forest Lundeen, whose name was suggested by Mr. Green, was asked to run and refused because he had been a previous candidate. We then endeavored to contact other dorm "Adonises" but could secure no cooperation until after the deadline of the Wednesday story.

You dorm men have a good representative, as to looks and personality, in Claire Hoflick. Now you show the school spirit! Sorry about the misunderstanding.

Heart Hop Election Board.

Looking Back. ...

WITH JIMMIE LEONARD

One year ago—Jesse Owens, Olympic star who was dubbed "the world's fastest human," missed by one-tenth of a second his 5.2 seconds record for the 50-yard dash. The colored star performed during the half-time period of the Olympian-Rubenstein's all-stars exhibition game, which the Olympians won, 40 to 32.

The dusky star was lonesome for his wife, saying: "You know, fellows, it's tough not seeing your wife."

Five years ago — The Webfoots dumped th invading Idaho Vandals, 43 to 29. Willie Jones played outstanding ball for the Ducks, garnering 10 points.

Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Phi Epsilon won the intramural volleyball championship.

Ten years ago—Coeds dressed when they went to bed. The average coed wore this conglomeration to bed during the cold spell: two pair of wool pajamas, bed socks, wool sweater, toboggan cap, gloves, scarfs, and a wool bathrobe. Turning over in bed meant disaster. Some of the warm-blooded fems even went so far as to line their beds with copies of the Emerald.
