Robinson Principal Factor In Defeat of Webfoot Team At Los Angeles Coliseum

Uclan Breaks Away Twice to Garner
Decisive Touchdowns: Statistics Show
Oregon as Superior Field Eleven

By RAY FOSTER

It took the "fastest man in football" to beat the best Oregon team ever to play in the Los Angeles coliseum, last Saturday 16 to 6, and 35,000 fans will probably agree to this fact. Jackie Robinson of UCLA is the man, and Tex Oliver's 1939 Webfoot varsity is the team.

Jackie was held all day by the superior Oregon line, except for two times, and that was the ball game. Once he started on his 18 and streaked all the way down the sidelines on a reverse to the promised land 82 yards away.

Dorm Booth Money-maker At Carnival

Stanford Indian
Theme Captures
Division Honors

The first prize for the booth taking in the most money Saturday night at the annual AWS carnival was awarded to the dart and balloon concession of Sigma hall, Zeta Tau Alpha and Gamma hall. The Alpha Phi Alpha Tau Omega booth received honorable mention along with the Sigma Chi University street Cooperative concession. Those judging were Mrs. G. Morris, Eyley Brown, and George Root.

The prize for the best looking booth went to the Hilyard Cooperative and Sherry Ross hall who portrayed the Stanford Indians. The Alpha Phi and Alpha Tau Omega booth again received honorable mention under this category, with the DU and Kappa booth bringing up third.

According to Barbara Stallcup and Sally Mitchell, co-chairmen, the carnival made more money than ever has been made before. "This is due to the splendid cooperation of every individual on the campus who did his or her bit toward making this year's carnival a real success," was the sentiment expressed by the co-chairmen.

Onthank Back After Illness

Dean of Personnel Karl W. Onthank returned to his office in Johnson hall yesterday after being absent for a week because of illness.

The personnel head became sick on October 21 while fulfilling a speaking engagement in Hood River. He was moved to Good Samaritan hospital in Portland early last week where he remained until his release on Friday. Physicians diagnosed the illness as a throat infection of an undetermined type.

Onthank will be in his office only part of each day until his convalescence is completed.

Sigma Chi Launches Sweetheart Contest

Betty Anderson, elected Sweetheart of Sigma Chi last year by members of the Oregon chapter, will preside as hostess when the fraternity entertains this evening for one-half of the candidates entered this year in their annual sweetheart contest.

A sweetheart is chosen each year from freshman girls who are not immediate relatives of Sigma Chis. Each women's living organization selects two candidates to enter the contest. Those chosen will be entertained twice at the chapter house before the final selection by the members of Sigma Chi.

Five finalists are picked in preliminary balloting with the presidents of the living organizations having a girl in the finals acting as an honorary election board for the counting of the final vote.

The coed who receives the honor will be the guest of the fraternity at a banquet where she will be "pinned" with the Sweetheart cross.

Remaining candidates who are not entertained tonight will be guests of the fraternity Thursday.

Brother's Notes Effect Cure For Vernstrom

Roy Vernstrom is cured for all time of the habit of sending those postcards reading, "Having swell time, wish you were here."

Last summer, while on a three thousand mile trip, Roy flooded his brother's mail box with those teasers. Walt Vernstrom, former business manager of the Emerald is now in the same position on the Bend Bulletin.

Walt wrote up a bunch of similar cards last week and gave them to a friend to mail to Roy while the friend was on a flying trip down south. The bewildered younger brother received several cards each day from all major points in California, each saying, "having swell time, nice clubs grand, wish you were here."

Another dusky figure played a prominent role in the heart-breaking defeat, one Kenny Washington. He was the man to throw a 52-yard pass to Robinson from his own 34 to the Duck 23, and Jack scampered over again, with Buck Berry and Roy Dyer on his heels.

Oregana Sale Push Near End

Rise of 100 Over
Last Year's Quota
Of 2200 Expected

The 1940 Oregana drive will end this coming Friday in its first phase of attempting to place into the hands of every student possible a copy of the book. Although the drive this year is not setting any records, the orders are coming into the office as steadily as can be expected, stated Dick Williams, business manager.

During the registration period last month the Oregana was ahead of last year's totals by 126 orders. Williams accounts for this rise in figures to the increase in enrollment. He expects to sell about 100 more books to the students this year over the 2200 total of last year.

No Exception
"It seems that each year the business manager can expect to sell about 63 per cent of the student body and this year is not going to be any exception. It is not the policy of the business staff to make the students think that they are obligated to purchase a copy of the book."

"It is just our policy to make the students aware of the fact that nowhere on the coast is their yearbook supported with such enthusiasm and sales as it is here on the Oregon campus," Williams said.

With the drive terminating this week there is nothing from keeping a student from ordering a copy of the Oregana during the remainder of the term. The Oregana office is open every day of the week from 2 until 5 and there is always somebody there to take an order. The next concerted effort to get new subscribers will not be until next year at the winter term registration.

Accurate Estimate
As it was stated previously in the Emerald the main reason for the drive was to obtain as closely as possible the amount of students desiring a copy of the book so a more accurate amount of copies necessary could be had. The paper for the Oregana has to be ordered in December and the educational activities board doesn't wish to hazard a guess as to how many books have to be printed.

Williams asks that all the house agents check their Oregana cards into him sometime this week so the staff can start on the other phases of the book.

Dean Salem Speaker
Dean Victor P. Morris will speak in Salem today to the Salem Kiwanis club on the topic, "America's Relation to European War," and will discuss the question of American neutrality.

Monday evening Dean Morris spoke on his regular radio program, "The World in Review," over KOAC on the question, "Is the European War a Hoax?"

$35,494 Returned To State

Appropriations Cut
Made to Assist
Budget Balancing

The return of $35,494 of their budget appropriation to the general fund of the state was the State Board of Higher Education's chief business at their monthly meeting Saturday at Corvallis. The return was made in cooperation with Governor Charles A. Sprague's budget-balancing program.

The governor's request included $33,619 from the supplemental appropriation made for higher education and $1875 from the amount appropriated for improving radio station KOAC in Corvallis. The board voted unanimously to cut the budget.

Student Increase Cause
E. C. Sammons, chairman of the finance committee, said Saturday that the grant was being returned in the face of increased student bodies in each school because "the finance committee feels that the board and its institutions should cooperate with the program of the governor in attempting to balance the state income and expenditures."

Although the board discussed the matter of selecting a new president for Oregon State College to succeed President George W. Peavy after his retirement next summer, no action was taken.

Group Inspects Building
Members of the educational group inspected the new chemistry building on the OSC campus Friday, and later voted final approval of the $425,000 structure. Additions to the 1939 budget made during the two-day session included $24,715.90 for Oregon State, $16,663.77 for the University, and $4214 for the Eastern Oregon College of Education. These additions will be financed through added resources from student fees, it was decided.

ROTC Cadets Will Parade

Armistice Day
Plans Completed

In the first full dress parade of the year, the University of Oregon ROTC corps will march en masse in the coming Armistice day parade, it was announced Monday by the military department.

According to the latest plans the corps will meet the parade as it returns from the downtown district, and will act as escorts of honor to the principal speaker and company. The parade is scheduled to end at Gerlinger hall, where the assembly will hear the speakers in a patriotic celebration, and will reverse the war dead.

It has been tentatively announced that Joseph Carson, mayor (Please turn to page four)

Dr. Kelley to Visit UO for Two Days

The newly-appointed secretary for college work in the department of education of the Episcopal church national council, Rev. Alden Drew Kelley, will arrive on the campus today for a two-day visit. Ordained in 1930, he has done most of his work with students as head of St. Francis house, and student chaplain at the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Kelley will celebrate early morning communion service for Episcopal students Wednesday from 7 to 8 o'clock in the men's lounge, Helen Lyles, Episcopal student director, announced yesterday. The communion service will be followed by a breakfast.

In the evening, Dr. Kelley will speak at 8 o'clock at the church. A social hour will follow Dr. Kelley's talk.

Drama Student Mastering Art Of Walking

After 45 minutes of attempting to master the walk of an old man in rehearsal yesterday, it was still rather doubtful whether P. T. Chiolero was imitating Boris Karloff in the "Chamber of Horrors" or just a "pleasure-bent" cowboy.

This is just one of the many details that the cast of "The Arms and the Man" have to polish off by opening night, November 16, 17, and 18.

"P. T." takes the part of Nicola, the family butler, and must walk with loose-jointed servant shuffle. Another wrinkle the actors are trying to iron out is how to drop a heavy suitcase on the toe of Petkoff without sending the blustering major, played by Ed Burtenshaw, to the infirmary with a broken foot.

Steps Taken In Curbing 'Vandalism'

Webfoot Leaders
Confer With OSC
Student Heads

The first step toward tempering the "vandalism" that might accompany the Oregon-OSC gridiron battle slated for Homecoming weekend was made yesterday when Webfoot government leaders met with OSC heads in a friendly relations conclave in Corvallis.

John Dick, ASUO president, and Burton Barr, general homecoming head, discussed weekend plans yesterday afternoon with Don Drake, editor of the Barometer, and Ralph Floberg, president of the student body of the OSC associated students.

"Our aim is not only to have Oregon be host to the 6,000 alumni expected here November 11, but also to be hosts to the 2,000 OSC students that will be here too," Barr said last night upon return from the meeting.

"For about the first time in homecoming history," the weekend head continued, "we are making it a special point to invite a great many dignitaries from the state college to be University guests for the game too." He indicated that a campus-wide effort would be made at both schools to keep the general tone of the celebration on a high plane.

Second Pledge Period Slated New System Used To Aid Freshmen

The "hunting season" for prospective pledges for Oregon fraternities which have not yet reached their quota limit will start tomorrow when pledging officially reopened.

All pledging for men's houses was closed from the end of rush week until the November 1 date, which falls tomorrow, as a part of the new rushing program inaugurated this year.

Fraternities which wish to pledge additional men will petition for this right through Dean of Men Virgil D. Earl to the freshman week committee, headed by O. F. Stafford, dean of lower division.

Commenting on the closed pledging period in effect for the first time this year Dean Stafford said, "We desire to get the business of rushing out of the way during pre-freshman week as far as possible, before scholastic activity begins and then through the closed period provide a definite break in rushing activity while the new students are getting adjusted to college life. We believe the plan as used this year was successful in accomplishing this purpose."

Lively Weekend On Tap for Alums

Noise Fest Schedule Disclosed

Racket This Year
Will Surpass All
Former Attempts

BULLETIN

Drawing for house pairings for the forthcoming homecoming noise parade will be held today at 4 o'clock at the College Side. All living organizations who intend to participate in the parade must send a representative to today's drawing.

Not only will it be the greatest homecoming celebration in the history of Oregon, but the weekend of November 10 to 12 inclusive will also be the noisiest homecoming of them all, according to extensive plans laid by the noise parade committee in a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Led by a spearhead of flaring, smoking torches in the hands of freshmen, the noisiest noise parade will blaze its way from the center of Eugene to the site of the traditional pre-game bonfire. The parade will be well illuminated by the dancing light of some 700 torches flanking the racket producing floats of campus living organizations.

Band Will Play
The many alums, townspeople, and students who will line the streets to participate in this symbol of every loyal rooster's faith in his team and school will be greeted by the music of the University of Oregon band competing with the roar from every conceivable noise-making contrivance that will make up the 1939 homecoming noise parade.

The route of the procession, as announced by Richard Werschkul, chairman of the parade committee, is as follows: The starting point is to be the corner of Fifth and Willamette streets. The parade will get underway promptly at 7:45 the night of November 10. From the (Please turn to page three)

Band Maestro

Leon Mojica, leader of an orchestra featuring a Spanish style of music, will bring his group to the Igloo on November 11 for the homecoming dance.

Budget of $30 Set by Committee For Parade Entries

The living organizations paired together will be allowed to spend only a total of $30 in preparing their entry. This figure is to be divided equally between the living organizations paired. The amount, type, and method of making noise shall be limited only by the ingenuity of the contestants. Chief of Police Bergmann of the city of Eugene asks, however, that the entrants use no vehicle which might conceivably tear up the streets. Any entries with cleated wheels will be prohibited. The parade will move out promptly at 7:45. Any entry not in its designated position, or not ready to leave at 7:45, will be disqualified. Starting positions and further rules will be announced later.

RICHARD WERSCHKUL,
Chairman Noise Parade.

Father Pope Coming

Father Pope, chaplain of the Northwest Federation of Newman clubs will be on the campus today at 4 p.m. on the third floor of Gerlinger hall. He will discuss the effective organization of a Newman club on the University campus. Those interested are invited to this meeting.

UO, OSC Tilt Will Draw Mob

Advance Seat Sale
Indicates Game
May Be Sold Out

Orders for seats at the Oregon homecoming game are pouring in at a terrific pace, Anse B. Cornell, athletic manager, reports. Advance sales are setting an all-time record with reservations coming in by wire, telephone, and special mail, indicating that Eugene will be filled with an unprecedented number of old grads, parents, and friends.

"It looks like the greatest homecoming in history," Mr. Cornell enthusiastically stated, "Not only for the game but in all the other respects."

Reservations Left
There are still plenty of seats that can be reserved, even with the great demand. Because of the new section to the stadium and more sections being set aside for reserve, there is still time to get in reservations, but they are going fast. With every mail delivered in the Igloo at the door marked "Athletic Manager," more and more seats are crossed off the list as taken. They come in orders of ten and more, with the office force laboring under a pile of correspondence, letters to answer and acknowledgments to send.

One whole grandstand and bleacher section extending around the end zone is set aside for reserve. More will be added if the orders keep coming in. About 2,000 seats will be occupied by students exclusively, assuring a vast army of loyal Oregon vocal cords (Please turn to page four)
