

Seven Drama Students Form 'Arms' Comedy Cast

Famous Shaw Play, 'Arms and the Man' Opens November 16

Story Tells of 'Chocolate Cream Soldier' Who Inadvertently Visits Amazing Petkoffs; Says Bulgarian Satire 'Pleasant'

George Bernard Shaw once said he wrote "pleasant and unpleasant plays." Mr. Shaw classifies "Arms and the Man," which will be given November 16, 17, and 18 in the University theater as one of his "pleasant" plays.

"Arms and the Man" is an amusing comedy with an underlying romantic plot concerning a young who takes refuge in the Petkoff house.

Because he was tired and hungry when he stumbled into the Petkoffs' Bulgarian house and was fed chocolate creams by the mistress of the house and her daughter, he is referred to throughout the play as the "Chocolate Cream soldier."

Hospital Smells, Say Friends of 'Harrassed' Ill

From the visitor's-eye view, the infirmary should have perfume-scented air instead of the present mentholated fumes that waft down the stairs on entering said institution.

"We would also like to see our sick friends supplied with dining-table-sized bed stands," offered Barbara Cain, a guest. Miss Cain also suggested passing around samples of the much-publicized hospital food during visiting hours.

"I, too, would like to sample the infirmary food—but from a distance," Adele Canada, another visitor, reservedly agreed.

Those confined to the campus hospital, minus above suggested improvements, yesterday included: Nancy Hilton, Dorothy Burger, Kay Babcock, John McGown, Marjory Hastings, Betty Plankington, Dorothy Reese, Josephine Lummo, Helen Graves, George Schreiber, Doris McMindes, and Sunny Stanke.

Second, the men pointed out that the dance was, after all, for the benefit of returning alums and since few if any of the alumni plan bringing formal dresses for the weekend festivities, they would feel rather out of place at a formal dance.

Third, with only 48 shopping days left until Christmas, their allowance is taking a financial beating and sending mums for the football game plus the price of admission to the dance plus flowers, would all sum up in a terrific wallop in papa's allotment of money.

The campus women contemplate a petition to enforce their desires for a formal dance and the men retaliate that they will date high school girls for the occasion.

Budding Artists Feast Eyes in Econ Kitchen

Maybe they are trying to boil them in oils or maybe they are trying to learn the culinary artist's technique but in any case the art school is taking over the home economics class' kitchen. The sophomore drawing class hasn't a permanent place to meet as yet so the kitchen had to pinch hit.

Maybe next week's project will be a life study of an egg.

Faculty Frolics In Gerlinger

Future Activities Of Recreational Committee Named

The varied recreational facilities of Gerlinger hall last night served as the playgrounds of the school faculty, as member met in the first of a series of weekly programs which will be held throughout the remaining weeks of the term.

Activities of the group were determined as the result of a poll taken by the faculty recreational committee under the chairmanship of Miss Warrine Eastburne, instructor in physical education. Featured events chosen included a body conditioning class for women, and mixed classes in swimming, badminton, volleyball, ping pong, and shuffle board. Dancing also figures in making up the major portion of the closing hour of each gathering.

Faculty members will be charged a fee of $1 for the remainder of the term which entitles them to use the facilities and equipment. Gymnasium costumes, with the exception of tennis shoes, bathing suits, and towels, and all badminton rackets and necessary playing equipment will be furnished for this nominal fee.

The recreational committee this year by the introducing of a more varied group of events hopes to bring together the largest group of faculty members, as well as their wives or husbands, which have as yet participated in past undertakings of this sort.

Every Grad Remembers Old Scenes

All Living Groups To Unveil Works Of Art For Alumni

Familiar scenes and locations that are a part of Oregon and make her dear in memory of every grad, will be emphasized in miniature when campus living organizations unveil their works of art designed to inspire recollection in honor of alumni.

Ideas turned into Bob Corby, Homecoming sign chairman, show that Skinner's butte, Hendricks' park, the mill race, and other landmarks will be in for publicity, and if the finished product even partially resembles the proposed plans, alums coming "Home to Honor Oregon" will be greeted by the cleverest displays ever presented for their benefit, Corby pointed out.

The committee would remind all living organizations that time is growing short and construction should be well under way. Plans should be submitted to Corby in the educational activities office by now, and all displays are to be finished by Friday.

Judging will be based on adherence to theme, originality, and appearance, the persons who will decide which house will win this year's contest to be announced later.

Activity is reaching a feverish pitch as Homecoming gets nearer and nearer with each passing day. All resources at hand are being launched into the final drive with plans in all departments of the festive week-end assuming reality. Game attendance will reach a record mark, sending out for seats at Hayward field and to all houses will outdo themselves in an attempt to make this Homecoming the biggest in history.

Pep Assembly Set Thursday

Gathering to Start Off Homecoming Weekend Program

Oregon students will sound off in the first action of Homecoming weekend when they gather Thursday at 11 o'clock in Gerlinger for a pep assembly.

According to ASUO President John Dick the assembly will set the tempo for the whole "Home to Honor Oregon" program, with the University band, rally squad, and yell leaders getting in gear to show the drive that Oregon can produce in backing the football team.

"Suspension of all 11 o'clocks will allow everyone to attend the opening feature of Homecoming," Dick said. "Final plans for a week-end full of events will be announced and Webfoot backers will set their sights for Oregon's shot at the Beavers."

was accepted by the Journal of Genetic Psychology.

The paper is the result of controlled experiments with children between the ages of 2 and 6 years and deals with the problem of native versus empirical origin of stereoscopic vision.

Why Gordon was Elected 1,499,673 to 8

In every campus poll the Arrow Gordon wins in a walk. Six reasons why:

1. Its basketweave fabric is sturdy and a bear for long wear. In white, colors, and fancy patterns.
2. Its Arrow collar is styled for tailoring perfection and authoritatively packed for college men.
3. Being Sanforized-Shrunk (its fabric shrinkage is less than 1%). A new shirt free if one ever shrinks.
4. The Mitoga cut is shaped to fit the torso (broad shoulders — narrow waist).
5. Its anchored buttons—take a 40 lb. pull.
6. Its birthright is Arrow—and that means in simple language, smarter style, better fit, and longer wear.

Join the Arrow landslide for as little as $2.
