VOLUME XLI

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1939

NUMBER 9

They Didn't Get Far

This Stanford drive netted almost 20 yards in the opening quarter of the Oregon-Stanford game, but the Webfoot defense held the Indians away from the goal line. The lemon and green eleven went on to win, 10 to 0. Pictured above is Norman Standlee, Stanford back, with the ball behind perfect interference of Gene Coldiron (8) and Hampton Pool (24). Waiting for the advancing Indians is Oregon's Bill Regner.

Southland Beckons Victorious Webfoots

Stanford Eleven Beaten, 10 to 0 As Oliver's Crew Continues Scourge of California Gridmen

By RAY FOSTER

Two down, and one to go! Everyone said that it just couldn't happen, yet it has and from the way it looks now our University of Oregon football team has a chance to make the third California team in as many weeks sorry that they ever said anything about meeting the Coast conference south to the "bigger schools."

Stanford was the second big hurdle in two weeks for Tex Oliver's boys, and all of Portland agrees that the 10 to 0 score in favor of Oregon doesn't show the superiority of the Webfoots. Not since the golden days of 1933 and all-American Mike Mikulak has the big city seen a faster charging team from Eugene.

Hard, clean blocking and tackling made the difference in the two teams. The all-veteran Oregon line from right end to left tackle kept the vaunted Stanford passing attack going backwards most of the afternoon.

Webfoots Pass

On the other hand, that Oregon showed a passing attack that they have been talking about for the last two years. Short passes that made their mark, and long ones that were snagged on the run had the stands in an uproar. One throw by the scoring hero, little Jay Graybeal, will be talked about for a long time to come.

Little Jay started from Stanford's 42 in the fourth quarter, ran backwards about 15 yards like a basketball player weaving down the floor, and then suddenly whipped around and slung a long diagonal pass to Denny Donovan standing on the five. Denny was tackled on the two and Jay booted a field goal four plays later.

The first score came in the same manner as the initial touchdown in the Southern California game. Oregon got the ball late in the second quarter in enemy territory, and then started slinging that pigskin. Bob Smith heaved a couple to Graybeal, and a score was made with but 27 seconds to play. The second pass went over 50 yards in the air. Jay also converted the extra point.

FROSH MASS FOR ELECTION

Nominating Board Will Be Headed by Sederstrom

First signs of autumn and perhaps flying south, sidewalks littered with many hued leaves and the annual freshman nominations and elections. Said nominations to take place tomorrow night at 7:45 p.m. in the Villard hall assembly room. Verdi Sederstrom, first vice-president, secretary and treasurer, body, will be in charge of the nomination convention in the absence of Roy Verinstrom who is on a debate trip.

Class Will Nominate
Having last week set themselves up as an official class by accepting a constitution, the class of '43 will nominate members as candidates for the offices of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Nominations will be from the floor. It has been pointed out by Sederstrom that nominations may also be made via the petition method. The petition must be signed by thirty bona fide members of the class of '43 and must be filed with Chairman Sederstrom on or before midnight of the second day following the nomination convention.

Cards Necessary
Attendance to tomorrow night's convention can be gained by only those persons holding class cards, according to Sederstrom. "Freshmen should give careful and thoughtful consideration of candidates in order to secure the best possible type of individual to represent them in campus activities," said Sederstrom in an interview last night. Voting will take place a week from tomorrow, October 18, in the YMCA hut. The polls will be open from 9 in the morning to 8 in the afternoon.

Extracurriculars To Be Discussed by Onthank Wednesday

Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel, is scheduled to speak to the freshman group of the YMCA on extra-curricular opportunities at 7:30 Wednesday night in the "hut." Elements and factors important in a choice of an activity are also to be considered, according to Paul D. Sutley, executive secretary of the YMCA.

The technique for organizing the freshman council will also be explained. The rest of the program for the month of October will be announced.

The libraries of U. S. institutions of higher learning contain more than 82,000,000 bound volumes.

Series of Pictures Of Emerald Staff To Be Taken 4 p.m.

A series of pictures of the Emerald business and news staffs will be taken this afternoon at 4 o'clock. All staff members must be at the journalism building at that time. Charles Kenyon, campus photographer, will be in charge of picture taking. Pictures will be taken of all those students who have already been placed on the staffs and those students who have applied for positions, but have not yet been notified of their appointment.

Dean Onthank Asks Pictures Be Taken Before Tuesday

All new Oregon students who have not had identification pictures taken or registered for an appointment to have them made will have their registration canceled unless they report to the office of Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel by 5 o'clock this evening.

Students may signify their intention having the necessary "shots" taken by making an appointment in the office of Karl W. Onthank, in room 112, Johnson hall today. Identification pictures are necessary for coordinating the work of the personnel office with the various schools and departments, and for permanent University records.

Show Profits To Benefit AWS Funds

Carnival Proceeds To Make Available Eight Scholarships

Eight deserving students will benefit from the proceeds taken in at the AWS carnival on October 28. Money taken at the carnival will be placed in the association's scholarship fund.

Anne Frederiksen, president of AWS, reports that the proceeds from the past carnivals have gone into the scholarship funds and also toward other things of value to students. Last year, through part of the proceeds from the spring carnival, AWS was able to have Ruth Bryan Owen visit the campus and talk to the students.

This year a sectional conference will be held here in the spring with delegates from over 60 schools in the Northwest attending. It is toward this conference that some of the money collected from this year's carnival will go, besides aiding the scholarship fund.

With the majority of the student body contacted to work on the carnival, the AWS prexy feels that it will be a great success. "Last spring the attendance reached a new high, and this fall, due to Oregon's enlarged enrollment, we should have a bigger attendance at the carnival than ever before," she said.

Donna Ketchum, chairman of the finance committee, announced that admission will be ten cents.

Students Urged to Buy Oreganas at Early Date On Easy Payment Plan

The 1940 Oregana, the University of Oregon All-American yearbook, goes on sale in the various living organizations today. During registration just concluded the Oregana hit a new all time high for that period when there were 1730 books sold. This is considerably higher than what was sold during the same period last year.

The agents, one in every living organization on the campus, will for the next three weeks sell the books to prospective customers. The big reason for having such a drive is that the amount of books to be printed must be in to the printer before the close of the term, and the business manager would like to know as closely as possible the number of students that wish to order a copy of the yearbook.

This year it is the hope that 2400 books will be sold, 200 more than last year when 2200 sold. This is the largest number of Oreganas ever to be distributed in any one year.

Dick Williams, business manager, pointed out that the two easiest methods of purchasing the book are as follows:
1. Pay one dollar down now, one dollar at winter and spring term registration and have two dollars deducted from the general deposit.
2. If a $15 ASUO card was purchased, the student has a dollar credit due. That credit is good for the initial down payment.

Last year during the drive better than 125 books were sold with practically all of the purchasers using the term payment plan as explained above.

Theodore Kratt Will Speak Before Civic Groups Around State
Numerous speaking engagements in various parts of the state have been accepted by Dr. Theodore Kratt, new dean of the University of Oregon school of music, it was revealed here today.

Dean Kratt will speak on October 20 at a banquet to be given in Portland by the Portland Music Teachers association, according to word received from the Portland pianist, David Campbell, who made the invitation.

On October 27 Dean Kratt will be guest speaker for the Oregon Music Educators association in Salem. Other speaking engagements before other civic organizations and music clubs will be announced later.

Of Capital university's 1939 education graduates, 72 per cent have been placed in teaching positions.

Phi Theta Calls for Activity Women

Independent women not registered in campus living organizations who are interested in breaking into the activity field should call at Dean of Women Hazel P. Schwering's office for activity questionnaires, Ma-jeanne Glover, Phi Theta prexy, announced last night.

The questionnaires, which have already been distributed to girls in living organizations, ask for the names of the activities in which each girl is interested. From these files, Phi Theta, the junior women's honorary, will begin its freshman orientation program designed to find places in activities for interested girls, Majeanne said.

Quill Honorary Reveals Plans

Sigma Delta Chi Meet at 4 Today; Reports in Offing

Plans for another "greater year" will be under way at 4 o'clock today when the University chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national journalism organization, holds its first meeting of 1939-40 in room 104, journalism building, it was announced Monday night.

Plans for the high school press conference to be held on the campus October 20-21 will be made by members participating in sessions. Pasero will report on the fraternity's convention, which he attended in Palo Alto in August, and give a brief financial report.

Glenn Hasselrooth, promotion secretary, will report on the community service contest he conducted in June with the cooperation of Calvin M. Bryan, Eugene city recorder, and the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association.

Eight in Infirmary With Colds, Student Hospital Heads Staff

Eight students complaining of minor ailments or waiting for a diagnosis of case were abed in the infirmary yesterday. Common cold patients have been filling the campus hospital to date, infirmary nurses said.

Yesterday's sick list included June Griffith, Harold Wickman, Phyllis Bryan, Edward O'Reilly, Joan Murphy, Doris McAlister, Rae Sprague, and Ernest Lewis.

Tickets Given Out In Houses

ASUO Card Holders Cash in on Bonus Reduction Rate

BULLETIN
All independent students with ASUO cards can get their exchange tickets to "Our Town" at the box office in Johnson hall. These tickets are given free and entitle the holder to a twenty-five-cent reduction on a regular reserve seat ticket to the play.

Distribution of exchange tickets to all ASUO card holders, entitling them to a twenty-five-cent reduction to "Our Town," Pulitzer prize play, was begun in all living organizations last night. The play will be presented October 12, 13, and 14 at the University theater.

Students receiving these tickets have only to take them to the box office in Johnson and for twenty-five cents receive a reserve seat to the play. Regular prices for all non-ASUO card holders is fifty cents.

"Those wishing to attend are urged to get their tickets early in order to insure a seat for the performance," according to a bulletin from the office of Mrs. Ottilie T. Seybolt, director of dramatics. The performances of "Our Town" during the summer has caused Mrs. Seybolt to predict "standing room only" crowds at the fall opening.

Horace Robinson, assistant professor of dramatics, will take the role of stage manager. N. B. Zane, associate professor of space arts, has been cast as Professor Willard.

Actors in "Our Town" have been drawn from various organizations throughout Eugene: from the University, faculty members, grammar school, and "Very Little Theater." University talent used in the play is Ed Larson, Mary Margaret Gedney, Jerry Lakefish, James Parsons, Don Root, Delmar Rice, Betty Jane Quigley, Jim Davidson, Howard Speer, Janice Jones, Ray Dickson, Betty Fiksdahl, and Mary Booth.
