

UO Mothers Will Be Guests at Junior Fete

Chairman Peaks Urges Students to Send Invitations Home; Moms to Be Srown Around Campus

Mothers of University students from all parts of Oregon will be guests of their sons and daughters here for Mothers' Weekend on May 12, 13, and 14, Jim Peake, student chairman of the annual event, announced today. At that time Oregon mothers will be able to see campus buildings, museums, and other features of interest first hand, as well as take part in a series of celebrations in their honor, he said.

"Be sure to enclose an invitation to the Weekend in your next letter home," Chairman Peake urged.

Speaks to Assembly

Seamus O'Duilearga . . . Will make one of his last addresses before returning to Ireland when he addresses an all-school assembly tomorrow at 11.

Irishman To Discuss Folklore

O'Duilearga to Tell Today's Assembly Tales of Old Irish Peasantry

The color and romance of collecting folktales from the firesides of Irish peasantry will be reflected to a Gerlinger assembly audience this morning, when Seamus O'Duilearga, Irish folklore expert, takes over chief speaking honors of the week at an 11 o'clock assembly.

O'Duilearga's appearance here will mark nearly the close of an extended lecture tour the handsome young Irishman is making in America in connection with his work with the Irish Folklore commission, an organization which has spent the last 11 years in collecting ancient tales from Ireland's peasant-born. He will leave in May for his homeland.

Boyer Is Host

Dean C. V. Boyer of the college of arts and letters will act as official University host in greeting the visiting European at the train when he arrives at 9 o'clock this morning. Tonight he will introduce him at a forum sponsored by the English department, when O'Duilearga will include with a detailed description of Irish folklore, a special showing of slides concerning the search. The meeting tonight will be at eight o'clock in the PE building.

Previous arrangements to hold 11 o'clock Tuesday classes today to make up for time lost when school was dismissed for the state board assembly have been cancelled, and the regular Thursday program of no 11 o'clock classes will be in order so that students may attend.

SINCLAIR TO SING

Sidney H. Sinclair, student in music, will sing over KOAC tonight at 8 o'clock. He will sing Wagner's "Evening Star," Kern's "Old Man River," and other selections.

The Annual Meeting of Members of the Co-op Stope will be held in room 105 Commerce, Friday, April 28th at 4 P.M. All students are invited. Nomination of board members, Managers annual report.

Registration Friday

Registration will begin Friday morning, and mothers have been invited to attend a Junior Weekend luncheon with their hosts on the lawn between Friendly and Fenton halls that noon.

Friday afternoon the AWS and YWCA will co-sponsor a tea, after which the visitors may further inspect the campus or visit faculty and staff members. At the Junior Prom Friday night a special section will be reserved for mothers.

Saturday morning the Oregon Mothers' club will hold its annual election of officers and business meeting, then the guests will lunch with their sons and daughters.

Ten at 4 o'clock

The dedication of a new library reading room will take place at 2 o'clock, followed by a number of conducted tours of the campus. A tea will be given by the Eugene Mothers' and Women's Faculty clubs at 4 o'clock in Gerlinger.

Highlight of the weekend will be the annual banquet Saturday evening, when the new Mothers' club officers, University officials, and student body officers will speak to the assemblage. The canoe fete on the millrace will follow the dinner's entertainment.

Sunday special Mothers' Day services will be held in all Eugene churches, and a concert is planned for Sunday afternoon.

Recently-appointed student committee heads responsible for arranging the various events are: Dorothy Magnuson, social affairs; Bettylou Swart, banquet, Mary Failing, registration; Pat Taylor, publicity; Elmer Hanson, promotion; and Mary Jane Wormser, secretary.

Reception Honors Beatrice Sackett, Mrs. K. W. Jameson

A reception was given yesterday in honor of Mrs. Beatrice Walton Sackett, member of the state board of education, and Mrs. K. W. Jameson, retiring state president of the American Association of University Women, at the home of Chancellor and Mrs. F. M. Hunter. The Eugene branch of the AAUW, with Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, president, was in charge.

In the receiving line were Mesdames Jameson, Hunter, and Schwering. The ladies pouring were Mesdames C. V. Boyer, V. D. Earl, O. R. Gullion, L. H. Johnson, J. B. Tingle, and F. L. Chambers. Assisting about the rooms were Mesdames O. F. Stafford, Howard Taylor, J. H. Gilbert, J. R. Jewell, H. Kehrl, Wayne Morse, V. P. Morris, and P. A. Parsons.

Cliff Matson Named President Of Lutheran Group

Officers for the coming year were elected at the Lutheran Student meeting Sunday.

Clifford Matson was chosen president to succeed Kenneth Erickson. Martin Schedler will replace Orin Wechsler, as vice-president; Doris Hanson will take over Irma Helickson's job as secretary; and Elmer Olson will succeed himself as treasurer.

The elections were held at a picnic at the McKenzie summer home of Iris McNutt, member of the group.

Friday the Lutheran students will have their spring banquet to which Oregon State Lutherans are invited.

House managers meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the College Side.

Art Professors Receive High Honors

Andrew M. Vincent, professor of painting, and Miss Maude Kerns, associate professor of normal art . . . Mr. Vincent received word that his design had won the northwest competition for murals for the Salem postoffice while Miss Kerns was accorded high praise by critics for her paintings on exhibition recently in New York City.

Union Committee To Meet

Discussion Planned For Yesterday to Be Held at 4

The long promised meeting of the sub-committee, appointed to study the student union problem, was postponed yesterday.

It was learned, late last night, that the meeting had been postponed because one member of the committee, Orlando J. Hollis, could not attend due to a faculty senate committee meeting.

Any action proposed by the sub-committee, composed of Orlando J. Hollis, professor of law; J. O. Lindstrom, University business manager and chairman of the committee; and Zane Kemler, first vice-president of the ASUO; will be considered at a joint meeting of the athletic and educational activities boards.

It is hoped that the meeting of the sub-committee, which will be held at 4 o'clock today, will start definite action toward the construction of a student union building on the Oregon campus, student leaders interested in the program, said.

Faculty Praises Churchill As Oregon School Leader

Terming him an outstanding Oregon educator, faculty members yesterday paid high tribute to J. A. Churchill, president of the Oregon College of Education at Monmouth, who retires this fall after 50 years of service in Oregon educational work.

All remember him as the man who ran the best city school system in the state, and who as state superintendent of public instruction and president of Southern Oregon and Eastern Oregon colleges of Education greatly improved the content of school curricula and methods of teacher training.

Said Dr. H. D. Sheldon, professor of education and history, of the man who for 22 years was superintendent of the Baker city schools: "He built the most successful unit in the state and was universally liked by children and adults. He is probably the ablest all around educator in Oregon since 1890."

In 1913 Dr. Churchill became state superintendent of public instruction, a position which he held until 1925. During his administration he was friendly to the proposal, said Dr. R. C. Clark, head of the history department, to put Oregon history into the public school curriculum. The first textbook, he remembers, appeared as a syllabus. After that Dr. Churchill went to the textbook commission which selected the little green book that so many Oregon students remember, Clark, Down, and Blue's "Oregon History."

"This is just an illustration of his influence on Oregon education. He was a very constructive superintendent," said Dr. Clark. "He put the normal schools more on a college level. At Ashland he was more interested in the subject matter, in improving content, than in technical aspects of teaching. He strengthened the system by introducing good, solid content courses," Dr. Clark added. "I have known him for many years and respect him highly as an educator. He combined with rare good judgment the capacity to carry the public along with his educational program," contributed Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of social sciences. Another tribute to his improvement of educational methods was voiced by Dr. Howard R. Taylor, head of the psychology department. "The thing I most remember," said Dr. Taylor, "is his policy in teacher training. He steered away from the teaching of special methods in arithmetic, English, and history, stressing instead the need to have a general knowledge of educational psychology and the knowledge of the subject that is to be taught."

Eight Students Fare Well in UO Infirmary

Only eight patients remained in the infirmary yesterday to enjoy the daily double dose of desserts. For lunch the typical infirmary inmate has soup, salad, entree, and dessert, usually ice cream. The usual evening meals consists of the same number of courses, but chocolate custard pie or other creamy concoctions take the place of ice cream.

Yesterday's roll call hit a new low, but the present scarcity of patients will probably be short-lived due to picnics, spring fever, and other current causes, it is generally conceded.

Wednesday's sicklist includes: Moore Dwight, Sarah Williams, Melbourne Davis, Saville Riley, Robert Berghan, Joe Frizzell, Jean Hurley, and Eunice Edwards.

DAHLBERG TO JUDGE

W. A. Dahlberg, assistant speech instructor, will act as a judge for a speaking and an interpretation contest held May 2 at North Bend. Schools which are sending representatives to the contest are Marshfield, Coquille, North Bend, Myrtle Point, and Bandon.

Scholarship Committee Meets Today

168 Prep Students Make Application For 42 Awards

Five members of the local scholarship committee of the University of Oregon will meet today to review 168 applications made by high school students for the 42 tuition fee scholarships made available for next year to new students, according to Earl M. Pallett, registrar.

Scholarships will be awarded to 31 students who have attended the University or some other institution of higher learning on July 1. Applications by students eligible for the latter type of scholarships must be filed by June 15.

The scholarships will carry a value of $64.50, applying toward annual charges totaling $96 at the University, Oregon State College, and $25, apply toward like charges totaling $51 at the colleges of education.

Dr. Pallett is chairman of the committee which will make recommendations to the state high school contacts committee, which in turn will make the actual awards. Other members of the local committee are Dr. J. H. Gilbert, Dr. C. L. Huffaker, Miss Janet Smith, employment secretary, and Virgil D. Earl, dean of men.

KEHRLI IN SEATTLE

Herman Kehrl, director of the bureau of municipal research, left yesterday for Seattle where he will attend the fifth Pacific Northwest regional planning conference. Phillip A. Parsons, head of the sociology department, is also attending the conference.

The theme of the conference is migration and the development of economic opportunities in the Pacific Northwest. The dates of the meet are April 27, 28, and 29.

GRADS HAVE NEW SON

Mr. and Mrs. Kessler Cannon of Prineville, the former a graduate of '38, are the parents of a son born recently. While on the campus, Mr. Cannon was prominent in speech work, and won the Failing-Beekman contest last year. Mrs. Cannon will be remembered as Blanche Moore, Susan Campbell hall. Mr. Cannon teaches social science and speech at the Prineville high school.

Law school election today at 11 o'clock.

Today's Poem

Two chips upon the voting sea
Lansing or Calkins, which will it be?
History shows that Fortune will knock
On the chip from off the superior bloc.

Freshmen Elections Held Today; Sophs to Revise Constitution

Stan Staiger Slips Up; Forgets to Post Election Notice

By NORMAN FOSTER

With headaches and troubles prevalent to the last, frosh politicians today gulped aspirin and sat back to nervously await the outcome of today's voting in the YMCA hut. The polls opened at 8:15 this morning and will not close until 3 o'clock. Freshmen, desiring to vote for next year's class officers, must have class cards.

The late voting is made possible by a change in the constitution approved by a majority of the freshman class last Wednesday night.

Freshmen up for office are Bob Calkins, independent, and Jack Lansing, Kappa Sig, for president; Barbara Williams, Chi O, and Maxine Hansen, Delta Gamma, for vice-president; Betty Workman, ADPI, and Margaret Young, Theta, for treasurer; Bob Cherney, Pi Kap, and Cullen Murphy, Chi Psi, for treasurer.

Official Sanction Refused

Non-forthcoming official sanction again reared its ugly head among the Lansing for president ranks. The cancelled Willamette dance still fresh in their minds, the Lansing supporters were again disappointed when the dean of men's office refused permission for a parade. A serenade was also called off because of the ruling that no serenades can be given on week nights. So the Lansing contingent contented themselves with painting the streets and pinning up posters.

On the other side of the fence, Bob Calkins for president hopefuls lugged cans of paint about town last night spreading the good word. Circulars were passed around and sororities talked to as the Calkins campaign was brought to a finish.

Cellist, Harpist To Play Tonight

Joint Recital Will Present Howard Jones, Neva Barber

Neva Barber, harpist, and Howard Jones, cellist, will be presented in a joint recital tonight at 8 o'clock in the music auditorium. The public is invited.

Miss Barber will play "Monastery" by Hasse, "Night Breezes" by Salzedo, and "Fantasia" by Schuecker. She is a student of Doris Helen Calkins.

Jones, a sophomore in music under Lora Teshner Ware, professor of cello, will offer "French Village Song" and "Polonaise de Concert" by Popper, "La Fileuse" by Dukler, "The Swan" by Saint-Saens, "Variations Symphoniques" by Boellmann, and other selections. Monroe Richardson will accompany at the piano.

MISS MACDUFF RETURNS TO ANN ARBOR POST

Miss Betty Anne Macduff, daughter of Mrs. Alice Macduff, assistant dean of women, left Sunday for Ann Arbor, Michigan, after a month's visit with her mother here at Oregon.

Miss Macduff is doing research work for the municipal research bureau in Ann Arbor while she works for her master's degree in administration at the University of Michigan. She received her master's degree in journalism there after graduating from the University of Oregon in 1934 from the journalism school.

OSC COEDS VISIT CAMPUS

About thirty Oregon State coeds, under the leadership of Miss Bernice Band, assistant professor of clothing textiles at the state college, visited the University campus yesterday morning.

Bashful Scout Leaves Candy As Good Deed

Some local Boy Scout can take the knot out of his neckerchief and chalk up another good deed for the day.

Yesterday while the Boy Scout leaders were in conference in Gerlinger, one dark-haired little Scout wearing knee paints walked slowly into the dean of women's office and bashfully asked Miss Helen Dodds, secretary to the dean, if she were Miss Dodds. When she said that she was, he handed her a box of candy and dashed for the door. Calling him back she asked him why he should give it to her, but he only said in an embarrassed manner that it was from the Boy Scouts, and left again.

Miss Dodds is still wondering what she has done to deserve it.

Scout Leaders Convene Here

Erb Speaks to Luncheon Meeting In Straub Hall

Boy Scout leaders of the Northwest convened yesterday at Gerlinger hall in their annual regional conference on the theme of "The Functioning Council." The region represented consists of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, western Montana, Alaska, and parts of California, Utah, and Wyoming.

Dr. Donald Erb, president of the University, spoke on "The Volunteer in Scouting" at the luncheon in John Straub hall yesterday.

The morning session opened at 11 o'clock yesterday under the direction of C. C. Colt, president of the Portland area council. A talk on "The Boy and Our Program" was given by E. Urner Goodman of the national council, New York City.

The afternoon was devoted to forum discussions on camping and activities, leadership and training, advancement, and health and safety. "Scouting with Health and Safety" was discussed by Fred C. Mills from the national headquarters in New York.

The evening banquet with Alton F. Baker, president of the Wallamet area council, as toastmaster, had Mr. Goodman as its speaker.

Second ROTC Spring Parade Goes Well, Officers Declare

Officers of the military department were practically shaking hands with themselves following the second spring parade of the year yesterday afternoon. "Very satisfactory," seemed to be the general opinion.

One officer said that this week's parade, which was held from 4:40 to 5:30 yesterday afternoon, was 100 per cent better than last week's.

Major H. L. Barrett, assistant professor of military science, commented especially on the improvement in manual of arms drill which he said had been smoother than previously. He also said that the marching drill had been better.

PICK A NAME

Another original name contest—this time naming a drink—offers an opportunity for some student to win $15, Herschel Taylor, proprietor of Taylor's confectionary, announced yesterday.

The name must not have the word "cola" in it, said Mr. Taylor. Entries must be in by May 5. Further information may be obtained at Taylor's.

Polls Open at 8:15, Close at 3:00; Last Minute Rush Over

By NORMAN FOSTER

Spring fever seems to be catching. Not only does it cause students to forget classes and piggers to forget dates but also class officers to forget about newspaper announcements of elections and nominations. For Stan Staiger, sophomore class press, made the same mistake as did the frosh class president, Jack Daniels, in not giving notice of the nominating convention via the Emerald.

The class constitution, which is apparently on the class presidents' "be sure not to read" list, clearly states that the first notice should appear in the Emerald one week before the date of the convention. No such notice appeared in last Thursday's Emerald. The first mention of the proposed convention was made by Staiger in Tuesday's paper.

Sophs to Meet

The sophomore class meeting tonight in Villard hall will therefore be faced with the necessity of amending their constitution. Between now and 7:30, the time for the assembly, Staiger must get fifty card possessing members of his class to sign the amendment petition. Failing to do so would mean throwing out the subsequent election as illegal.

But according to members of the opposition, his neglect may not have been accidental. Considering the possibility that the bloc opposing the Jim Pickett for president contingent has not as yet brought forth someone to run against him, Staiger's boys are supposedly planning not only to change the constitution in regards to newspaper announcements but also to change it to read that both nominations and elections can be held the same evening. This move would leave their opponents no opportunity to talk up their candidate.

Bloc to Announce

One of the highlights of tonight's meeting will be the announcement of the DU-dorm-Sig Ep bloc as to whom they will run against Jim Pickett, ATO, for president. Also expected to be nominated are Sally Mitchell, Hendricks hall, for vice-president; Carolyn Korte, Sigma Kappa, and Betty Norwood, Tri-Delt, for secretary; Bob Keen, SAF, and Stan Johnson, Phi Sig, for treasurer. The Phi Delt-Beta-Sigma Nu-Kappa Sig-ATO bloc has not as yet offered anyone to run for vice-president of the junior class.

According to present plans, voting for junior class officers will take place in the YMCA hut next Thursday from 9 to 3 o'clock. Only those possessing class cards will be allowed to vote.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of the Class of 1941 this evening at 7:30 in Villard hall. The class picnic and financial matters will be taken up.

Future Teachers Meet Today in Education Building

Today at 4 p.m. there will be a meeting in room 4 of the school of education of all students who wish to do supervised teaching during the year 1939-40. It is very important that all such students be present at this meeting and make formal application if they expect to be assigned for supervised teaching next year. This applies to students in the special fields of music, art, and physical education as well.

F. G. Macomber
Director of Supervision
