By ELBERT HAWKINS

Sports Publicity Man Bruce Hamby was in a quandary recently after collecting a poll of all-opponent choices for the season by members of Oregon's national championship basketball squad. You see, Bruce got one all-star tabulation which read: Forwards, Laddie Gale and John Dick; Center, Slim Wintermute; Guards, Wally Johansen and Bobby Anet.

The worried Mr. Hamby set out to find out who was joking and to get the culprit's real all-opponent choice. It turned out to be Earl Sandness, sophomore Astorian, who was a reserve for Coach Hobson. But Earl wasn't joking about his choice, he really meant it. His reasoning went about like this: I've played against those five in practice all year. Gosh, they're the toughest I've played against.

Butch Morse, University of Oregon's all-American end of not so many seasons ago, now in professional football, recently told the press of a University of Pittsburgh athlete who claimed to have taken a "cut" when he went from college football to the pro game, but that little joke was a bit of irony to University of Idaho.

Idaho last fall had its most successful season in games won and lost in 11 seasons yet went approximately $3200 in the "red." Sports Editor Bill McGowan, of the Idaho Argonaut, pretty well summarized it when he wrote: "Little left there to split with the players." Out of this week's meeting of the athletic board came official word that Oregon's 1938 football season had been a loser, too, which might shock some of the railbirds. Anse Cornell, the business-minded athletic manager, offered a pretty sound reason last fall why the season couldn't be a very moneyed one. The reason: Oregon didn't play any games in Los Angeles during the 1938 campaign, and that's where the northwest teams do make money. Win or lose they're a cinch to draw at least 25,000 in Los Angeles for any kind of a game, and such a turnout in Eugene, Corvallis, Portland, Pullman, Moscow, or Seattle is too rare to even look forward to.

Where one squad is weak the other is strong. That's the situation with Colonel Bill Hayward's Oregon cinder team and Hec Edmundson's University of Washington Huskies. Colonel Bill means a lack of weight men and jumpers, whereas Hec has big Leon Bjorkland who is throwing the discus 145 feet, and Chuck Bechtol, a shot put veteran.

Hec Edmundson sees a big hole in the ranks of his sprinters and distance men, having lost Marion Hay, veteran speedster, and John Swan, a 4:19 miler. Bill Hayward lost his Mack Robinson, but Jim Buck, Bob Diez, and Bob Keene are competent for the shorter events, and Kirman Storli, one of the country's top half-milers, is ready for his biggest season. Pushing the conference's top milers this spring will be Don Barker and Bob Mitchell, who are vets.

George Stovel has one of the school's most promising frosh cinder squads in many seasons, too. It includes three ex-Oregon state high school champs, and the one and two men in individual scoring from last year's prep meet.

Former Student Prexy Gil Schultz's little brother Francis is here from Forest Grove with an imposing prep record. The Husky freshman took top honors (14 1/2

Oregon Nine Swamps Portland Baseballers, 12 to 2

Pilot Infielders Help; Contribute Nine Boots

Southpaw Jack Jasper Twirls for Webfoots; Both Clubs Get Five Hits; G. Smith, Mullen Hit Extra Basers

By ELBERT HAWKINS

The Webfoot baseballers and Portland university each collected five hits yesterday but Father Lane's Pilots booted and fozzled the ball all over Howe field and handed Oregon a 12 to 2 victory.

The jittery Portlanders chalked up exactly nine miscues for eight innings in the field, five of them by Third Baseman Anzuiza who handled the ball only six times. His only perfect play was a catch of Gale Smith's fly in the fifth inning.

Jack Jasper, the sunshine boy from California, southpawed eight innings on the mound for Oregon, yielding only two runs on Portland's five hits. Al Linn pitched the ninth for the Webfoots, setting Portland down in one-two-three order.

Have Big Seventh

Hobby Hobson's Oregonians managed to accumulate a 7 to 1 lead after six innings, but Portland's defense crumpled in colossal fashion in the next frame when the Webfoots batted around once completely and collected five runs on only one base hit, that a single by Wimpy Quinn. Five errors did the damage.

It went like this: Lead-off hitter Tommy Cox got life when Second Sacker Pete Peterson dropped his pop fly. Then Anzuiza, the unlucky Pilot third baseman, tossed one away on Jack Shimshak's hit, and the two Webfoots pulled up at second and third. Ford Mullen rolled one down to second base, and on a fielder's choice Peterson threw late to the plate, Cox scoring and Shimshak pulling up at third.

Five Miscues

Busher Smith, Oregon's hard-hitting first baseman, lifted a high sacrifice fly into left field to drive Shimshak home. Then came Wimpy Quinn's lone hit of the game which drove Mullen across the plate. This made it three runs for the inning with only one man out. Anzuiza compiled by booting successive hits by Elmer Mallory and Jimmie Nicholson, and Catcher Philip helped out with a fizzle to make Portland's miscues total five for the inning.

Gale Smith smacked out one of the game's two extra basers in the third inning with Cox on base, his line drive breezing by Curran in left field for a home run.

Oregon ("million dollar infield")—Mallory to Mullen to Smith—turned up with two flashy double plays during the game. A third Oregon twin killing was engineered by Jasper who caught a line drive in pitcher's box and relayed the ball to Ford Mullen who was covering first. Despite their backward fielding gigantes, the Portlanders got a double play, too, in the first inning when Wimp Quinn smacked a liner to Jack Friedhoff at shortstop who relayed it to first, doubling Gale Smith off the base by a proverbial mile.

Two Runs in First

Hobby's Ducks led off with two runs in the first inning on a ringing double by Second Baseman Ford Mullen, a walk and an error at shortstop which allowed the two unearned tallies to cross the plate.

Bill O'Donnell, Portland university's high-scoring basketball star, started on the mound and was relieved in the seventh inning by big Jack Shaw who was victimized in Oregon's big inning which came as a gift by the sieve-like Pilot infield.

The Webfoots play Oregon normal in Monmouth today at 3 o'clock with Righthanders Al Linn and Pete Igou slated by Coach Hobson for duty. Oregon moves to Portland for a return game at 2:30 Saturday afternoon with the Pilots. Hobby has nominated Bob Creighton to pitch that game.

points) in the state meet last spring by winning the 100 and 220-yard dashes, placing second in the broad jump, and running on the fifth place relay team. Another Duckling, Ray Dickson of Bend, was Francis' main competitor for laurels with a first in the broad jump and seconds on the low and high hurdles. A third outstanding Duckling to answer Stovel's call this spring is Ray Kleinfeldt, Bend nuler, who is pushing Colonel Bill's varsity boys. Ray won his third consecutive blue ribbon at the state meet last spring.

Rollins college has been given 100 acres of Florida jungle-land to add to its campus.

Warren's Men Schedule Tough Baseball Nines

Frosh to Play Rooks, Lincoln, Jeff, Woodburn

Fourteen games remain on the Duckling baseball schedule and an imposing array of talented clubs will be met during the season. Eight of the fourteen games will be played on foreign grounds.

Foremost among the opposing clubs to be faced are the Oregon State rooks. The first clash between the Rooks and the Frosh will take place at Corvallis, Friday, May 12. Judging by pre-season records these two teams are evenly matched and, as always, there will be fireworks aplenty when these rivals meet.

Three of the best high school clubs in the state—Lincoln and Jefferson of Portland and Woodburn—are on the Duckling schedule. Postoffice Pharmacy, winner of the Northwest Junior Legion championship last season, was composed mostly of Lincoln high players. Jefferson, Portland interscholastic champions last year, have already defeated the frosh, but John Warren's men have their eyes set on revenge. Woodburn was undefeated in high school competition last year and is considered to be equally strong this season.

Coach John Warren stated that

First Injury Hits Frosh Track Squad

The old bugaboo—injury—struck at George Stovel's frosh track team leaving Ray Dickson of the Bend duo on the bench with a pulled leg muscle.

Dickson was counted on for points in the high and low hurdles, broad jump, and the pole vault. According to Stovel, the ex-Lava Bear of Bend may be ready for action in the first of the little civil wars with the Oregon State rooks May 5.

Time trials will be held Saturday to place the squad members.

The present schedule is tentative and there may be some change in dates as the season progresses.

The tentative frosh 1939 baseball schedule is as follows:

- April 8—Eugene at Eugene.
- April 14—Jefferson at Portland.
- April 15—State Penitentiary at Salem.

Kap Sigs, Sigma Chi Vie Monday for Intramural Swimming Championship

Yeomen and Phi Psis Are Nosed Out in Semi-Finals; Jerry MacDonald Batters Pacific Coast Record in Free Style

By PAUL McCARTY

Another championship and the conclusion of one of the final chapters in the spring intramural sports program came near reality yesterday as Kappa Sigma eliminated the Yeomen, 26 to 23, and Sigma Chi defeated Phi Kappa Psi, 28 to 21, in the semifinals of intramural swimming.

The two winners, Kappa Sigma and Sigma Chi, will meet for the interhouse "water-churning" championship, Monday, April 10. Title meet was originally scheduled for Friday but a two-day rest was granted by intramural swimming officials.

MacDonald Batters Record

Jerry MacDonald, the Kappa Sig swimmer who makes a habit of breaking records, repeated his usual tactics again yesterday by swimming the 40-yard free style event in 19 seconds flat to better the coast record by one-fifth of a second. MacDonald's performance of yesterday in this event was a repetition of one earlier this week when he bettered the coast record in the 40-yard free style by even a greater margin, swimming the 40 yards in 18.2 seconds.

With the score tied at 21-all, a victory in the last event, the 120-yard free style relay, gave Kappa Sigma its win over the Yeomen. The winning team in this event was composed of Andrus and Lansing who teamed with MacDonald. Sigma Chi had little difficulty downing Phi Kappa Psi. The Phi Psis won the last event but fell short of the winner's 28 points.

Yesterday's results were as follows:

- Kappa Sigma 26, Yeomen 23.
- 40-yard free style—MacDonald (Kappa Sig) first; Curtis (Yeomen) second; Jenks (Kappa Sig) third.
- 40-yard backstroke—Curtis (Yeomen) first; Lansing (Kappa Sig) second; Simpson (Yeomen) third.
- 40-yard breast stroke—Andrus (Kappa Sig) first; Link and Cuddeback (Yeomen) second and third.
- 120-yard medley—Won by Yeomen (Link and D. and E. Curtis).
- 60-yard individual medley—MacDonald (Kappa Sig) first; E. Curtis (Yeomen) second.
- 120-yard free style relay—Won by Kappa Sigma (MacDonald, Andrus, and Lansing).
- Sigma Chi 28, Phi Kappa Psi 21.
- 40-yard free style—Bradshaw

HOW TO TIE A TIE

- Arrow, makers of famed Arrow shirts... now make neckties. And here tells you how to tie them. First, put the wide end over and under narrow end... thus...
- Then form a preliminary knot, by bringing wide end over narrow end and up through opening at collar. Smooth out the preliminary knot.
- Next, put the wide end through the loop—loosely—and smooth out again. Keeping the knot smooth is important.
- Now make a groove lengthwise in the wide end by pinching the sides together. This groove—when you pull the tie tight—forms a dimple beneath knot. Arrow Ties, because of their rich fabrics, achieve this drape easily.
- The finished job looks like this. Knot not too big—and not so tight it screeches. Tie one of our Arrow Ties in this manner and you have the last word in necktie smartness.

$1 and $1.50. That's all Arrow Ties cost. Fine fabrics. Beautiful tailoring. They hold their shape through a resilient feature, tie neatly, wear long. See your Arrow dealer.
