

'Un Carnet de Bal' Draws Praise From UO Students, Faculty in Showing Here

Many students and faculty members of the University took time out yesterday from the daily routine of college life to view "Un Carnet de Bal," much publicized French motion picture.

The University group proved to be no exception to audiences in praising the picture. Despite the length of the film—almost two hours—they sat quietly in their seats, absorbed with the excellent acting and photography.

Scenery, Little Action

Beautiful Alpine, Swiss and Italian scenes were so well woven in and so well photographed that they carried vivid impressions of those countries. Each of the eight different parts of the picture was filmed in a different setting.

One criticism might be labeled against the picture from the standpoint of an American audience and that . . . its lack of action. A considerable part of the picture is pure setting and dialogue. This criticism, however, would fit most foreign pictures equally well and at least the lack of action serves as a relief from the type of film turned out of late by American producers.

The leading role of Christine is well played by Marie Bell, celebrated French star. Light comedy in the picture is excellent with Louis Jouvet Jo the night club owner, Raimu the mayor, and Fernandel the hair dresser furnishing the laughs.

Foreigners Registered in U.S. Schools on Increase

Canada Has Largest Number Enrolled; Grand Total Reaches Nearly 9000; Only Wyoming Has None

NEW YORK CITY—(ACP)—Despite the unsettled political and economic conditions in nations throughout the world, enrollment of foreign students in United States colleges and universities has increased to an almost all-time high.

Figures compiled by the committee on friendly relations among foreign students reveal that today there are 8,847 foreign students from 100 countries enrolled in institutions of higher learning here. There were 7,948 foreign students here during the last school year.

The number of students coming from the Orient totals 2,986 from China, Japan, Korea and the Philippines, compared with 2,873 in 1937-38. There was no marked change in the number of students coming from Europe, except in the case of Germany, which sent 400 students this year, compared with 333 for 1937-38. Canada sent the largest number of students, 1,933; China was second with 1,349, and Japan third with 1,213.

Enrollment from South American countries has increased 19 per cent over last year's figures, reaching 253, as compared with 213 for 1937-38.

Foreign students are enrolled in every state, with the exception of Wyoming. The University of California enrolls the largest group, 425; Columbia university is second with 399, and University of Washington third with 249.

Bob Creighton Pitches

A big Oregon spree in the bottom half of the second inning knotted the score, however, and the Webfoots managed to stay even until the Pacific half of the seventh inning when Leftfielder McIntosh larruped a long home run into center off Relief Pitcher Al Linn who was charged with the defeat.

Ducks Don't Rally

McIntosh's homer gave Pacific an 8 to 7 lead and Pitcher Francis Dierickx got Wimpy Quinn, Jack Shimshak, and Elmer Mallory in rapid order in the last of the seventh to win the game.

Sophomores Elmer Mallory and Jack Shimshak teamed to give Oregon it's last two runs of the game in the fifth inning—the Webfoots gaining a temporary 7 to 6 advantage.

Gale Smith, who got life on an error, was driven across the plate by Shimshak on a hard-hit triple into center, and the convertible outfielder-second baseman was bunted across the plate on a per-

Seven Dwarfs Matched by UO Odd-Jobbers

"And we'll dig, dig, dig the whole day through."

Sung by the seven dwarfs, this little chant well applies to a number of students this term. For most of the "odd jobs" found for students so far this term have been spading and planting gardens, said Miss Violet Runte, secretary to Miss Janet Smith.

There have also been a number of lawn mowing jobs, the customary housework and caring for children.

The main trouble is the lack of enough jobs to keep the students busy, Miss Runte said.

The Webfoots play one game against Portland university tomorrow afternoon on Howe field and then take the road for games on Friday and Saturday.

Routine business comprised the rest of the meeting with the announcement of the vesper services to be held this afternoon in the music building at 4:30.

A Composite Picture and Story of Symphony Frosh Plan Annual Glee For April 22

Ending a successful year of campus concerts with their program for the Igor Gorin concert last Wednesday night, the University symphony orchestra can now wrap its instruments for another year. A proposed trip that would have taken the group on tour throughout the Northwest did not work out as planned. According to Mr. Adolf Baller, Gorin's accompanist and a European conductor, the Oregon symphony rates second to no university orchestra in the nation. Pictured here are: top row left to right, Rex Underwood, director, Julia Balshizer, Phoebe Breyman, Charlotte Plummer; below, Jim DeCoursey, Seville Riley, and Ralph DeCoursey.

Work of UO Symphony Reviewed as Its Year Closes

By GLENN HASSELROOTH

The 70-odd members of the University symphony orchestra, garnered from all schools and departments on the campus, say that they play in the symphony "most-ly for fun" in spite of the long hours of group rehearsals and private practice they put in.

Rehearsals, held two or more times weekly, last from two to two and a half hours. The amount of individual practice of private parts is, of course, immeasurable, but it is believed longer than group practice periods. Although only one hour's credit is given for this work there is always a large turnout from students, more than half of whom are not majoring in music.

Three concerts during the winter season have increased the fame and prestige of the orchestra which grew from a 15-piece group in 1920 to its present status under the leadership of Director Rex Underwood.

Mr. Underwood is still as enthusiastic about his group as he was almost two decades ago, and takes a personal interest in the performance of each player. He bases selection of his program on many of their performances, which include the works of Beethoven, Brahms, and Tschukowsky.

"A good oboe or French horn player is a lot harder to find than a good tackle or end," Mr. Underwood said, comparing the loss of some of his best musicians at the end of a year to a football team's loss of star players. "Few students ever take up those instruments and we have to do plenty of scouting around to find them."

Although the regular concert season in Eugene is over, Mr. Underwood is not waiting idly for next September to come. Planning future projects and programs for the orchestra take up much of his time. He keeps hoping—and working—for a bigger and better University orchestra.

Shelby Golden Heads

Golden, Davis, Near, Watson, Hughes, and Smith will keep their positions on the team until upset during challenge rounds. The No. 6 man may also have his berth invaded by the other four members of the squad who failed to make the first six.

Rich Werschkul and Doug Ramsey tied with 311s to occupy the always-threatening No. 7 position.

They will play off the tie to see who keeps possession of the position. Werschkul shot a 78, 84, 77, and 77, and Ramsey shot a 78, 77, 79, and 77.

Chet Keller turned in a 318 to claim possession of the No. 9 position. He played in the No. 3 berth on last year's frosh team most of the season. Keller shot a 77, 79, 87, and 80.

Hal Duden took possession of the tenth and last berth with his 320. He shot an 80, 79, 77, and 84.

Bob Speer, Larry Quinlin, and

Bob Skelley qualified but were unable to make the first ten. Spear shot a 322, Quinlin 325, and Skelley a 326.

Playing off the ties, challenge matches, and practicing will keep the squad busy until its first match.

'Lil Abner' Theme Chosen; Want Big Name Band; Queen To Be Daisy Mae

The "Lil Abner" theme chosen by frosh heads to typify their annual Frosh Glee, set for April 22, had official approval this week when Al Capp, originator of the comic strip, wrote that he may be able to attend the dance, and that he thinks the idea is "swell."

Walker Treece and Bill Loud, committee chairmen, are still angling for a big name orchestra from the south for the affair but cannot make any definite announcement until next week.

To Choose Daisy Mae Chief feature of the annual Glee will be the election of a campus "Daisy Mae" from the freshman entries of all living organizations on the campus. Next week the committee chairmen will notify the girls' houses about qualifications of the nominees they choose for the honor. Voting will be handled at the door, in the same manner that the Little Colonel was selected.

McArthur court has been secured for the annual affair, when special guests will be high school seniors from all parts of Oregon here for their first introduction into college life, and a little pre-season rushing.

Decorations chairmen have received drawings of all of the "Lil Abner" characters from Mr. Capp, and promise that all of Skunk Hollow will be there to welcome dancing Webfoots.

The dance was formerly scheduled for April 15, but Loud and Treece exchanged the date last night with AWS carnival chairmen in order to get a good orchestra.

Pi Kaps' District Prexy Stops Here

Wilson B. Heller, district president of Pi Kappa Alpha, was a guest of the Gamma Pi chapter en route to other northwest chapters of the fraternity Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Heller has been active in fraternity circles, especially in installing chapters throughout the nation. He will be the honor guest at a faculty luncheon Tuesday noon at the house.

Before returning to his home in Los Angeles, Mr. Heller will visit noon at the house.

COLUMNIST VISITS Bob Pollock, Emerald columnist last year, visited the campus Monday. He is now working on the Redmond Spokesman.
