

They Helped Plan Junior Weekend

Top photo shows Roy Vernstrom giving Bud Jermain a few pointers to include in his story, publicizing the weekend. In the second shot Anne Frederiksen pours some coffee for Patsy Taylor at the campus luncheon. They were largely responsible for the success of this event. In the third photo Bob Swan and his assistant Dick Armor look over plans of artistic details for the majestic queen's float for the Canoe Fete. Bud Aronson and Glenn Eaton were caught in a pleased mood in the bottom picture just after talking over plans for the Junior Prom.

Tweedledum, Tweedlee Theme of KKG-ATO Float

"Alice went on and on, a long way, but wherever the road divided, there were sure to be two finger-posts pointing the same way, one marked 'To Tweedledum's House,' and the other, 'To the House of Tweedledee.'"

And there followed another of the many meaningless conversations found in Lewis Carroll's 'Alice in Wonderland.' But the Kappa Kappa Gamma-Alpha Tau Omega float, which will be ninth in the canoe fete parade tonight, will be far from meaningless. Tweedledum and Tweedledee will represent a couple of labor leaders whose names are as familiar as the lady who will be represented by a black crow that will swoop down to interrupt their quarrel. Guess who they are!

Holman's orchestra with "I Get Along Without You Very Well." Anne McCrea, Marjory Clear, Marjorie Churchill, and Eleanor Nelson are working on the Kappa committee. Betty Plankington, formerly on the committee, is one of the most unfortunate persons on the campus—she's a patient in the infirmary. ATO float builders are Bud Rousseau, Bob Wick, and Bill Seivert.

All-Star Grid

Table listing names and initials for an all-star grid, including Varsity, Blenkinsop, Peters, Passolt, Cadanesso, Segale, Stewart, Reginato, Isberg, B. Smith, Emmons, and Donovan.

Special Church Services Will Honor Oregon Mothers Sunday

Many Groups Make Plans For Extensive Programs; Two Large Teas Planned

- WHERE TO FIND EUGENE CHURCHES
First Baptist, Broadway and High.
First Congregational, Thirteenth and Ferry.
First Christian, Eleventh and Oak.
First Church of Christ, Scientist, Twelfth and Oak.
First Methodist, Twelfth and Willamette.
Central Presbyterian, Tenth and Pearl.
St. Mary's Episcopal, Thirteenth and Pearl.
United Lutheran, Thirteenth and High.
Central Lutheran, Sixth and Pearl.
St. Mary's Catholic, Eleventh and Charnelton.
Westminster House, 1414 Kincaid.

An extensive program honoring visiting Oregon mothers as well as women in their own churches has been outlined for this Sunday by local church groups. Starting with the 8 o'clock hour, programs of pageants, songs, sermons, and teas will follow during the day.

Two large teas are planned from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon by the senior Guild Girls of the Baptist church and the youth council of the Methodist church. Planned by Miss Genevieve McClain and her committee headed by Miss Edith Paris, in charge of the program, the tea at the Baptist church will be formal. It will be held in the church parlors. The Methodist students will entertain their mothers in the Wesley foundation rooms. Committees headed by Miss Leslie Brockelbank are arranging the program. In the receiving line will be Mrs. Glenn Griffith, Epworth league adviser; Hayes Beall, Wesley foundation director; Leslie Adams, Epworth league; Dorothy Rowland, Wesley club presidents; Lovisa Youngs Ayres will sing. Other numbers are arranged by Genevieve Working and Glenn Griffith.

Pi Phi-Omega Have Humpty Dumpty Float

Here it comes! It's the Pi Beta Phi-Omega hall float—the tenth and last in the procession of house entries. It represents "Humpty Dumpty," and the theme, as was the case in all other floats, was taken from Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland."

Humpty Dumpty will play a caricature of F.D.R. sitting on his third term wall. The commentator recites: "Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall: Humpty Dumpty had a great fall. All the King's horses and all the King's men Couldn't put Humpty Dumpty in his place again."

As Humpty Dumpty falls from the wall, Art Holman's orchestra will swing out with "Franklin D. Roosevelt Jones." Janet Stinson is float chairman in the Pi Phi house, and Peter Wiley is taking charge for Omega hall.

Westminster students will honor their mothers at the annual mothers' program at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning. Students are urged to bring a friend if their mother is unable to attend. Fred Beardsley and Bill Woods will sing on the program which is being arranged by Bob Knox.

Methodist Program At the Methodist church, the junior department will present a pageant, "Mothers of the World," at the 9:45 general assembly of the Sunday school to start the day's program. Dr. B. Earle Parker will speak on "The Path to the Best" and the choir, directed by Glenn Griffith, will present Mendelssohn's cantata, "Hear My Prayer" with Miss Robin LeVec as soloist at the 11 o'clock hour.

The afternoon tea will be followed by the regular student meetings at 6:30 o'clock. Wesley foundation members will join with the Epworth league members in a special service to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Epworth league.

Holy Communion service at St. Mary's Episcopal church will open the Mothers' day observances there. The special service is scheduled for the 11 o'clock hour with Rev. H. R. White speaking on "Permanent Values." The student group will meet at 6:30 o'clock.

At Baptist Church "Mary, the Mother of Jesus" is the topic announced for the morning hour by Dr. A. J. Harms, minister of the Baptist church. The BYPU will meet at 6:30 o'clock after the afternoon tea. Featured at the 7:30 o'clock evening service will be the junior choir. Rev. C. W. McAninch, religious education director at the church, will speak on "I Would Be True."

Lutherans List Programs The Central Lutheran church and Rev. P. J. Luvaas and Rev. Frank S. Beistel are planning special Mothers' day services at 11 o'clock. The Lutheran students will meet at the YWCA bungalow at 6 o'clock.

Central Presbyterian The service at the Central Presbyterian church will give special recognition to all mothers. Dr. Norman K. Tully will speak on "Home in the Modern Society," stressing the mother's place and her right to receive help from the family. A special offering for the Mothers of the Manse, retired missionaries, and widows of ministers in need of assistance, will be taken. The choir has also selected appropriate music for the day.

Westminster House Harlow Hudson, art school faculty member, will lead the Westminster forum at 6:30 o'clock. He will discuss "The Danger of Tolerance." The Sunday afternoon tea and social hour will be held at 6 o'clock.

Mothers were honored at a tea in Gerlinger in the late afternoon. Highlight of the evening was the Junior Prom, with Art Holman and his "boys" on the bandstand, a capacity crowd, and decorations which were "right."

Ad Honorary Pledges Five "Gee—but it's hot!" That was just about the most frequent remark heard by five spring pledges of Alpha Delta Sigma, men's national advertising honorary, yesterday. The five men were chosen for their interest and adeptness in the field of advertising, for their personalities, and for the good the chapter could do for them and their value to the chapter.

The men who were elected to the chapter were Phil Bladine, junior in journalism, McMinnville; Gleeson "Tiger" Payne, sophomore in journalism, The Dalles; Jim Frost, freshman in journalism, Newberg; Jack Saltzman, freshman in business administration, Portland; and Bob Swan, junior in architecture and allied arts, Portland.

As part of the strenuous rigors of their initiation, the pledges had to sell advertising for their sand-wich boards to Eugene merchants, and carry them over the campus.

Roy Vernstrom Wins (Continued from page one) seen in an Oregon. Always influential in student affairs, he was elected last week as second vice-president of the student body. His home is in Portland.

These two winners follow a long line of outstanding students, presidents of the ASUO, editors of the Emerald, young men and women who have in many cases achieved distinction in their chosen vocations and in the affairs of their state.

The Koyl cup was put up for the first time in 1914 by Charles W. Koyl, class of 1911, who, active on the campus in student affairs and Christian work, has devoted his life to the work of the Young Men's Christian association and is now in that field in California. The first winner was Herbert W. Lombard, now a practicing attorney in Cottage Grove. The name engraved on the cup for the last year is that of Zane Kemler of Pendleton, first vice-president of the associated students.

Dates From 1918 The Gerlinger cup was presented in 1918 by Irene H. (Mrs. Geo. T.) Gerlinger of Dallas and Portland, then a member of the board of regents of the University of Oregon, to whose devotion to the University the women's building (Gerlinger hall) stands as a monument. Mrs. Gerlinger personally directed the raising of a full half of the money with which the building was erected; and it was the hard half, the first. The rest was appropriated as "match money" by the state legislature. The first winner of the Gerlinger cup, given in recognition of qualities of noble young womanhood, was Robert Schuebel of Oregon City, first woman law major on the University of Oregon campus, now Mrs. J. E. Caldwell of Oregon City.

Winner last year was Mariou Beth Wolfendast of Portland.

Supreme in Command Over All Junior Weekend

A queen and five princesses... The Canoe Fete tonight will climax their second day of rule. In the center is the queen, Maxine Glad, surrounded by her royal court (from left to right): Patsy Taylor, Helen Gilliam, Alyce Rogers, and Margaret Williams.

Ad Honorary Pledges Five

Standing beside the big horse is a silver-colored metallic figure of a young colt entering his first show. He is prancing gaily and seems to be laughing at his audience.

Model Saddle Horse A model American saddle horse in bronze stands ready for a rider on this shelf. He is from the home of good horses, Ashville, South Carolina.

Roy Vernstrom Wins (Continued from page one) seen in an Oregon. Always influential in student affairs, he was elected last week as second vice-president of the student body. His home is in Portland.

These two winners follow a long line of outstanding students, presidents of the ASUO, editors of the Emerald, young men and women who have in many cases achieved distinction in their chosen vocations and in the affairs of their state.

The Koyl cup was put up for the first time in 1914 by Charles W. Koyl, class of 1911, who, active on the campus in student affairs and Christian work, has devoted his life to the work of the Young Men's Christian association and is now in that field in California. The first winner was Herbert W. Lombard, now a practicing attorney in Cottage Grove. The name engraved on the cup for the last year is that of Zane Kemler of Pendleton, first vice-president of the associated students.

Dates From 1918 The Gerlinger cup was presented in 1918 by Irene H. (Mrs. Geo. T.) Gerlinger of Dallas and Portland, then a member of the board of regents of the University of Oregon, to whose devotion to the University the women's building (Gerlinger hall) stands as a monument. Mrs. Gerlinger personally directed the raising of a full half of the money with which the building was erected; and it was the hard half, the first. The rest was appropriated as "match money" by the state legislature. The first winner of the Gerlinger cup, given in recognition of qualities of noble young womanhood, was Robert Schuebel of Oregon City, first woman law major on the University of Oregon campus, now Mrs. J. E. Caldwell of Oregon City.

Winner last year was Mariou Beth Wolfendast of Portland.

Shiney Metal Horses Grace Prof Washke's Shelves

A gleaming bronze statue of "Man-o-War," racing history's greatest horse, stands in a prominent place in the office of Paul R. Washke, professor of physical education.

A part of his collection of metal horses, the statue stands five inches high and measures over seven inches in length. The horse was a gift to Mr. Washke from his wife.

Standing beside the big horse is a silver-colored metallic figure of a young colt entering his first show. He is prancing gaily and seems to be laughing at his audience.

Model Saddle Horse A model American saddle horse in bronze stands ready for a rider on this shelf. He is from the home of good horses, Ashville, South Carolina.

Roy Vernstrom Wins (Continued from page one) seen in an Oregon. Always influential in student affairs, he was elected last week as second vice-president of the student body. His home is in Portland.

These two winners follow a long line of outstanding students, presidents of the ASUO, editors of the Emerald, young men and women who have in many cases achieved distinction in their chosen vocations and in the affairs of their state.

The Koyl cup was put up for the first time in 1914 by Charles W. Koyl, class of 1911, who, active on the campus in student affairs and Christian work, has devoted his life to the work of the Young Men's Christian association and is now in that field in California. The first winner was Herbert W. Lombard, now a practicing attorney in Cottage Grove. The name engraved on the cup for the last year is that of Zane Kemler of Pendleton, first vice-president of the associated students.

Dates From 1918 The Gerlinger cup was presented in 1918 by Irene H. (Mrs. Geo. T.) Gerlinger of Dallas and Portland, then a member of the board of regents of the University of Oregon, to whose devotion to the University the women's building (Gerlinger hall) stands as a monument. Mrs. Gerlinger personally directed the raising of a full half of the money with which the building was erected; and it was the hard half, the first. The rest was appropriated as "match money" by the state legislature. The first winner of the Gerlinger cup, given in recognition of qualities of noble young womanhood, was Robert Schuebel of Oregon City, first woman law major on the University of Oregon campus, now Mrs. J. E. Caldwell of Oregon City.

Winner last year was Mariou Beth Wolfendast of Portland.

Campus Swings

(Continued from page one) Namitz represented Arabia in a striped affair that really was pretty. And there was lively Sunny Stanke with a hoop, escorted by Phi Psi's Woody Slater. Everyone was there! And it was a grand dance!

Les Harger Shines Les Harger did himself proud as MC, bringing Queen Maxine I and her princesses to the throne. Pretty Miss Glad was in the arms of Gordy Benson a great share of the evening. Rita Wright looked just plenty happy upon receiving the Gerlinger cup and Roy's fack was a knockout, as was his handshake when he got the Koyle cup. It was a great evening. One not to be forgotten soon.

Jack Huemmer spent the greater part of the evening by the door, taking tickets and passing a coke bottle! ("Take it easy, Jim!") Tony Amato was in the background. Vice-President Barker went over big... he really has a sense of humor... when he announced the awards to houses. And Pat Taylor rendered a song! Incidentally, folks, latest has the Koyle cup winner now steady with that personality girl, Bernadine Bowman!

Quite a group of mamas were there in the balcony but few answered the gracious invitation of Scotty Corbett to join in on the dance floor. Educational activities head, Foot, was on the floor with a pretty girl, swinging it with every one else. And were folks "swinging it!" Wally Patterson and his Susan Campbell coed really have a dance system all their own! Several old faces were back on the campus including Theta Chi's Bill Vermilion. Bill Loud had vivacious Barbara Benham in tow for the evening, while Gale Ferris must have been with Margaret Williams. And Ek-Prexy Harry Weston's cute sister Jane was on the campus again. Tri Delt Betty Hobbs was with Footballe Art Winetrot, making hay while the music lasted. But there were too many and yours truly can name but a few. Everyone must have had a good time. We did!

Hunters Stand Ready Two thoroughbred hunters, one in bronze, the other in brass, are standing bridled and ready to go on the trail.

The collection is limited to horse-owners without riders. They carry associations of places seen while in travel, too, for the models have come from New Orleans, San Francisco, and other cities.

Mr. Washke's horses are not limited to his metal models, for he keeps two standard-bred trotting horses in a stable near Eugene.

Floats Discussed

(Continued from page one) dences, and sevens of hearts painted on it, was supposed to be a secret, but it seemed everyone knew about it. Great secret. P.S. The theme is "The House of Cards." And all the boys are sure it's a winner without a doubt. But everyone else said theirs was a winner, too, so what am I to think, or you.

To Play Croquet The Sigma Chis and the Chi Omegas are going to play croquet. What if a ball should fall overboard? In looking at the float, everyone asks, "Whatcha gonna do, play checkers?" But the Sigma Chis are going to pull one of those darn surprises, so what can one believe. In the three days the float has been under construction the Sigma Chis have been having a little trouble. Monday night someone threw their barge in the race before it was completed, and the boys had to go fishing.

After sixty years on the scrap heap the Monitor is going to run again. Propelled by the Kappa Sig freshmen, and supporting Orion and Unicorn, and "Daisy Mae" Storkerson, in a whirling barrel. Bill Andrus, Joe Beach, Jerry McDonald, Janet Foster, and Helen Chestnut have spent the major part of the last three days putting their concoction together, with the Kappa Sig freshmen holding down the night duty of guarding their float as have all the other houses concerned.

Went down to the other floats to ask a few questions and all I could get was "It's a secret," or "Can't divulge the title," or "Go see the boss who isn't here now." So the roving reporter says "so what," and came up to write his story.

Stovel's Men

(Continued from Page Two) Short, rooks. Height, 11 feet, 6 inches.

Broad jump—Won by Dickson frosh; second, Ettinger, ricks; tie for third between Adams and McKee, frosh. Distance, 20 feet 11 inches.

220 low hurdles—Won by Dickson, frosh; second, Luther, frosh; third, Scoggin, frosh. Time, 26.5.

Discuss—Won by Regner, frosh; second, Moddemyer, rooks; third, Olsen, frosh. Distance, 132 feet 10 1/2 inches.

Relay—Won by Oregon frosh (Toole, Olsen, Lee, Steacie). Time, 3:36.3.

SUN GOGGLES

for scientific, comfortable glare protection. Bausch Lomb's Ray-Bans not only increase visibility and sharpen the horizon, but give 100% protection.

Dr. Ella C. Meade OPTOMETRIST

Phone 330

14 West 8th